Schools Pull Out Of Indoor Pool Negotiations

The likelihood of another indoor swimming pool referendum in the Hoffman Estates Park District this year was killed Tuesday night by the park district board of commissioners.

The commissioners voted to withdraw from negotiations with High School Dist. 211 on the feasibility of jointly operating an indoor pool at the new Hoffman Estates High School.

The park district first proposed an indoor swimming pool to the voters in June as part of a $1.1 million general park improvement referendum. The pool proposal failed, while voters approved a $675,000 neighborhood park development plan.

Park Board Pres. Tom Barber said one of the key points behind the park district's reasoning is that no definite commitment could be made as to whether students at other schools in the district would be allowed to use the pool.

APPARENTLY such an arrangement was not possible for the high school district, he added.

"The idea of an indoor pool has not been dropped from our thought," Barber said, adding that the park district has also given some thought to building an indoor pool at Vogel Park.

Barber now agrees with some high school board members who suggested the high school district provide funds to build a pool and lease time to the park district.

"I would urge the nearly 1,000 voters who voted yes on the park pool issue to petition school Dist. 211 at their next meeting and urge them to go to referendum to build a pool," Barber said.

HE SAID it was a mistake not to press for a pool at that school when the school district went to referendum for the school.

Although the park board said they would go to referendum this fall, Barber said Tuesday's action pretty much killed any plans for an immediate referendum.

Barber also thanked the Hoffman Estates Jaycees for their support in trying to get a new referendum effort going.

"All of us are somewhat disappointed, however, I feel we have acted in a responsible way for all concerned," Barber said.

The park board members agreed their actions should not be interpreted as closing the door permanently on any discussions with the school district.

Weather, Government Set Back Road Projects

by STEVE BROWN

Wet weather and governmental delays by the state and county have forced setbacks in the completion of several announced highway improvement projects for the area. Crews in both Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg were, however, able to get some of the projects completed.

Among those completed included a large-scale resurfacing project in the Weathersfield subdivision in Schaumburg. In addition, reconstruction of Springguth Road north of Schaumburg Road was also completed.

John Hossack, Hoffman Estates superintendent of public works, said that several village resurfacing programs were not begun because the state has not approved the projects and has not released motor fuel tax funds. This project included streets in the Highlands area and some roads in Parcel C.

HOSACK SAID these projects will probably be put off until spring.

Extensive work along Jones Road, which will be a joint project between Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, has been delayed until completion of water retention facilities in the Knightsbridge subdivision.

Both Hossack and Joe Zgonina, Schaumburg village engineer, said it would be senseless to do road work there until the flooding problem is corrected. Portions of the road are in both villages.

Construction of intersection improvements at Wise and Roselle Roads and Schaumburg and Roselle Roads has been delayed because the design work has been taken over by the county.

Zgonina said it is possible that bids for these two projects will be let in the late fall and some work might be done in the winter. Both intersections are slated to receive traffic signals and other improvements.

RECONSTRUCTION OF Meacham Road, between Nerge and Higgins Roads should be completed by the end of September. The road there will be rebuilt and widened to two 12-foot lanes.

Widening of Meacham Road, between Higgins Road and Algonquin Road, to four lanes will begin early next year according to state highway officials.

The state has also awarded contracts for installation and modernization of traffic control systems at Barrington and Schaumburg Roads in Schaumburg. This work should be completed by mid-December.

Village Seeks Occupancy Permits, Inspections

Kaufman, Broad Records Missing

by MARILYN HEISER

Records of building inspections and occupancy permits for the Kaufman and Broad homes in Schaumburg cannot be located by the village's building department.

Mrs. Marge Mefford, office manager of the building department, said when complaints of major construction problems surfaced yesterday, the department tried to find records on the subdivision, but could not.

The complaints include inadequate insulation, improper mortaring, cracked and leaking foundations and conditions of sinking rooms and driveways.

Building permits for 134 homes were issued for Kaufman and Broad in 1966, Mrs. Mefford said. The homes are located south of Weathersfield Way along Salem Drive, Fairview, Hingham, and Duxbury lanes.

According to Mrs. Mefford, the missing records of inspection visits should have been taken to the new public works building when it was completed. Hugh Cahill, the building commissioner, still cannot find them, she said.

THE OCCUPANCY PERMITS, if any were issued, should be in the administrative offices at the village hall, Mrs. Mefford said.

"There's no record of occupancy permits. If they were ever issued, we would have them. Years ago, in order not to handicap the developer, we allowed people to move in without permits. The understanding was that if there was anything wrong, the builder would fix it."

Most of the confusion over records, she said, stems from a reorganization of the office. When the Kaufman and Broad homes were built, Schaumburg did not have a building department.

The director of public works, a post which no longer exists, was responsible for making inspections and issuing permits.

"There weren't enough inspectors then, so the public works director only made sporadic inspection checks. Now we have a full crew of inspectors, with the exception of perhaps one plumbing inspector which we have requested."

"We don't have a village tax, you know, so we can't hire as many people as we may need," Mrs. Mefford said.

THERE ARE presently two electrical inspectors, one plumbing inspector, and three general inspectors. According to Mrs. Mefford, they now issue occupancy permits with conditional stipulations if minor violations exist.

If there are major problems, she said, a permit is not issued until the problem is corrected.

"Years back, it wasn't handled that way," she said.

While Mrs. Mefford and Cahill were not in office when the Kaufman and Broad homes were sold, she said she started work while the issuing of building permits was in progress.

"I recall getting complaints from homeowners years ago, and told them they had to take it up with the builder. Apparently nothing was fixed. I even called Kaufman and Broad once and told them they wouldn't sell any more houses if they didn't have satisfied customers in the ones already built," Mrs. Mefford said.

But, she said, there haven't been any complaints made to her office in years about the Kaufman and Broad homes.

THE PROPERTY was originally owned by Campanelli Bros., and was part of Unit Five of the Weathersfield subdivision. When Kaufman and Broad bought the property, they brought house plans into the building department for approval, Mrs. Mefford said.

They did not need to go before the plans commission or the village board for approval, she said, because the land was already zoned for single family homes.

Neither Mayor Robert O. Atcher or a spokesman for Kaufman & Broad were available for comment yesterday.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amin said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly committed with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be resentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his racetrack stock conspiracy trial.

The War

President Nguyen Van Thieu congratulated his frontline troops at Quang Tri City and narrowly missed getting caught in an artillery barrage and a fire-fight between North Vietnamese and government soldiers. Sporadic rocket and mortar fire fell on Quang Tri City through the day as Thieu visited the battered provincial capital.

Meetings Planned Soon On Salt Creek Flood Project

Before any action is taken on the state's program for the Salt Creek Watershed, meetings will be held with state and local officials, said Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee.

Hamilton said yesterday he is hoping to set up a meeting on Monday among himself, Howard Busch, head of the Illinois department of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service; Jack Walsh, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; John Gullion, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; and other officials.

On Tuesday, Gov. Ogilvie announced that the state was expanding the $26.5 million watershed program to $30 million and would begin work immediately, without waiting for federal funds.

THE UPPER SALT CREEK Watershed agreement is now in Washington awaiting approval of federal funding. The federal government is being asked to contribute $12 million to the project.

Ogilvie said that the state would not wait for the federal government but would go ahead with the plan, hoping to get federal funding later.

In an announcement issued Wednesday, Gullion said a 589-acre lake would be created in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve. This man-made lake would hold 4,210 acre-feet of water, "Enough to have prevented much of the flooding which has occurred in the last three weeks," said Gullion. He could not be reached for further comment.

Gullion's statement contained no information on the fate of the Elk Grove Mobile Home Park, located adjacent to the forest preserve on Ill. Rte. 72. A lake of the size Gullion described would put the trailer park under water.

Other retention basins would also be created downstream as part of the expanded program. The agreement now in Washington calls for only upper creek projects to be constructed.

HAMILTON SAID the meeting will be called to learn details of any work the committee and other sponsoring agencies would oppose any action that would "slow down" the original agreement.

Hamilton said that if the state's action follows the original program, it would help make up for lost time. Hamilton had previously said that delays in getting state approval prevented getting the program included in the present federal fiscal budget.

Hamilton said the state action could enable engineer drawings for the project, which are not complete, to be finished. He said that these drawings are normally done by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service but he saw no reason why the state could not have them done under the control of the conservation service.

Hamilton said any action in Busse Wood which would hinder the project could be prevented by the Cook County Forest Preserve District, which has ownership and control of the woods in the Ned Brown preserve.

Gullion reportedly said that the state does not actually have the $30 million available for the project.

According to Fred Bird, the governor's press secretary, it was hoped that the governor's action to start work immediately would encourage the federal government to quickly supply needed funds.

In his announcement, Ogilvie said the flooding problem in the Northwest and West suburbs, "can not be tolerated" and, said the state "would move ahead, with or without federal funds."

Program Developed In Late 1960s

The Upper Salt Creek Watershed Agreement is a proposal to control flooding on a 33,280-acre area of the creek flood basin in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

The plan was first developed in the late 1960s. An Upper Salt Creek Watershed Steering was formed to coordinate the planning for the program. A series of dams and flood controls would be built across the creek, forming a series of retention basins.

An additional benefit from the plan would be a recreation site formed around a 1,300-acre retention basin in the Busse Woods.

The estimated cost of the plan is $26.5 million, paid for by local, state and federal funds.

THE AGREEMENT was drawn up and sent to Springfield early this year for state approval. Tom Hamilton, chairman of the steering committee, charged that delays in getting state approval prevented the agreement from being included in the current fiscal budget for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The conservation service is the agency through which federal funds will be distributed.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie did not sign the agreement, giving the state's support to the plan, until Aug. 13.

After Ogilvie signed, the agreement was signed by 12 local government agencies. The last signature was obtained Sept. 14.

The agreement is now in Washington, awaiting federal funding. Hamilton said he expects approval of the plan and inclusion in the 1974 fiscal year budget by the conservation service, "to be a formality." He said the only problem is to make sure that congress actually appropriates the funds for the conservation service budget.

CEC, Park District Work Jointly

Plans For Terada Park Set

Within the month a joint plan for permanent development of Terada Park as a passive recreation area will be prepared by Schaumburg Park District personnel and representatives of the village Clean Environment Committee (CEC).

The project would be completed in several phases using park district funds. Prior to implementation, plans will be presented to area property owners who have expressed concern over the area.

The park, with its adjoining water retention pond, is located off the southwest corner of Schaumburg Road and Salem Drive.

It has become a sore spot with residents who complained of weeds there and CEC who, with the Hoffman Estates environmental group, last spring sponsored a mass planting of small trees and shrubs at the park.

In early summer, the area was mowed by the park district resulting in loss of a number of seedlings.

New plans will involve more mature trees being planted at the area with efforts continuing to salvage a number of the original trees and shrubs.

As proposed by the park district, overall development would include installing several narrow gravel paths, park benches and refuse containers.

Mrs. Betty Enbysk, of CEC, will work with park personnel to complete a new plan. Efforts will be made to begin some supplementary planting this fall.

Investigate Series Of Vandalism Cases

Hoffman Estates police are investigating a series of vandalism complaints that occurred in the Highpoint subdivision over the weekend.

Police said that a group of juveniles did about $300 damage to several homes and autos on Nottingham Lane and Chipendale Street late Saturday or early Sunday.

Shrubbery was uprooted and paint was sprayed on the sides of several homes in that area.

Police said they have several leads in the matter and hope to make several arrests this week.

Impound Auto Possibly Used In Double Slaying

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 8, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

Recommend Gas Station Be Approved

A controversial special use permit for a Shell Oil service station on the southeast corner of Barrington and Higgins roads was recommended for approval Tuesday.

The Hoffman Estates Zoning Board of Appeals in a hearing approved the permit in a four to three vote, stipulating six restrictions Shell must adhere to.

The seven tenths of an acre site is part of a larger 10-acre tract zoned M (industrial). The land must be rezoned B-1 or B-2 (business) before the special use permit can be approved by the village board.

The plan commission has already recommended that the village rezone the land to business use.

SIX WEEKS AGO the zoning board denied the special use permit, citing an incomplete market study by Shell justifying that a service station "is the best and highest use for the land."

Shell Oil also brought suit against the village seven months ago claiming the decision denying the station is invalid. One factor cited in the suit is the existence of a Standard Oil station across the street, on land also zoned for manufacturing.

The zoning board will write findings of fact on Tuesday's hearing and present these with its recommendation to the village board. Bob Valentino, zoning chairman, told the three members voting against the recommendation they could write a minority opinion for the village board.

The six stipulations, which Shell representatives at the hearing agreed to are: returning the land to its original state if the station is abandoned for more than a year; all utilities must be underground, including telephone and electric wires.

THE VILLAGE proposed sign ordinance regulations must be adhered to; no truck or trailer rentals on the premises; provisions must be made for adequate water run off; and hooking up to village sewer and water lines when available.

Valentino commented that the proposal to rezone the land is presently before the village board. If that request is denied, Shell's only recourse is through the courts.

He expected the zoning board's recommendation would be brought before the village board Monday at the earliest, but probably not until Oct. 2.

In answer to questions about possible traffic hazards resulting from the station, a Shell representative said the state highway department must approve the location of all entrances and exits. He also pointed to plans showing how the driveways are engineered to minimize such hazards.

SHELL CITED THE large traffic flow at the corner and the enormous growth potential in the area as factors making this an excellent spot for a gas station. Additionally, Shell said it would not adversely affect property values in the area.

The cost of construction of the station was estimated at $120,000. Shell has an option to buy the land from its owner, Irving Rootberg, for $180,000.

Individualized Math Program Explained

An explanation of the new individualized math program being used for the first time this year at the Aldrin School in Schaumburg will be given Oct. 2.

The discussion will be conducted by Carl Seltzer, Schaumburg Elementary School Dist. 54 math consultant, at 8 p.m. in the school, 617 Boxwood Dr., Schaumburg.

The program is designed to give students in primary grades some flexibility. They are placed in groups according to ability. The program teaches the children to work as individuals.

New Railway Station May Be Biggest On Commuter Line

Chicago and North Western Ry. officials are predicting the new depot to be built at Arlington Park Race Track this winter could become one of the biggest stops on the commuter line.

The railroad has been trying for years to build a depot at the race track, but had always been thwarted by former track owner Marjo Everett, said Tom Smith, CN&W spokesman yesterday.

The new depot was finally approved in a three-way agreement between Arlington Heights, the race track and the railroad, ratified last winter.

Village officials say they hope the station will be open by Jan. 1. Railroad officials say, however, they think it may be spring before the depot is completed.

IN ADDITION to riders from Arlington Heights, the race track depot is expected to draw train passengers from eastern Palatine, Rolling Meadows and suburbs as far away as Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Buffalo Grove.

"You gotta believe there's a need (for the new station) when our Arlington Heights station continues to be our number one stop; servicing about 4,100 regular passengers daily," said Rollin Coakley, CN&W manager of commuter services.

PARKING LIMITATIONS and traffic congestion are two of the big problems in downtown Arlington Heights that both Coakley and Darryl Kenning, assistant village manager say they hope the new depot will alleviate.

"Parking and access are the biggest ingredients to a successful station," Coakley says, adding that there will be plenty of both at the race track.

"We're just running out of room for parking downtown," Kenning said. "And anyone who's tried to drive through downtown at rush hour knows what the congestion is like."

Plans call for two driveways in and out of the depot area. One driveway will lead to Wilke Road on the east, with the second access off of Rohlfing Road on the west.

There will be parking for at least 800 cars and possibly more if the demand warrants it.

COAKLEY SAID the railroad has talked of surveying rides at both the Arlington Heights and Palatine depots in an effort to determine just how many of these customers might be expected to use the new facility.

"We haven't made a definite decision on this because we're not sure we have to spend the money for it," he said.

Promotion will also play a big part in the new depot's attractiveness, particularly to new riders.

"We know how many apartments and houses are going up within a three-mile radius of the depot and it is tremendous," Smith said. "But it's awfully hard to know how many of the people living there are going to ride the train."

"People at the south end of town (Arlington Heights) may well find it easier and faster to take the Tollway to Rte. 53 and get off at the track rather than come up Arlington Heights Road to the downtown depot," Kenning said.

The Northwest Tollway and Rte. 53 also figure in official success predictions for the depot.

SCHEDULES AND fares for the new station still have to be worked out, railroad officials say. The cost of using the race track depot will probably split the difference between the Palatine and Arlington Heights stops.

As for scheduling, Smith says the new depot will definitely be on a full-service timetable with both rush hour and off hour stops.

THE ARLINGTON Park depot will be the first new station to be built in the railroad's suburban service area in years, Coakley said.

"The Palatine station was a joint venture (between the railroad and the village) and it has been growing in ridership up to around 2,100 passengers a day. And we think Arlington Park is going to be a big station too," he said.

McGovern Supporters In Vote Signup Effort

A massive voter canvass and registration drive has begun in Schaumburg Township and throughout the state.

Bill Dooley, McGovern chairman for the Democratic Party Organization of Schaumburg Township, has been appointed township coordinator of the canvass and registration activities. He has assigned McGovern volunteer workers in each of the 40 precincts.

McGovern headquarters report over 150 storefront offices in Illinois. Dooley said this figure is unprecedented in Illinois political history.

"The volunteers at the grassroots level are responsible for Sen. McGovern's outstanding victories in the primaries. They are also the backbone of our campaign here in Illinois," Dooley said.

Those interested in joining the volunteer canvass effort for McGovern may contact Dooley at 822-5930. Interested persons can also stop in at the Citizens for McGovern campaign headquarters, 12 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, or call 255-5065.

Hoffman Plaza - Poses Threat

Study Shopping Area For Flooding

Steps to assure that Phase II of the Hoffman Plaza Shopping Center will not contribute to the flooding of Parcel A were reviewed last week by the Hoffman Estates Plan Commission.

The shopping center is located at Higgins and Roselle roads. Parcel A is an area east of Roselle Road between Golf and Higgins roads.

Construction has begun on Phase I of the shopping center. Phase II will contain the new post office and the enlarged Jewel-Osco Store.

Phase II plans call for the existing post office to be torn down to allow for construction of the Willie Home Center. The post office will be temporarily moved to a location later to be used for the Goodyear Auto Center.

When the new post office building is ready opposite the new Jewel-Osco Store, the post office will be moved to its permanent location.

REGAN SAID the parking lot as it presently exists is a water retention pond. When the outlet reaches full capacity, he said, the lot will fill with water.

John Hosack, village engineer, has encouraged the developer to put in underground pipes to retain the water, Regan said.

Ed Kalasa and Roger Bergstrom, commission members, will study the shopping center plans and report to the commission at its next meeting.

In a related comment, Kalasa said another car recently missed the turn into the shopping center at Apple Street and Hawthorne Lane. The car stopped in the ditch next to the roads, he said.

Kalasa said he has repeatedly asked that some sort of barricade be placed in front of the ditch to prevent these incidents. So far no one has been hurt, he said, but the ditch presents a danger to drivers unfamiliar with the area.

Campbell Attends Principals' Seminar

Kenneth J. Campbell, assistant principal of Schaumburg High School, Schaumburg, recently took part in a 2-day seminar on legal status and roles of principals in administrative teams.

The seminar, held in Evanston, was sponsored by the National Institutes for Secondary School Administrators. Issues were examined through review of case studies, sharing experiences and group discussions.

Animal Clinic Proposed For Area Near College

Another animal clinic has been proposed for the Palatine area. This one would be near Harper College, and would serve residents of Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates.

The petitioning veterinarian, Dr. David Aul of Arlington Heights, outlined plans for the clinic at a public hearing before the Palatine Plan Commission Tuesday night.

Dr. Aul said the facility, on Algonquin Road northwest of Roselle Road, would be similar in design to the one-story Care Animal Hospital he operates near Arlington Heights.

THE PALATINE clinic would provide only outpatient treatment, with no boarding facilities, and would not produce noises or odors, Dr. Aul testified. The clinic would be open six days a week for a total of 43 hours.

'Sing Out Palatine' Will Perform Here

"Sing Out Palatine," a musical aggregation of young people from throughout the area will give a concert Saturday evening in the Vogeles Recreation Center, 620 W. Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates.

The concert at 7:30 p.m. is being sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Park District as a special fall event.

The group is part of the Up With People Movement and is sponsored by the Palatine Rotary Club.

There are about 40 members in the group and their ages range between 18 and 27 years old. A four piece combo accompanies the singers.

The two hour concert is designed to present songs all members of the family can enjoy. There is no admission charge.

Jack R. Davis of Palatine, attorney for the petitioner, said the clinic would "provide an answer to a community of healthy domestic animals" who need shots and routine examinations. Some emergency treatment and surgery would be available.

If the petition to rezone the property from R-1, single-family residential district, to B-2, general service district, with special use for the animal clinic is approved, the clinic would be the sixth such facility in the Palatine area.

Until recently, only two veterinary clinics were in the area, the Palatine Animal Hospital in the village and the Hilltop Animal Hospital north of the village in unincorporated Palatine Township.

This summer, the Rand Road Animal Hospital opened north of Palatine. Two other facilities are under construction just south of the village, the Arlington Park Veterinary Hospital in Rolling Meadows and the Plum Grove Animal Clinic in unincorporated Palatine Township.

DR. AUL SAID the increase in the number of dog licenses issued in Palatine from 1,200 in 1970 to more than 1,500 in 1972 reflects the need for additional veterinary clinics in the area.

No one at the hearing objected to the plans.

The plan commission is to study the plans at its next meeting, Oct. 3, and make a recommendation to the village board, which will take final action.

Candidates Seeking Votes

A large gathering of political candidates will meet the public Oct. 13 at a "candidates' fair" sponsored by the Northwest Suburban League of Women Voters, scheduled for 7:30 to 11 p.m. at the Arlington Park race track.

Headlining the affair will be Daniel Walker, Democratic candidate for governor; U. S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, will, however, be no speeches, according to Township Committeeman Richard A. Cowen.

Comedian Joe Conti and the Nancy Faust Trio will provide entertainment and dance music will be supplied by the Benny Sharp Orchestra. Tickets for the steak dinner and dance are $30 per couple.

Acting as general chairman for this year's dinner is Ray Johnston. Other committee chairmen include:

Tom Hanlon, Tom Duda and Bob Wallace, ad book; Tony Tomaso, tickets; Robert Nilson, assistant ticket chairman; Roland Wilke, entertainment; Sue Lesh, organization sales; Dwight Walton, patron sales; Jeanne Anders, "miniscapo" chairman; Friend Yonkers, arrangements; Heili Meyer, coordinator; and Veva Meyer, Sept. 30 sales.

SCHAUMBURG TOWNSHIP Democrats will hold their dinner dance the same day at the Lancer Restaurant, 50 E. Algonquin Road, Schaumburg.

Assisting Township Committeeman John Morrissey in arranging the dinner are William Holmes, president of the Regular Democratic Party Organization of the township; Dominic DiNuzzo, dance chairman; and William Brilliant, program chairman.

PALATINE TOWNSHIP Republicans will hold their dinner dance at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, 2800 Central Road, Rolling Meadows.

Music will be provided by the Norm Ladd Orchestra. Tickets, at $12.50 per couple may be obtained from Ginny Lietz, ticket chairman, or community chairman William Heise, Inverness; Tom Scanlan, Rolling Meadows; Barbara Vidmar, Hoffman Estates; or Terry Leighty, Palatine.

RICHARD A. MUGALIAN, Palatine Township Democratic committeeman and candidate for the state legislature in the 2nd Legislative District, has been endorsed by the Illinois Political Action Committee (IPACE) of the Illinois Education Association.

He received the endorsement after appearing before representatives of IPACE in various school districts in the nine-township district.

Mugalian will appear at a coffee at the home of Ed and Jeanette Carr, 861 Lanark Lane, Palatine, at 8 p.m. Sunday. Co-hosts for the meeting will be Jim and Rita Micholuk of Palatine.

ALSO ENDORSED by IPACE was Sues For Suburbanites Over Court Costs Charge

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Suburbanites are carrying more of the financial burden for support of the Cook County Circuit Court system than they should, a candidate for the Illinois State Senate has charged.

In a class action suit filed this week, Robert C. Pechous has charged that suburban motorists must pay a $5 court cost charge on noncontested traffic tickets, while Chicago motorists are not required to pay the $5 charge.

Pechous, Berwyn City Clerk and a Democratic candidate for the Illinois State Senate in the Seventh District, alleges the system of charging suburban motorists the court costs and not requiring the same from Chicago motorists is a violation of suburbanites' civil rights.

PECHOUS FILED the suit in Federal District Court on behalf of all suburban motorists.

Pechous says his efforts to have the system changed by Circuit Court Chief Judge John Boyle and by State Atty. Gen. William Scott were unsuccessful.

So the state Senate candidate intentionally had himself arrested by Berwyn Police for traveling 29 miles-per-hour in a 25 mile-an-hour zone so that he could challenge the court costs practices in Federal District Court.

Pechous, who calls himself an "ombudsman" for suburban Cook County residents, said, "The cynicism which has met my examining of the court's policy of assessing suburban Cook County motorists $5 court costs even though they pay their fines without going to court when their city cousins in Chicago aren't treated likewise because Mayor Daley and the other named defendants have entered into a questionable agreement to exempt them from such charges, offers me little alternative but to seek redress of this issue in Federal District Court."

PECHOUS SAID he is paying for the suit himself.

Defendants named in the suit include Daley, Boyle, and Circuit Court Clerk Matthew J. Danaher.

The suit charges Daley made agreements about the fines as part of his authority over certain courtroom facilities the circuit court uses.

Pechous says Daley, Danaher and Boyle "have wrongfully entered into an agreement whereby they have created and maintained a system or scheme which has the practical effect of requiring a suburban Cook County motorist to assume a $5 charge described as 'court costs' when charged with a suburban traffic violation upon his voluntary waiver of court appearance and plea of guilty."

Meanwhile, Pechous alleges, "A similar charge is not likewise levied against a motorist on a plea of guilty on the identical violation within the City of Chicago."

THE SUIT charges that the agreement deprives suburban residents of due process of law and equal protection under the law as established in the U. S. Constitution.

It charges the "discrimination by defendants against the plaintiff has been purposeful and willful."

The suit seeks an injunction stopping the collection of the court costs from suburbanites.

In addition Pechous asks that he and all other suburbanites who have paid the court costs have them refunded.

Pechous has asked for a jury trial on the case.

Roadsides For Pheasants

The Ringneck pheasant has adapted well to intensively farmed regions of Illinois — but just how intensive can the farming practices become before this exotic import heads downhill?

Wildlife biologists in the department of conservation, after a decade of study, believe that clean row-crop farming, fence to fence, is literally driving the pheasant out of existence in robbing the bird of nesting and cover habitat.

Livingston, Ford and McLean counties, in east central Illinois, are considered the major pheasant range in the state, although lately this prime area seems to be slowly moving south and westward.

Peak year for pheasant was 1962, with an estimated 95 hens per square mile during the spring breeding season. Four years later Illinois sank to its all time low with almost 75 per cent fewer birds. It was estimated that there were only 26 hens per square mile during this low in the prime pheasant range.

"We believe that the pheasant hit this low due to loss of habitat," said Jim Moak, chief upland game biologist for the Illinois Department of Conservation. "Farmers began using more and more fertilizer and planted more and more acres to row crops. Cattle were eliminated from many farms so row crops could be planted. This cut down the need for hay fields and pastures, which is where pheasants nest."

In the peak year of 1962, 30 per cent of the land in the major pheasant range was in hay fields, pastures and small grains. The bird flourished. However by 1966, 75 per cent of these crops and pastures were gone and had been replaced by row crops such as beans and corn.

"IT IS INTERESTING to note that the pheasant population declined almost exactly the same amount as did the habitat," Moak said. "Since the low year of 1966 our population has increased, but it is only about half of what it was during the peak. We estimate there are now about 45 hens per square mile this spring on the study area in prime range."

To replenish the dwindling pheasant population a study was conducted. Part of a Pittman-Robertson Federal Aid project, the study was sponsored by the department of conservation and done by the Illinois Natural History Survey. The problem was easily defined — deteriorating land use. The solution was harder to come by.

"There were many things the department of conservation could have done, all limited by budget," said Blair Joselyn, an assistant wildlife specialist with the Illinois Natural History Survey. "The department could have bought land, leased land or even subsidized wheat and hay planting. However, dollarwise, none of these ideas were practical because of the large pheasant range."

"This type of management is practical for a species such as the prairie chicken because they are concentrated in one small area in Illinois. With the pheasant range we are talking about 20 to 30 counties and the expense would have been phenomenal."

The department decided the only practical solution to the problem was roadside ditches. In these areas the potential for breeding was limited. The pheasants were not attracted to these areas because the grass-bluegrass in most instances — was not suitable. But the main reason the pheasants wouldn't use roadsides was because they are mowed regularly.

A 10-mile study was conducted along roadsides, beginning in 1962. The farmers agreed not to mow the roadsides in this study area and it was planted in hayfield-type cover with brome, alfalfa and orchard grass.

These plots replaced the hayfield and pasture land nesting areas. The area was searched for nests during the summer and compared with other untreated areas.

THE RESULTS showed that the study area — that planted with hayfield-type cover — had three times more nests than other roadsides.

"Our problem was that most of the roadsides were mowed in mid-June when the pheasants are ready to hatch their young," Joselyn explained. "About 75 per cent of the roadside areas in the major pheasant range is mowed once or twice before August. This has a devastating effect on the pheasant popu-

Later, a 16-square mile area in Ford County was selected as a pilot management area for roadside seeding. The idea was to seed all roadsides in this selected area with hayfield-type cover. The biologists persuaded 61 landowners in the area to cooperate in the program, allowing seeding and agreeing not to mow the roadsides until after Aug. 1 each year.

The project was tried on an experimental basis to iron out problems, find the cost of seeding, see how much cooperation the landowners would give and to find out the response the pheasant population would make.

Signs were placed along roadsides explaining why ditches were not being mowed, the area was limed and fertilized and planted with brome and alfalfa. Ninety per cent of the landowners who said they wouldn't mow cooperated and left their roadsides to grow up in a hayfield-type habitat.

"This is an excellent percentage," Joselyn said. "In this particular township the farmer has the responsibility of mowing the roadside or to let it grow. We felt the program was accepted for numerous reasons by the landowners. The alfalfa and brome dominates the land and help eliminate noxious weeds. We are in effect giving the farmers an excuse not to mow, while providing the pheasants a place to nest. In addition, the seedlings were aesthetically acceptable to both landowner and public."

THE INITIAL tests have shown that the area becomes maintenance free after the planting. There is no need to refertilize the area or to spray for weeds.

The heavy planting has not affected the roadside area. It was felt initially that it might hinder drainage, but this was not the case. The biologists encourage mowing after Aug. 1, however, as it is felt that if it were allowed to remain through the winter it might cause snow to drift over the roads, and mowing tends to improve the stand.

After the area is seeded the biologists leave it alone. There are no searches made for nests, only call counts to determine number of hens nesting on the area.

"The roadside area we planted represents eight acres of land per square mile," Joselyn said. "This is one and a half per cent of the total land area. The area we planted increased the hay in this test section by 50 per cent, which gives some indication of how little hay there was in the area. This shows that the only sizeable number of acres of nest sites is along the roadsides."

"We are not saying this one and a half per cent of the land can carry the entire load for pheasant nesting, but we have showed that it can supplement the production area."

Studies on this 16-square-mile tract show that last year there was 8 producing nests per acre, as compared to 3 producing nests per acre on untreated land. It looks as though this year the area will have one producing nest per acre.

"The reason for the greater success is very simple," Joselyn pointed out. "The pheasants simply build more nests in the pilot area as opposed to the untreated area in pulling off a brood in untreated areas as there is in the pilot area, but with more nests there will be more successful hatchings."

IT IS A PROVEN fact that this program will increase the number of pheasants in a given area. The department is now considering other block plantings. Plantings are already being made along areas in which ditches are being regraded by road commissioners.

"The benefits of this program involve more than just pheasants," Joselyn said. "Other bird and wildlife species, such as the red-winged blackbird, bobolink, dickcissel and others, were affected as much as the pheasant because of the decline of hayfield-type cover. These plantings have helped them as well."

Sewage Plant Need May Take Priority, Behrel Says

The need for an area sewage treatment plant may take priority over objection of residents to location of the project in Des Plaines, Mayor Herbert Behrel said Tuesday.

"We need the plant. If they can find quickly a suitable location somewhere else that's fine with me," he said during his weekly press conference.

Behrel called for location of a retention basin near O'Hare Airport to relieve Willow-Higgins Creek flooding and construction of deep tunnel sewers to prevent pollution of lakes and streams.

The mayor said completion of a Metropolitan Sanitary District plant could relieve flooding. "There's no guarantee that building of a plant can relieve the situation. When a plant is built, regardless of the location . . . it must bring some relief to the Rand Road sewer."

Des Plaines currently is in its second court battle with MSD over possible location of the plant on 105 acres near Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road. The five-year battle, sparked by residents' fears that the $48 million project will cause declining real estate values and offensive odors, has kindled controversy between Behrel and Ald. Alan Abrams (8th).

"SOME OF OUR sanitary flooding problem is indirectly related to surcharging of MSD sanitary sewers," the mayor said. "The alderman in the 8th Ward, (Abrams) is going to have to realize he represents the people in both the north and south ends." Objections to the plant stem from residents near the location in the south part of the 8th Ward. North 8th Ward residents protested as late as Monday's City Council meeting flooding in their area.

"The building of the plant, regardless of the area, has got to help," Behrel claimed.

"People are concerned about odor," he said, calling the protest "more fear and conjecture than fact." Residents and aldermen must "weigh actual flooding against rumors of odor."

Behrel said the proposed $44 million plant in Schaumburg has received Environmental Protection Agency approval. "If that plant is going to pollute and be a detriment do you think EPA would allow it?" he asked. "They don't expect to treat sludge on that property."

The mayor said "the people of Des Plaines would be happy" with another location. "But I don't know how hard they're looking."

MSD DEEP TUNNEL construction orders for neighboring communities are expected in two or three weeks, Behrel predicted. The project requires EPA approval against claims of possible underground pollution. The tunnels will hold sewage backup until treatment by plants, instead of releasing the effluent into waterways.

Construction of the retention pond could be financed with the aid of Rosemont hotels and state funding, Behrel claimed. Mannheim Road hotels suffered large losses during recent floods and may "pressure" the state to correct the creek overflow problems, the mayor said.

"There's all kind of land out there. A retention pond would hold lots of water. Every place you hold back a drop of water, you're helping the fellow downstream," he said.

Request Change Of Venue

Des Plaines will ask for a change of judges in the city's suit to block construction of a Metropolitan Sanitary District sewage plant at Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road.

City Atty. Robert DiLeonardi told the city council Monday that the case was randomly assigned to Circuit Court Judge Francis T. Delaney, a former MSD trustee. Delaney is in the court's chancery division.

"Of course, we'll ask for a change of venue," DiLeonardi said.

"I've never made a secret of it," Delaney said when told of the city's intention. "In cases of this type, that's the first thing I tell them. I served as a trustee from 1955 to 1958."

MSD has asked for dismissal of the suit, which is attempting to force district adherence to city zoning codes, something the Illinois Supreme Court in 1971 said the district doesn't have to do. After five years in the courts, the suit was decided when the high court ruled that MSD was not bound by city zoning ordinances which would prohibit construction of the plant.

Des Plaines recently filed the new suit, claiming that 1970 home rule provisions of the state constitution force MSD to obey the zoning.

A 50-Year Subscriber

Mrs. H. Hinneberg of Crystal Lake, one of 12 Schroeder children born on the farm razed to make room for the Randhurst shopping center, has become a 50-year subscriber to Paddock Publications. She will now be receiving her paper each week, compliments of the Herald.

Mrs. Henry Schroeder, mother of the 12 children, who died just two weeks short of 90 years of age, also was born on the farm that made room for the large shopping center in Mount Prospect. Eleven of the children are still living, five in Arlington Heights, and the others in California, Milwaukee, Antioch, McHenry, Wauconda and Crystal Lake.

Mrs. Hinneberg, whose late husband was a carpenter for J. C. Boeger, Henry Meyer and Smith and Dawson, developers of Prospect Heights, reported she knew H. C. Paddock, "that tall thin man," who founded the newspaper chain.

Set Christian Science Lecture

"A Higher Humanity" — a Christian Science lecture — will be given at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 29, in the Little Theatre of Forest View High School, 2121 S. Goebbert Rd., Arlington Heights.

Sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arlington Heights, the lecture is free.

It will be given by Thomas O. Poyser, a member of the Christian Science board of Dallas, whose theme will be promoting the higher nature of men to unify them and nations.

Poyser was graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in engineering. During World War II he served as a meteorologist in the United States Army Air Corps. After managing a business firm in Dallas, he resigned to devote full time to the Christian Science healing ministry. He is now a teacher of Christian Science as well as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Hunt And Fish Exposition Now At Randhurst

Shoppers can go fishing on the mall at the Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect during the center's four-day Hunting and Fishing Exposition today through Sunday.

A trout pond will be installed on the mall today and supervised fishing will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. today and tomorrow. Fishing hours on Saturday are 9:30 a.m. to noon, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. On Sunday, hours will be noon to 5 p.m. Fishermen can keep what they catch.

Also at the exposition will be displays from the Cook County Forest Preserve, the Illinois Department of Conservation and the Izaak Walton League. Recreation vehicles exhibits are also part of the show.

Bicycling Seminar Slated At Harper

Many persons now think "bike" when searching for solutions to the problems of increasing air pollution, increasing traffic, increasing waistline, or increasing cost of transportation.

Harper College in Palatine is therefore offering a series of eight cycling seminars for adults beginning Saturday, Sept. 30, at 10 a.m. The cost of the series is $10 for district residents.

A resource team of experts led by Bob Kramer of Golf Road Cycle Shop will cover a variety of topics, including "How To Fit Your Bike," "Cycling Maneuvers," "Cycling Safety," "Doing Your Own Repairs," and "Building Wheels."

All levels of expertise may attend. Participants don't need to have a bike. Advanced cyclists interested in trail riding, racing, or doing their own adjustments will learn tips and techniques.

The Search For Mental Health

The Reason For A Psychiatric Exam

(This column is presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, a fully-accredited 133-bed psychiatric hospital, known for its programs in psychiatric treatment, research, education and community service.)

John Jones has applied for a Defense Department job but before application is approved he must undergo psychiatric evaluation. Why?

"The Defense Department wants to know the answer to two questions," said Dr. Louis Linn, M.D. Sinai School of Medicine Medical professor and psychiatric consultant of the Defense Department. "Is there any presence of a mental condition now which affects his ability to protect security information and if he is well what are the chances that he might have a relapse of any previous mental disorder and what is the likelihood the relapse will make him incapable of coping with security information?"

"People who have had any kind of psychiatric care think automatically they are screened out from any kind of position with the U.S. government," Linn continued, "but the actual experience is quite the contrary."

"THE GOVERNMENT is interested in only one question: does the psychiatric problem constitute a specific risk from a security point of view. The government is not interested if a man has been hospitalized, if he's had electric shock treatment or intensive psychotherapy. It is prepared to accept this and all other psychiatric considerations provided that in the opinion of a competent medical authority the condition for which the applicant has been treated does not interfere with his ability to deal with classified information."

According to Linn the type of condition that would concern the government would run something like this: "An overworked, overconscientious engineer is working late hours and is involved with important security-sensitive material. As he becomes more fatigued he becomes depressed and sleepless and becomes obsessed with the belief that he'd make inappropriate disclosures."

"One day in a panic this man checked into a motel near his home. He put his dispatch case into a dresser drawer, locked the room and ran away. Several days later he was admitted into a hospital hundreds of miles away — confused and in a shocked state. Meanwhile the motel owner discovered the abandoned dispatch case and after discerning the official nature of its contents turned it over to the FBI."

"It is possible," Linn said, "that the dispatch case could have been found by an irresponsible person who might have used the documents in question for purposes counter to the interest of the nation."

In the above case Linn explained that the man had a major mental disorder.

"His behavior impinged on society in a socially conspicuous way. This kind of individual is what we're concerned about for security risk."

"EVEN HERE I'd have to ask questions. How old is the man? Many times I've seen people caught in this pressure of hard work and responsibility — many of them are young men with concerns about a new family, new job and strange city. It happens many times that a combination of pressures can hit a man at the same time and cause a breakdown. Such a man, given the opportunity to recover, given proper treatment — with the passage of time might have extraordinary positive changes in his life. All kinds of factors might change so if I were examining the man a decade later or so I might give him security clearance in spite of the fact that there had been a breakdown."

According to Linn the individuals suffering from major mental disorders by and large don't have the discipline necessary for sustained functioning in an organization setting.

"They're more apt to perform conspicuous, deranged things which alienate others and disorganize ongoing programs."

"We're not worried about the homosexual who is involved in private acts with consenting adults but we are about the compulsive gambler who gets into serious debt and may be vulnerable because of his need to pay off accumulated debts."

"It is the individual whose mental derangement overflows into the public domain — where he actually makes himself conspicuous — these are the people we are actually concerned about."

The Volunteer Bureau

Name Volunteers Of Month

At a recent meeting of the Board of the Volunteer Service Bureau, Northwest Cook County, Chris Rohloff of Mt. Prospect and Peggy Donahue of Arlington Heights were named Volunteers of the Month along with Elena Rutter of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Rutter conducted the orientation sessions which preceded the actual volunteer assignment with the Volunteer Bureau Central Office at District 214 Administration Center, 799 W. Kensington, Mt. Prospect. The central office is the coordinating unit for the five branch offices of the bureau and is the only place where paid staff are involved with bureau operations.

Mrs. Rutter laid the groundwork for understanding the operation of the Volunteer Bureau, the management structure, board structure, daily operational problems as well as long range problems both at the local level and at the national scene. The Volunteer Service Bureau, Northwest Cook County, is an autonomous organization not affiliated with the National Center for Voluntary Action, but there is considerable spin-off of the national movement affecting the local operation.

MISS ROHLOFF and Miss Donahue attended a statewide workshop in Springfield for Volunteer Bureaus where they met the national director of the National Center for Voluntary Action, Vee Tinnin, as well as the executive director of the Governor's Committee for Voluntary Action, Mrs. Josephine Oblinger. They also were able to discuss points with leaders of the student volunteer programs throughout the state.

Miss Rohloff and Miss Donahue were members of the Sociology Class Practicum of Hersey High School teacher Wilfred Kozlowski for the summer of 1972, and there were other students assigned to work with agencies such as the Summer Migrant Program under District 15 in Palatine, Little City in Palatine, Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village, and the Lutheran Home in Arlington Heights. The students received high school credits for the experience which required 120 hours of volunteer time per student.

Miss Donahue has had prior experience as a volunteer working with retarded children and in a crisis center operation for teens in the Kansas City, Kan. area.

Residents Are Worried

Is Park Land's Use In Jeopardy?

by JAMES VESELY

Even though it took nature more than a million years to create Lake Defiance and its surrounding beauty, it has taken the State of Illinois only a year to place the use of the property in jeopardy in the minds of local residents.

Scheduled to be the newest state park in Northern Illinois, Lake Defiance encompasses some 1,500 acres of largely untouched thicket, meadow and wetland just west of Volo in McHenry County.

The state took interest in the acreage a year ago and announced plans to acquire 1,515 acres surrounding and including the lake itself, a crystal-clear body of water reputedly teeming with fish.

State conservation officials see the site as a unique geological formation and one of the few unaltered combinations of lake and high ground in Northern Illinois.

And the people who live on or near the newly acquired state land see it that way too, but they wonder how unaltered the land will remain.

SINCE THE STATE began its process of condemnation and land acquisition, rumors and hearsay have repeatedly swept the area. One woman said she was told the whole area would be devoted to bicycle riders with paved pathways crisscrossing the hills and meadows. Another said the land would be used as a hunting preserve with all other use of the land forbidden during hunting season.

Rumors persist that no horse trails will be allowed on the property, even though they now exist and are used by riders from the various stables around the acreage.

They have been in business there for several years and now they are told they must leave.

Mrs. Intermite says she understands the state must not grant favored privileges to anyone and that concessions such as horse stables would have to be let by the state by bids.

But she is afraid horseback riding will be eliminated entirely from the state's plans for the park and she wants to prevent that from happening. Mrs. Intermite says the public's interest and need in riding facilities is growing and further, that the ecological damage to any area from horses is too low to measure. She thinks it would be a shame for people not to be able to ride through the future park and she has amassed petitions with several hundred names to back her case.

In Springfield, Warren said the decision on horseback riding hasn't been made yet, and the determining factor will be the conservation of the resource.

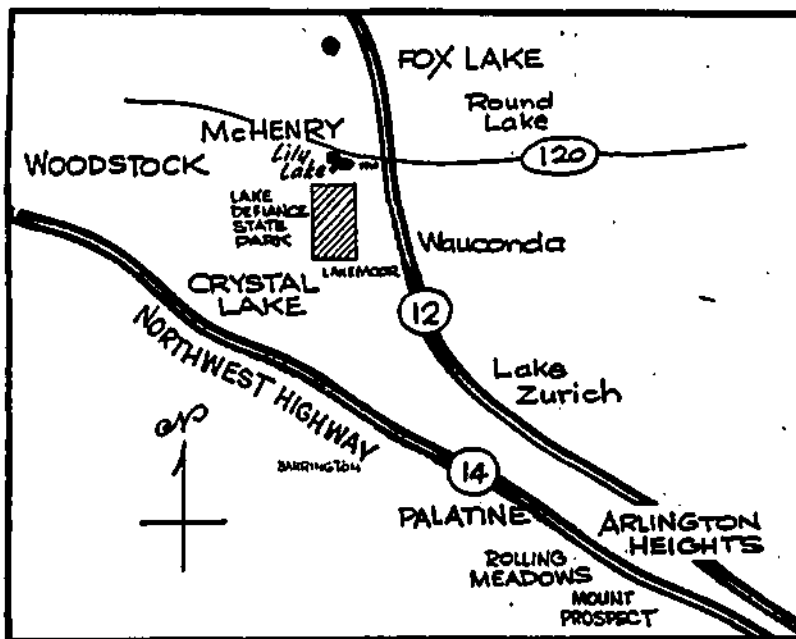

"THE STATE IS not in the horse riding business," he said. "We allow concessions in some parks but whether the state will or will not in this one is still up in the air. One of the things which will have to be determined is if the soil and other aspects of the area are compatible with horses and riders."

Similarly, the acquisition of the land by the state will mean the end of Camp Lewis, a Girl Scout camp accounting for some 40 acres on the lakeshore.

Warren said the state will take over the scout property and probably use the facilities there for a youth camp or sim-

ON A SUNNY, September day the future Lake Defiance state park is a place of quiet beauty and clean, untampered forests and water. This section of the Lake Defiance property is on the edge of the proposed state park.

And finally, the question of the use of the lake is mentioned. The people who now live near the lake claim it is being fished now by state officials, despite the ban placed on using the lake to anyone else.

According to officials in Springfield, all this is untrue because the state itself is not finished studying the site and no final decision has been made concerning the recreation use of the property.

CONSERVATION officials in Springfield all emphasize the process of acquisition of all the property has not been completed and that no approval has been given to park use plans. They say little or nothing will be done on the newly acquired state property until spring at the earliest.

So far the state has taken over 1,100 acres of the total 1,515 acre goal. About 12 parcels are still outstanding with the state prepared to seek condemnation suits and court action to take the acreage for park use.

Gene Deturek of the department's land acquisition section said about $1,897,450 has been spent by the state so far for the property and he expects perhaps another $500,000 to be spent in obtaining the remaining portions.

One of the biggest landowners to give up the fight against condemnation was the Lake Defiance Sand and Gravel Co. which was taking gravel from the lake bed. The firm has now stopped operation and the state has acquired all its land, just short of a court suit, according to Deturek.

The state expects to take full ownership of all the acreage in question by the end of this calendar year. And after that the final decision over use of the land will be made.

John Warren, chief of public information for the conservation department, said the state is well aware of the brewing controversy over the use of the land, primarily over horseback riding in the park.

PERCHED ON THE edge of the Lake Defiance property is the Intermite Stables run by Ed and Connie Intermite. The stable offers horses to rent or boarding facilities for private mounts.

ilar recreation purpose for young people.

There will be no exclusive arrangement for the Girl Scouts, however, Warren said, although scouting groups may be able to reserve use of the camp the same way anyone else would.

Scout officials say they will vacate the property soon and are now trying to work out an exchange with the state where they will acquire use of property elsewhere in return for Camp Lewis.

Martha Goodman, executive director of the Girl Scout council which administers the Lake Defiance site, said the arrangements are still in the negotiations stage. The state has not settled its final payment or land exchange with the scouts.

WARREN SAID there are other sites in Illinois where a Boy Scout or Girl Scout camp remains on state land, but nothing like that is planned for Lake Defiance.

In the end, the state will acquire whatever land it needs for its new state park.

Even though people such as Mrs. Intermite have potentially much to lose in their nearness and affection for the land, the state's attitude is that planned use of the property will not be determined by local residents.

The state's acquisition of the 1,515 acres is certain and unremittent. It has the weight of the law and the power of its finances on its side. Much of what the state plans to do in McHenry County is welcomed by the people there. The gravel company which in good part devastated the land it worked is now gone.

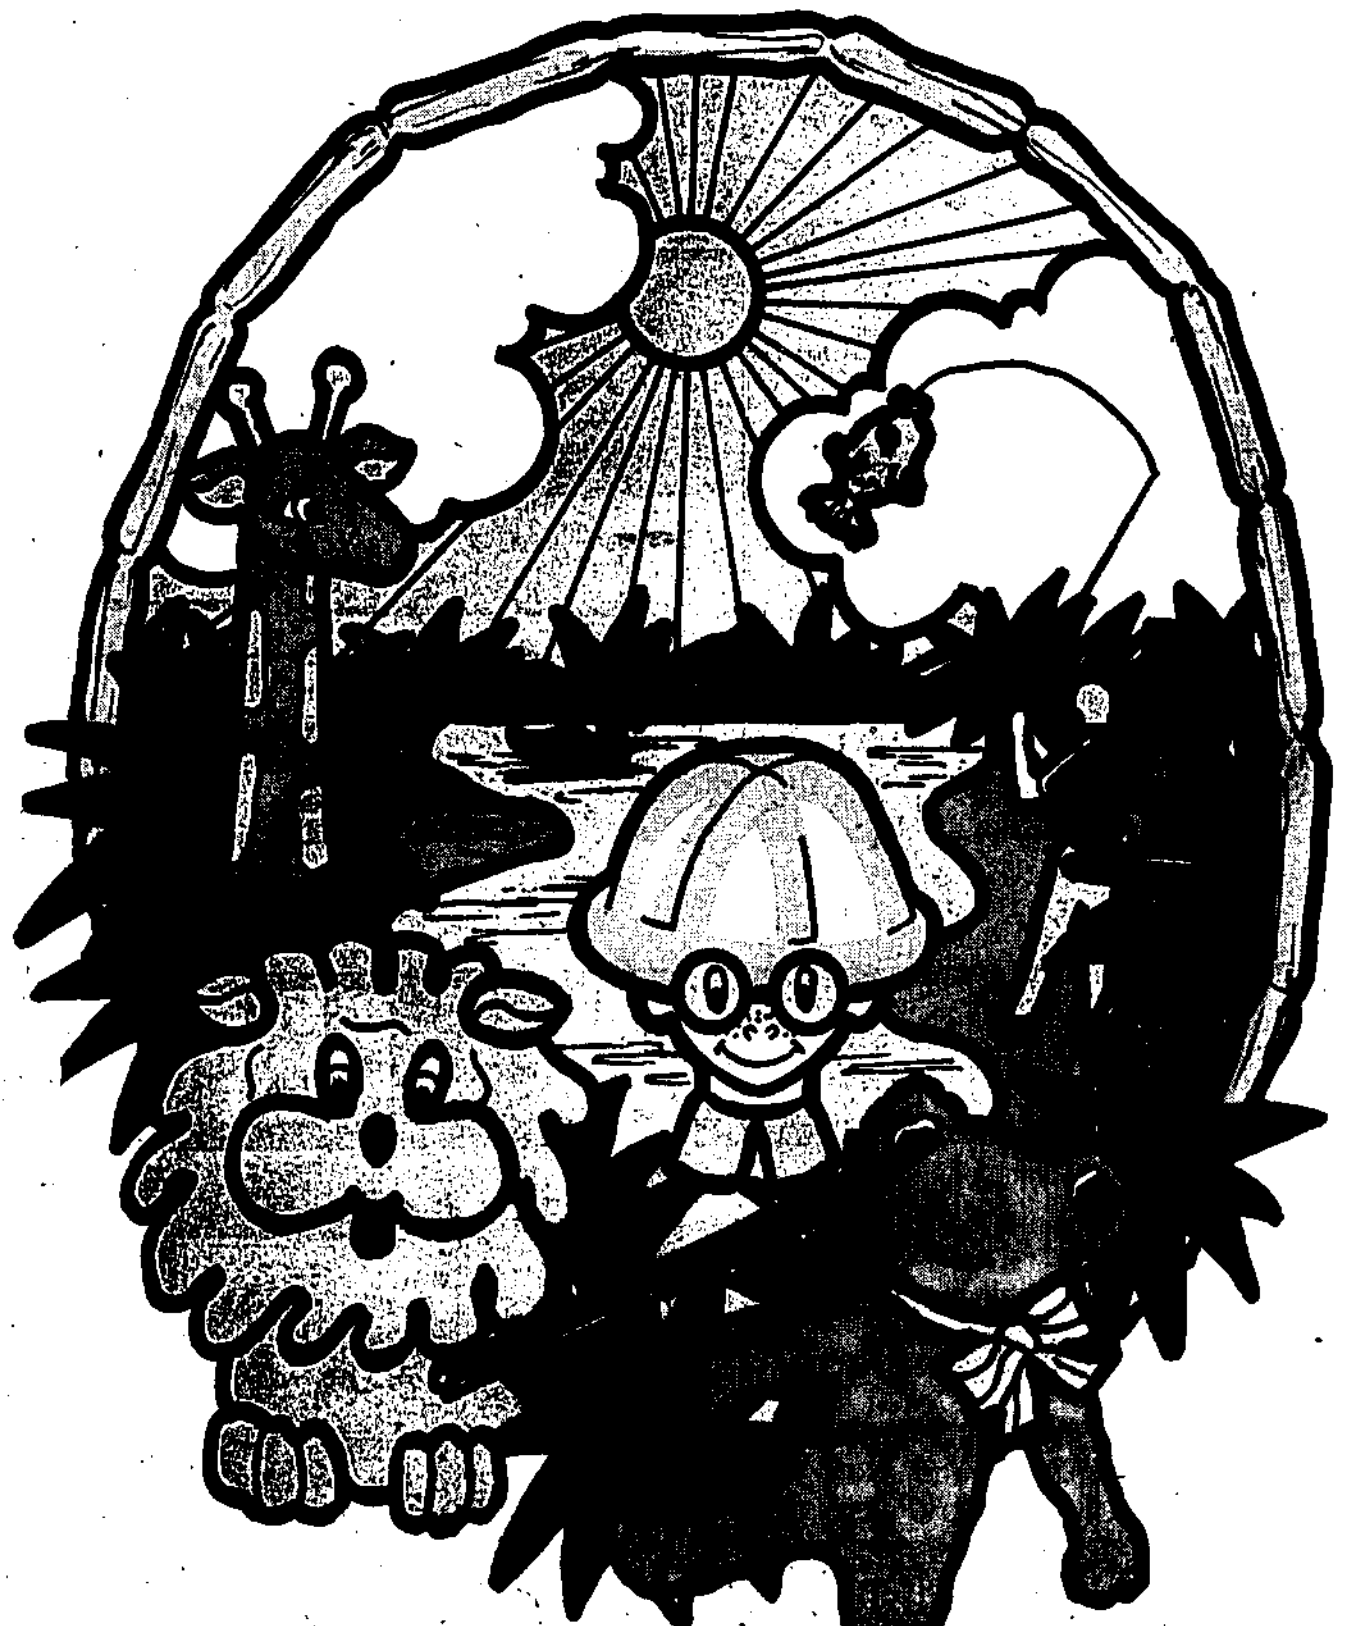

But the local folk watch and wait for the state's new ownership to be felt. There is a row of small houses on one gravel road of the property where several families have lived for a generation. These families will have to leave and the houses will be pushed down.

That same fate may await the Intermite Stables and the fine old oak barn which houses the horses.

The state says these things will have to go.

To Mrs. Intermite and her riders, there only remains the hope that a horses' passage through the woods and meadows will not disturb the plans for a new state park.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like some advice on varicose veins. I am in my early 50s and enjoy sports such as tennis and swimming. But while others wear shorts and bathing suits, I have to wear support hose and slacks because of unsightly dark purple veins. I have tried all kinds of cover-ups, but to no avail. Are there any operations besides skin grafts for my ankles and bends of my knees? My ankles and knees are all purple with small veins. I also have large knobby ones in one leg. Please give some advice. Is this type of operation dangerous? I'm tired of bundling up in hot weather.

Dear Reader — Varicose veins are a problem. The large veins can cause accumulation of blood in the legs and ankles causing swelling, skin discoloration and even ulceration of the skin. The very small tiny veins that some women have in the surface of the skin cause no medical problem, and are only a cosmetic consideration.

Before anything is done, a complete physical examination has to be accomplished to determine the state of all of the veins in the legs. There are some superficial veins that some people can see and then there are large deep veins within the large muscles of the leg and thigh that are equally important.

If the large veins in the legs are normal, the little tiny superficial network of veins that some women have can be eradicated by a little electrical needle, much in the same way small dilated veins in the nose can be corrected. This procedure is of little value however, if the large veins in the skin and deeper in the legs are involved. In this case, it is sometimes possible to strip out the varicose veins depending on the finding of the medical examination. Skin grafts are completely useless in these conditions unless the underlying problem of the varicose veins is corrected first and good circulation is established. Then a graft isn't needed.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Recently a reader wrote you about epilepsy. I am also an epileptic and have been examined and found the cause to be irregular brain waves. I have medication for it. Is it possible that being overly excited, overly tired, or worried can bring on an attack or seizure?

Dear Reader — Epilepsy is not actually caused by irregular brain waves. The irregular brain wave is a manifestation of the epilepsy itself. The actual seizure may be thought of as being caused by an electrical short circuit in the brain. When the electrical disorder occurs it causes the irregular brain wave and stimulates the body to respond to cause the convulsion. The medicine acts to decrease the excess electrical activity in the brain and thereby prevents convulsions.

In most instances when sufficient medicine is given, the overactive electrical areas in the brain can be calmed down enough to prevent them from precipitating a convulsion, even in the face of most normal events of ordinary living that you mentioned.

Stamp Notes

by Bernadine M. Rechner

The two final stamps in the Canadian Indian series will be issued Oct. 4 at Ottawa. The 8 cent issues depict Indian ceremonial dress and graphic symbolism.

The ceremonial dress stamp is from a painting by Gerald Tailfeathers of Cardston, Alberta, an Indian of the Blood Band of the Blackfoot Nation. His design illustrates a traditional costume which a Plains Indian might wear during a sun dance.

The second stamp, representing graphic symbolism, was designed by Georges Desnoes of Montreal and illustrates a thunderbird of Plains Cree origin in conjunction with a decorative detail of Assiniboine origin.

The stamps will be printed together on one sheet, checkerboard fashion. Printing will be done by the British American Bank Note Company, Ltd. of Ottawa in an initial order of 28 million. Marginal inscriptions including the designers' names will appear on the four corners of each pane of 50 stamps. Some of the stamps will be "tagged" (phosphorus) but there are no marginal inscriptions on corner blocks of this variety.

MINT STAMPS may be ordered from the Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0B5.

Collectors desiring first day covers should send their requests to "First Day Cover Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0B5" enclosing the proper remittance, which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed, plus a 5 cent service fee for each cover.

The U.S. Postal Service today is introducing "American Commemorative Series" Stamp Panels at selected post offices.

The panels continue the production of philatelic materials intended to enhance stamp collecting. The panels — 8½ x 11¼ inches — are suitable for framing or inclusion in an album.

THE FIRST ISSUE will depict a block of four Wildlife Conservation stamps on good quality paper, protected by a plastic jacket and a backer. Highlighting the panel are three mid-19th century engravings, reproduced from the originals of the American Bank Note Company, which is producing the panels.

In the pilot program, the panels will be sold for $2 by post offices in Miami and San Francisco and at philatelic outlets in selected post offices elsewhere — the closest to us being Chicago Philatelic Center, Main Post Office, Chicago.

Panels in production include Mall Order Business, Osteopathic Medicine and Tom Sawyer. After issuance of the Tom Sayer Stamp, Oct. 13, the four panels will be available by mail for $8 from the Philatelic Sales Unit, U.S. Postal Service, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

Canada is at that point of her national history when anniversaries of one sort or another are occurring at close intervals. The latest to be observed is one that will be appreciated by as many people outside of Canada. The Royal Mounted Police are celebrating their 100th birthday.

To commemorate the occasion, Solicitor General Jean-Pierre Goyer has announced that two new coins — a 25-cent piece and a new silver dollar — will be struck in 1973 at the Royal Mint.

The quarter dollar will be minted as a commercial coin in place of the current 25-cent piece which bears the caribou design on its reverse. The silver dollar, on the other hand, will be sold through the Mint as a collector's item.

Both coins will depict a mounted rider on their reverse, arched by the issuing authority CANADA with the denomination in the field and the dates 1873-1973.

A portrait of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II will occupy the obverse.

With Canada's new look in the field of numismatics, it is not at all surprising to see more and more American collectors turning to Canadian coinage. The denominations are identical to those of the United States, except for the terms dime, quarter and half dollar, which are known simply as 10 cents, 25 cents and fifty cents.

AS A SERVICE to both Canadian and American collectors, the Royal Mint in Ottawa has established a Numismatic Division. This makes it much easier for those who are inclined toward coinage of the Commonwealth governments, since many of these pieces are also struck at the Royal Mint.

Readers interested in the new Canadian 25-cent "Mountie" coins and the Commemorative 1973 silver dollar, should write Mr. W. K. Robertson, Chief, Numismatic Division, The Royal Canadian Mint, Ottawa, Canada.

Robble will be very happy to send you full details on how, when, and where these pieces will be available.

I advise everyone against trying to bring Canadian coins into the United States. The Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations in Washington still frowns upon gold being brought into the country and, should inquiries to Mr. Robertson include such a suggestion, he will be the first to explain the reason he would be unable to deliver.

NEW SIX COIN PROOF SETS

Mrs. Mary T. Brooks, Director of the Bureau of the Mint has revealed that the new 1972 United States Proof sets will include an Eisenhower dollar. More on this in the next report.

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At a recent Price Commission hearing, consumer advocate Ralph Nader accused the auto industry of exaggerating the cost of safety equipment the government requires on 1973 cars. I'll leave it to the commission to evaluate that criticism. In fairness to the industry, however, it should be pointed out that some automakers have gone beyond federal safety standards on their new models.

For example, one company is offering prospective buyers "lighted vanity mirrors" and "outside thermometers."

Its advertisements don't identify these items as safety equipment. But I have a friend who is a safety expert and he assured me that both will provide motorists with an extra degree of protection.

"SINCE MOST CARS now have heaters that keep the interiors warm, motorists tend to become oblivious to the outside temperature," he explained. "This can be dangerous."

"Suppose that while you are driving along a cold wave comes up and drops the temperature to subzero levels. But you, being all snug and comfy inside, are unaware of the change in the weather."

"So when you reach your destination, you hop out of the car without a topcoat and catch your death of cold."

"But if you have an outside thermometer, you can keep in touch with climatic conditions and dress accordingly."

I said, "Every car should have one. How will a lighted vanity mirror help protect me?"

Social Security and You

Q—I'M 65 and although I have never worked under social security I did enroll in the medical insurance program under Medicare as soon as I could. My doctor told me that I may soon need surgery. Even though my husband is 63 and still working, is it possible for me to get hospital Medicare insurance now under his social security number?

A—Yes. Even though your husband is not retired and not yet 65, he can file for social security just to provide you with hospital coverage. He does not have to get benefits himself, and he can keep right on working. Call any social security office and explain your particular situation.

Q—I GET monthly retirement benefits from social security, and my wife also draws benefits on my work record. My wife is planning to start working at a part-time job. Will her earnings affect my monthly benefits?

A—No. If she earns enough, your wife may have part or all of her own monthly cash benefits withheld, but this will not affect your retirement payments.

"The traffic accident rate is much higher at night," the safety expert said. "One reason for this is that women trying to freshen their makeup in the car have trouble applying cosmetics in the dark."

"If she is a passenger, she may switch on the dome light, which blinds the driver and causes him to crash into a roadside tomato stand."

"OR IF SHE is the driver, she may try to check her make-up by poking her head out the window and peering into the rear view mirror while it is illuminated by the headlights of a passing car."

"In that position she could easily lose control of the car, particularly if she is using one hand to refurbish her lipstick. But with a lighted vanity mirror available, those hazards will be removed."

I said, "Every car should have one. Are there any other new safety features in the works?"

"Yes, indeed. A rain gauge for convertibles. In event of a cloudburst, it will give you warning in time to put up the top before you drown."

Harper Enrollment Hits 11,145 For Fall Class

Fall enrollment figures indicate that William Rainey Harper College in Palatine continues to grow while many other two and four year colleges and universities are experiencing stable or declining fall enrollments.

Harper College's student population stood at 11,145 at the close of late registration on Wednesday, an increase of 1,962 over last year's 9,183-member student body.

The total includes 7,702 full and part-time credit students plus 3,443 continuing education students.

The continuing education enrollment represents a nearly 27 per cent increase over last year's 2,754 registrants.

A BREAKDOWN by age of the 1972 enrollment indicates that students age 25 years and older represent 35 per cent of the community college's student body.

The 17 through 21 year olds, represent 55 per cent of the current student body.

Among new offerings are 10 continuing education classes. New courses have been developed for special interest groups, such as apartment complex managers. A non-credit course in religion is also scheduled for the first time.

Also new are courses being given on "satellite campuses" in the college district, such as at Woodfield Shopping Mall.

Harper's actual enrollment is far in advance of projections made for the college's future. The new enrollment exceeds by 4,795 students the original projections for this year made in 1966, one year after Harper was established.

The heaviest course enrollments this fall have been in the business, health and biological sciences and social sciences fields, an apparent change from the preferences listed last year for communications, humanities, and fine arts.

An increase in enrollment was also felt in the 35 career programs offered by Harper. Six new programs were added, said Robert B. Cormack, career program director, some of which were not approved until July and not listed in the catalog.

EACH OF THE six new programs is filled to capacity, he said, and "every career program without exception" has seen increased enrollment over last year.

He noted that an increase of some 15 per cent has been recorded for all career programs.

The child care program has doubled in enrollment over last year, while a 2 per cent increase was recorded in the criminal justice program.

Do-It-Yourself

Do You Want To Fence Your Home In?

Whether fences really make good neighbors depends on a lot of things — including you, your neighbors and the kind of fence you put up.

While no newspaper article can advise you about the first two it can list a few pointers about the last.

A fence can do many things but it should not exist for itself. Don't build a fence just because you figure it's the thing to do.

Consider what you want it to do. A fence can keep people and animals in or out. It can provide privacy by serving as a screen. It can protect the property — although anyone determined enough can get over the usual fence found around a home.

There are many materials from which to choose. You can use brick, stone, aluminum, fiberglass, plastic sheets, plywood, boards, rails — you name it.

For looks and easy construction as well as economy, wood continues to rank high.

You can buy the material and create the whole thing. Or you can buy a fence in premade sections.

When using wood, be certain to treat it to prevent rotting. This should be done at any point that touches or enters the ground. Treat the wood, especially the posts, with wood preservative. Dipping and soaking is the best method of application.

Use 4 by 4 or larger lumber for the posts. Get them long enough so that a third of the length can go underground. This should be 2½ feet, at least.

A post-hole digger is the tool you need for fast and easy work. Most hardware stores will rent you one.

Set your posts no farther apart than 8 feet. Closer is better. Rails will be stronger if supported at three points — the ends and center.

Set posts deeper in sandy soil than in clay. Four some gravel in the base of the hole for drainage.

Set the post in the hole (which should be as close to the width of the post as possible) and tamp the earth firmly around it. If the soil is loose, use concrete. Pour a little at the bottom, then fill most of the hole with rocks and then pour more concrete.

Don't measure the distance from the ground when setting posts because the ground may be irregular. Use a level.

If you want your fence to follow contours, then let the rails do it. Set the posts the same depth and measure from the top of the posts to get the position of the rails.

Screws are better for fastening than nails. Paint all hardware. Use aluminum paint as a sealer to keep rust from bleeding through. Then apply the finish paint.

One thing to do before you do anything about the fence itself — buying material, digging holes or anything. Check local zoning ordinances. These will tell you how high a fence you may have, where you can put it, whether you can put one up.

We have changed a few cards around in Hand 20 of the nationwide Olympiad game so as to make sure that South gets to be declared at three no-trump.

The contract is not one of the best we have ever seen but worse ones make every day and this one will make unless West is right on his toes.

South takes East's king of spades with his ace at trick one and enters dummy with a diamond in order to try the heart finesse. It loses and West is back on lead.

West assumes that South is sitting with the guarded jack of spades and some West players will make the mistake of trying a waiting lead. If they do they will be waiting for the setting trick long after South has romped home with his contract.

A realistic West will see that king-jack-10 of clubs right in back of his ace-queen and will realize that he must clear the spades before South has a chance to go after clubs. He will play queen and another spade.

South will collect a second spade trick plus three hearts and three diamonds, but if East hangs onto all his diamonds

Nixon Pressure Wrongly Used

President Nixon must have struck a responsive chord with this nation of television watchers last week.

But at the same time, his words had an ominous and menacing ring.

Mr. Nixon, responding to a lament from the Screen Actors Guild, chastised the nation's television networks for showing too many reruns.

He further said he had ordered a White House investigation of the networks' rerun policies, with Tom Whitehead, director of the Office of Telecommunications Policy, to conduct it.

If he doesn't like what he hears, said the President, and the networks don't find some voluntary solution to the rerun problem, the federal government "will explore whatever regulatory recommendations are in order."

On the basic issue of reruns, we are in accord with the President's lament. There are figures that show that close to 60 per cent of prime time network programming is made up of reruns, and any reasonably attentive viewer knows that it has been getting worse every year.

The pattern is becoming one where shows will run half a season with fresh material and finish the season by repeating the same shows. Some even have gone to rerun breaks at Christmas time. Made-for-TV movies are repeated under the guise of "encores."

The networks have gotten themselves into that situation by higher and higher costs for entertainers, sets and production, but whatever possible economic justification there may be, the result is cheating the viewer.

We also concede that to a degree there is a necessity for the federal government — through the Federal Communications Commission — to regulate the air waves, particularly in licensing. The air, after all, belongs to us all.

But Mr. Nixon's pronouncement goes beyond all that, and smacks of intimidation from the highest office in the land. It is, in a way, related to the Spiro Agnew syndrome of criticism of the media, especially the broadcast media.

On one hand, we have the vice president pressuring broadcasters on the kind of news and analysis they present; and on the other, the President putting on the squeeze over entertainment content. The connotations are most disturbing.

Making the Nixon assault worse is that it smacks of kangaroo court: he's told the broadcasters already that if they don't make changes on their own, he'll set the government after them. There is guilt without trial, and no choice for the networks.

Worse yet, the President has intruded on behalf of the Screen Actors Guild, which has launched a campaign to reduce prime time reruns on the grounds that the practice has forced actors out of work. In effect, Mr. Nixon is saying he'll make work for them, which would be a rather extreme use of presidential influence.

In accepting his assignment from the President, Whitehead said "creation of a new network may well be the only way to meet the needs of program diversity and audience choice."

That raises the most, somber specter of all. Is he speaking of the creation of a government-controlled network? We ardently hope not, because that would be the ultimate tool of any government, and profoundly contrary to the traditions and structure of this country.

We can't believe the President would try to go that far. But how far he would go in regulation is uncertain, and we are appalled that he is even considering it.

However much we condemn the networks' rerun mania, we think Mr. Nixon has ventured too far in trying to pressure change.

The judge and arbiter — as it was intended — should be the person at the on-off button.

A Day Well-Deserved

Hunters and fishermen are among the more misunderstood elements in our population, and so are their sports.

There is a growing popular impression — spawned by the long-overdue accent on ecology and the environment — that they somehow are despoilers of wildlife, slaughterers of game large and small, major contributors to the hurtling toward extinction of several animal, fish and bird species.

That impression is nearing hysteria in some quarters, spawning calls for the banning of hunting and fishing as destructive and barbaric.

Hunters and fishermen are getting a bad rap, and we say that fully mindful of the Herald's long-standing and consistent espousal of environmental legislation and protection.

The fact is that hunters and fishermen as a group have contributed more to the preservation of game and game habitat than anyone else in our society.

They've done it with money — through hunting and fishing license fees and special taxes on the sale of guns, ammunition and fishing equipment, money which is used for land acquisition, habitat restoration, park development, fish and game stocking and wildlife study.

They've done it with spirit — individually and through their own sportsmen's and conservation groups pressuring for season regulations and bag limits on all the game and fish they pursue.

They recognize that the real problem has been with the unchecked development of the American landscape — bulldozing, building, mining, logging, damming and asphaltting, all of which destroy the delicate balance of nature.

The hunters and fishermen — the few nuts among them notwithstanding — have played a positive role. And in their honor, this Saturday — by presidential and gubernatorial proclamation — has been proclaimed National Hunting and Fishing Day.

We endorse it, and hope it might call attention to the real culprits in environmental decay.

I'm Against Reruns Too!

The Fence Post

No Doubt: He's For Nixon

The political conventions are over and the die is cast, as the cliché says. Now it's up to the voters to choose who should lead this country for the next four years. And the choice should be very easy for those who watched the conventions, listened to the speakers, observed the delegates and can read and understand.

At the McGovern convention, the radicals, the fuzzy-minded, the faint-hearted, the deserter sympathizers and the non-letuce eaters were inside as delegates.

At the "minority" convention, the same types, along with some anarchists, were on the outside trying to disrupt the proceedings.

So before casting our votes in November, let's look at the record which, from my view, is quite clear.

It shows President Nixon to be a quite responsible and skillful economic planner and manager despite the partisan hostility of a majority of the House and Senate, including some from his own party who now try to make us believe otherwise.

The McGovern party people, by contrast, have shown themselves to be among the fuzziest and sloppiest of economic thinkers and planners, with almost daily "economic policy" changes as they try to find something palatable to those who weren't delegates to the convention.

The record also shows President Nixon as a master of international politics who deals from strength and gains respect because there is no other safe way. McGovern, on the other hand, gives aid and comfort to the enemy by promising to go crawling to them in sackcloth and ashes, to people who would spit on him as he begged for compromise if he should ever be in a position to go begging. And even now, in a manner so naive as to be unbelievable if it hadn't actually happened, he sends a weak dogooder like Ramsey Clark and a headline hunter like Salinger as emissaries to an enemy government, while refusing a briefing by Henry Kissinger.

Again, for anyone who cares to analyze, the record is quite clear that one Henry Kissinger is the equal of 1,000 apologists like Clark and Salinger. (I wonder if the sadly stupid Jane Fonda was also one of McGovern's "secret" spokesmen.)

As the record will also show, Mr. McGovern has always been a reckless spender and an advocate of higher and higher taxes throughout his political career. It is also now evident that he deals mostly in platitudes and shoots from the hip almost "1,000 per cent" of the time before he really knows what he's talking about.

Finally, Mr. Nixon is a known quantity — strong, tough, orderly, and politically, economically and socially alert. McGovern, by contrast, has no track record on anything of substance and is daily demonstrating that not even he is sure of where he stands on anything.

Surely President Nixon, by his deeds, has demonstrated his ability as a leader and should be given a mandate by voters of all political persuasions to serve for another four years. And when intelligently contrasted to his opponent, should get just about all the votes there are available, except, of course, those of the unrepresentative delegates who dominated the McGovern party convention.

The Lament Of An Oft-Flooded Homeowner

When is the Village of Palatine going to do something to relieve the residents and alleviate the flooding in the town?

Why, when it rains hard, do I have to take my car out of the driveway and park up the block? And I bought a house and pay taxes for this!

Why do my husband and I lose our appetites and suffer mental anguish when rain is in the forecast?

Why do my children worry about rain, constantly standing at the window looking out, and why do they have to be awakened in the middle of the night to get dressed and ready to be evacuated?

Why does our social life have to be based and rearranged on the weather forecast?

Why do my wonderful neighbors have to be concerned with providing us with sleeping accommodations during heavy rainstorms?

Why do I have to listen to the village board's sarcastic and complacent remarks about what we should do with our house, when they won't seek ways to relieve the situation?

Why is the village eager to run a 72-inch sewer from the railroad station to the west branch of Salt Creek, thereby causing more water to flood more streets and homes in the southwest section of town?

Why doesn't the board seek help from the state and Metropolitan Sanitary District, or don't they want it known that Palatine floods easily and quickly?

When are the people in this town going to band together and force the village to do something about the flooding?

I ask myself these questions as I listen to weather reports of heavy rain coming our way and wonder how much longer I can take this worry.

Mr. L. Wray

P.S. I think your editorial of Friday, Sept. 8 was very good and hope it does some good.

Candidate Says: 'Help Us'

How many voters of the 4th Legislative District recognize the names of Thomas Flynn, John Nimrod, Aaron Jaffe, Robert Juckett, Edward Warman and Eugene Schlickman? The sad truth is that many voters in the 4th do not recognize these names as their Democratic and Republican candidates for State Senator and Representative.

The coming general election is important because we will be electing the president, the governor, the state's attorney and our local congressman. However, it is also important because we will be electing our personal senator and representatives in Springfield. We candidates will be voting on laws that will affect the voters for the rest of their lives. The local candidates for state office are too important to be elected or defeated just because they are Democrats or Republicans. The views and positions of the local candidates are also important to the 4th District voter. The voter is entitled to make an intelligent decision.

I strongly urge the local newspapers of the 4th Legislative District to print the news releases of the local Democratic and Republican candidates. This is the only way the voter will become informed of what the local candidates stand for. The voter can also do his part. He can volunteer to help the candidates of his party. We local candidates are often lost in the shuffle of Nixon, McGovern, Mikva and Young. We too need your help. The voters can volunteer by simply calling their regular party organizations in the township they live in. I hope some do.

The local newspapers can help improve the quality of state government by simply printing the news releases of their local candidates. This is not asking too much from the press. We local candidates have worked hard for the past 10 months. We do not deserve to be lost in the crush of major candidates in the last six weeks of the election. Hopefully, by election day many more voters will recognize the names Flynn, Nimrod, Jaffe, Juckett, Warman and Schlickman. I thank the press and voters for their consideration.

Candidate, 4th District

'Nixon Can't Run A Railroad'

The utter incompetence of the Nixon-Agnew administration is again shown by their handling of Amtrak and their attempt to bail out the sick railroads of the country.

Nixon's talent for running a railroad was first demonstrated by his appointment of Maurice Stans, the fund-raiser for Nixon's secret 10 million dollar campaign fund. Mr. Stans was involved in the "reorganization" of the Pennsylvania Railroad which ended up with several million dollars and a few hundred freight cars being lost.

Bob Lahey's Column

Saying It Is Does Not Make It News

Elsewhere on this page appears a letter from Thomas Flynn, candidate for the Illinois Senate, urging that newspapers in his district give more attention to "news releases" distributed by him and other candidates of both parties. Flynn's concern is understandable. He is a diligent and prolific campaigner who, as he notes in his letter, has worked hard for 10 months in his first bid for public office, as have many of the other candidates.

Bob

It is not the purpose here to take issue with his letter. But it does point up an issue which is often confused by candidates, campaign workers, the public and, indeed, newspapers.

The issue is: When is a "news release" news?

The answer is: Seldom.

The fact that some newspapers all too often accept news releases as means of saving time and filling space only adds to the continuing misconception that a bunch of facts or opinions put together on the letterhead of a candidate and distributed to news media somehow becomes something which the media is obliged to reproduce.

Too often, political news releases consist mostly of a series of things which "the candidate said," when in fact he never said them to anybody at all, with the possible exception of his wife or his campaign manager.

The difference between a news release and news is that news means something happened. There are, of course, exceptions. If Vice President Agnew decides to support George McGovern for president and never does anything but distribute a "release" on that fact, it might legitimately be considered news.

Why then do newspapers, including this one, print news releases of candidates?

As a public service, purely and simply. But the trouble is that candidates and campaign workers — and this is said without any critical intent — invariably come to regard printing of their releases as a service that is owed to them, and not one which is performed for the benefit of the voters.

The most frequent plea heard from campaign workers is that a particular release or photograph "is important to our campaign."

To put bluntly, any newspaper worth its salt will not allow itself to be concerned with what is important to the campaign of any particular candidate.

It is the job of candidates to campaign. It is the task of newspapers to report on their campaigns. But the newspapers' responsibility for reporting campaigns rests on its obligation to inform the voters, not to aid the candidate.

The number of press releases produced by a candidate is no gauge of his qualification for office — although their content may be.

If the content is newsworthy, it will find its way into print in competent newspapers.

Word-A-Day

Business Today

by BILL MILLER
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — John D. Has started singing in the shower.

He's also started wearing flashy sportcoats and ties, getting to work earlier, accomplishing more while he's there and last month his salary was boosted to $60,000 a year.

John was divorced six months ago.

Howard K. John's opposite number at a rival corporation, doesn't sing anywhere. He seldom speaks unless spoken to first and then just mumbles something and walks away. His performance, which began to slide off noticeably about 18 months ago, is now past the point of puzzling his superiors. They seriously contemplate his dismissal.

Howard's divorce became final a week before John's.

Divorce is common in many circles but seems to be making rapid strides at the corporate level. Until recently, upper echelon executives were largely trapped in marriages for the sake of their images. No longer.

NOW, WITH SOCIETY adopting a more permissive posture, the stigma of divorce is fading. The business executive has started to match the national average of one out of four marriages ultimately dissolved.

"The demands of a family tend to conflict with those of a job more and more as a person climbs the executive ladder," says Thomas Moorhead, vice president for employee relations of Champion International.

Various sources figure the divorce rate at the corporate executive level to be somewhere between 45 per cent and 60 per cent.

"Another 20 per cent live together in misery," says William Butler, a New York attorney who specializes in divorce cases. Butler adds that about 20 per cent at the corporate level find monogamy feasible.

While the stigma of divorce is disappearing at the corporate level, its effect on performance is on the rise.

"The problem is that a corporate executive usually has no balance in his life. He has no time for cultural activities, sports or other leisure pursuits. He usually is too tired. He has no time for anything but making money. So he ends up with lots of money but nothing else," says a California psychologist.

ALTHOUGH FIRMS are more aware of this, few show any concern unless the employee's work suffers. Few, if any, have formal policies for a worker whose marriage is on the rocks.

"We are always ready to help any way we can but we don't like formal nosing around in a man's private life," said one company executive.

The idea that a happily married executive generally is productive is not lost upon big business. A strong motivation behind recent corporate migrations to the suburbs is that hubby can cut his commuting time and spend it with his wife and kids.

While the stigma of divorce is disappearing for men at the executive level, it may have even a more important effect for women. That has been the experience of Sue Corner, an account executive for Burson Martzeller in Los Angeles.

But They 'Won't Be Pushed Around'

Advertisers Toning Down Claims

by JOHN M. WILLIAMS
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Government and consumer pressure has forced an about face in the ad game but while industry executives admit to more basic advertising, they assert they will neither be intimidated nor "pushed around."

The nation's biggest service industry, with 1971 billings a record $10.5 billion, advertising has come under increasing attack from the federal government to stop so-called "deceptive" practices. Consumer groups, led by Ralph Nader, have been a moving factor behind the government pressure.

Advertising, as a result, has been revamped. It has gotten down to the business of selling to satisfy the government and, as one executive reported to serve the needs of a "more sophisticated consumer."

ACCORDING TO advertising executive Jerry Della Femina, "I think people have changed and advertising has changed accordingly. Ads are much more to the point."

Della Femina says the "gimmick" ads and the ones designed to humiliate the consumer are on their way out.

"The funny advertising started to die when the stock market went down. There's nothing funny about losing money."

Della Femina said today's advertising executive is younger and is reflecting the desires of today's youth culture much more responsively than ever before.

"The day of cynical advertising is over," he said. "The cynical ad man is a dying breed. The day of showing the product down the consumer's throat is over."

Dick Pinkham, senior vice president for Ted Bates & Co., the fourth largest domestic agency, felt modern advertising must answer the needs of a more mature and sophisticated public. He agreed and said the days of laugh provoking advertising are through.

Edward H. Meyer, president and chief executive officer of Grey Advertising, said the industry, especially in relation to mechanical goods, is stressing the durability and repairability of the product. Meyer said consumers are increasingly aware of "what happens after" the product is bought. "I think we are responding to a different sense of values," Meyer said. "Our research is changing. I'd say advertisers are far more conscious these days to the need to be as accurate as possible and not write loosely."

LEO GREENLAND, president of Smith-Greenland ad agency, said, "I feel writers will be checking their copy much more carefully to eliminate simple exaggerations. I think the ridiculous exaggeration will remain a constructive tool to make a point... but I feel the looseness of creativity will be more finely honed. I feel the advertiser now must be ready to substantiate any claim. It's just not allowing an imagination to run off and say anything they want to about a product."

Greenland said the government pressure was more or less justified and added, "After the initial grumbling and growling, I think they (the agencies) better respond with candor and absolute honesty."

Though advertising executives agreed their industry is changing with the times, whether through government pressure or a more sophisticated consumer, there was the general notion they should not be held up as sacrificial goats.

"I don't think it's at all fair for the government or the consumer groups to castigate advertising in the eyes of the public before they have the facts," said Ted Bates' Dick Pinkham. "I think in the case of the FTC, they have tended to publicize cases which are not yet proven. It's like pinning a murder rap on someone without proving he's guilty."

AS RECENTLY as July 31, the FTC reported that an analysis of materials submitted to the government by manufacturers to back up their ad claims showed that many claims had not been proven true.

"Serious questions as to the adequacy of data to support the claims they purported to document arose in about 30 per cent of the responses," the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection reported. The study involved 32 firms attempting to substantiate 282 claims made for their products.

However, the FTC also has come under attack for its investigative practices. At least one noted economist, Yale Brozen, professor of business economics at the graduate school of business, University of Chicago, said, "Recent policies adopted by the FTC will harm consumers rather than helping them."

Brozen, who has acted as a consultant to IIT Continental Baking Co., a firm which was charged with deceptive practices regarding its Wonder Bread claims, called the FTC practices "obsolete."

Seven-Up Co. Announces Market Of Plastic Bottles

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The Seven-Up Co. announced Tuesday a plan to conduct a market evaluation program of a new plastic bottle, starting Oct. 2.

The program will be conducted in the Michigan cities of Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Holland.

A spokesman said the purpose of the market evaluation program is to determine consumer acceptance of such a package and the practical application of a plastic bottle in the areas of filling, production, handling, shipping and distribution.

Dividend News

Commonwealth Ed.

At a meeting held Thursday (Sept. 7) Commonwealth Edison Co. declared quarterly dividends on the following classes of stock: 35-5/8 cents a share on preference stock; 50 cents a share on its $2.00 cumulative preference stock; and 55 cents a share on its common stock. Edison chairman J. Harris Ward said all are payable Nov. 1, to stockholders of record at 5 p.m. Chicago time on Sept. 22. Quarterly dividends on Edison's common stock have been paid without interruption since 1890.

AM Corporation

Addressograph Multigraph Corp. reported that net income for the fiscal year ended July 31 rose to $16.6 million or $2.07 per share of common stock.

A year ago the worldwide office-equipment company earned $2.4 million or 30 cents a share after absorbing $8.5 million in unusual inventory write-offs and $2.6 million for an extraordinary charge due to a contract settlement, both after taxes. Consolidated net income before the effect of these items was $13.4 million or $1.67 a share.

The $2.07 earned in 1972 was equal to a 23.9 per cent gain over the $1.67 registered before the unusual charges last year.

Worldwide sales, service and rental revenues in fiscal 1972 were a record $435.7 million, up 5.7 per cent from fiscal 1971's $412.3 million. The previous high of $420.5 million was set in fiscal 1970. In 1972, domestic sales increased 5.7 per cent to $236.8 million, while international volume rose 5.6 per cent to $193.6 million.

Ties To Disappear... At Least This Year

FANS AT THE Forest View-Maine East game probably thought they saw an exciting football contest Friday.

The visiting Demons trailed by two touchdowns with less than a quarter to go... one rally tied the margin to 20-14... another flurry tied the game... the extra point failed...

Then the Falcons made a desperate march... a couple of clicks on the clock remained as with the ball on the Demon 10... a field goal was attempted as the gun sounded... it was wide by inches... final score: 20-20.

Plenty of drama, right? Who could ask for anything more, right? Wrong!

If Demon coach Al Eck had known how the new tiebreaker (Kansas Plan) system was going to be worked in the Mid-Suburban League, the fans would have been in for a real treat.

"Before our ball game, Bill Beckman (athletic director) of Forest View came up and asked, 'Do you want to play the Kansas Plan?'" recalled Eck. "We decided not to."

"My first impression was 'Yeah, I'll be glad to do it.' But, gee, I don't know the details to it. Otherwise we would have done it."

And so, those of you who were there just missed seeing what until recently had been a rarity — a guaranteed winner.

The MSL, having received the okay from the Illinois High School Association, will be trying out the Kansas Plan this season. In other words — no ties will be recorded this season in the MSL.

In the 10 years the league has been in existence, there have been 11 standoffs. Eleven times when teams and fans alike have gone home with that flat feeling, often referred to as a "kissing your sister" type game.

The very progressive move by this conference has changed all that. Now some people are hoping that a game is all tied up after regulation so that the dramatic climax will occur.

Using the rules for breaking such a deadlock, let's set up a fictitious game between Team A and Team B.

Immediately after the conclusion of the fourth quarter which saw the two battle to a 7-7 standoff, a coin flip is held similar to the start of the game. The visiting captain calls heads or tails while the coin is in the air. The winner of the toss will be given its choice of the ball or playing defense.

Team A, the offensive team, wins the flip and decides the direction to put the ball in play. After a two-minute rest period in which both teams may confer with their coaches, Team A takes over on B's 10-yard line. It will be first and goal with four downs in which to score.

If Team A doesn't lose possession and moves in for the score, it would have the choice of going for one point or two. If it fails to get over the goal line, a field goal can be tried. However, Team A is successful and scores a six-pointer. It goes for a two-point conversion and fails.

And so, now trailing 13-7, Team B gets its chance from the same 10-yard stripe to score. Team B also scores and attempts a kick to win. It fails. Score: 13-

Paul Logan

13. The fans are at a fever pitch.

Team B again has the ball on the 10. B's quarterback cuts loose a pass into the end zone, but an A defender intercepts... runs away from the suddenly stunned B players and scores... victory!

How's that for a finish?

Forest View head coach Paul Jordan, who saw his team tied by the Maine comeback, contemplated the possibility of a playoff. Here are some of his observations:

"I think he's got to consider, first of all, does he want the ball first or last. I personally think that whoever has the choice in the beginning has the advantage. I would much rather have the ball second than first."

"If I get the ball first and I score a touchdown and have a good kicker, and he kicks the extra point, it's 7-0. Then the other team gets the ball and they score. Now they have a choice, if they want to go for the win right there and say they've got a good running attack, then they're maybe going to go for two. Then you could lose the ball game on that play."

"I would like to have that decision to make. It probably puts a little more pressure on the coach... but what's a little more."

Jordan has been involved in three of the four ties Forest View has had in its history — 6-6 with Elk Grove in 1968 and 12-12 with Conant in 1970.

"In both cases we were very let down after the game," said the Falcons' head man. "We coaches and the players felt like we lost it rather than tied."

You've got to hope at least one MSL game ends in a tie so that this system can be tested under fire. Hopefully it will work well enough that future seasons will have the tie-breaker program so that the outcome is cut and dried — one team feels like a winner and the other team doesn't.

Most of all, the fans who witness such a dramatic overtime will receive a sports thrill of a lifetime.

Fremd Nips Palatine In Headliner

4 Double Winners In Area Harrier Action

by LARRY EVERHART
Cross Country Editor

Fremd, Arlington, Hersey and Wheeling were the double winners as the Mid-Suburban League opened its cross country season with a complete slate of double duals involving all 12 conference teams.

Getting one win apiece with splits were Palatine, Conant, Forest View and Schaumburg. Individual race winners included Jamie Olson of Fremd, Tom Holub of Arlington, Jim Wise of Forest View and Arnold Jackson of Schaumburg.

The headliner was Fremd's narrow win over Palatine which may turn out to be a vital factor in determining the league crown. The schedule-makers wasted no time matching up the two squads figured by most coaches to battle it out for the title.

MSL teams won't have to wait long to get back into conference competition. All 12 will be at it again today in four more double duals, all starting at 4:30. Arlington and Wheeling will be at Fremd, Palatine and Schaumburg at Prospect, Conant and Rolling Meadows at Hersey, and Forest View and Elk Grove at Glenbard North.

The particulars on Tuesday's races:

FREM'D NIPS PALATINE

Several coaches had remarked that the Fremd-Palatine dual would be the biggest in the MSL until the conference meet, and that it could have a direct bearing on the title. On top of that, this match probably is the hottest, most competitive cross country rivalry in the area.

As if these points of interest weren't enough, the Vikings of coach Ron Menely and Pirates of Joe Johnson put on a thrilling show for spectators at the Union Oil grounds before Fremd pulled out a 26-30 cliffhanger. Rolling Meadows also was in the double dual but was well behind.

The big victory for the Vikes — who were favored by most coaches to win the league title, but not without strong competition from their cross-town neighbors — avenged an equally exciting win for Palatine in the final league dual last year and the Pirates' triumph in the conference meet. Their rematch will come Saturday, Oct. 21 on the same grounds when all the MSL teams get together.

What Menely called a "guts, grueling race for all concerned" took place on a 3.0-mile layout on very wet turf. Palatine had the lead team-wise until about the last fourth of the race and the top three runners jockeyed for position in close quarters.

Jamie Olson of Fremd finally was the individual winner in 15:54 ahead of a 15:57 for Scott Williams of Palatine. The Vikings' Steve Inbody took third at 16:01.

(33). Maloney completed six passes, one of them an 83-yard stunner with 1:09 left as the Demons came from two touchdowns behind for a 20-20 standoff.

WILDCATS WIN TWO

Schaumburg's junior speedster Arnie Jackson raced to his fourth victory in as many outings this spring but couldn't carry the Saxons to a sweep over Elk Grove and Wheeling in opening cross country action on the Wildcat course Tuesday.

Coach Jim Nagle's hosting 'Cats dominated the varsity affair after Schaumburg had posted double triumphs in both the frosh and soph runoffs. Wheeling stopped the Saxons 24-31 and the Grenadiers 24-32 in the headliner, with Dennie Garber's Saxons bettering the Grove also, 26-31.

Jackson pulled out in front early, trailed by Brian Crehan of Wheeling and Damian Archbold of Elk Grove. He was never challenged after that, zipping in at 15:27 over the newly established course encompassing the high school.

Grenadier Brian Powell meanwhile moved up past Crehan and his teammate Archbold to collect second place honors at 15:58 and Steve Wilhelm of the home team also slipped past Archbold to finish directly behind Crehan in fourth.

Crehan's time was 16:22, Wilhelm's was 16:30 and Archbold's clocking was 16:32. Rounding out the top ten were Bruce Messinger of Wheeling in sixth, pursued in order by Schaumburg's Mike Carey, Wheeling's Mike Schuster, Elk Grove's Dave Dill and Schaumburg's John Schevikhoven.

In sophomore competition Schaumburg topped the 'Cats 21-36 and the Grens 15-50 while the hosts outdistanced Elk Grove 16-41. Shoeless Mike Palmer of the Saxons was an easy individual winner in the race.

Freshman action saw Schaumburg nudge Wheeling 25-30 and turn back Elk Grove 20-35. Wheeling tripped up the Grove meanwhile 22-33.

CARDS TAKE PAIR

Arlington was a surprisingly easy winner, score-wise at least, over Conant with a 16-46 triumph. The Cards also whipped Glenbard North by a perfect 15-50 score and Conant handled Glenbard, 17-44.

Times were bunched pretty closely after the winning mark, that by Tom Holub — 16:19 for 14 seconds better than the next man, teammate Bill Schmid with 16:33. Arlington occupied the top four places with the next two keeping the spread close — Dave Jenkins with 16:34 and John Lerchenfeld with 16:38. Bob Skolnik was sixth with 16:44, Mike Hase-man seventh with 16:49 and Neil Hase-man ninth with 16:56.

Conant's top runner and its only one in the top seven was Steve Watron, fifth with 16:41. Rick Jensen was eighth with 16:50, Ron Golubski 10th with 16:58 and Dave Mansolf 11th with 16:59. After a pair of Glenbard runners, the next Cougars were Kent McDill (17:09), Dave Elderdin (17:15) and Bob Everly (17:20).

Glenbard North's top runners were Bob Pegg with 17:00 and Dan Fowler with 17:03.

Arlington took both sophomore wins easily, 17-44 over Glenbard and 15-48 over Conant. Bob Walsworth of Arlington was individual winner with 18:04. The Cards, like their varsity counterparts, filled the first four places.

Conant's freshmen, by taking seven of the first eight places, walloped Arlington 17-46 and Glenbard North 15-50 while the Cards beat the Panthers 20-38. Jeff Olson took top honors for the Cougars with 11:43.

Donahue Sharp In Opener

Special To The Herald

The road to a successful collegiate football career is long and many times rough. None who have traveled that course are any more aware of that than Ball State quarterback Phil Donahue.

Now in his third year as signal caller for the Cardinal offense, Donahue has at times shown the potential that many felt he possessed as a freshman. But various inconsistencies have kept him from receiving a larger share of the spotlight.

As a member of the 1969 Cardinal freshman squad, the Palatine native began his collegiate gridiron career impressively enough as he passed for 606 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Ball State yearlings to a 4-1 showing.

Donahue then advanced to the varsity squad for his sophomore campaign, and fought Ball State record-holder Willard Rice for the starting quarterback honors. A starter in five games, he solved opposing defenses for 648 yards and six touchdowns, but was also the victim of 14 interceptions.

Returning as a letterman in 1971, Donahue found himself apparently ready to blossom as a standout quarterback. But again somewhat erratic play forced a degree of the fanfare elsewhere. Logging most of the playing time, Donahue threw for six touchdowns and 605 yards, and decreased his interception total to 11.

Admittedly the victim of inexperience in the past, Donahue feels that his senior year may be a season of exciting and successful football at Ball State in Muncie, Ind.

"As a sophomore and junior," Donahue explained, "I did some really juvenile things. But now I've gained a lot of experience; I'm smarter."

"This year," he continued, "our offense should be much better. Everybody involved has gained a lot of experience. We've added more variation in the offense and are able to move the ball well."

Donahue apparently knows what he is talking about. Ball State overwhelmed Central Michigan last Saturday, 30-12, and Phil threw two touchdown passes and scored one himself. His passes covered 33 and 15 yards and he carried in from the 7. Overall, he completed 10 of 18 for 177 yards with no interceptions.

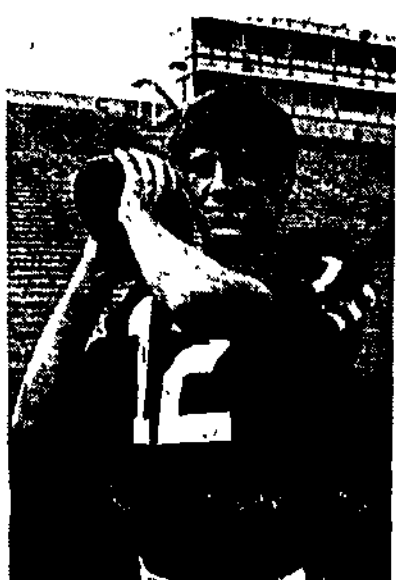

One noted variation in the Cardinal offense throughout the fall will be the designed running of Donahue. Although occasionally scrambling for yardage in the past, break-away running was far from his trademark.

This year, according to Coach Dave McClain, Donahue will be much more of a threat on the ground. His running should complement his passing and keep opposing defenses wondering whether a passing or running play is being sent at them.

"Phil has developed into a fine all-around quarterback," stated McClain. "He's been throwing extremely well and has always been a super runner. He has a strong arm and has the ability to throw short and long with equal efficiency."

On the new twist in the Cardinal offense, and its possible effects on opponents, Donahue cited, "It's hard enough on a defense when a team has three running threats in the backfield. But if a team can come up with a fourth runner, like the quarterback, it puts the defense in a tremendous bind."

Progress Shows For Harper

Will Pattern Continue For Hawks?

by LARRY EVERHART
Cross Country Editor

Harper has been making year-by-year progress in cross country, and if the pattern continues, this could be the Hawks' year to make state-wide noise and win the Region IV meet.

As for the Skyway Conference title, that's old hat for coach Bob Nolan's squads. They won it for the last two years and own a 16-dual-meet winning streak, including 14-0 last year. The only hitch, as Nolan admits, is that "competition keeps getting stronger every year."

Still, Harper must again be considered a strong contender for top league honors with two fine lettermen back and some other promising new faces.

The only experienced letter winner returning is John Geary, former Palatine runner. His help is presently doubtful because of a hairline fracture. Nolan won't know until next week whether he'll be competing or not this season.

Two Prospect alumni who also have varsity track experience are Tom Klinker and Ron Hankel. Three freshmen who round out the seven who have been working out since practices began are Mike De LaBruere (from Crystal Lake), Bill Bates (Forest View) and Brian Riemann (Fremd).

Harper's home course will be on its campus. Race lengths will be four miles. Nolan says his charges have been "looking good" in readying for their debut this Saturday morning at Joliet. Only one home meet appears on a schedule including three invitationals, four triangulars, one dual, the Region and Conference meets, and — if any individuals do particularly well — the National meet in Florida.

College of DuPage has won the Region IV meet for the last three years, but Harper rose to second in this affair last year and shoots for that title this fall for the first time.

Gatti Races To Another Feature Win

It was shirt-sleeve weather in September as J. P. Gatti Jr., of Chicago raced to his 8th feature race victory of the year in the late model sportsman class at the Waukegan Speedway. Racing continues two more Saturday nights.

Diane Smith of Gurnee won the powder-puff crown as she bested a field of 14 girls in the eight-lap event. Smith passed both Marilyn Burton of Waukegan and B. J. Warrens of Gages Lake on the outside for the win in the final half-lap.

Next Saturday night some of these ladies will be back in the spotlight, this time when two girls' teams square off in the final STOCK CAR FOOTBALL game of the year. A demolition derby is scheduled for Saturday night September 30 as the season closes.

The feature race only had three leaders as fastest timer Gatti maneuvered his Camaro quickly around the oil-slick track to front spot. Gatti gained the lead in the 5th lap and won despite two late restarts.

Abel Avila of Mundelein was in front one lap before Ed Smith of Gurnee moved in front. Both dropped out late finishing 17th and 13th respectively.

Last Saturday's winner George Garrett of Zion bashed the wall in the 9th lap after tangling with several cars. He recovered to take 6th. Joe Francisco of Island Lake finished second with Don Ellgass of Ingleside in third. Jim Couch of Grayslake and Joe Horn of Zion rounded out the top five.

Francisco and Couch tangled in the 18th lap bringing out the red flag and moving these drivers to the back of the pack. The red flag also flew in the 23rd lap when track champion George Dukas of Zion, running second, lost a wheel. This saved the day for Couch who had hit the wall a lap sooner, but that was erased on the restart.

The third heat for the sportsman came to a quick halt in the third lap when leaders Art Brewer of Round Lake and Dukas collided with four other cars close behind piling-up right in front of the stands. On the restart Brewer blew his engine calling for another restart before Dukas took the checkered. Gatti was second in this race to miss a clean sweep.

Herb Artelt of Wildwood was the third quickest timer in his Camaro, but he did not finish any of the three events he entered. He spun in the feature and finished last in that race.

Dennis Helskala of Wadsworth was the night's only double winner as he won both the first heat race and the semi-feature race.

Long Day For St. Viator

It was a long day — literally — for St. Viator's cross country team Saturday.

After the Lions of coach Ken Peck had finished fourth in the six-team Notre Dame Invitational at Bunker Hill Forest Preserve, they discovered that the keys to the school van providing their transportation had been lost. They then had to spend four and a half hours communing with nature at the forest preserve while waiting to be rescued.

Prior to that, though Bill Ellsworth had provided some cheer for the varsity squad. He was one of two runners to break the old course record (14:09 by Gary Les of Notre Dame last year) by turning in a 14:06 clocking for the 2.75 miles. It still wasn't good for the individual triumph, though as the winning time was 13:54.

Other Lions were Tom Orbell, 30th with 18:30; Mike Chmela, 28th with 18:56; Kastner, 36th with 18:13 and Larry Chmel, 38th with 18:54.

The frosh-soph Lions did better in the Invitational, taking second place and a trophy. They had the top two individuals in that race, Mark Nelles and Bob Krohn.

Just two days earlier the varsity Lions had dropped their season debut at home against Notre Dame, 23-33, although Ellsworth was individual winner in 15:58. The Dons had the second and third-place runners, Frank Liotti was fourth for St. Viator, Notre Dame took the next three, Lion Mike Chmela was eighth, Tom Orbell ninth and Ray Sophie 10th.

Nelles was the frosh-soph winner in the dual against Notre Dame but the Dons took a narrow 26-29 triumph.

Following these meets, St. Viator took eighth in the 17-team Riverside-Brookfield Invitational Tuesday. (Details are in a separate story).

The Lions host St. Francis de Sales in another league meet today starting at 4:00.

Riverside-Brookfield Captures Title

Palatine 2nd In Harrier Invite

"We've run well in every meet we've had so far," Joe Johnson was saying. "We've been getting the most out of what we can do. And we should get better as the year goes on."

These cheerful observations were in order after Johnson's Palatine cross country team had finished a solid second in a strong, 17-team field in the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational Tuesday. The Pirates had 69 points behind host R-B's winning total of 51.

St. Viator also did well in the meet as the only other area school, taking eighth place.

No official times were available after the meet, which like many meets lately was hampered by conditions caused by recent heavy rains. The three-mile course was flooded in spots (it is next to a river) and the layout had to be altered.

Scott Williams was the Pirates' top runner with eighth place and his mates provided a good, close spread. Paul Kearns was 14th, Dave Tehle 16th, Steve Peterson 17th and Bill O'Neill 18th. Farther back in the big pack but also helping were Rick Scholl and John Thullen.

Palatine's frosh-soph squad was even more impressive with the team title among 15 teams. They edged out New Trier West by one point. Top runners were Carl Kiewert and Mike Masucci with eight and ninth, respectively.

For St. Viator, Bill Ellsworth led the varsity with 20th place. Mike Chmela was 25th, Tom Orrell 27th, Ray Sophie 38th and Larry Chmela 47th.

Mark Nelles of the Lions, on the sophomore level, was defeated for the first time this season but posted an impressive second place overall in pacing his team to sixth.

Ken Peck, St. Viator coach, remarked, "The teams that have been beating us (on the varsity level) are the teams that have been running the year around — like Palatine. It pays dividends for them. We're going to have to find some way to get our kids to work that hard at St. Viator. We have some good ones coming up."

Johnson commented, "I didn't expect us to be really up after our meet with Fremd (a big league affair Monday) because we're always sky-high for them. But we're doing well with a real tough schedule. We're meeting four of the top five teams in the state (based on ratings reported by the Timely Times) in our first five meets."

Those four are York, Fremd, R-B and Maine East. The latter will be entered along with Palatine in the Bloom Invitational this Saturday.

Rifles In Sharpest Performance; Battle Touted Madison On Saturday

The Lake County Rifles Saturday defeated the Racine Raiders 24 - 0 in the best football game played this season by the Rifles.

Lake County was led by the powerful and spectacular running of Ron Jurewicz who gained 177 yards in 23 carries and by Dennis Duncan who in 20 runs gained 147 yards.

Coach Jesse Vail of the Rifles said: "Overall this was the best played game of the year; everybody was in it and they really performed... with determination and professional ball sense."

It took an all out effort to beat Racine who now has won three games and lost two, both against the Rifles; Lake County is the only undefeated team in the Central States Football League with five wins and no defeats.

Describing the game play, Vail said the offensive line was opening the holes for Duncan and Jurewicz who once through the line would battle their way for extra yards.

The defense also played superior ball. Racine's rushing game was held to a minus 31 yards while their passing game gained only 58 yards, mainly on screen or short passes over the middle.

The coach said that while his two great backs stood out, credit for the victory must go to the unsung players like reserve backs Ted Williams and Cliff Boyd, who made several tackles on kick offs; to linemen like Jon Hittman, Kurt Kampendahl, Bob Backland and George D. Leigh-Page, Jr., all of whom would be outstanding performers on any other team in the league.

So strong was the Rifles play that the best offensive and defensive weapon of the Racine team was penalties — some 13 of them good for 115 yards. Racine got five of its 10 first downs by penalty and it also was their weapon in stopping several Rifles drives toward the goal line.

Two of the Rifles touchdowns were scored on one yard runs by Jurewicz near the midway points in the first and third quarters. Mel Easley, a defensive back who was outstanding all evening intercepted a Dick Laba pass in the second quarter and ran 55 yards for a score. Near the end of the game Al McNeill kicked a 23 yard field goal; he also made all three extra points.

The only other intercepted pass of the game was made by Tony Berluka, a line-backer who has scored 18 points this season. He raced the ball back from mid-field to the 35 yard line nearly breaking loose following the strong blocking of Easley.

Lake County's first touchdown was on a 40 yard march after the Rifles almost blocked a punt by Ron Danoski who kicked from near the goal line. The second march for a score in the third period covered 71 yards on five running plays.

In that march, typical of the Rifles outstanding play all day, Jurewicz went between the right tackle and right guard for 24 yards to the Racine 47 yard line. A face mask penalty moved the ball to the 35 yard line.

Going through the same spot again Jurewicz moved down to the eight yard line, a 27 yard run. Racine called time out but it did not help because on the next play Duncan, hit on the line of scrimmage by two tacklers, carried them seven yards down to the one yard line. Jurewicz scored on the next play.

Next week Lake County will meet the Madison Mustang in the game of the year in the Central States Football League. Powerful Madison is expected to win the northern division of its league while Lake County has a good chance to win the southern division.

That game will start at 8:00 p.m. in Carmel Field on Highway 176 in Mundelein. The Grant and Antioch high school football teams and their coaches will be the guest of the Rifles for that game which also means that all residents living in these school districts will be able to attend the Rifles-Madison game, the game of the year, for half price.

Hoffman Estates Boys Club Completes Undefeated Day

The Hoffman Estates Boys Club had the best Sunday ever in their long football history. In the first game, the George Halas Crusaders whipped Oak Park, 16-14, in a cliffhanger. Chip Moon tallied the initial touchdown and extra point and after the Crusader defense dug in, Bob Kenney hit paydirt on the middle.

The defense was led by Joe Fleck, Steve Meyers, John Fidler, Mike Linstead, Steve Bryant, Jeff Carlson and Mike Somnick. "It was a team victory all the way," head coach Ken Kennitz said. He's assisted by Tom Higgins and Joe Kolesky.

In the second game the Boys Club Titans sneaked past West Chicago, 13-12. On the first play from scrimmage, Titan Rick Hirschman broke through guard for 53 yards and a touchdown, but the Chiefs fought back for a 12-7 halftime lead. Dob Stowack, however, pulled out the victory on a quarterback sneak.

In the third contest, the hometown Lancers junior team blasted the West Chicago Bears, 33-13. Tim Harkness engineered a quarterback sneak and Dan Kaufman sliced 33 yards for another score as the half ended in a 13-13 deadlock.

The second half was all Lancers as Ed O'Salley tallied on a fullback swing past for 47 yards and Terry Dopkin added the extra point. Dave Conway joined the scoring list on a 55-yard romp on a pass from Tom Harkness with Tim O'Toole supplying the extra point. Harkness closed the scoring on a plunge behind linemen Steve Cytler, Scott Miller, Mike Kirchhoff, Jim Chamertain, Paul Gaska, Dave Conway and Mike Reilly.

The defense was led by Lancer captain Ed O'Malley, Dan Kaufman and Steve Groble. The Hoffman Boys Club Peewees rolled up better than 300 yards on the ground and another 100 in the air in whipping the Schaumburg Lancers, 34-7.

Mark Zielenko paced the scoring with three touchdowns while Mike Belcher and Jeff Novak each scored once and added an extra point. Dan Pelligrino contributed two extra points.

Also instrumental was quarterback Dave Corie and rushing champ Charlie Pugh who had 100 yards to his credit and caught several passes as well.

'Goldfinger' Proves His Magic Touch

by RICK DuBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The single biggest ratings hit of television's premiere week, according to the spot overnight statistics, was Secret Agent 007 — James Bond — in ABC-TV's movie of this past Sunday night, "Goldfinger."

The ratings for "Goldfinger" were sky high in the figures compiled by the Nielsen firm from its regular overnight testing area of New York City and Los Angeles — both pivotal in any audience sampling because of their size.

As an example of the impact of "Goldfinger," it earned a 73 share of the audience in New York in its final half hour. Earlier in the evening, in both New York and Los Angeles, it gave CBS-TV's Dick Van Dyke Show and "Mannix" private eye series perhaps the worst shellacking they have ever had.

DURING THE SUMMER, "Mannix" was actually the No. 1 ranked show. "Columbo," on NBC-TV, did pretty well against "Goldfinger."

Although ratings of the new series this early in the season are not necessarily indicative of their popularity status — partly because of the big movies launched against them as the networks try to start fast — there nonetheless may be some clues in the debut statistics.

For example, the premiere of Bill Cosby's new CBS-TV variety series didn't do very well in either the New York or Los Angeles ratings. It was, however, up against another strong movie, NBC-TV's "The Anderson Tapes," which, like "Goldfinger," stars Sean Connery.

ABC-TV's new Julie Andrews variety series, which doesn't have very tough opposition shows — CBS-TV's "Cannon" and NBC-TV's "Search," both private eye-type entries — didn't do especially well in New York, but made a solid, though not spectacular, rating debut in Los Angeles.

CBS-TV's Sandy Duncan situation comedy series, which resumed last weekend following her recuperation from surgery, is a more definite case. Her stock in trade is cuteness. In Los Angeles, she scored with a strong premiere rating. In New York, her show was clobbered badly.

Another weekend case was the season premiere of NBC-TV's Walt Disney Hour, which offered the first half of a two-part showing of the movie "The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes." In Los Angeles, it was a big ratings winner. In New York, it did rather poorly.

Still another weekend example was NBC-TV's new situation comedy, "The Little People," with Brian Keith as a pediatrician in Hawaii. The rating was quite good in Los Angeles, and not so great in New York.

Then take this reverse situation: CBS-TV last week offered a new situation comedy, "Maude," about a sharp-tongued woman married for the fourth time. It did pretty well in New York, not so well in Los Angeles. In fact, a dumb, cute new situation comedy set in a hospital, ABC-TV's "Temperatures Rising," actually beat it in Los Angeles. But New York turned thumbs down on this show's premiere.

The Hollywood Scene

by Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Darren McGavin stars in a stock car racing movie titled "43 - The Petty Story," and having completed the picture is convinced Hollywood doesn't know what's happening in the rest of the world.

"I believe the guys who make movies don't do anything but make pictures for each other and the Bel Air circuit," the actor said.

"We made this movie on location back in Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, N.C. As a result I had an opportunity to talk to the people in the area about pictures and I learned a few things.

"Hollywood isn't making pictures for the people out there. Funny, but people didn't tell me what they wanted to see on the screen, only what they didn't want.

"THE PUBLIC is fed up with sex and nudity and violence. That's what dozens of people told me.

"They were also very vocal about their objections to introspective psychological dramas. Complicated stories about the inner emotions of city folk don't interest them.

"Then I discovered people in various parts of the country aren't watching television as much as they once did either — and for the same reasons."

A veteran of television as well as movies, McGavin said he was willing to bet there wasn't a producer in town who knew the name of Lee Petty, the character he plays in his new film.

"PETTY IS JUST the greatest stock car racer who ever lived," he said. "Almost everyone else in the country knows that. But not Hollywood.

"In the Southeast he's a real hero. And that's what most audiences want today. Heroes. They want the old verities and standards.

"There are plenty of people eager to buy tickets to movies in hamlets, small towns, and medium sized cities and out in the country. Studio heads and producers should get out and mix with them. Listen to what they have to say.

"They should spend less time with each other and more time with the public."

Despite 'Ghosting' Sears Tower Gets Court Approval

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The 110-story Sears Tower, under construction in downtown Chicago, may be completed despite the threat it may interfere with television transmission, the Illinois Supreme Court ruled.

Several defendants had asked that the court issue an injunction forbidding construction of the building, slated to be the world's highest.

"The principle issue in this case," the court said, "is whether defendant has a legal right to use the air space above its property subject only to legislative limitation . . ."

THE COURT CITED a Florida case holding that a building may be constructed even though it interferes with another's view and agreed with that rationale.

"Otherwise," the court said, "one party would have the right to enjoin his neighbor from building a home or any other structure on adjacent property if such a building interfered with television reception."

In this case, the court said, responsibility "for inadequate television reception in certain areas rests more with the broadcaster's choice of location than with the height of defendant's building."

Chicago television firms have expressed fears the Sears Tower would cause "ghosting" of their signal to some areas of the Chicago region.

2 Study At Brevard

Two Arlington Heights residents were students this summer at Brevard Music Center, Brevard, N.C.

Susan Palmatier, 408 S. Patton Ave., and Michael Ford, 830 S. Mitchell Ave., sang a duet at a Viennese Pops Concert Night at the school. Miss Palmatier was also a soloist in the final concert of the summer session. Ford was selected tenor soloist by Robert Shaw, conductor of the Robert Shaw Chorale, when Shaw was guest conductor for a concert at the school.

The Contemporary Cape Cod

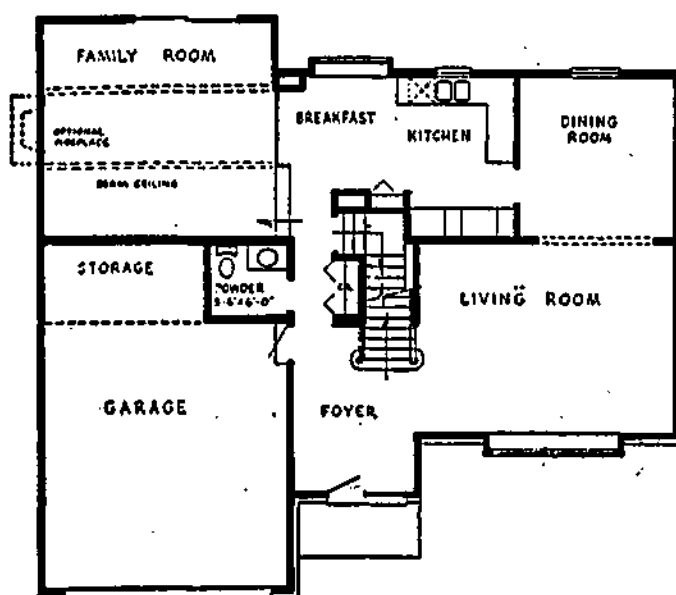

The exterior of the Cape Cod, with its traditional atmosphere was conceived from early New England architecture and represents a basic home style that has endured through the years.

Famous for its interesting floor plan, the highlight of the Cape Cod is the semi-private master bedroom arrangement usually 2 or 3 steps up from the main second floor hall and offering maximum space and 3 wall window exposure plus the availability of the optional fireplace.

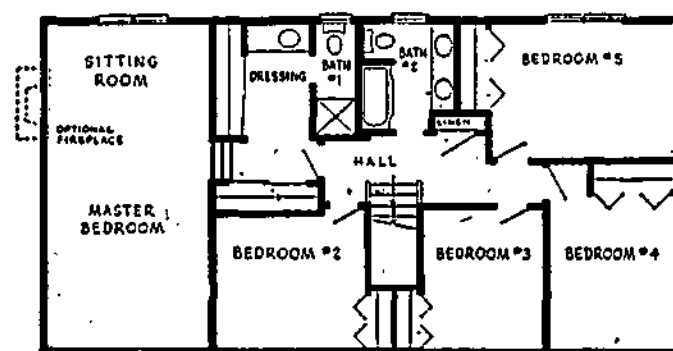

The essential Cape Cod offers multi-level living on a modest lot, yet provides for a most interesting exterior that is perfect for expansive landscape, gardening and shaded tree arrangements and can be designed with either front or side garage entry.

The handsome long roof line reflects a feeling of character and charm and becomes a very definite part of the home's beauty, with a large overhang along the front.

The Cape Cod is one of the many popular home styles that add to the community beauty of the Northwest Suburban area.

Recreation Facilities Important: Larwin Group

Recreation has become a major attraction to homebuyers as more and more new communities in Chicago's suburbs take on a semi-resort like atmosphere.

Facilities such as parks, pools, and recreation centers enhance everyone's enjoyment — but Dean Dillman Jr., director of marketing for The Larwin Group's Illinois Region, adds this note of caution:

"Learn how the recreation program is run as you look over the facilities."

Developing a recreation program that will enable residents of all ages to enjoy a variety of activities takes plenty of skill, energy, and patience, according to Dillman.

Larwin believes that residents should organize and run their own recreation programs, but recognizes from its experience in developing 56 communities since 1948 that newcomers to a community need help in getting started.

THAT'S WHY a full-time recreation director, Jean Bates, is assigned to handle a y-to-day activities at Greenbrook Country's Club Tempo in Tempo Village, and the newly opened Club Tanglewood in the community's new Tanglewood townhome village.

One of her responsibilities is to acquaint homeowners with the nature and responsibilities of the homeowners association which they automatically belong to when they purchase their home. Through an elected board and appointed committees, the association runs the recreation program.

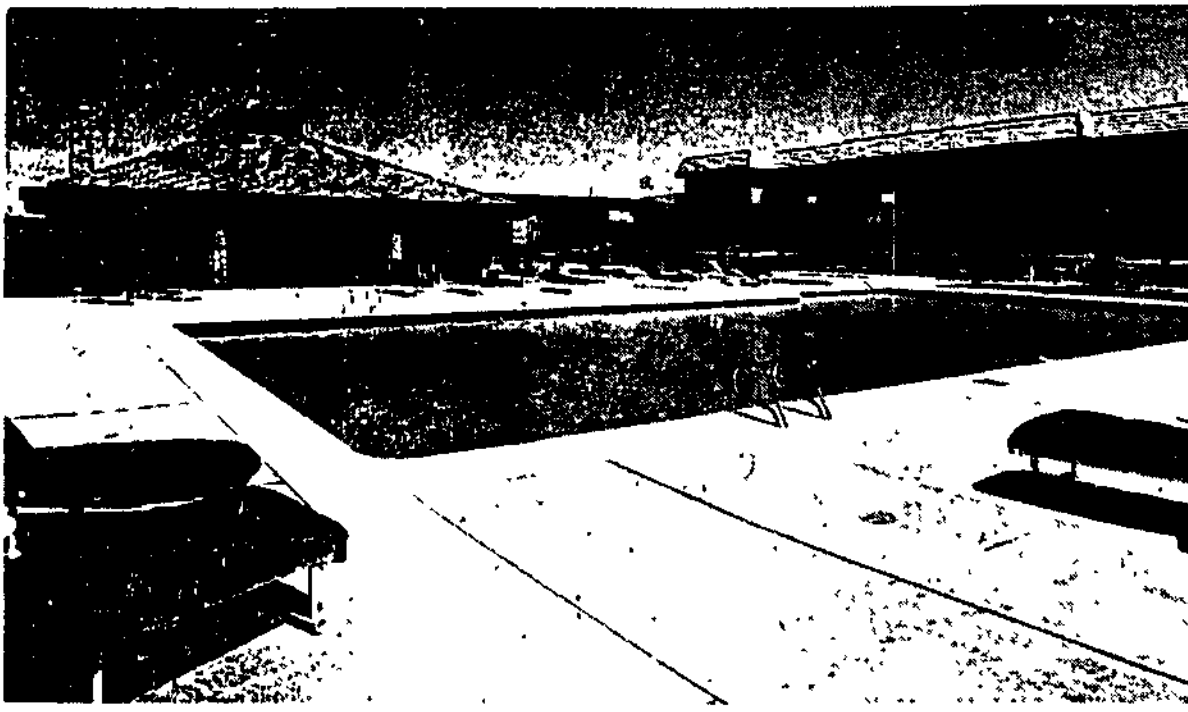

Mrs. Bates works with the chairman and members of the social and recreation committee to organize activities. Swim lessons, water polo, golf tournaments, softball for ladies, an exercise class, couples bridge, and volleyball have been organized.

Sign-up sheets are on the club bulletin board at all times to enable everyone to join whatever appeals to them.

"If anyone doesn't find a sport or hobby that interests him," Mrs. Bates said, "all he has to do is contact a member of the social and recreation committee, and they'll organize a new activity."

At Club Tempo, opened in 1971, there is an active women's club and men's athletic boosters group, teen age and pre-teen clubs, a resident newsletter, and educational activities ranging from art classes to ecology seminars.

Club Tanglewood features two spacious lounges, game rooms, a snack bar, a competition-sized swimming pool, wading pool, shuffleboard courts, and areas for volleyball and badminton. Available to make things function smoothly are a part-time assistant to Mrs. Bates, a pool manager, and a lifeguard.

CLUB TANGLEWOOD, newest recreation facility in Larwin's Greenbrook Country, features competition-sized swimming pool and wading pool, shuffleboard, volleyball, and badminton courts, adult and children's game rooms, social lounge and snack bar.

TANGLEWOOD VILLAGE, created to enable townhome residents to live the kind of recreation-oriented, maintenance-free environment that homeowners enjoy in California, is a master-planned community like Greenbrook Country's single-family home villages Tempo and Trend. Maintenance at Tanglewood is handled by professionals, and includes complete maintenance of home exteriors, grounds, and recreational facilities at a nominal monthly cost.

To maintain the high standards of the community, the Tanglewood Homeowners Association includes, in addition to the social and recreation committee, an architectural control committee, a maintenance committee, and a financial committee.

Greenbrook Country, occupying approximately 1,000 acres and located off Lake Street, (U.S. Rte. 20) just east of Barrington Road, is being developed by the single-family housing division of The Larwin Group, Inc. of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Robert Verbiec Is Promoted By Brown, Inc.

Robert J. Verbiec of Buffalo Grove has been named director of condominium planning for Richard J. Brown, Inc., a Chicago-area developer and builder of single-family homes, condominiums and retirement and recreational communities.

In his position Verbiec will direct the firm's condominium projects, which include hiring and supervising of recreational staff and its facilities and administration of the condominium association.

Prior to his promotion, Verbiec was sales manager for Cambridge-on-the-Lake, a Brown condominium development, in Buffalo Grove.

He has a degree in marketing from De Paul University and a master's from the University of Chicago.

Kuntze Tells Secret Of His Success

Erich W. Kuntze, president of Kuntze Building Corp. of Des Plaines, attributes his success in residential development and building to the never-ending "watch" his firm keeps on current home buying and designing trends.

Says Kuntze's son, Erich C., vice president of the company: "We watch and analyze changing design preferences closely — because we know that's the best way to assure our place in the home buyer's future."

Discussing recent developments in residential design, the father-son builder team called attention to their Country Acres Apartments, located on Elmhurst Road just south of Dempster, in Des Plaines. These apartments, offering two swimming pools plus other amenities, currently total some 400 rental units up to three bedrooms in size.

Modular Construction May Be Boon To Education

The one-room school of the past may well be in for a comeback — only this time as modular units placed side-by-side or stacked to form complete education centers.

"And this is merely one of the many modern applications of modular construction that are either already in use or on the drawing boards," declares Durand A. Holladay, managing trustee of Continental Mortgage Investors, Boston.

Continental Mortgage, which has made more than $1.5 billion in mortgage loans since 1962, is the nation's largest independently sponsored real estate trust in mortgage lending. CMI shares are traded in the New York and other leading stock exchanges.

"Modular construction is still a relatively young industry, but new techniques and uses are being developed — almost daily. First hailed as the greatest innovation in home building in over a decade, modular construction is now rapidly making a place for itself in the commercial building field.

"FOR EXAMPLE, most cities and towns are plagued by a growing shortage of school classrooms — and the high costs of building more. Further, the problem extends upward to the college and university levels. Most observers agree that educators will very soon be turning to modular builders for the help they need," Holladay notes.

Existing techniques would permit entire classrooms to be built in a factory, transported to a building site and then assembled into a complete school, he says. On a college campus, a needed dormitory would be built using individual modular units.

"Until a few years ago, modular construction seemed destined to be only a 'ground bound' technique. But then Habitat, one of the wonders of Montreal's Expo 67, proved that modulars could go up as well as out. Since then, apartment buildings have been erected in various parts of this country using modular construction.

"Recently, a 5-story, 162-unit motel was completed in Itasca, Illinois — all modular construction. The builder is now planning an 18-story structure utilizing the same technique of steel-framed cubes stacked and bolted together," Holladay observes.

THE RAPID GROWTH of modular construction is being speeded up by the even faster development of new building materials — or new uses of old materials — such as plastics, fiberglass, wood, steel and aluminum.

"Modular housing has really held the spotlight for the most part — and well it should. The number of manufactured housing units has mushroomed — from 30,000 in 1968, to 132,654 in 1969, to 289,000 in 1968. The number is expected to reach between 450,000 and 500,000 units this year.

"However, there's no way to confine an adaptive technique to just one area. Commercial builders know a good thing when they see it — and they see one in modular construction for today — and for tomorrow," Holladay concludes.

He's Now An Old Time Realtor

Recognition of Realtor John W. Reddy's contribution to the real estate profession was marked Sept. 14 with his induction into Omega Tau Rho (Old Time Realtors), an honorary fraternity of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

A member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, Reddy served on the board of governors of the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers in 1970 and 1971.

The award is given to Realtors who have served NAREB or one of its affiliated organizations in a leadership capacity. A medallion was presented to Reddy as evidence of membership in the society.

Want total real estate service? Let Starck serve your six needs

IF YOU WISH TO SELL A HOME . . .

- 1. PROFESSIONAL RELIABILITY. We conduct our business with the very highest ethics and standards so that you will get quality service from each Starck sales associate and from every person connected with our organization. Our selection standards and training for sales associates insure that you should receive outstanding service at all times. (If there is ever any problem, please call our president, Robert W. Starck: 255-2000 in daytime or CL 3-7273 at night.)
- 2. TOP PRICE. On every home we list, we do an evaluation of the property and furnish you a copy of a Competitive Market Analysis. This way you know that your property is priced "right." Overpricing is just as bad as underpricing.
- 3. FAST SALE. Your home gets immediate exposure through M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service and through our effective mass advertising. 30,000 Home Guide booklets are sent each quarter to homeowners, nationwide Realtors, corporations transferring personnel. Weekly ads in Paddock Publications, Copley Papers, daily ads in Chicago papers add to the exposure. Our exclusive membership in Inter-City Relocation Service brings us hundreds of transferred buyers from Realtors across the country. Our Guarantee Sale program permits a buyer to buy your home in spite of the fact that his old home is still unsold. Open house tours and all the other marketing efforts usually result in exceptionally fast sales for our clients.
- 4. FREEDOM. When you sell with us, you never feel "tied down." Just live and enjoy a normal life while we handle the complete sale of your home. Come and go as you please. Our sales associates only bring fully qualified buyers to your home, never just "lookers."
- 5. COMMUNICATION. The sales associate that will be assigned to your listing will keep in weekly contact with you and keep you informed of everything that is happening at all times.
- 6. WORRY-FREE FOLLOW-UP. Because we are one of the few Realtors in the area with a special Closing Department, you can rest assured that all details of the sale will be handled with the utmost efficiency in cooperation with your attorney.

IF YOU WISH TO BUY A HOME . . .

- 1. PROFESSIONAL RELIABILITY. We conduct our business with the very highest ethics and standards so that you will get quality service from each Starck sales associate and from every person connected with our organization. Our selection standards and training for sales associates insure that you should receive outstanding service at all times. Check us out with any local banker, attorney or Chamber of Commerce.
- 2. GOOD ADVICE. Everything you need to know to help you make a wise selection of a home will be furnished you by your Starck sales associate. Neighborhood and area conditions, school information, tax rates and most important of all, you will receive good advice about home values. We are particularly concerned that you purchase a home that has outstanding resale value in the event you are ever transferred or wish to sell.
- 3. PRIVACY. We think that you will enjoy visiting our offices because they are arranged so that you and your family can discuss your home requirements with one of our sales associates in quiet and private surroundings.
- 4. SAVE TIME. Although our salesmen have over 1,000 different homes to show you at all times, they know that your time is valuable and will only show you the very best home values in the price range that you have specified. They listen to what you have to say about your desires and needs in a home and then "zero in" on those homes that fill the bill. Our Guarantee Sale program permits you to select a new home even before your present home is sold with the assurance that you will never own two homes and have to make double mortgage payments simultaneously.
- 5. SAVE MONEY. By properly advising you on the homes that are the best values and through week-to-week knowledge of the best mortgage rates, our sales associates will assist you in getting the best home buy and the best financing available.
- 6. WORRY-FREE FOLLOW UP. Because we are one of the few Realtors in the area with a special Closing Department, you can rest assured that all details of the sale will be handled with the utmost efficiency in cooperation with your attorney or mortgage company.

Tips For Moving Offered Weiss, Fischer Named To Key Positions At Larwin

Now that the fall season is here, many families will be buying houses and moving from the old house or apartment into that long-awaited dream home, or moving as the result of a transfer by the company.

To help with this task, Quinlan and Tyson, Inc., Realtors, has compiled a list of moving tips — things to do before leaving your present address and things to do at your new home.

Before you leave your present home:

—Have the gas meters, electric meter and water meter read.

—Cancel telephone, milk delivery, diaper service and newspapers.

—Have your refrigerator and other appliances serviced for the trip.

—Write your local utility company in the city to which you are moving and ask them about necessary fees or deposits required for installation of service.

—Remit the utility deposits required, with information on when and where you will want the gas, electric, water and telephone service.

—Send your forwarding address to your local post office. Send change of address cards to magazines, insurance companies, stores and friends.

—Arrange for change in insurance coverage on your household goods.

—Notify the principal of your children's school about your intended move. Get a letter from him covering the status of your children in school.

—Notify the office at your place of worship that you are leaving.

—Obtain birth records and baptism records of all the children.

—Get all medical records, including dental and also get eyeglass prescriptions.

—If your car or other possessions are not fully paid for, get permission to move them.

—Transfer all banking accounts.

—Have your present bank arrange credit references for establishing new accounts in the city to which you are moving.

—Arrange for sufficient cash or travelers' checks to cover the cost of moving services and expenses until you make banking connections in the city to which you are moving. Cash or certified checks usually are required by moving companies.

—Leave keys to your old property with your Realtor or neighbors.

When you arrive at your new address:

—Obtain a certified check or cashier's check necessary for closing the real estate transaction.

—Check on service of telephone, gas, electricity and water.

—Check pilot light on hot water heater, incinerator and furnace.

—Have refrigerator, automatic washer and television set checked.

—Have your stove serviced; if gas, check the pilot light.

—Ask the mailman for mail. He may be holding it until your arrival.

—Have new address recorded on driver's license. (Be sure to check vehicle regulations in the state to which you are moving as to the amount of time in which you are required to do this.)

—Visit city offices and register for voting.

—Register your car within five days after arrival in your new state or a penalty may have to be paid when getting new license plates.

—Register your children in school.

—Register your family in your new place of worship.

Quinlan and Tyson reminds all its buyers and sellers that the important thing is to begin making plans for your moving day now. The sooner you start, the smoother your move will be.

The Larwin Group, Inc. has announced the promotion of Richard L. Weiss to president and the appointment of Louis E. Fischer to vice chairman of the board of directors. The announcement was made by Lawrence Weinberg, who continues as chairman and chief executive officer of The Larwin Group.

Weiss was formerly executive vice president of Larwin. Fischer joins the Beverly Hills-based housing producer and community developer after serving as president and chief operating officer of ITT Levitt & Sons, Inc.

"The broad diversification and geographic growth that Larwin has enjoyed in recent years has propelled the company into the top ranks of this nation's community developers," stated Weinberg. "Larwin's excellent existing management team, headed up by Dick Weiss, coupled with the infusion of the top management strength and competence which Lou Fischer represents, will assure the future growth we contemplate for our company."

Weiss has served as executive vice president of The Larwin Group since 1969. Prior to joining Larwin, he was senior vice president of Levitt & Sons, Inc., from 1966 through 1968. Previously, he was president of his own construction firm, Trudy Richards Homes.

In addition to his corporate role as president, Weiss will assume responsibility for operations nationwide of Larwin's single-family housing, multiple-family housing, and urban housing divisions.

Weiss, a lawyer by education, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in economics from Indiana University, and a Degree of Juris Doctor with distinction from the University of Michigan Law School.

Fischer joins The Larwin Group following a four year tenure with Levitt. He was appointed assistant to the president of Levitt in 1968, and senior vice president in 1970. In 1970, he was named president of Levitt & Sons, the single-family homebuilding arm of the company, and the following year became president and chief operating officer of ITT Levitt & Sons, Inc.

To Fischer will report Larwin's recreational communities and mortgage banking divisions, as well as the administration and finance functions at the corporate level. Fischer is a graduate of Brown University, and is currently a director of Fibre-optics Industries, Inc., and a trustee of the National Housing Center.

"Larwin is today an unquestioned leader in the nation's housing industry, setting the pace for style, quality, and imagination in community development," Weinberg stated. "Our merger with CNA Financial Corp. has allowed Larwin to diversify geographically and to form new product divisions."

In addition to its community development activities, Larwin also has major divisions in real estate investment trust management and commercial development.

Larwin is a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corp., a Chicago-headquartered management company with $3.9 billion in assets.

Hydronic Advantage

The biggest advantage of hydronic (modern hot water) home heating, according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, is the draft-free, even heat which radiates from wall-hugging baseboard heating panels.

MAP Multiple Listing Service Reports Sales

A record cooperative sales volume of $14,219,200.00 marked the highest August sales volume ever recorded for MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service. The sales volume record topped the 1971 August sales by slightly over $5,500,000.00.

The $14,219,200.00 August 1972 sales volume is the result of 351 cooperative sales between participating MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate companies, and combined with the number of non-cooperative sales established an all time high average home sale price of $40,061.00.

For the first eight months in 1972, MAP Multiple Listing offices have sales totaling $91,971,441.00 in cooperative sales, the result of 2,358 cooperative home sales, an all time eight month record in the history of MAP Multiple Listing Service.

The sales figures were disclosed at a recent MAP Board of Directors meeting presided by William Kleiner, MAP President.

"The MAP sales figures reflect the continued interest in Northwest Suburban Real Estate," says Kleiner. "All of our cooperating MAP offices report continuing enthusiasm in home purchases with a definite increase in the transferee market. If we have any problem at all, it is the problem of maintaining a realistic sale price of the homes to be commensurate with the high cost of new home construction. We must be aware of our duty to get the seller the best price for the home but still attempt to keep the home priced competitively within the market."

MAP Real Estate Service has over 900 sales representatives representing over 65 member offices serving the greater Northwest Suburban area.

THE HAMPTON MODEL is a three-bedroom bi-level home with the living and sleeping areas on the upper level and a large recreation room and laundry/utility room on the lower level. It's priced from $30,950, including kitchen appliances and carpeting, at Allister's Huntfield in Glendale Heights.

Separate System Into Different Zones

One physical law has never been refuted: Nobody, but nobody, can be in two places at the same time.

Therefore, does it make sense, asks the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, to keep the entire house at the same temperature when only part of it is in use at any one time?

No matter how large your home is, how often is more than one area in use at the same time? During the day, the housewife and children are in or near the kitchen. In the evening, the entire family is around the TV set in the family or living room. Afterward, everyone goes to bed.

By separating your heating system into separate zones for the various areas of the house, you can have the temperature you want in only those rooms that are occupied. The bedrooms can be kept cooler during the day when they are not in use, and the heating level of the other rooms can be regulated as you see fit.

If your home is equipped with hydronic (modern hot water) home heating, advises the Council, it is relatively simple to have zone valves or additional circulators to control the flow of heat to each separate area or zone. Individual thermostats will keep the heat where you want it, giving you more comfort. To get the most out of it, be sure to keep your bedroom doors closed when you leave in the morning. That will help reduce fuel bills.

MAP TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS

FROM MAP MULTIPLE LISTING
REAL ESTATE SERVICE

KEEP YOUR HOME IN GOOD REPAIR

With winter coming, it is always wise to think about doing certain things to the home that will prevent damage and maintain top appearance in the event of resale.

First, be sure all your storm windows are tightly sealed to prevent excessive moisture and eventual discoloration of the window sash. Be sure all rain gutters and downspouts are free of leaves and blockage that can cause water overflow and rusting of the gutters. Prime, seal and paint any open pores in the exterior wood so that the winter air and moisture will not expand the area and cause excessive chipping and peeling. Check your furnace for winter operation and if necessary, have the heating unit professionally inspected for hard winter operation. Be sure all exterior doors are properly weatherproofed and that all your delicate landscaping such as small shrubs and rose bushes are covered for the winter.

Keep your home in top shape and it will be a more saleable piece of property when and if it comes time to sell.

Spanish Design In Northbrook Homes

A distinguished community of highly customized homes reflecting of Old Castile has been developed in Northbrook on Willow Road, just west of Sherman Road. Known as La Salceda, the development of 99 single-family homes has enjoyed exceptional acceptance among north shore new home buyers.

The names selected by the developer Red Seal Homes, such as Granada, Vizcaya and others conjure up the arches of Spain and the courtyards of the Moors. Mixed among the homes with the Spanish motif are the traditional forms such as Colonial and English Tudor, giving the community a "grown up" appearance and mix.

The developer followed the quality approach in the selection of building materials and in landscaping. Although buyers may select three, four, five or six-bedroom homes in six basic exterior styles, they have the option of custom building the interiors to their own personal taste.

By letting the home buyer become his own designer he becomes more satisfied with his choice of home.

From the quality materials available, the buyer may make his choice of ceramic tiles, quarry stone, several types and colors of flooring and a variety of cabinets and built-in counter units for kitchen and bathrooms at no additional cost. There is a wide range of options open to the buyer's family.

"Comparison shoppers usually return to make a purchase from us after they have seen all we have to offer as compared with the rest of the market," says Milk Leeds, director of sales for Red Seal Homes. This is an enviable position to be in when considering the prices range from $52,600 to $66,900 not including the lots that start at $10,500.

Other factors beside the luxury amenities are the advantages of the community of Northbrook with its excellent school system and its central location to major shopping centers. Also the homes are close to the Edens Expressway and to the Tri-State Tollway. Homes are open for visitors daily from 10 a.m. til 5:30 p.m.

Ground Water Council Reports

More than 10 million American homeowners and farm families have direct control over their home water supply — even though they never see the source of their water.

This "invisible" source is underground water — or ground water, as it is commonly called. And even though we can't see it, there's plenty of water down there. The Ground Water Council reports that over 97 per cent of the fresh water in this country is underground. Less than 3 per cent is surface water, found in lakes and streams.

Ground water is tapped by means of wells and water systems. Wells are drilled with modern drilling equipment down to and slightly below the water table. Then a pipe casing and cement grouting is installed to keep the water clean and pure. The well is capped with a sanitary seal or adapter to prevent drainage of dirty water.

An automatic water system brings water up to the surface and into the home. This system includes an electric water pump, a pressure storage tank, and electrical controls to turn the pump on and off.

What's behind the trend to individual home water systems? First, there's the low cost. A recent study shows that the total cost of a private well and water system averages less than half the cost of water from a municipal system on a net cost per gallon basis, including operating, maintenance and replacement costs.

Ground water seldom requires extensive treatment, as surface water does, since it is naturally filtered through layers of soil and stone. It stores itself, and there's no loss through evaporation as there is in surface water.

Kunkel Conducts Economic Seminar

A one-day seminar for economic teachers recently was jointly conducted in Des Plaines by Ralph H. Martin, vice president of Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., realtors, and Dennis Stevens of Erickson & Stevens, architects.

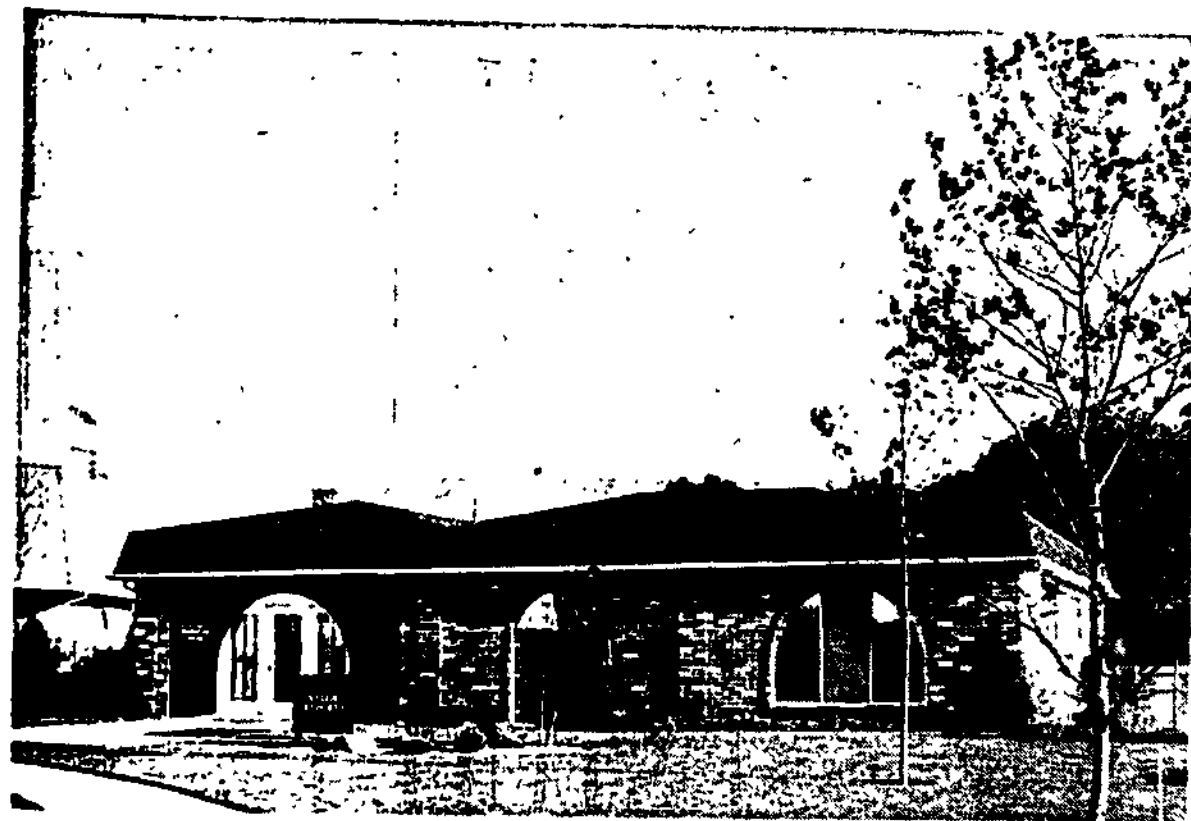

The seminar was part of a summer long workshop sponsored by the Northwestern University Economic Education Class for 30 economic teachers from public and parochial schools.

Using slides, Martin and Stevens demonstrated how government's role should tie-in with business and industry to better the community through redevelopment projects. They also showed how the practical application of city planning greatly strengthens the overall business community.

Benefits of the tax base of the community were also discussed and its effect on public education and other government services. Group discussion on common community problems followed the presentation.

Realtors Propose Lid On Local Taxes

Arthur W. Pipenhagen, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, has sounded a major warning on increasing property tax structures across the nation.

"Real estate is burdened with an excessive share of the constantly growing cost of local government, and nowhere is the burden felt more heavily than on the shoulders of the American home owner," Realtor Pipenhagen said. "If we don't continue our efforts to spread tax programs to some other base than real estate, then the sound principal of home ownership may one day disappear."

To keep a lid on property taxes, Realtor Pipenhagen proposed a five point plan:

1. Imposition of a limit on total property tax, with subsequent revenues earmarked for services related to real property.

2. Development of "replacement" revenues.

3. Reduction of property tax exemptions, in addition to a stoppage on the creation of tax exempt areas.

4. Assessment on state and federal properties which benefit from local government services, to be paid on parity with the cost of services to private property.

5. Increased use of recognized appraisal techniques in local assessment of real property to standardize assessment procedures.

Builders Association To Meet In Area Oct. 31

The outlook for construction in the Chicago area for the balance of this decade will be the theme of the third annual convention of the Builders' Association.

A blue-ribbon line-up of industry and government experts will conduct members and guests on the tour of the future, titled Projection 70s, which will be held at the Arlington Park Towers Oct. 31.

"We'll be examining the most agonizing issues facing general contractors today and for the next few years," said Carl F. Mueller, chairman of the publicity and public action committee and coordinator of plans and arrangements for Projection 70s.

SUBJECTS TO be discussed include:

—Labor-Management Relations. Can Chicago area contractors and building trade unions sustain a traditional relationship and hold back the tide of open shop sweeping across the country?

—Productivity. How can management and labor work together to control costs and assure that construction will continue to be accordable to construction users? What can management do to preserve its right to manage? Will the industry open its doors to new technology?

—Equal employment opportunity. What is the outlook for imposed vs. voluntary plans of affirmative action for equal employment opportunity in Chicago? What does the government expect compliance with minority quota programs?

—Collective bargaining. Chicago has taken its first move toward establishing a regional bargaining apparatus under the banner of Mid-America Regional Bargaining Association (MARBA). How successful has the initial attempt at unified contractor bargaining been? What is the outlook for regional bargaining in 1973, and beyond?

—Safety. The Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) has made safety a major concern of every contractor with a stiff body of penalties for non-compliance. How effective has OSHA been to date? How confusing? How costly? What impact will OSHA have on future construction operation? And what will be the division of responsibility between federal and state agencies?

—Legislation. What is the outlook for industry progress through the legislative process in Springfield and Washington? Is construction management effectively organized to improve its position in legislative councils?

—Public Relations. What constitutes good public relations for general contractors? What does the contractor actually do to build and maintain good PR, and what impact does it have on his profitability?

The speakers include:
—Milton Pikarsky, commissioner, Chicago Department of Public Works
—Saul Horowitz, national vice president, Associated General Contractors of America

—Donald M. Irwin, regional director, U.S. Department of Labor.
—Joseph Evans, minority relations specialist in the Chicago Department of Urban Renewal.

—William F. Martin, president, Local 150, International Union of Operating Engineers

—William Mehlbeck, executive secretary, Central Illinois Builders Chapter, AGC.

—Jack Telander, chairman of the Association's recently formed Productivity Committee.

—Robert E. Nielsen, Association president and chairman of MARBA; Robert Rosner and Robert J. Madden, vice-chairmen of MARBA.

—Bernard E. Ury, public relations authority and president of Bernard E. Ury Associates, consultants to the Builders' Association.

—Morley Brickman, compliance officer, Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Mueller said that other possible speakers include U.S. Representative John B. Anderson (R-Rockford).

The schedule of events will start with an informal coffee and gathering and registration from 8 to 9 a.m. Business sessions will run until 4 p.m., including luncheon and a luncheon speaker. The meeting will conclude with a complimentary social hour from 4 to 5 p.m.

"We are assembling a comprehensive and vital program and we hope that all members will participate and ask their key personnel to take part. Because the issues to be explored are so important to the future of our industry, we are also inviting non-member contractors," said Mueller.

There will be no charge for the convention. Registration forms are being prepared and members are requested to complete and return their registrations quickly.

New Guide For Real Estate Counselors Out

A new guide for real estate counselors that cuts through the broad scope of condominium developments to provide practical problems and solutions, has been released by the American Society of Real Estate Counselors (ASREC) — an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"The complexities of providing counsel to developers of condominiums are virtually endless," stated ASREC Pres. Roger W. Foster, C.R.E. (counselor of real estate), Fitchburg, Mass. "To cope with the multi-faceted challenge, a Counselor must possess knowledge in over a dozen areas, ranging from architecture and construction to market conditions and practices."

The guide, "Some Counseling Aspects of Condominium Development," reduces the field of condominium counseling to a number of key areas, including law, financing, appraising, sales promotion, and management. Author of the study, Y.T. Lum, C.R.E., an independent appraiser and counselor from Honolulu, approaches each area with information that specifically applies to practical problems encountered by Realtors on a day-to-day basis.

Copies of the study are available at $2.50 each, or $2.00 per copy for orders over ten, from the American Society of Real Estate Counselors, 155 E. Superior St., Chicago, 60611.

Kennedy Co. Announces Acquisition Of 28 Acres

The Kennedy Company, builder of single-family homes on the North Shore, announced acquisition of a 28-acre site in northwest suburban Schaumburg. They also revealed their plans to build a new community of homes.

The development, located at Schaumburg Road just west of Roselle Road, will be called "The Woods of Schaumburg." It will comprise 102 luxury four and five-bedroom homes priced from $58,000 to $85,000, including the lot. Total value of the community will be in excess of $8.5 million.

The site is one of the last remaining heavily-wooded areas in Metropolitan Chicago, as well as being on high and hilly ground. The Kennedy Company has taken this into consideration for their planning in accordance with their philosophy of preserving the environment as an enhancement to their homes. Kennedy Company officials recently discussed this in a meeting with Mayor Robert O. Atcher of Schaumburg who expressed similar concern for the ecological preservation of the land. The Mayor welcomed the building firm to his city, realizing their contribution to Schaumburg.

"EACH HOMESITE will be wooded," said Ray Rogers, Marketing Director of the Kennedy Co. "We plan to save as many trees as possible including the heavy tree-line surrounding the property. We also plan to have an outside consultant involved in our land planning to offer his expertise in preserving the environment."

Rogers also expressed his company's confidence in the continued growth of Schaumburg as a community because of its efficient city government and outstanding educational and recreational facilities. They feel that the Woodfield Mall, and plans for the Schaumburg Hilton and Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital extension, are continually adding to the community's stature.

"This growth calls for larger homes and more luxuries than other builders have brought here so far," said Rogers.

The Kennedy Company plans to open a sales office on the site in mid-September with furnished model opening at the end of January. Occupancy of individual, customized homes is scheduled for next Spring.

National Multi List Service Boosts Sales

National Multi List Service's new investment division got off to an impressive beginning when its first national distribution in August of business, commercial and investment property listings resulted in a $325,000 sale within one week's time.

Two days after receipt of the listings NMLS' Topeka, Kan. member presented an offer of $300,000 for a client interested in a 56-unit apartment complex listed by NMLS' Fort Smith, Ark. member. The offer was rejected by the seller.

Several days later two other NMLS Realtor members in Longmont, Colo., and Vista, Calif., presented identical offers of $225,000. The Longmont offer was accepted as it was made several hours prior to the California member's offer. This transaction will realize a commission of $25,000.

According to Jay Krieger, Topeka, Kan. NMLS Member and Investment Division Advisory Board Governor, "Only good, solid listings will be distributed through the ID of NMLS." He said, "We will not deteriorate the quality of our listings, and only those with good potential will qualify."

KRIEGER RECENTLY addressed a seminar in St. Louis on the "Handling and Opportunities in Commercial and Investment Properties" as applied to the newly formed ID for NMLS members. There are presently more than 100 ID members from a vast network of more than five hundred affiliate NMLS Realtor offices in 48 states and Puerto Rico.

In his presentation, Krieger said the ID was another service of NMLS which would expand the opportunities and benefits of belonging to our network, as well as providing the American public a way to search out and list their commercial and investment properties nationally.

Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., 734 Lee St., Des Plaines, is the exclusive area member of NMLS and its investment division.

Krieger, who is past president of the Topeka Board of Realtors and founder and past president of the Kansas Commercial and Investment Brokers Association, said many brokers and salesmen while looking for investment properties for a client can easily become involved in investment opportunities themselves.

He noted several instances in his community how with little financing he has built up a personal estate for himself and his family. He noted that he had one client who wanted a dry cleaning establishment on some property which necessitated rezoning. Krieger constructed his present office facilities on the property with little capital down and it is yielding a high return.

Door Operator Introduced

An automatic garage door operator that can be installed by a homeowner has been introduced by Jim Walter Corporation, a major manufacturer of building and construction materials.

The unit is designed to operate one-car or two-car garage doors up to 17 feet wide by eight feet high. Information in the installation and service manual enables one man, using ordinary household tools, to install the Pow-R-Lift in about two hours. The unit is made by Relaytron and is being marketed by them and The Celotex Corporation, both affiliates of Jim Walter Corporation. The garage door operator is rated by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., and is the only unit of its type so listed.

The door operator uses a winch and cable drive that eliminates the use of heavy tracks and chains. It also provides for installations that normally would not be possible because of duct work or other obstructions at the ceiling level of the garage. The door operator works on a 1/3 rated horsepower motor. The solid state radio control is a modular plug-in unit and does not require separate installation. The remote control for operation is all-transistor device and operates on a nine-volt battery.

When the door is in operation, a safety guard stops the door upon contact with any obstruction. A pull-chain disconnect permits manual control of the door in the event of power failure. When the door is being opened full illumination is provided by two 60-watt bulbs and the lights remain on for two minutes, after door is closed.

Accessories for the Pow-R-Lift include an alarm warning system, key-operated switch for outside installation, cut-off switch and button station, outside manual disconnect device (interior disconnect is standard equipment), remote control transmitters and batteries.

Cook County Home Sales Show Dip

Home sales recorded in Cook County dipped during July, reports First Federal Savings of Chicago's Home Sales Index. This is the first setback in the upward sales trend, which began in February.

The index, which measures sales of existing one-to-four-unit residential properties, shows that dollar volume for July was $101,744,450, a decrease of $11,055,000 or 9.8 per cent from June's $112,799,500 in sales. The number of sales recorded for July was also lower than the previous month. In July, 3,074 sales were reported, a drop of 490 or 13.7 per cent from the 3,564 sales recorded for June.

Compared to July, 1971, dollar volume for this July was down by 19.7 per cent, and the number of sales down by 16.1 per cent. However, July, 1971, was the most active month of that year, with 3,666 sales totaling $126,628,100.

Despite the recent slackening of sales, 1972 is keeping pace with 1971 overall. To date, sales total 18,568 for a dollar volume of $584,299,500. This is .08 per cent — or $476,500 — lower than for the comparable period last year. But in 1972 there have been 380 more sales, an increase of 2.1 per cent.

ONCE AGAIN Jefferson Township led Cook County's 33 townships, with 296 sales totaling $10,132,500 for July 1972. This represents 9.6 per cent of its dollar volume.

Wheeling Township ranked second, with 191 transactions for a total of $7,511,000, that is, 6.2 per cent of the number volume and 7.4 per cent of the county dollar volume.

Third in number of sales was Lake Township, with 183 sales or 6.0 per cent. Maine Township, which reported sales totaling $5,092,000, was third in dollar volume, with 5.0 per cent of the county total.

"It seems likely that the market has plateaued," said James C. Fitzmaurice, senior vice president at First Federal Savings of Chicago. He emphasized that the market for existing housing is still strong and probably will continue to be so.

ONE REASON for this is the lack of new home inventory, Fitzmaurice said. Not usually cited as a factor in price increases of existing property, the scarcity in some areas of new homes immediately available becomes important, he said, as the economy picks up and executive transfers increase.

Many of these people would be prime candidates for new housing, but it simply isn't available in the time they have to locate. As a result, there is increasing pressure on the existing home market and a corresponding upward push in price.

Big Rush To Find Place To Really Slow Down

Americans are a paradoxical lot — to say the very least.

"What more proof is needed than the thousands of us who are in a big rush to find just the place to slow down," muses Sabino Marinella, president of Continental Investment Corporation, Boston, who cites the burgeoning sales of leisure homes and homesites throughout the country.

Continental Investment, whose shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange, is a national financial services and real estate-oriented company managing assets of over $4 billion. CIC's real estate-related subsidiaries include: Investors Mortgage Insurance Company; Investors Mortgage Group, Inc.; Diversified Advisers, Inc.; and American Lakes & Land Co., Inc.

"The initial rush — a land rush by anyone's definition — was for leisure homesites — for lots, that wave, which shows no signs whatsoever of subsiding, now has a companion in popularity — also booming — leisure home sales.

"Between 1970 and 1971, the number of leisure home sales almost doubled — from 112,000 to 210,000. The outlook is for a total of 230,000 leisure homes to be bought this year; by 1980, sales should reach 318,000," Marinella observes.

Measured in dollars and cents, "the value of leisure homes bought and sold is a veritable eyebrow raiser. The 112,000 units sold in 1970 were worth roughly $1.69 billion — the dollar volume rose to $3.27 billion in 1971. The 230,000 leisure home sales anticipated this year will be valued at $3.68 billion.

"The analysts are talking of a $4.11 billion market by 1975, and $7.13 billion by 1980," Marinella notes.

"The popularity of leisure land and homesites has always been strong — but in 1970, the ratings really began to soar. That year, 638,000 homesites or lots worth $5 billion were sold. The 650,000 sites sold in 1971 had a value of $5.2 billion.

This year, Americans will buy 662,000 leisure homesites or lots — spending an estimated $5.49 billion in the process. And the rise will continue — sales of 743,000 sites worth $6.38 billion are predicted in 1975, then up to 802,000 homesites or lots valued at $7.54 billion in 1980," he emphasizes.

"The 1970s opened with the accent on leisure time. As for the future — well, there just won't be any de-emphasis because Americans take their fun very seriously," Marinella concludes.

Hydronic Systems Hush Noise

Has your home become a continual buzzing and blowing sound? Or are things so bad that everything else is so loud that you can't even hear the buzzing and blowing?

With the advent of year 'round comfort, the noise-level in the home today is much higher. In many cases, it's hard to hear the children crying at night if the air conditioning system is turned on. Have you found yourself speaking louder, or raising the volume of your TV set? Do you need a louder-ringing doorbell because callers complain that they have been waiting a long time for you to open the door for them?

The best answer, says the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, may be to install quality air conditioning and heating systems. According to the Council, separate overhead air conditioning and a hydronic (modern hot water) baseboard heating system provide the optimum in noise-free comfort.

There is no fan or blower in hydronic systems thereby eliminating the rumbling sound when the heating plant goes on and off; with separate overhead cooling, the fan, ducts and registers can be designed and sized specifically for air conditioning, keeping noise to a minimum.

Just like the expensive spreads, only it's $20,990.

Most of the new homes you've been looking at have much higher price tags than what we're asking at Ivy Glen in Palatine. You know it's true.

And maybe you've come away from the others with the idea that you won't get anything — or should we say, anything you'd want — for your money today.

That's only because you haven't seen Ivy Glen yet.

What looks like an $80,000 to $90,000 house in a quiet meadow is a condominium of four or five homes per house, landscaped all around. It's a two-story colonial, or one, with an attached garage for you and room enough in the garage for a small truckload of things besides your car.

Your Ivy Glen home has two bedrooms upstairs and a tiled bath and several closets, including a huge walk-in. And, because the floor above belongs to you, and the walls are engineered to squelch sound, you won't ever have to put up with somebody else's noise.

Downstairs you'll have a large, living-dining area, and a large, complete GE kitchen you'll enjoy cooking in. And everywhere but the kitchen and bath, there's wall-to-wall carpeting and wonderful air conditioning (your very own central system).

As for the hard work of maintenance, there's hardly any. We do all the outside chores, and so you can do the other things on weekends that maybe you've been planning to for years, but haven't had the time to do.

And don't forget the tax deductions you're entitled to as a condominium owner, and the equity build-up you'll have when you go to sell your Ivy Glen home.

Another important thing. We use all high-quality building materials. And still we're able to keep the price at $20,990. Only $1050 down and $150 a month.* And we pay the closing costs.

In your search for a nice home you've probably come to expect nothing for something. Let us finally show you something for next to nothing. See Ivy Glen any day of the week from 10 to 10. We're in Palatine. On Baldwin Rd., north of Dundee (Rt. 68) between Rand and I-53. At 1200 E. Gardenia Lane. (312) 359-9212.

Ivy Glen. Handsome two- and three-bedroom homes from $20,990.

Ivy Glen-Palatine

A development of Building Systems Housing Corporation, subsidiary of Building Systems, Inc.

*Loan of $19,940 with 348 monthly payments of 7.78% true interest, reflecting an 8.37% annual percentage rate. Payment includes principal and interest ($145.88) as well as mortgage insurance ($4.15). Condominium fee of $35.00 (est.) and taxes of $48.67 (est.) are extra per month.

Jeanne Moore Tops In Sales For Tyson, Inc.

Jeanne Moore, sales representative in Quinlan and Tyson's Schamburg-Hoffman Estates area office, has passed the $1 million mark in sales for the second consecutive year.

Mrs. Moore topped the million-dollar mark during July. Last year she recorded sales of almost $1.5 million.

She was the leading sales representative in Q&T's northwest suburban area offices in 1971. A Hoffman Estates resident for eight years, Mrs. Moore has been in real estate sales for nearly five years.

Mrs. Moore is in her third year of the Realtors Institute program, working toward the coveted G.R.I. designation. He Institute is sponsored by the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

She is a former president of the St. Hubert's Council of Catholic Women and served a two-year term on St. Hubert's School Board.

Mrs. Moore and her husband have five children, including a married daughter and son-in-law and grandchildren who live in Hoffman Estates.

Real Estate Classes At Maine Twp.

The Maine Township Extension evening classes in real estate will begin Sept. 25.

The classes are taught by practicing professionals with emphasis on practical application.

The classes have been offered on an extension basis and this year real estate law is being added to the curriculum. Information on registration can be obtained from the Maine Township Evening Division, Alexander Kruze, director, at 696-3600.

D. G. (Jim) Maurides, of D. G. Maurides Realty will teach real estate principles at Maine East High School at Dempster and Potter, Park Ridge. The class, which begins Tuesday night, Sept. 26, teaches the real estate basics and also prepares the student for the State of Illinois real estate salesmen license. Maurides is president of the Northside Real Estate Board and also teaches at the Central YMCA College Campus.

ROBERT ANDERSON, vice president of Rich Port Realtors, will teach sales and brokerage at Maine West High School at 1755 Wolf Rd., Des Plaines. The class, which begins Monday night, Sept. 25, covers the proper sales techniques used in real estate.

Charles R. Hug, of Robert J. DeLeonard law firm and assistant city attorney, will teach real estate law at Maine South High School, 1111 South Dee Rd., Park Ridge. The class, which meets Thursday night, Sept. 28th, covers legal aspects of real estate. While a real estate broker cannot act as an attorney, the broker and salesperson must understand the legal requirements of real estate.

Edward Metzner C.P.M., assistant vice president of Baird and Warner, will teach property management at Maine East High School, Dempster and Potter, Park Ridge. The class begins Thursday night, Sept. 28 and covers management of apartment buildings and commercial properties.

William Schwandt M.A.I., of Schwandt Realty Co., will teach Real Estate Appraisal at Maine West High School, 1755 Wolf Rd.

The class begins Wednesday night, Sept. 27 and covers the functions and techniques of establishing value using the cost, market data, and income approaches.

Named Secretary Of Egyptian Co.

Kenneth Zaboth of 1170 Leicaster, Elk Grove Village, has been named secretary of Egyptian Construction Co. of Des Plaines. Edward P. Bogdajewicz, president of the general contracting and building firm, made the announcement. Two years ago Zaboth was made Comptroller of the company.

Fantastic price reduction of $2000 makes this 3-bedroom home with living room, family room, and 1 1/2 baths a beautiful buy! Yes, it has a kitchen, too, with range and refrigerator, immaculate, move-in condition!

Brothers Assume Dealership At Marathon Station

A. B. Dick Names Fedro Services Head

Charles R. and Russell W. Koeppl have assumed dealership of the Marathon service station at Kirchoff and Hicks, according to Roger Povolock, district sales manager for Marathon Oil Company.

The brothers have a combined total of 24 years in service station operation. When the Texaco station they formerly operated was converted to an independent brand gasoline dispensing unit, they leased the Marathon facility.

Chuck Koeppl recently completed the two-week classroom portion of Marathon's dealer development program at Indianapolis, Ind. Involved in a variety of community activities, Chuck and his wife, Betty, have three children, Wesley, Gary and Wendy, ages 8, 5 and 3. They live at 3401 Fremont in Rolling Meadows.

During the more than 12 years the brothers have worked together, Russ Koeppl has had broad experience and training in automotive services. He and his wife, Shirley, have two children, Pamela and Terry, ages 8 and 4, and reside at 2406 W. George St., in Rolling Meadows.

Siding Should Suit Architectural Style

Fashions that don't "suit" your personality won't improve your looks. The same is true of house sidings. To beautify a home, the siding should fit the architectural style.

Determining which type of siding is best for a home requires some knowledge of the variety available, some definition of terms, and an awareness of which siding and house styles "go together." The American Hardboard Association offers the following suggestions on use of hardboard sidings, an increasingly popular exterior material for new homes and remodeling.

Decide whether you want vertical or horizontal siding. The vertical type will emphasize the tallness of a house, the horizontal style will make it appear wider.

Lap siding, a horizontal siding, comes in varying widths, usually six to 12 inches. This style (especially the deeper overlaps) gives strong visually dramatic shadowlines. It is popular for Colonial and traditional architecture.

Vertical sidings offer a wide range of designs, including V and V-grooved, random-grooved, and ungrooved panels. They are widely adaptable for classic and contemporary house styles.

Vertical siding is also used for board and batten applications, which consist of ungrooved panels with raised battens, or grooved panels with a "reverse batten" design. This application is most often associated with Colonial and Early American homes. With variations it is also used for Oriental and Mediterranean architecture — the plain panels suit the simplicity of the former and relieve the ornate details of the latter.

Texture also is essential to siding choice. Hardboard sidings are available preprimed or prefinished in handsome woodgrain designs, with a rugged hand-sawn appearance, in various colors, smooth-surfaced or with interesting texture "looks" such as stucco or wood shake. Hardboard sidings have no knots or grains to raise, and are extremely resistant to weather abuse and impact damage.

Other suggestions on selection of both exterior sidings and interior panelings are available in an illustrated brochure, "New Dimensions in Living." Send 25 cents to the American Hardboard Association, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois, 60606.

Cook Cooled By Sunshade

Kitchen windows that face south or west often get a blast of sunshine right at dinner time which leaves the family cook limp as a noodle and sun-blinded as well.

A workable solution is to build a slant-roofed sunshade about 12 feet away from the window. It will look something like half of a pitched house roof set on a frame of posts and beams, and it works like a shade tree, intercepting the sun just as it drops low enough to shine into the kitchen.

Height and overall size of the shade device can vary with the situation. Generally that's easy to figure by observing the sun's position in relation to other objects visible from the kitchen windows. Or a landscape architect could work it out for you.

The sunshade will be most attractive and additionally useful if benches are included in its design, attached to posts supporting the roof structure. The slanted roof needn't be solid to do the job, but, if built trellis-style with spaced 1x2s or 1x4s they should run horizontally.

Either fir or cedar lumber is recommended. Leave it unpainted to avoid sun-glare.

Briefly on Business

by LEA TONKIN

Variety of educational programs will be featured at the fourteenth annual management conference of the Illinois Credit Union League, slated for tomorrow and Saturday, Sept. 22-23. The gathering will be held at the Regency Hyatt O'Hare in Rosemont. A welcoming speech by league president T. J. Heffernan will follow the 8:30 a.m. registration on Friday. Communication and decision-making will be among discussion topics during the conference, which will conclude at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday.

MANAGEMENT'S right to change will be discussed by Congressman John Anderson, R-Rockford, at the Oct. 24 meeting of the Residential Construction Employers Council. The meeting will be held at the Sheraton Oakbrook in Oakbrook. Anderson introduced a bill (HR11387) in the U.S. House of Representatives which would make regional bargaining available on a national scale. Additional information is available from the council office in Oakbrook, 634-3336.

'Hamburgerology' Degree Awarded

Steven M. Gordon of Des Plaines, has earned his B.H. degree from one of the world's unique educational institutions. Gordon, on the staff of McDonald's Corporation's national headquarters in Oak Brook was graduated from Hamburger University with a bachelor of Hamburgerology degree. He received the diploma at a formal commencement at Hamburger's suburban Chicago campus.

Like everyone else at Hamburger U., Gordon majored in "hamburgerology." Actually, the curriculum is both art and science — with a substantial sampling of business administration. Hamburger U.'s courses are conducted university-style with lectures, labs and the latest electronic teaching aids. On their way to becoming graduates, students learn the fine points of restaurant management and McDonald's unique system of operation with emphasis on quality, service and cleanliness.

Multigraph Corp. Names Kelley VP

Edward J. Kelley has been appointed vice president of supplies marketing for the new Graphics Service and Supplies Division of Addressograph Multigraph Corporation.

Kelley will be responsible for the field sales organization and for marketing services activities at division headquarters in Schaumburg.

Kelley was vice president and general manager of AM's Buckeye Division, which was consolidated into the Graphics Service and Supplies Division Aug. 1. He joined AM in 1966 as vice president, general manager and a director of the Buckeye Ribbon and Carbon Co. subsidiary. It became the Buckeye Division in 1971.

Kelley's association with the graphic supplies industry began in 1946 when he joined Carriers Ink Company, Cambridge, Mass., and progressed through a number of senior management assignments in the industry. Kelley has a BS degree in mechanical engineering from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

Korvettes Names New Ad Director

Korvettes recently announced the appointment of George Annand to the position of advertising director for the company. He will report directly to Bernard H. Oshin vice president for advertising-display.

Annand has been associated with Korvettes for 13 years and brings to his position a complete knowledge of every aspect of the advertising policies of the company.

Annand resides in Ridgewood, N.J., with his wife and two children.

Chicago Title & Trust Elects Vice President

The election of Richard E. Fox, 708 Cathy Ln., Mount Prospect, as vice president of Chicago Title and Trust Co. was recently announced by Alvin W. Long, president.

As vice president, Fox will be responsible for services administration and will continue to serve as agency accounting administrator — the position he held prior to this election.

Fox joined the staff of Chicago Title and Trust Co. in 1948 in the auditing department. He served in that department until 1951 when he went on military leave of absence, returning to auditing in 1952.

In 1955 he was assigned to the personnel department as salary administrator and in 1959 was appointed as assistant secretary. He became auditor in 1960, and in 1963 he was named as personnel officer and manager of the company's personnel department.

In 1964 he was elected treasurer and controller of Chicago Title Insurance Co. (CTI), a wholly-owned subsidiary of CT&T, and in 1970 he assumed responsibility for a nationwide agency computer billing system for CT&T and CTI.

Fox was graduated from Northwestern University with a bachelor of science degree in 1957 and he received a master of business administration degree from the same university in 1959.

Banker Gets Diploma From Wisconsin Prudential Agent Notes 20th Year

Ronald Anderson, 65 Country Club Ct., Palatine, assistant vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Evanston, recently was awarded a diploma at the commencement exercises of The Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Graduation requires attendance at three annual two-week sessions on the Madison campus and the satisfactory completion of extension problems between the resident sessions.

The school is sponsored by The Central States Conference of Bankers Associations, consisting of bankers associations from 16 Midwestern states. More than 1,545 bankers are enrolled this year from 38 states, and several foreign countries.

Elmer E. Ward, 917 Cedar Lane, Elk Grove Village, recently marked his 20th anniversary with the Prudential Insurance Co. He is an agent in the company's Irving Park district agency in Chicago.

Elmer Ward

District agency manager Bruno J. Pinkos said that Ward is a native Chicagoan and a 1946 graduate of Farragut High School. He continued his education at DePaul University and Roosevelt College.

During World War II, he served with the U.S. Army in Japan.

Profexray Promotes Palatine Resident

Carl E. Frank, 304 Circle Dr., Palatine, has been named to the post of executive vice president for Profexray Division of Litton Industries.

The announcement was made by Charles F. Haverty, president of the Des Plaines-based x-ray equipment manufacturing firm.

Formerly vice president of operations, Frank joined Profexray more than three years ago. In this new position he will have complete responsibility for Profexray's activities in North America. He holds bachelor's and Master's degrees in mechanical engineering from the University of Wisconsin.

He is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking.

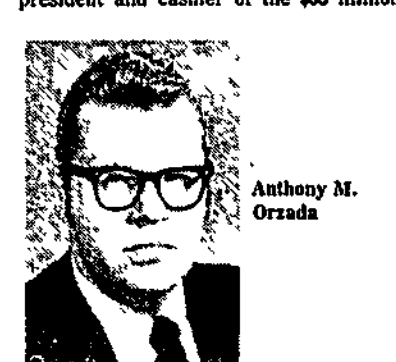

Springfield Bank Post To Ex-Area Resident

Guy M. Anderson, formerly of N. Kenilworth Avenue in Arlington Heights, has been elected vice president and Savings Officer of American Savings and Loan Association of Springfield.

Anderson joined the Springfield firm on April 1, 1972 after spending more than two years with the Illinois Savings and Loan League as Marketing Director. He moved to Springfield from Arlington Heights in 1968. Anderson was vice president for Business Development at Arlington Heights Federal Savings. He joined Arlington Federal in 1962.

'The Child Is Most Important'

Day Care Comes To Woodfield Center

THE CHILD WILL DICTATE the program conducted at the Woodfield Child Development Center, according to Joan Gifford, director. An open learning environment with no corners and a great deal of flexible, open space will allow each child to explore his interests and satisfy his curiosity.

by DOROTHY OLIVER

One of the first full-time day care centers in the country to be housed in a shopping center will open soon at Woodfield.

"We have perhaps a little more than some day care centers by being located in Woodfield," said Joan Gifford, director of the Woodfield Child Development Center. "We intend to use all the learning situations available in the mall such as puppet shows and other children's programs."

"BY VISITING SOME of the shops, we will experience things such as how baking is done, visiting mom at work or celebrating a birthday at Farrell's (restaurant and ice cream parlor.) We don't have to go far for field trips."

The Woodfield Child Development Center is one of two day care facilities operated by Alpha Asso., a corporation formed to set up day care centers. Its other center is The Toy Box in Lake Zurich. Woodfield children will periodically visit the rural facility while children from The Toy Box spend the day at the bustling shopping center.

Whenever the mall is open, Woodfield Child Development Center will be open — including nights and weekends. The care offered will accommodate the needs of mothers in the area, full and part-time employees of Woodfield and shoppers.

"We will be able to handle a total enrollment of 80 children," Joan said. "They can either enter the day care program on a full or part-time basis or take advantage of our babysitting service."

THE DAY CARE program is designed for those needing constant child care. Arrangements can be made for as little as one hour per week at $1 per hour up to 40 hours a week for $35.

Joan describes the day care as a flexible one that will be molded to the need of each individual child. It will include language development, muscle development and social development.

"We have blended some of the principles of Montessori and Piaget to create this program," she explains. "Montessori stresses the uniqueness of the child, a sense of order and a cycle in learning. We will teach the child an appreciation of materials and a respect for the rights of other children."

"Most of our materials are self-corrective; they are made so that the child knows he has done the right thing when he is finished with it."

"The important part of the Piaget philosophy we will implement is the necessity of communication between the child and the adult, and the child and his peers. We will encourage this communication. We will also work on the association of concepts and their meanings."

JOAN GIFFORD'S ideas are behind much of the philosophy of Woodfield Child Development Center. During her 20 years experience in elementary education she taught first grade for eight years before moving on to hold the positions of supervisor of elementary education and curriculum coordinator.

"I've had a primary level interest in education," she said. "When a youngster has come through this program, he will fit well into any educational program in a school."

"If you have an awareness of the development of a human being from birth to kindergarten age, you see that there is so much he can be doing, so much he can be learning, and we are only using such a small amount of his potential. There are skills and concepts he should be getting — but generally doesn't."

The program will be fluid. It won't make any difference what time a child comes to the center or when he leaves; he will profit from the ongoing educational experience.

Joan finds the architecture of the facility nearly as exciting as the program. The center has no corners; the room design and placement of programs separate activities rather than walls. A long, child-sized counter where children can work on projects fills one side of the room. In the remaining open space are tables, bookcases, things to climb on and things to play with.

SEPARATED FROM the main room by a removable partition is the baby-sitting area where shoppers may leave their pre-schoolers for as long as they are occupied at Woodfield. The same materials, equipment and staff used in the day care center will be available in the baby-sitting area at $1 an hour fee.

Children from both the day care center and the baby-sitting service will be bused to the center's specially built play area on the Woodfield grounds.

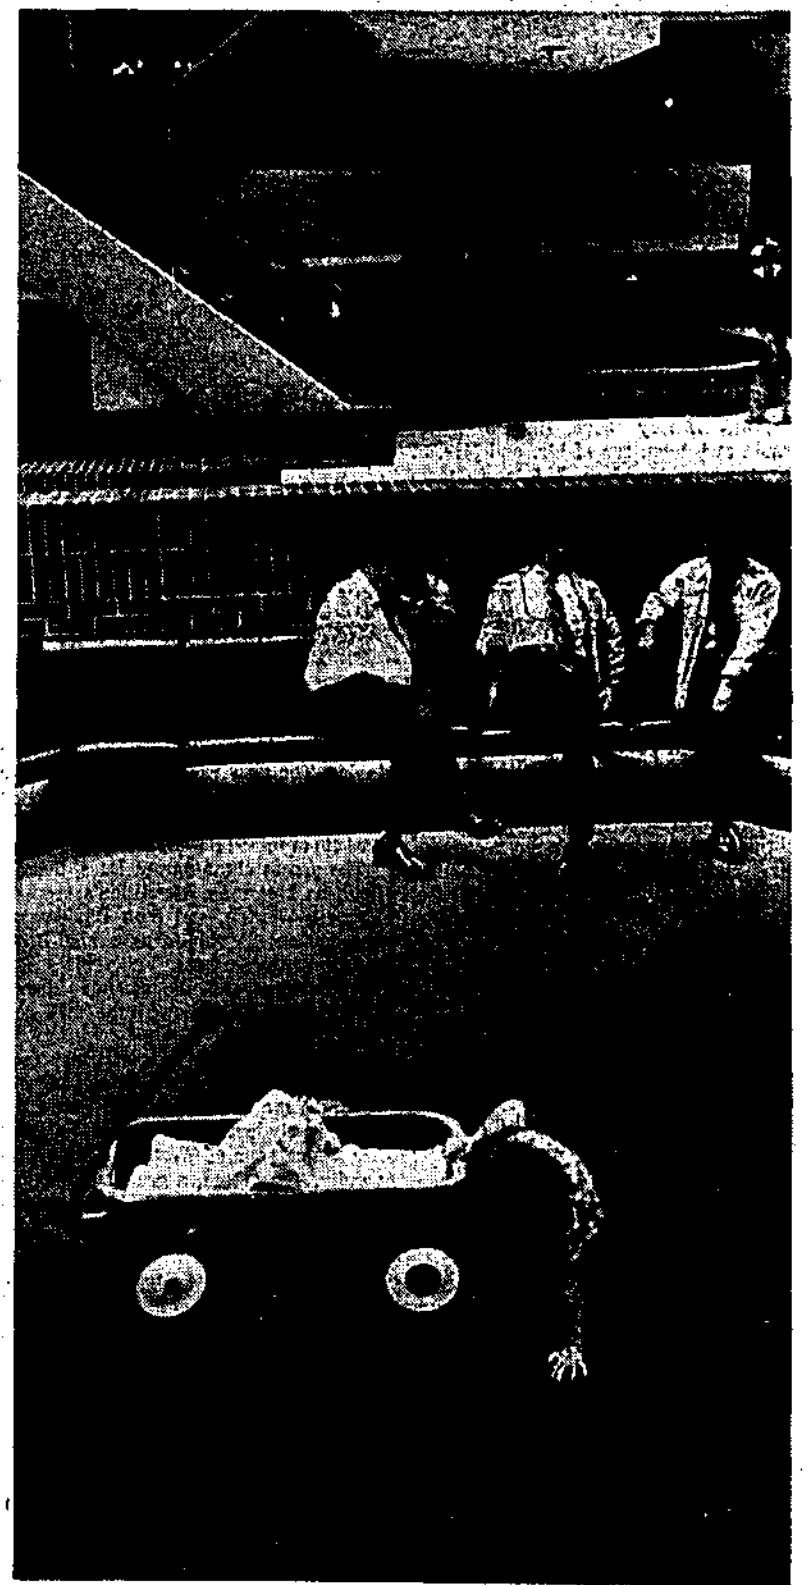

The center is open to children between the ages of 2½ (Potty trained) and 6. Parents are asked to complete a developmental history of their child and meet with the staff before the child enrolls. Parent-teacher conferences are set up so a child's development can be discussed.

Information on enrollment may be obtained by calling Joan Gifford at 882-4340.

The center will have the services of both a speech therapist and a child psychologist and the staff is considering using its program as an internship for the early childhood programs of colleges in the area. They hope to expand the center's services to include tutoring and family counseling in an effort to round out a child's total environment.

The goal of the Woodfield Child Development Center is to provide a warm and secure atmosphere for each child. "We want the child to know that he is a very unique, important person," Joan said. "We recognize that he has emotions and feelings. He — the child — is most important."

WOODFIELD'S MALLS, shops and department stores will be used by the Woodfield Child Development Center for learning experiences and field trips. The shopping center is one of the first in the country to house a day care facility.

Child Care Need Spurs Ingenuity

by GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A day care center in Washington, D. C., uses computer storage cans for chairs. A large plastic tub set into a wooden frame on casters becomes a sand, paint or water play area in a center in Cambridge, Mass. Waxed paper cups or cut-down milk cartons become the start of an indoor garden in a child research center in Washington. A plastic garbage pail and liner make a good container for modeling clay at a center in Nashville, Tenn. A converted synagogue becomes a day center in New York City.

All are cited in "Found Spaces and Equipment for Children's Centers," a compilation of resourceful and creative ways for transforming the discarded, overlooked and inexpensive spaces and objects into useful places and things for learning for the pre-school and day care set.

MANY OF THE examples offered by the booklet are the work of non-professionals, not the planners and architects, but everyday folks — parents, teachers, civic leaders — spurred to inventiveness by need.

The booklet is published by Educational Facilities Laboratories (EFL), a non-profit organization established by the Ford Foundation. It is compiled for EFL by Richard J. Passantino, a Washington, D. C., architect with two small children of his own and "a dedicated involvement in the design of early childhood facilities."

The book surveys indoor and outdoor spaces for children, as well as furniture and equipment, and details of licensing requirements and codes for centers.

EFL says "found" space can fulfill environmental requirements for child development and do so economically.

"A CHILD JUMPING into a pile of hay in a converted barn, a group listening to a story in front of an ornate Victorian fireplace, children swinging from ropes suspended from a high ceiling — all are marvelous learning experiences and all capitalize on existing features."

Here is where economy comes in; EFL says it is generally cheaper to reclaim existing spaces in structurally sound buildings than to build new structures.

In a look at some center locations, EFL found a former supermarket turned into a day care and neighborhood center. Amateur carpenters built a landscape of platforms, bridges, storage and nooks and crannies.

Carpets and paint helped to transform a shabby warehouse into a school. Children move planks and boxes around to make seats, desks or tables.

CENTERS HAVE used a lot of ingenuity in furniture and equipment. One has a homemade ferris wheel that organizes and displays learning materials. Another has a plastic "shoebox" library to organize instructional objects.

In general, before you and a group start such an informally planned center, check with regulatory agencies — the state Health Department (licensing), Building Department (building codes), zoning (zoning code compliance), Department of Social Services (for related services it can provide), local Board of Education (required in some localities), and fire marshal (exit requirements and combustibility characteristics of the building).

THE FACILITY for a full-time day care center located at Woodfield Shopping Center is still under construction but is expected to open before Oct. 1. The center will also offer part-time day care and a babysitting service for shoppers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce G. Knoll

Bruce Knoll Takes Bride

Bruce G. Knoll of Arlington Heights took a Des Plaines girl, the former Susan Lynn Potter, as his bride on Aug. 12 in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect. The newlyweds are living in Hoffman Estates.

The bride's parents are the Dennis L. Potters of Des Plaines. Bruce is the son of Mrs. Lorraine Knoll, 1255 N. Wilke Road, Arlington, and Henry Knoll of Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Gerald Potter of Schaumburg, the bride's sister-in-law, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Marilyn Elstner of Wheeling, her cousin, and Pamela Potter of Chicago, another cousin. GERALD POTTER was best man and ushers were Jim Potter, another brother of the bride, along with the groom's brother Keith.

A dinner at Nielsen's Restaurant, Rosemont, followed the late afternoon wedding. The couple then honeymooned in Nassau.

Susan is a graduate of Elk Grove High School and works for Citizens Bank and Trust Co., Park Ridge. Bruce is an Arlington High graduate and attends North Chicago Technical Institute while working for Ritzenthaler Bus Lines.

Bride Kathleen Wirth Chooses Spanish Lace

For her Aug. 26 wedding, Kathleen Ann Wirth of Schaumburg chose a white Spanish lace gown that featured a full flowing hoop skirt. It was designed with scalloped neckline, long sleeves and a scalloped hemline that brushed the floor. The gown was accented with seed pearls and sequins.

To complement the Spanish effect, Kathleen wore a high Camelot headpiece of lace, also studded with pearls and sequins, and a long illusion veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and rosebuds.

She became the bride of Randall Frederic Wolff of Arlington Heights in a 3:30 p.m. ceremony in the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, Elk Grove Village. A dinner and dancing followed at Arlington Heights VFW Hall for 170 guests.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wirth Jr. of 1034 Lowell Lane, Schaumburg. The groom's parents are the Frederic Wolffs, 1823 S. Patton, Arlington.

Lilac and green were the accent colors for the bridal white. Matron of honor Mrs. Sheryl Swanson, the bride's sister who lives in Albuquerque, N.M., wore a light green chiffon gown with fitted bodice, long sleeves and full skirt. A wide deep green satin band encircled the waist, held at the back by a three-tiered bustle and long sash. Sheryl wore a headpiece of green tinted carnations and white rosebuds and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Wolff

There were three bridesmaids and a junior bridesmaid, all attired in lilac chiffon with purple waistband, styled exactly as the matron of honor's. They carried lilac carnations and white rosebuds.

THE BRIDESMAIDS were Kathy Shanley of Mount Prospect; Karen Bryant, the bride's cousin from Hoffman Estates; and the groom's sister, Sandy Wolff. Teri Wirth, the bride's sister, was junior bridesmaid.

The bride's niece, 8-year-old Tricia Swanson, was flower girl, wearing a dress styled like the matron of honor's in light green and carrying a basket of green and lilac flowers.

The bride's nephew, 6-year-old Johnny Swanson, was ring bearer.

The groom chose Sam Romano of Cary as best man. Ushers for the double ring rites were Russ Mitchum, Round Lake; Russ Gotha Jr., Elk Grove; Clay Thayer, Charleston, N.C.; and Chuck Swanson of Albuquerque.

THE NEWLYWEDS had a two-week honeymoon in Michigan before returning to this area to live. They have an apartment in Schaumburg.

Both work in the suburbs, the bride for Molon Motor & Coil Corp., Rolling Meadows, and the groom for Ace Pecan Co., Elk Grove. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School and Harper College. He attended Northwest Military Academy, Lakeland College, Sheboygan, Wis., and Hastings College in Nebraska.

Bridal Couple On Delaware Campus

Since Labor Day Paula L. Taylor and her bridegroom, John F. Boschen, have been at home in Newark, Del., where John is a graduate student at the University of Delaware.

Both are '72 graduates of the University of North Carolina, Paula in child development from the Greensboro campus, and John in economics from the Chapel Hill campus.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max I. Taylor, 636 Hickory Drive, Buffalo Grove, Paula and John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Boschen, Aberdeen, Md., were married in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights on Aug. 26. The 2:30 double ring service was followed by a buffet reception in the Taylors' home.

For her wedding Paula sewed and partially styled her own gown of white crepe satin. She made the gown with Empire waist, square neckline, deep ruffle at the hem and embroidered rosebud lace puffed sleeves. A lace overlay was on the hemline ruffle and on the bodice front, trimmed with white rosebuds and avocado leaves.

A CAP OF the same material held her fingertip veil, and she carried a nosegay of white rosebuds, white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath with light pink rosebuds and white streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Boschen

Susan Horner, Green Lawn, N.Y., was maid of honor, and junior bridesmaid was her 11-year-old sister Leigh Anne Taylor. Both wore screen prints in pink, avocado, blue and yellow with Empire waists, ruffled sleeves, square necklines and deep ruffles at the hemline. They carried nosegays of light pink rosebuds and deep pink carnations with baby's breath and avocado streamers.

Alan Peroutka, Belcamp, Md., was best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, Alan Taylor of the Naval Air Reserves, and her cousin, Glen Taylor of Moffett Air Base, California.

The newlyweds honeymooned for a week in North Carolina.

Western University Pair Wed In Countryside Chapel

Countryside Chapel on Hintz Road in Arlington Heights was the setting Aug. 28 for a double ring wedding ceremony in which Janet Patricia Worden became the bride of Joseph Brandenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brandenburg, Springfield, Ill. Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth N. Worden, Arlington Heights.

Janet designed and sewed her own wedding gown of white chiffon over satin with lace bodice studded with pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown headpiece covered with lace and trimmed with pearls, and her train was of matching lace. She carried a nosegay of blue and white roses, daisies and baby's breath.

JANET BELZER was maid of honor and Mary Elyn Whelton and the groom's sister, Bonnie Brandenburg, were bridesmaids. The girls wore pastel gowns with wide brimmed white hats trimmed with multi-colored flowers, and they carried baskets of mixed flowers.

The groom chose James Dees, Springfield, as best man. The bride's brother, Kenneth Worden, and Stan David were groomsmen; David Johnson and Brian Billmeyer were ushers.

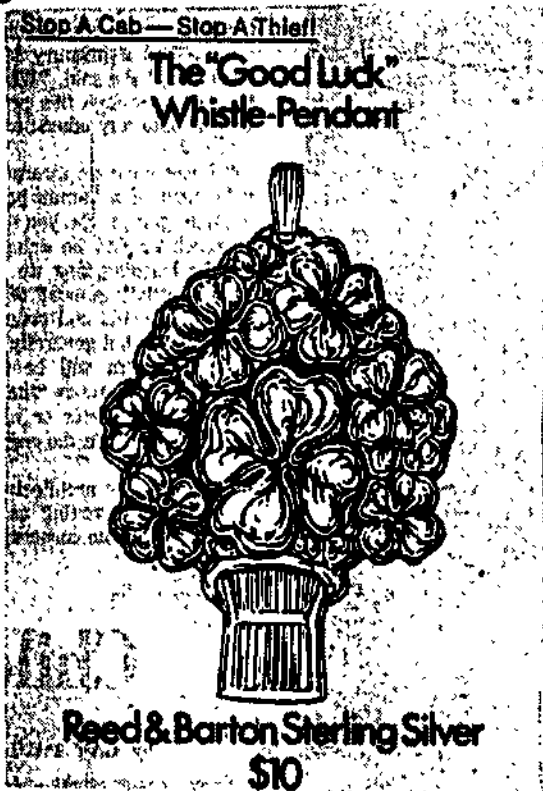

A reception at the Scandia House, Mount Prospect, followed the 3:30 service.

The couple left on a brief honeymoon trip motoring through the Ozarks and are now at home in Macomb, Ill., where the bride is student teaching and finishing her senior year at Western Illinois University. The groom, a graduate of Western, is doing graduate work at the university.

Mount Prospect Pair Married

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thrash

A Mount Prospect couple were married Aug. 28 in St. Raymond Catholic Church and are making their first home in Chicago. Patricia Marie Burrell and Robert James Thrash exchanged vows and rings at 10:30 in the morning and then greeted their wedding guests at a reception at Old Orchard Country Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Elliott J. Burrell of 606 S. George St. are the bride's parents. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thrash of 18 W. Hiawatha Trail.

Patricia chose a white silk organza gown trimmed in cluny lace and a silk illusion veil flowing from a small cap of the lace. The dress was Empire styled with high neck and lantern sleeves, all trimmed in lace, and a chapel train falling from a satin bow at the back.

The bridal bouquet was of Eucharis lilies, pink roses and baby's breath, tied with white and pink satin streamers.

MARCIA BURRELL was her sister's maid of honor, gowned in Nile green voile with long sleeves cuffed in Venise lace, a high neck with a bib of lace, and a gathered flounce at the bottom of the skirt. She wore a white garden hat and carried a bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

There were three bridesmaids, all attired exactly as the maid of honor. They were the bride's school friends, Carol Davidson and Mary Ellen Scanlon of Chicago and Margaret Ladd of Villa Park.

MAJOR CHARLES Thrash Jr. came from South Carolina to be his brother's best man. Ushers were Michael Burrell, the bride's brother; Daniel Frances, Mount Prospect; and John Zolan, Chicago.

The bride graduated in '69 from Regina Dominican High School and the groom from Forest View High. She attends Loyola University and he is at Illinois Institute of Technology, both majoring in chemistry.

Judith Foster, Scott Fait United In Rainbow Setting

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fait

The colors of the rainbow complemented Judith Ann Foster's bridal ensemble for her Aug. 28 marriage to Scott Allen Fait. Both from Mount Prospect, the couple exchanged vows and rings at 12:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

Five attendants stood at the altar with the bride, each in a pastel gown, yellow, pink or lavender dress with a hat to match her particular color. Each carried a nosegay of multicolored flowers.

The bride and groom met while in junior high school in Mount Prospect and continued their friendship through Hershey High School and thence college.

JUDITH IS THE daughter of Mrs. Carl Foster, 1303 Greenwood Drive, and the late Mr. Foster. Scott's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Fait of 1304 Dogwood Lane.

The bride's two sisters were her honor attendants. Matron of honor Mrs. Linda Morsen of Medford, Mass., wore a yellow flocked organza Empire gown accented with a deep ruffle at the hem that was banded in lace. Her large picture hat in yellow matched her dress.

Nancy Foster was maid of honor in lime green.

Tom O'Reilly, Wheeling, and Melody Frase, Palatine, served as bridesmaids. Tom wearing pink and Melody in lavender. The flower girl, Deborah Morsen, the bride's niece, wore a white dress with pink accents and carried a basket of pink roses.

The bride chose a white silk organza gown overlaid with Schiffl embroidery. It was designed with a scooped neck, bishop sleeves and a court train. A lace Juliet cap held the bride's illusion veil in place, and white orchids composed her cascade bouquet.

GARY O'REILLY, Wheeling, was Scott's best man, while David Newman, Palatine, and the couple's brothers, Thomas Foster and Brian Fait, ushered.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Kenneth Carl Foster. After the ceremony there was a garden reception at the bride's home for 125 wedding guests. A buffet luncheon was served.

The newlyweds are now living in their new home in Wheeling. Judith works for American Optical Corp., Rosemont, and Scott for Penney's Auto Center, Niles.

He is a graduate of Triton College, and his bride attended Harper College.

Patricia O'Keefe Sews For Her Wedding Party

Standing before the same priest who married the bride's parents, Patricia O'Keefe and James Walter Korbecki became man and wife the afternoon of Aug. 26. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William H. O'Keefe of 318 S. Pine St., Mount Prospect, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Korbecki of Addison.

For the ceremony in St. Raymond Church, the bride made a puckered white crepe gown with sheer net sleeves and yoke, hand-trimmed them with lace and beading. Her veil, trimmed to match the gown, was attached to a bead crown, and she carried white orchids and stephanotis.

The couple's sisters were the bride's attendants. Kathleen O'Keefe was maid of honor. Joyce Korbecki and Sharon and Debbie O'Keefe were bridesmaids.

THE GIRLS' gowns, also made by the bride, formed a rainbow of green, yellow, blue and lilac and were fashioned of puckered crepe de Chine. Kathleen wore lilac; Joyce, green; Sharon, yellow; and Debbie, blue. They carried baskets of matching carnations, white daisies and baby's breath.

Best man was Mitchell S. Budniak of Skokie, and ushers, Roy Hunninghaus of Des Plaines; Walter Korbecki, the groom's brother, Chicago; and William H. O'Keefe Jr., the bride's brother.

AFTER A RECEPTION in Heck's Hall, Chicago, the couple honeymooned

Mr. and Mrs. James Korbecki in Wisconsin and Michigan. They are now residing in Batavia.

The bride graduated from St. Patrick Academy, Des Plaines, and attended the University of Illinois. The groom graduated from the University of Illinois in electrical engineering and is employed by Furnas Electric Co. in West Chicago

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Our new house sits on a lot with two rather steep slopes, one at the side and the other in back. My husband talks about planting this whole slope area with grass, but I keep saying it will be a nightmare keeping it cut. You often discuss these things and probably have some knowledge of ground cover plants that would be attractive and easier to take care of than grass. Do you? —Mrs. Tim H.

It sounds as if neither of you has had prior experience with slopes. Nightmare No. 1 is just getting grass seed to take root. Much of it washes away with each rain. We went through it once and later our son was determined to have grass on a slope and he also learned the hard way. Even if it took root, you are absolutely right about the mowing — sheer hard labor. The two of you ought to look through some of the nursery booklets. You'll find many attractive ground covers like ground ivy and English ivy, lily of the valley, ice plant, moss, periwinkle, bugleweed, crown vetch, galax and cunonymus. My guess is you'll find a happy compromise with one of these.

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to warm up a leftover rare roast so that it will still come out rare? —Marie Michaels

Yes, there is. Wrap your rare roast in lettuce leaves and put it in a covered roaster in a 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Dear Dorothy: The bane of my existence is the nylon tape wrapped around certain packages. Sometimes the contents are not worth the struggle. A neighbor just told me she solved the problem by using a beer can opener. Just thought others might like to know about this. —Ernestine Y.

Many others. The last time one of those packages came I was almost in tears by the time it was torn apart.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 288, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

A 'Join-In' For Junioresettes

"Join-In," a picnic at Busse Woods, will be sponsored Saturday by Arlington Heights Junioresettes who invite all high school girls in Arlington Heights to join them from 2 to 6 p.m. to learn more about the Junioresettes.

Organized in 1968 and sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club, this group is a club for all girls of high school age who live in Arlington. It is a non-profit organization with two main goals: to provide volunteer service to the community and to give girls in Arlington something to belong to outside of school, to build character, and give them a chance to meet girls from different schools.

In the past these girls have been guides at the Arlington Heights Historical Society, assisted the Chamber of Commerce with surveys, read at the library story time for four-year-olds, and supported an orphan from Ceylon.

This year the girls will continue with visits and parties at Magnus Farm, participate in the Arlington Christmas Parade, make puppets for Northwest Hospital, hold a spring fashion show, and assist the Arlington Juniors with various projects.

Girls wishing further information may call Heather Hutchison, president, at 259-0782.

Happy Birthday, Newcomers

Prospect Heights Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club will celebrate its fifth anniversary tonight at 8 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, Mount Prospect. A program, including punch and hors d'oeuvres, will be presented detailing the history of the club and honoring its past presidents.

Guest speaker will be Jean Bonnell who will demonstrate her powers of palmistry, astrology and ESP. "Her experience in acting, modeling, and fashion designing are added attractions to her extraordinary psychic abilities," said the program chairman.

The Newcomers are preparing for the

The Consumer

by Monica Wilch

Often the worst hassle when you move is getting telephone service in your new residence. Complicating matters is that the service representative you talk to on the phone sometimes is not aware of — or willing to tell you — all the various alternatives you have in re-establishing telephone service.

For example, don't let them insist that new equipment must be installed even when the telephone in the new residence is fine and is located where you want it. Although this will not save you any money, it just seems ridiculous to replace a white, kitchen wall phone with another white, kitchen wall phone in the same spot.

Moreover, this unnecessary maneuver may delay your phone service if you work and can't schedule a serviceman's visit during the week. If no new equipment is installed, the phone can be connected in the main office, although the telephone company likes to send someone out to check the connection.

On the subject of servicemen's visits, according to Harry Cass of Illinois Bell's suburban office, you can request that the man come within a restricted time span — like, soon after 8 a.m., or right after lunch, or after 4, etc. If you work 9 to 5, five days a week, as most of us do, this still doesn't help much. But in that case, you can arrange for him to come on Saturday, or to have a neighbor admit him.

A new procedure of the telephone company allows the customer, in some cases, to snip the wire of the phone in his old residence and take it with him for a $5 credit.

Regardless of the equipment, you will get a new number, unless you have moved within the area of the same telephone office, in which case you can keep your old number.

Whatever the problem, don't just gnash your teeth in frustration. Call the district manager at the telephone company, and most likely he will be willing and able to help you.

THE CONSUMER Federation of Illinois has charged the Illinois legislature with dragging its feet on consumer issues. CFI's executive director, Lynn Mills, said recently the legislature's performance last year was "all show and no action," and she pointed to several consumer bills that were introduced but sidetracked from passage.

These included proposals to establish an office of consumer affairs — which a number of other states already have — and to allow municipalities to inspect meat and poultry, to require open dating on milk, to set up an Illinois consumer council and to permit the posting of drug prices.

CFI will hold a legislative reception Sunday from 3:30 to 6:30 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, with state and legislative candidates as special guests and Dan Walker, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, as speaker. Anyone wishing to attend may purchase a ticket (proceeds will help support CFI by calling 427-6828.)

A CLINIC in "Car Maintenance and Safety for Women Drivers" will be held next Thursday, 10 to 1, at the South Park Field House, White and Howard Streets, Des Plaines. Sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, the program, which is open to the public, will present tips for women on how to protect themselves when driving alone and how to prevent mechanical trouble.

'Image' Reflects New Fall Fashion

"Image," a reflection of the new fall fashions will be presented Saturday by the Schaumburg Jayceettes. Nordic Hills Country Club, Itasca, is the site of the fashion show which will begin with a cocktail hour at noon, luncheon at 1 p.m.

Fashions by Rags to Riches, Woodfield, will be modeled by Mrs. Robert O. Atcher, wife of Schaumburg's mayor, local Jaycee-ettes and two models from the Rags to Riches store. Shoes will be co-ordinated by Spire Fashion Shoe Salon, Woodfield, and make-up done by Merle Norman, Woodfield.

"Of special interest to the men in the audience will be the fall fashions from Frank Bros., Woodfield," says Sara Sanders, publicity chairman.

Tickets at $5 are available from any local Jaycee-ette or Mrs. Fred Gray, 523-7303, or Mrs. Martin Mayer 894-1679.

Mrs. Michael Kott, show chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. John Etchingham, Mrs. Frank Kozak, Mrs. Fred Gray, Mrs. Martin Mayer, Mrs. Jon Tegethoff, Mrs. Andrew Zocher, Mrs. Ted Tesmer, Mrs. William Sharpless, Mrs. Marshall Holmberg, Mrs. Tim Smith, Mrs. Bruce Peterson, Mrs. Barry Goldberg, Mrs. Ron Sanders and Mrs. James Rosenberg.

PLAYING GROWN-UP Anne Uivog, Kari Zampa, Karen Schramm and Karen Elvir are staging a pretend charity card party just like the real thing planned by Arlington Heights Newcomers for 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 27, in St. John's United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights. Donation of $2 includes dessert and coffee, with proceeds going to the Lambs of Libertyville. Baby-sitting service will be available at $1 per child. Tickets, 394-8730.

Marriage, Divorce Seminar Is Tuesday

Edward Rosenberg, lawyer, whose practice is limited to matrimonial law, and Dr. Marvin Ziproyn, psychiatrist, will lead a seminar in marriage and divorce Tuesday at 9 p.m. The discussion will be preceded by the regular meeting of the Woodfield Jewish Congregation Sisterhood at 8 p.m. and a question and answer period will follow.

Mr. Rosenberg is vice president of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers and the author of several papers on drug addiction and the new mental cruelty grounds in Illinois.

Dr. Ziproyn has been psychiatrist at Cook County jail and is presently chief psychiatrist at the Illinois Boys' Training School in St. Charles, Illinois.

WJC is located in the Weatherway Shopping Plaza on Roselle Road and Weatherfield Way in Schaumburg, 664 S. Roselle Road.

Guests are welcome, and for further information may call Mrs. Kenneth Feldman at 882-6124.

Hoffman Club Rents 'Market' Space Club Treasurer

Hoffman Estates Woman's Club is seeking groups or individuals to rent space at its annual flea market, set this year for all day Sunday, Oct. 8. The location is the old village hall, 181 Illinois Blvd., which has recently been turned over to the club for management.

Proceeds from the flea market will help rebuild and remodel the hall.

Anyone wishing to rent space (at a modest fee) may call Mrs. Jack Reynolds, 894-4087.

A PANCAKE breakfast is a feature of the day. "All you can eat" pancakes will be served from 9 to 11 a.m. at the hall. The flea market itself runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Ways and means chairman Mrs. Reynolds says "we choose a Sunday for the sale this year so that families attending nearby churches can go out for a hot breakfast."

THE FLEA market will feature the new and old, used and antique pieces, as well as a Kiddie Corner of children's games, popcorn and other treats.

On the planning committee are Mrs. Don Boyer, Mrs. Larry Burget, Mrs. Russell Bryant, Mrs. Tom Callopy, Mrs. Gerald Dolezal, Mrs. Darrell Senker, Mrs. Tom Gaston, Mrs. Bruce Mueller, Mrs. Eric Schuster, Mrs. Jerry Vande Zelde, Mrs. Thomas Norville, Mrs. James Kill and Mrs. William Anderson.

Workshop Oct. 7

The American Society of Women Accountants is sponsoring a workshop designed to aid treasurers of service clubs, volunteer and non-profit organizations and other interested parties.

The workshop will be conducted at the Loop Activity Center, YWCA, 37 S. Wabash, Chicago, and will be held Saturday, Oct. 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Topics for discussion include budgets, record keeping, financial statements and tax returns. A question and answer period will follow.

A registration fee of $2.50 will be charged and treasurers of area clubs may make a reservation by contacting Elizabeth M. Gorny, chairman, 725-8493.

Elk Grove Jayceettes Again Offer Baby-Sitting Clinic

Once again a baby-sitting clinic will be conducted by Elk Grove Village Jayceettes. For babysitters of Elk Grove Village, the clinic will be held from Oct. 4 to Nov. 8, to be held from 7:15 to 8:30 p.m. for six consecutive Wednesdays in the Fire Department basement, Biesterfeld Road.

"The programs will include speakers from fields of interest who will aid sitters in meeting the challenges of the job," said Mrs. Paul Reiberg, chairman. Harry Jenkins, Elk Grove Village police chief, and a panel of teachers who will discuss activities babysitters can use to keep youngsters busy have been scheduled. There will also be a film by Illinois Bell.

Due to limited space, the clinic will restrict registration to 125 students. Pre-registration forms are available at area schools; interested babysitters can send $2 with their name, school, home address, telephone number and age to Mrs. Reiberg, 184 Shadywood Lane, Elk Grove Village.

Mrs. Joe Dettelle may be phoned for additional information at 437-1925.

GOP Women Host Candidates' Tea

Wheeling Township Republican Women's Club will host a tea for Republican candidates and their wives Thursday, Sept. 28, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Church of the Incarnation, 330 W. Golf Road, Arlington Heights.

Chairman of the annual event is Mrs. Richard Dye; assisting her is Mrs. George Dutro and Mrs. Earl Schmidt. All are residents of Arlington Heights.

At the tea, the club will present copies of the current book "August - 1914" by Alexander Solzhenitsyn to representatives of the Wheeling, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Arlington Heights libraries. "August 1914," an historical novel, is the latest work of Solzhenitsyn who has been prevented by Soviet officialdom from receiving the Nobel prize for literature awarded him in 1970.

The tea is being held to afford area women the opportunity to meet and speak with candidates on an informal basis.

All interested area women are invited.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Mrs. Robert Gillis of Creekside was hostess for Wednesday's meeting of Lambda Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The program committee began a year of cultural growth with a presentation of "The Etiquette of Introductions and Invitations."

The group will be holding a garage sale today, Friday and Saturday at 1020 Plum Grove Circle, Buffalo Grove, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Several members will be attending the fall Chicago Metropolitan Area Council meeting Sunday at Floyd's Restaurant, Carpentersville.

ARLINGTON GARDEN CLUB

The first fall meeting of the Arlington Heights Garden Club will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Sally Nakashima will present a program of Japanese flower arrangements. Mrs. Nakashima is a teacher in the Ikenobo School of Ikebana (flower arranging). Although there are thousands of schools today, Ikenobo is the oldest with a history of over 600 years, according to Mrs. Nakashima.

The public is invited. A $1 guest fee will be charged.

BOOK REVIEW CLUB

Reservations are due Monday for the season's first meeting of Prospect Heights Book Review Club. The group will be meeting next Wednesday for a continental breakfast at 9:30 a.m. in Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect.

After breakfast Mrs. B. S. Pearsall will review "Coco Chanel, Her Life, Her Secrets" by Marcel Haedrick. "The book reveals the extraordinary revelation of the woman who revolutionized how women look, what she knew that you should know now about life, love, taste and fashion," reports Mrs. Pearsall.

Mrs. Thorvald Petersen is chairman of the club; Mrs. Donald Laue, vice chairman; Mrs. Philip Glaser, treasurer; and Mrs. Thomas Smith, secretary. Mrs. Laue, 392-6758, should be called for cancellations or guest reservations.

DUNTON DAMES

Dunton Dames Chapter of Quarters will begin another season Tuesday with a program entitled "Antiques Abroad." The speaker is Mrs. Joan Hauptle, a former French and Spanish teacher, now a tour guide. Mrs. Hauptle will give insights into collectibles of other countries.

The meeting begins at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Philip Gorman, 311 E. Rockwell, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Sam Miller will be co-hostess.

New chapter president, Mrs. Robert Swin, who moved back into the Arlington Heights area after having lived for several years in England, will offer sidelines to the program subject.

NOW North

At its first meeting of the 1972-73 season, North Suburban Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW North) elected Carol Wrabl, 884 Sussex Court, Buffalo Grove, secretary.

She will take part at a meeting next week of other officers and directors in the appointment of coordinators for the various NOW North activities for the coming year.

"We have had significant membership growth in the last few months alone," the new secretary said. "I think the Woman's Movement is having its effect everywhere. People are beginning to recognize that women's rights are human rights," she concluded.

Pediatric Visiting Extended

With the permission of their doctor, parents of pediatric patients at Holy Family hospital can come and go to visit or stay with their child as they wish. If the young patient has surgery, the parent can come to the hospital as early as 7 a.m.

"Hospitals are a whole new world to many of our young patients and they need reassurance," said Sr. M. Amata, executive vice president of the hospital. "By allowing parents to visit as much as they wish, our pediatric patients are made more comfortable in unfamiliar surroundings," she explained.

If it is inconvenient for the mother or father to visit, any adult relative or close friend may also come to the hospital.

To allay fears of surgery, parents may also accompany their child on a pediatric orientation tour on the Saturday before the child's admission.

Holy Family hospital personnel meet the young patient-to-be in a non-stressful situation. They answer questions and acquaint the child with the areas of the hospital he will be visiting. For more information on the tour interested persons are asked to contact the public relations department of the hospital, 297-1800.

How To Communicate Class Begins

Class begins Monday evening in the course on more effective communication with children offered by Northwest Mental Health Center.

The eight-week session is open to parents and other adults who deal with children and is taught by Dr. Bruce Denner, a staff member at the mental health center in Arlington Heights and formerly an associate professor of psychology at Indiana University. It will run through Nov. 13.

Classes will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. at the center, 1711 W. Campbell St. (Westgate Shopping Center). There are no prerequisites but there is a $15 per person fee.

The course teaches adults how to talk with children, how to communicate their feelings to children and how to respond to children in everyday situations. Those interested may register in person or by telephone, 392-1420.

If there is sufficient interest, a second class will be offered from 8 to 9 p.m.

Birth Notes

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

In fall your most despised time of year too?

All of those "yucky" dried-up leaves are falling — that's nature's litter program.

Years back fall had some redeeming value. We kids used to be able to frolic in the leaf piles, raking huge mountains out to the curb, setting them afire, toasting marshmallows and telling ghost stories in the flames. But alas — too many people, too much smoke. The pollution necessitates no-burning ordinances.

There isn't too much excitement in dumping leaves in plastic bags or grinding them and feeding them to the compost pile.

NOW, SOME MAY say that fall leaves are beautiful, that the bronze, red, and golden yellow foliage is a treat to the eyes and an artistic compliment. Yes, a dozen or two colorful leaves are pretty, but not 24 garbage cans full!

Meanwhile, as the season wears on, the petunias get leggy, the zinnias get mildew and all of the other annuals that captured ooohs and aahs in their prime are now just ugly has-beens.

Have you ever given thought to the idea that fall is also the harsh reality of crop failure as well as harvest?

Think of all the people whose tomatoes got chewed by hornworms, gophers, run over by lawnmowers or scuttled by the dog next door.

After all, everybody doesn't have 80-pound pumpkins, the kind that rates a newspaper photo or a garden show ribbon. Some people's vines dry up, the blossoms don't get pollinated, they are cultivated by neglect or heaven knows what.

TO THESE, FALL means getting shown up as a crop failure. The most depressing thing about it is that the poor fool has to wait a whole year to take another stab at growing.

Maybe you're thinking: "She's just sour grapes, that garden writer. Probably doesn't even have a lettuce patch."

Not so. It's just that to me fall is the beginning of the end, or to paraphrase Don Marquis — one thing about fall is that two hours later there's frost and 10 minutes after that it's winter!

LUTHERAN GENERAL

Electrolux Seeks Great Granny's Cleaning Tools

Compared to what cleaning tools women had around the turn of the century, today's homemaker has a lark. So says the Electrolux Vacuum Company which is setting up museums all over the country to display what mother's great-grandmother used to clean carpets, draperies and dust.

For every relic it accepts for the museums, Electrolux is offering a brand new vacuum. You may not have a carpet sweeper with hand or foot operated bellows, but if you do have an "oldie" of any brand, you can write to the Electrolux Company, 1310 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, 60004. Describe your old cleaner, your rug beater, your feather duster or whatever other devices your ancestor's used in cleaning. All letters will be answered.

You may also call the company at 253-7130 for more information on old cleaning tools.

To date more than 1000 homemakers have stepped forward with a variety of cleaning devices that challenge the imagination of today's inventor's of cleaning tools.

Get Your Garden Ready For Winter

"Winterizing the Garden," is the topic of a field day/demonstration to be presented by the Chicago Horticultural Society at the Botanic Garden, Edens Expressway between Dundee and Lake Cook Roads, Saturday, Sept. 30. Programs will be presented at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., and 1 p.m.

This field day will be directed by Glenn Park, chief horticulturist at the Botanic Garden. He will demonstrate moving plants and handling tender plants. As the summer growing season ends, it is time to prepare the garden for the winter, and to transplant tender specimens which need special care to survive the winter.

There is no charge for these programs, however reservations are suggested. They may be made by phoning Mrs. Fran Whittin, Chicago Horticultural Society at 332-2868.

EIGHT ONCE-A-WEEK
90-MINUTE SESSIONS

$30

Daytime and Evening Classes Available

This is an opportunity to learn the basic principles of interior decorating — simple guide rules you can apply to make your house or apartment more attractive. During the course you'll apply what you are learning by actually creating a decorating plan for one or more rooms of your own home. Lesson materials are included in the registration fee. You'll receive a room-planning kit, library samples of floor coverings and fabrics, newly-published textbook with color illustrations. Topics covered:

- How to use color in your home
- How to identify furniture styles
- How to use space
- How to decorate - starting with the floor
- How to decorate - starting with the windows
- How to decorate the bed and bath
- How to use lighting and accessories

WHEN THE WEDDING IS OVER . . .

Let your friends read about it in the HERALD

But remember our deadlines . . .

For detailed wedding story (including gown descriptions and a listing of attendants) wedding information is due in Herald office within three weeks following wedding date. Information received in Herald office after three weeks and up to five weeks following wedding date will be used for a brief story only, or caption.

For publication the Herald requests a 5x7 black and white glossy close-up photo (bouquet and up) of bridal pair or bride alone. Depending on color tones, contrast and clarity, color photos may possibly be used at the discretion of the editors. Small snapshots are not acceptable.

Ask Your Photographer To Make the Selection

We suggest the bride or some member of the family select a photo for the newspaper immediately upon receiving photographer's proofs. Better yet, ask the photographer to make the selection to avoid delay.

If your photographer cannot comply with deadlines, write-up will be published without a photo providing information is in the Herald office before the deadline.

Wedding forms are available in the Herald offices. There is no charge for publishing wedding stories or photos.

AND ABOUT ENGAGEMENTS:

Just write up the information (include your phone number) or fill out one of the forms available at the Herald offices and bring or mail, along with a wallet-size photo. Larger photos are also acceptable. Glossy photos are preferable although a dull finish is often usable. Color photos are used at the discretion of the editors.

Photos accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes will be returned.

There is no charge for engagement pictures and announcements. They will be printed within a week after reaching our office.

School Brown Bag

BANANA MOLD

- 2 packages (3 ounce) black cherry or raspberry flavored gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 can (13 1/4 ounce) pineapple tidbits
- Cold water
- 2 bananas, peeled and sliced (1 1/2 cups)
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows

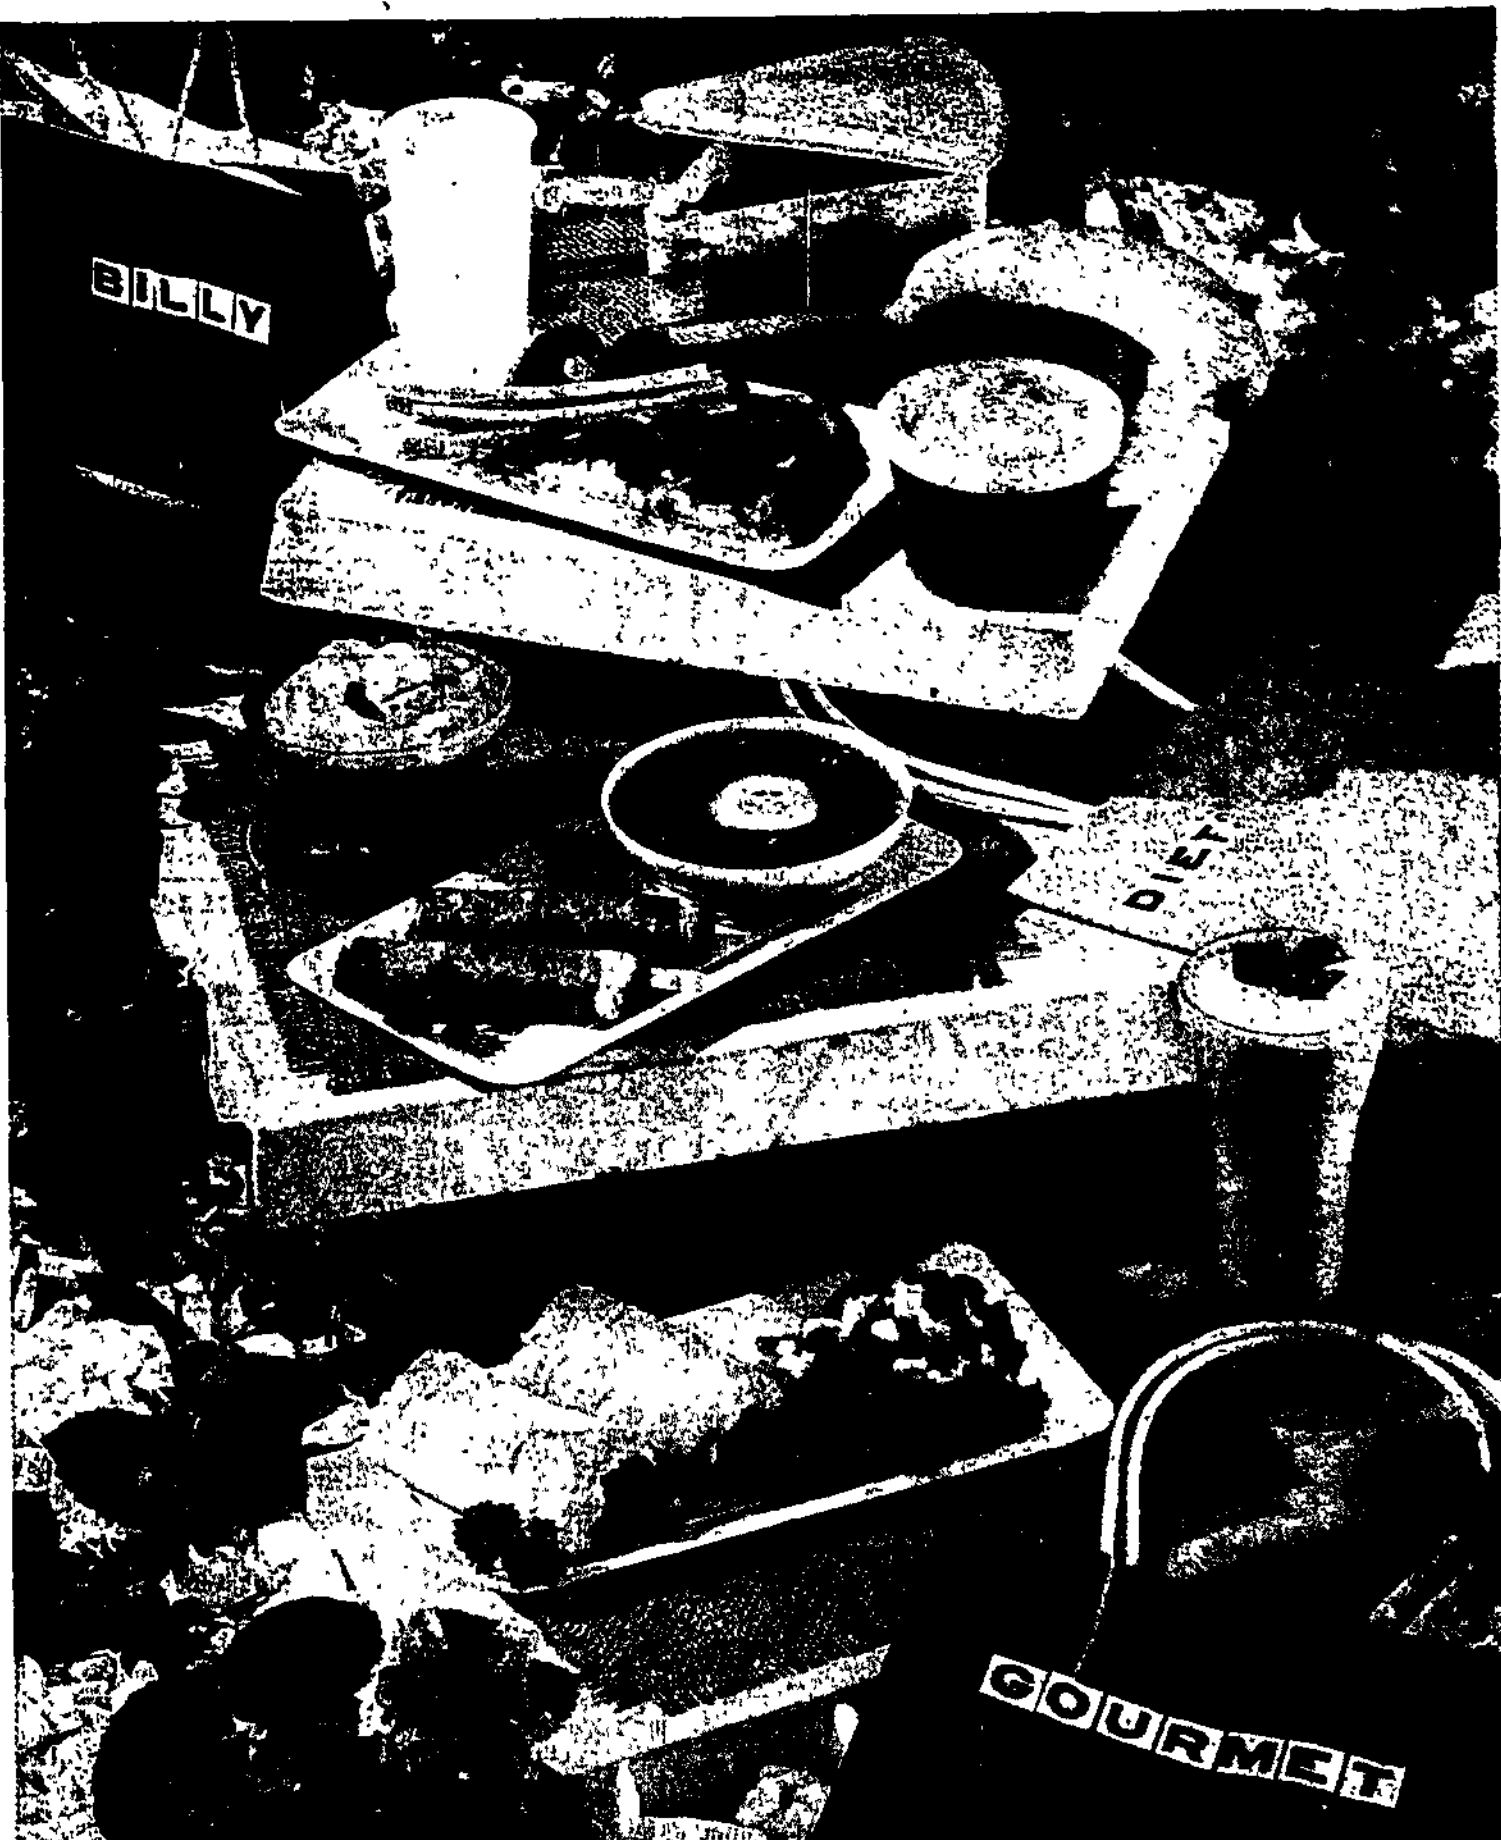

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain pineapple; save tidbits. Pour syrup from pineapple into measuring cup; add cold water as needed to make 1 cup liquid and pour into gelatin mixture. Chill until syrupy. Fold in pineapple tidbits, banana slices and marshmallows. Pour 1/2 to 2/3 cup of mixture into plastic cereal bowls; seal. Pour any remaining gelatin into individual plastic gelatin molds; seal. Chill until firm. Yield: About 5 1/4 cups, 8 to 10 servings.

PIZZA

Heat a small frozen pizza (9 to 11-inch diameter) according to package directions. Cool. Cut into wedges. Three or four wedges (depending on thickness of pizza) will fit into a plastic wedge-shaped container.

RELISHES

Carry celery chunks, carrot sticks, olives and radishes in plastic cereal bowl.

Diet Brown Bag

GAZPACHO

- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium cucumber, peeled and cut into 1/4-inch chunks (1 1/2 cups)
- 1/2 cup 1-inch green pepper squares
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 2 medium tomatoes, peeled and cut into thin wedges (2 cups)
- Cucumber slices or chopped onion for garnish, optional

Combine first 6 ingredients in blender container; cover. Whiz at medium speed 30 seconds. Stop motor; add cucumber, green pepper and onion. Cover; whiz at medium speed 5 seconds. Stop motor; add tomatoes. Cover; whiz 5 seconds at medium speed or until tomatoes are chopped moderately fine, not pureed. Pour 3/4 cup of mixture into plastic cereal bowls; seal and chill or pour into 36-ounce plastic containers; seal. Chill overnight. At serving time pour into individual bowls. Garnish each serving with a thin cucumber slice or a bit of chopped onion before serving, if desired. Yield: 4 cups, 4 to 5 servings.

BEEF ROLL-UPS

Spread 2 slices of cold lean roast beef with about 1/4 teaspoon each prepared mustard and horseradish on each slice. Roll up and secure with picks.

BANANA FLUFF

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup hot water
- 3 ice cubes (2x1 1/4 x 1 1/4 inches)
- 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Artificial sweetener, liquid or powder equivalent to 8 teaspoons sugar (see package label)
- 1 medium banana, peeled and sliced
- 1/2 cup well-drained crushed unsweetened or diet pineapple
- Sliced banana for garnish, optional
- Maraschino cherry wedges for garnish, optional

Combine gelatin and cold water in blender container; whiz and let stand 2 to 3 minutes. Add hot water. Cover; whiz at low speed 10 seconds or until gelatin is dissolved. Stop motor; add ice cubes, milk, lemon juice, vanilla, salt and sweetener. Cover; whiz at medium speed until ice is crushed, 40 to 50 seconds. Stop motor; add banana and pineapple. Cover; whiz 5 to 8 seconds. Pour into dessert dishes at once. Cover; refrigerate until firm. Refrigerate until packed in lunch bag. Keep cool at office until serving time. Garnish with banana slices and cherry wedges, if desired. Yield: 4 cups, 8 desserts.

Gourmet Brown Bag

BANANA SAUSAGE ROLL-UPS

- 2 1/4 cups prepared biscuit mix
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1/4 cup mashed bananas (2 medium)
- 8 smoked sausage links

Combine biscuit mix and sugar; mix. Add melted butter or margarine, milk and bananas; stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn onto well floured board. Knead 8 to 10 times. Divide into 8 equal portions. Pat or roll each portion into rectangle about 3 x 4 inches. Place a sausage link at wide edge of rectangle and roll up. Place on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 12 to 14 minutes or until done and golden brown. Cool. For each serving pack 2 rolls in a special 16 ounce square plastic container. Refrigerate overnight. Yield: 8 roll-ups, 4 servings.

ASPARAGUS VINAIGRETTE

- 2 packages (10 ounce) frozen asparagus spears or 2 pounds fresh asparagus, trimmed
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
- 2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
- 1 hard cooked egg, chopped

Cook asparagus and cool without draining. Combine oil, vinegar, salt and sugar. Stir until salt and sugar are dissolved; add pickle relish and olives and mix. Drain asparagus. Arrange 1/4 of asparagus spears in a square plastic container. Pour 1/4 of vinegar mixture over asparagus; seal. Repeat process as needed. Refrigerate several hours. Just before packing into lunch bag sprinkle an equal amount of chopped egg over asparagus; seal. Yield: 4 servings.

COFFEE SOUFFLE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 egg yolks, beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon instant coffee, powdered or freeze-dried
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- Chocolate curls or shaved chocolate for garnish, optional
- Maraschino cherries for garnish, optional

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt in saucepan. Add milk and egg yolks gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture will coat the spoon. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla and instant coffee. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff, not dry. Whip cream until stiff. Fold egg whites, then the whipped cream into custard mixture. Pour into plastic parfait units. Chill until firm. Garnish with chocolate curls or shaved chocolate and maraschino cherry pieces, if desired. Yield: 3 cups, 4 servings.

Nuclear Radiation May Be Ultimate Food Preservative

by JIMMY F. KEMP

Food processors who lace their products with chemicals to make them tastier, prettier and longer lasting are gearing up for what may be the ultimate food preservative — nuclear radiation.

Karen Kreipke, an extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University, says subjecting food to limited amounts of radiation kills bacteria and parasites and inhibits, but does not stop, spoiling.

"Research indicates that irradiated fish, stored in a refrigerator for two weeks, is just as acceptable as fish just caught," she says.

"Because the conditions of the irradiation are carefully controlled," she adds, "the food doesn't become radioactive. Controlled conditions also insure minimum loss of vitamins and other nutrients."

Some items — notably fruits and vegetables like bananas, tomatoes, papayas, strawberries, potatoes and onions — have already been treated by radiation and are being marketed on an experimental basis under the auspices of the Atomic Energy Commission.

But because preserving foods through radiation is so new, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) must approve each new item before it can be marketed.

"IT'S PREDICTED, however, that by the end of the 70s, a large number of foods preserved by radiation treatment will be approved for marketing in the United States," Miss Kreipke says.

THE AEC has cooperated with universities and the Department of the Interior to set up several plants that treat food with radiation. The plants, which are to determine if the radiation method is commercially feasible on a large scale, are located in Michigan, Florida, California and Massachusetts.

Present use, though limited, is cheaper than the traditional methods of canning or freezing. For example, Miss Kreipke says a small dose of radiation will inhibit the sprouting of Irish potatoes and onions for less than one cent per 100 pounds.

The cost factor of storing and preserving foods the conventional ways was what first interested the AEC in the early 1960s as one answer to the expense of feeding the military.

"COMMISSION researchers reasoned that if meat, for instance, could be treated to last longer, it would greatly cut costs," she says. "And now, the same idea is being applied to the open market."

"Of course, no method of preserving food keeps it forever," she adds. "Even canned green beans eventually lose their color if kept for a long time, like several years."

"This applies to radiation too. It doesn't completely preserve food, it just retards spoilage."

Miss Kreipke, however, sees the day when larger doses of radiation that can kill disease-causing food spoilage organisms in prepackaged products will be practical.

"With these larger doses of radiation, foods will become shelf-stable and may be stored several years without refrigeration," she predicts.

Double Chocolate Torte

Sometimes the cooking equipment takes more storage room in the kitchen than the food. But, when you need a special piece of equipment to make a particular dish, it's nice to have the right utensil. If you don't make the particular dish frequently the piece of equipment just sits taking up space.

Cheesecakes are best made in a springform pan. But, how many cheesecakes do you make in a year and there the pan just sits. Double chocolate torte is a delicious way to make use of that springform pan.

Double chocolate torte is also a nice dessert for company as it can be made the day before serving and tucked into the freezer out of the way of the other food preparation. Be sure to remove it 15 to 20 minutes before serving so it will soften slightly for easier serving. Any that's left can be stored, wrapped, in the freezer.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE TORTE

1 1/2 cups fine chocolate wafer crumbs
1/4 cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 cup light cream
3 cups miniature marshmallows
5 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups heavy cream
Combine crumbs, butter and 1 tablespoon sugar. Mix well. Reserve 3 tablespoons for topping. Press remaining crumb mixture over bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Chill.

In saucepan, combine egg yolks, light cream, marshmallows and chocolate. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until marshmallows and chocolate are melted. Chill until mixture begins to thicken.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff and glossy peaks form. Fold into chocolate mixture.

Whip heavy cream; fold into chocolate mixture. Pour into chilled crust. Sprinkle reserved crumbs around edge. Freeze. Let soften about 15 minutes for easier cutting and serving. Yield: 12 servings.

Dining Out Is In

Did your family eat dinner at home last night? Or did you go out for a pizza or hamburger? Americans are on the move, and in some cases, the move is out of the family dining room into a commercial eating establishment. Dr. Ted Hartung, chairman of the Department of Food Sciences and Technology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said Americans are eating out more. A nationwide average shows that one of every four meals is eaten away from home. In the 1960s the average was one out of every five.

Be creative.

Two new ways to make your own granola.

Long before cold cereals were common, Grandma made her own—with Quaker Oats and other natural ingredients. She called it granola. Now you can make it, too. It's easy and fun and delightfully crunchy with milk or cream—or as a snack by the handful. Try these two delicious recipes.

QUAKER'S HONEY-ALMOND GRANOLA

Makes about 7 cups cereal

4 cups Quaker Oats (Quick or Old Fashioned, uncooked)	1/4 cup sesame seed
1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar	1 cup slivered almonds
1/2 cup wheat germ	1/3 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup flaked or shredded coconut	1/4 cup honey
	1 teaspoon vanilla

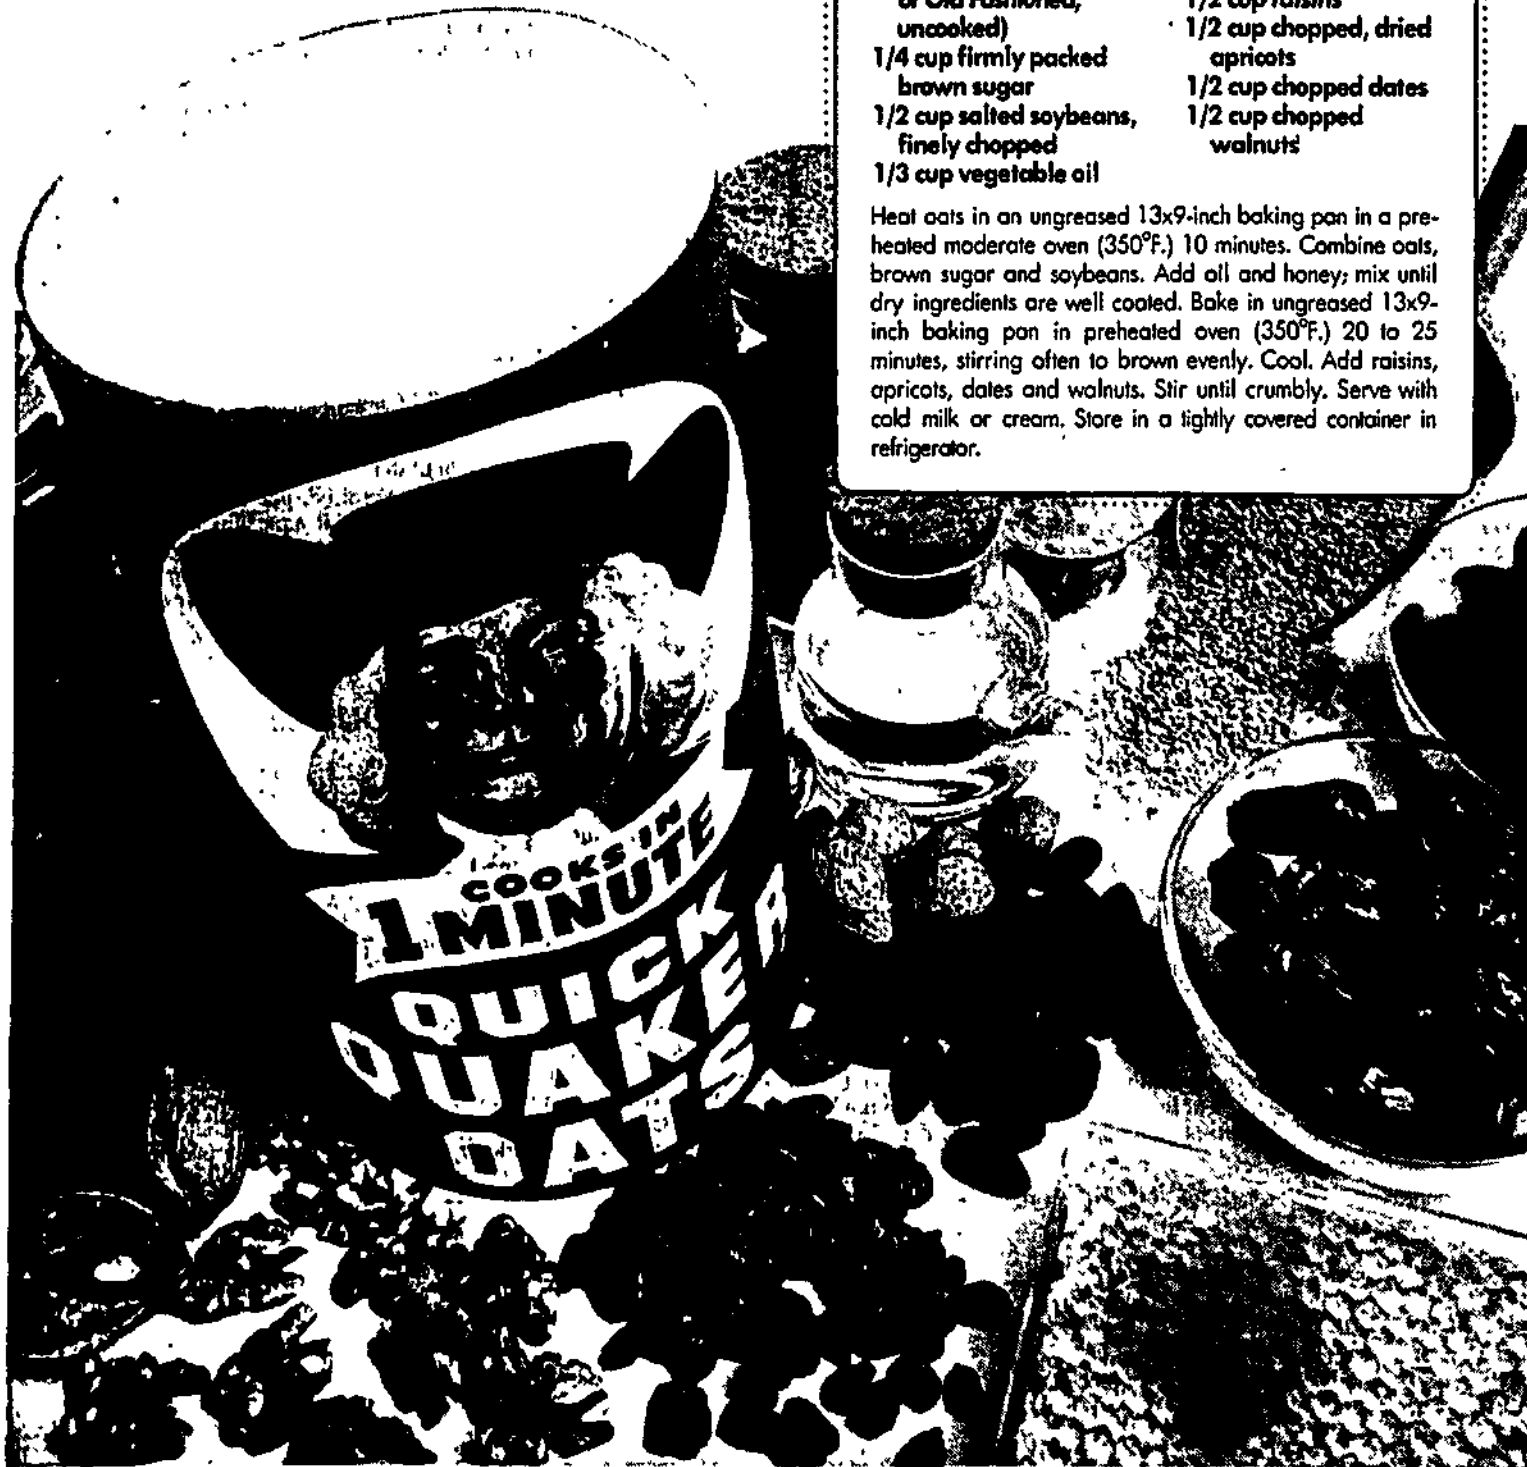

Heat oats in an ungreased 13x9-inch baking pan in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 10 minutes. Combine oats, brown sugar, wheat germ, coconut, sesame seed and almonds. Add oil, honey and vanilla; mix until dry ingredients are well coated. Bake in an ungreased 13x9-inch baking pan in preheated oven (350°F.) 20 to 25 minutes, stirring often to brown evenly. Cool. Stir until crumbly. Serve with cold milk or cream. Store in a tightly covered container in refrigerator.

QUAKER'S FRUIT MIX GRANOLA

Makes about 8 cups cereal

5 cups Quaker Oats (Quick or Old Fashioned, uncooked)	1/3 cup honey
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar	1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup salted soybeans, finely chopped	1/2 cup chopped, dried apricots
1/3 cup vegetable oil	1/2 cup chopped dates
	1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Heat oats in an ungreased 13x9-inch baking pan in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 10 minutes. Combine oats, brown sugar and soybeans. Add oil and honey; mix until dry ingredients are well coated. Bake in ungreased 13x9-inch baking pan in preheated oven (350°F.) 20 to 25 minutes, stirring often to brown evenly. Cool. Add raisins, apricots, dates and walnuts. Stir until crumbly. Serve with cold milk or cream. Store in a tightly covered container in refrigerator.

USDA Adopts New Bacon, Cured Meat Regulations

New bacon packaging regulations and a new requirement that all cured meat products be labeled with the ingredient statement will become effective Feb. 19, 1973, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

"Both changes will give consumers more complete information on which to base their selections of bacon and other cured meat products such as ham," assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said.

Windowed bacon packages will have to expose at least 70 per cent of the length of a representative strip of bacon. This window will have to be at least 1 1/2 inches wide. The new requirement is basically the same as that proposed in the Federal Register April 21 to which USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service received 436 comments from individual consumers, consumer representatives, industry, trade associations, State and municipal governments, and educational institutions. Of these, 391 comments favored the proposal.

Repeated consumer complaints about being unable to judge the quality of bacon in windowed packages prompted the proposal, officials said. USDA worked with Mrs. Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, in drafting the proposal and final amendment.

The other amendment requires that all cured meat products be labeled to tell the consumer the ingredients used in their curing. Ingredients will have to be listed on all cured meats, and on the labels of products containing cured meat — for example, frozen dinners containing ham.

This amendment is the same as that proposed in the Federal Register Feb. 5. Of 306 comments received from consumers and consumer organizations, members of the meat industry, trade organization, educational institutions and State and municipal governments, 292 favored the change.

Cured meat products have not had to carry ingredient statements in the past because USDA felt that consumers generally knew that these products were made with meat and a simple curing solution. As more complex curing solutions have come into use in recent years, consumers may no longer be aware of the ingredients used, APHIS officials said.

All other Federally inspected meat products containing two or more ingredients already must carry ingredient statements. Copies of both amendments, which appeared in the Aug. 22 Federal Register, are available from the Meat and Poultry Inspection Administrative Management Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

For unusual vegetables, try Indian ways with green beans. With turmeric and chili powder as seasonings, these vegetables are something "very different." The spices are fried in butter before adding the vegetables — one of the Indian methods of preparation. Experiment first with a lesser amount of spice to see how well you like it before using the full amount in this authentic recipe, INDIAN BEANS AND MUSHROOMS.

Fry 2 medium chopped onions in 1/4 cup melted butter until golden. Stir in 1/2 to 1 teaspoon chili powder and 1/2 to 1 teaspoon turmeric. Add one 16 or 17 ounce can well-drained green beans and two 4 ounce cans mushrooms; mix well. Cover and simmer until heated through. Serves 6.

Sandwiches For Morning Meals

Skipping breakfast is a favorite pastime of the unrealistic dieter and those who claim they are always too rushed to eat in the morning. Breakfast is important as a refueler in starting the day. Children and teen-agers girls, especially, need a morning meal high in protein and iron. Recently it was discovered that many who can't be bothered with eating a traditional breakfast will enjoy a sandwich at this time. Try a Crunchy Breakfast Sandwich to whet morning appetites. Serve with juice or whole fruit and milk.

CRUNCHY BREAKFAST SANDWICHES

4 cups oven-toasted rice cereal
Peanut butter
Grape or other jelly
8 slices day-old bread
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2/3 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

Crush cereal to measure 2 cups. Spread 4 slices of bread with a layer of peanut butter, then with a layer of jelly. Top with remaining bread slices and press firmly together. Cut sandwiches diagonally into halves. Combine eggs, milk and salt in shallow dish or pan. Dip sandwiches in egg mixture, turning once and allowing time for both sides to absorb liquid. Coat evenly with crushed cereal. Place flat side down in single layer on a well-greased baking sheet. Drizzle with melted butter. Bake in a 450-degree oven about 10 minutes or until crisp and lightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings; 2 halves each. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Ground Beef Cues

If your family is eating more ground beef but enjoying it less, new recipe ideas are in order. Cheese meat loaf combines foods from the meat group, the vegetable group, the dairy group and the cereal group into one tempting main dish.

Combine 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/2 cup milk, 3/4 cup rolled oats, 1 pound ground beef, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 cup chopped cheese. Shape into a loaf six inches long in a baking dish. Bake about 1 hour until browned. Remove excess fat. Let stand about 10 minutes for easier slicing. For a variation, shape the meat loaf mixture into 6 individual loaves or put into muffin tins. Baking time will be shorter.

For a truly different ground beef dish, try Delicious Beef Brownies. Your family may not believe that there is ground beef in their dessert, so why not let them guess at the ingredients.

Beat 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla together with a beater or mixer until fluffy. Melt 1/2 cup shortening and 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cool and add to the egg-sugar mixture. Add 1/2 cup finely ground cooked beef and mix well. Stir in 3/4 cup all-purpose flour and 1/2 teaspoon baking powder which have been sifted together. Add 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Spread in 8x8 inch pan lined with wax paper. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes or until done. Cool. Remove from pan and cut into squares. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Exotic Flavors Combine In Pakistani Kabobwiches

Pakistani Kabobwiches

Tonight you can travel to two exotic lands and bring together the flavorful best of both worlds in one delicious dinner.

From the mysterious heart of Africa comes the unusual taste combination of chicken and peanuts. The Near East contributes spices and an exceptionally flavorful marinade base — yogurt. Together, they turn the tables on taste.

Plan ahead when you prepare Pakistani Kabobwiches. After you bone and cut the chicken, thread the chicken squares, celery chunks and pimiento on skewers. Place the skewers in a dish and pour the yogurt marinade spiced with seasoning over the kabobs. Besides adding its own tangy taste, yogurt blends the varied flavors of the spices. Refrigerate the kabobs several hours or overnight, allowing the yogurt marinade to coat them with the tantalizing flavor of the East.

TO COOK THE kabobs, place them under the broiler and brush both sides with the reserved yogurt marinade for added flavor. While the kabobs are broiling, prepare a protein-rich relish for the sandwiches combining the sweet flavor of Swiss cheese, parsley, and crunchy peanuts. Spread the mixture on the rolls, then broil until the Swiss melts.

Finally, the exotic flavors of the spices, herbs and seasonings come together in the delightful Pakistani Kabobwiche sandwich and you've explored a new world of exotic tastes.

PAKISTANI KABOBWICHES

Kabobs:

- 3 whole chicken breasts (about 1 1/2 lbs.)
- 18 1/2-inch slices celery (about 3/4 cup)
- 12 pieces pimiento, well drained (about 1-inch square)
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 1/4 cups yogurt

Rolls:

- 1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped salted peanuts
- 6 Brown 'n Serve club rolls, browned and split

To prepare Kabobs: Remove skin and bone from chicken; cut into twenty-four 1-inch square pieces. (For ease in deboning, freeze chicken until icy, about 30 minutes). Thread alternately on each of six skewers 4 pieces chicken, 3 pieces celery and 2 pieces pimiento. Place kabobs in shallow dish. Combine curry powder, salt, ginger, garlic powder and nutmeg, fold in yogurt. Reserve 1/4 cup marinade for brushing. Pour remaining marinade over kabobs. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. When ready to serve broil kabobs 6 inches from heat for 12 minutes. Turn after 6 minutes and brush with marinade. Use reserved marinade to brush top side 2 minutes before removing from broiler. To prepare Rolls: Combine cheese, parsley and peanuts. Place rolls cut side up on a baking sheet. Top each with a scant 3 tablespoons cheese mixture. Broil 1-2 minutes or until cheese is melted. To serve: Slide kabob between each roll. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Variation: Lamb: Substitute 1/2 pound sirloin of lamb cut in 1-inch cubes for the chicken. Increase curry powder to 1 teaspoon.

USDA Proposes Cheese Standards

U.S. grade standards for two cheeses, Colby and Monterey, have been proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The proposal comes in response to industry requests over the past several years for official grading services for these two types of cheeses. USDA officials expect that the standards would not only help in orderly marketing, but also would be beneficial to the consumer.

Colby is a yellow cheese similar to Cheddar but softer bodied, moister, and more open in texture. Monterey (or Monterey Jack) cheese is similar to Colby but has a semi-soft body, is softer, and uncolored.

The proposed standards for both cheeses cover three quality levels: U.S. Grade AA; U.S. Grade A; and U.S. Grade B. The grades are based on flavor, color, body, texture, finish and appearance.

Use of USDA's quality standards and grading services is voluntary. The grading service is paid for by the user.

The proposed standards for both Monterey and Colby cheese appeared in the Sept. 13 Federal Register. Interested persons are invited to submit written comments, in duplicate, to the Hearing Clerk, Room 112A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. All comments must be received by Nov. 13 and will be available for public inspection.

Enjoy Indian Summer With Pork Chops And Sweet Potatoes

Serve this bountiful and gaily colored pork chop platter and your family will enjoy its flavor and wholesomeness. The golden brown chops, orange sweet potatoes and yellow pineapple cast a luster and glow that creates Indian summer at the table. This robust dish is packed with vitalizing food value.

Pork is noted for its contribution of thiamin, so essential to a healthy nervous system and vitality that it is often called the "pep" vitamin. Pork is also an excellent source of bodybuilding protein, iron, niacin and riboflavin.

GOLDEN PORK CHOP DINNER

- 6 pork chops, cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (13 1/2 ounces) pineapple chunks
- 1 can (22 ounces) sweet potatoes or yams, drained
- 12 pitted prunes

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season chops with half the salt and half the pepper and turn. Drain pineapple chunks, reserving syrup. Arrange pineapple chunks, sweet potatoes and prunes on and around chops. Sprinkle with remaining salt and pepper and add 1/2 cup reserved pineapple syrup. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. 6 servings.

Nutritionally balanced meals can become a part of everyone's life . . . even (and especially) those on a diet. Weight control depends mainly on what — not how much — you eat. Cutting certain foods from your menu plan can be helpful . . . but be sure you're not cutting out much-needed nutrients at the same time. There are lots of foods (unsweetened fruit juices, lean meats, cottage cheese, high-protein cereals) you can enjoy while counting calories and still be reasonably sure of eating foods that will help keep your nutrition level on an even keel!

And exercise is just as important to good nutrition as the foods you eat. Whether it be taking a leisurely stroll or doing slimming gymnastics, everyone should follow some kind of daily exercise routine. This way you can assure yourself of being physically fit and having the energy and good health to enjoy to enjoy yourself once you've reached your desired weight. The folks at Jewel suggest you stay in good shape with exercise and good nutrition. And remember, you can suit the good foos you eat to the life you lead!

Mrs. David A. Johnson

She Bakes Pumpkin Bread For Business

by LOIS SEILER

Getting down to the business of fund raising can be fun when it's accompanied by tasty home-baked delicacies.

For a morning committee meeting, Mrs. David A. Johnson of Schaumburg, finance chairman for the provisional League of Women Voters in her area, is likely to serve an assortment of home-made fruit breads. She has found that one of the most popular is a pumpkin bread which she often makes in a Bundt pan.

Easy to prepare, all the ingredients are combined in one bowl and mixed with an electric beater. The recipe makes two loaves, or a Bundt pan and a half loaf.

"I usually serve butter or cream cheese on the side and let guests help themselves," Carol Johnson explained,

"but the bread is equally good eaten plain."

Moist and flavorful, the pumpkin and spices in this bread make it ideal for the fall and winter months. Carol also makes it at Christmas for gifts.

Getting ready for the League's fund drive in October keeps Carol on the go, yet she doesn't like to neglect her family either. So she looks for recipes that can be prepared ahead and popped into the oven before serving. However, a recipe must be more than just easy to please her — it must look appetizing and taste good, too.

Such is her Pizza Pork Chops — a dish that can be made up in the morning and refrigerated until baking time.

It simply consists of thinly-sliced pork chops assembled with a bread dressing sandwich-fashion, and baked in a tomato pizza sauce with a sprinkling of cheese.

"THIS IS AN inexpensive dish yet quite hearty looking and appealing to men," Carol said. And this includes men of all ages — her husband, Dave, and young sons Jay, 4, and Darrin, 2.

As accompaniments for the savory chops Carol suggests baked potatoes or a rice casserole which can be baked in the oven along with the meat. A green vegetable or a corn soufflé and a salad tossed with an Italian dressing complete the meal.

Carol calls herself a "dump and stir cook" because she likes to make up recipes, adding this and that to suit her taste. And because she and Dave are active in several organizations, they also entertain a great deal.

Both are active at the Lord of Life Lutheran Church — Dave as finance director and Carol as a Sunday School teacher. Dave is past president and now chairman of the board of the Timbercrest Home Owners Association and is active in the Republican Organization of Schaumburg, while Carol serves on the steering committee for FISH and the Schaumburg Mental Health Board and is a member of the Newcomers' Club.

Thus the Johnsons entertain in a variety of ways, and one recipe which Carol has found suitable for brunches, lunches and cocktail parties is Polynesian Shish Kabobs.

She devised this recipe herself, arranging small rounds of pork sausage and pineapple tidbits on bamboo skewers or long toothpicks and marinating them in a thickened sauce made of pineapple juice and soy sauce seasoned with garlic and ginger. Before serving, they are popped under the broiler until done.

Carol serves the Polynesian Shish Kabobs as hors d'oeuvres, or as an accompaniment for a salad lunch. They are delicious with a brunch menu featuring eggs scrambled with finely-chopped green onions and mushrooms, sweet rolls and a fresh fruit compote.

Both Carol and Dave are native Californians, moving from San Diego to Schaumburg four years ago. In addition to her organizational activities, Carol enjoys craft work, refinishing antiques and collecting memorabilia.

PUMPKIN BREAD

- 3 cups granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup salad oil
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups canned pumpkin
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Put all ingredients into a bowl and beat well. Turn into two greased and floured loaf pans or a Bundt pan and a half-loaf size pan. Bake in a pre-heated 350 degree oven for one hour. Test with a toothpick; if it comes out clean, bread is done.

PIZZA PORK CHOPS

- 8 thinly-sliced pork chops
- 1/2 box Kellogg's stuffing mix
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 8-ounce can pizza sauce
- Oregano
- 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
- Parmesan cheese

Season both sides of chops with salt and pepper. Place four of them on the bottom of a shallow baking dish.

Prepare stuffing mix according to package directions. Place a heaping tablespoon of stuffing on each chop. Cover with remaining chops — sandwich fashion.

Pour tomato sauce and pizza sauce over chops. Sprinkle lightly with oregano. Cover with foil and bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Remove from oven and liberally cover with grated cheddar cheese and a sprinkling of parmesan cheese. Return to oven, uncovered, until cheese is melted. Serves 4.

POLYNESIAN SHISH KABOBS

- 1 pound pork sausage links
- 1 medium-size can pineapple tidbits
- 1 jar maraschino cherries
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/4 cup pineapple juice
- 1 heaping tablespoon cornstarch
- Cut sausage links in bite-size rounds.
- Drain pineapple and reserve juice.

Combine pineapple juice, soy sauce, ginger and garlic juice in a saucepan. Dissolve cornstarch in a little of the pineapple juice and add to mixture. Heat and stir until slightly thickened.

On long wooden toothpicks or four-inch bamboo skewers, alternate sausage with pineapple bits, allowing room at one end to hold skewer. Top each with a maraschino cherry.

Place skewers in a shallow pan and pour thickened pineapple sauce over them. Let marinate at least two hours or overnight.

Remove skewers from pan, place on a rack and broil until sausage is done; the ready-cooked sausage takes about ten minutes, the uncooked sausage about 20 minutes. They may be barbecued on the grill, if desired. Serve as hors d'oeuvres or as an accompaniment for brunches or lunches.

HOMEMADE PUMPKIN BREAD makes a hit with Mrs. David Johnson's two sons Darrin and Jay. She usually makes the bread to serve along with coffee at committee meetings at her home. Moist and flavorful, the pumpkin and spices in the bread make it ideal for fall and winter months.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

Today we're back aboard the TS Hansatic on which we cruised the Caribbean to sample more of the excellent dishes prepared by its chefs.

Veal was frequently on the menu. One unusual preparation is Kalbs-G'schnetzel mit Roschi, which is thin slices of veal in a white wine sauce with roesti potatoes.

You'll need 1 pound of tender leg of veal sliced thin. Sauté the pieces in 2 tablespoons of butter until lightly browned. In another pan sauté 1 medium onion chopped and 2 large mushrooms sliced in 2 tablespoons of butter, again until lightly browned.

Add veal to the vegetables and stir in 1 tablespoon of flour with 1 1/2 cups half and half. Stir well. Cook for 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Add 1 cup dry white wine and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Simmer for a few minutes more then serve to 4.

For potatoes roesti, boil potatoes in the skin, peel and slice julienne style (thin sticks). Grease skillet lightly then brown potatoes on one side, turn and brown on the other. Buttered green peas also go well with this dish.

TRADITIONAL AND delectable wiener schnitzel also was served. You'll need veal cutlets for this, about 2 pounds in all. Cut into serving pieces and place between sheets of wax paper. Pound gently with a mallet until about 1/8th inch thick. Now place the veal in fresh lemon juice and allow to stand for about 1 hour.

Pour off and reserve lemon juice and pat cutlets dry with paper towelling. Arrange 2 bowls side by side and nearby spread enough wax paper to accommodate all the cutlets. In one bowl beat 2 eggs with 2 tablespoons German dry white wine. In the other put 1 cup fine dry breadcrumbs mixed with a little (1/4-cup) flour.

Now put each cutlet through the egg mixture, then dredge in crumbs patting with the hand to assure a thin coating overall. Put 1/2-pound of butter or margarine in a skillet and heat until foamy. Reduce heat. Sauté cutlets until just golden brown on each side. Transfer to very hot platter. Sprinkle cutlets lightly with lemon juice.

Atop each cutlet place a thin slice of fresh lemon, sprinkle lightly with capers and serve. An extra touch is to place a pitted black olive wrapped with an anchovy fillet in the center of the lemon slice.

Wiener schnitzel holstein is prepared in the same manner as above except that a lightly fried egg replaces the garnishes for serving.

Give Pork Roast Apple Butter Coat

Anyone who enjoys serving dinner with pride and confidence can rely on a pork loin roast to please. To give new appeal to this old menu favorite, glaze the roast with a mixture of apple butter and orange juice.

One of several different pork loin roasts can be selected. The center loin, with the least bone, is the easiest to carve, while a half loin provides a larger roast. Smaller roasts, appropriate for a family dinner, are the sirloin roast from one end of the loin and the blade pork roast from the other.

PORK LOIN ROAST-APPLE BUTTER GLAZE

- 4 to 6-pound pork loin roast
- 1/2 cup apple butter
- 1/2 cup orange juice

Place roast, fat side up, on rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water; do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until the thermometer registers 170 degrees. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound for roasting a center loin; 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a half loin; 40 to 45 minutes per pound for an end roast (total time — 2 to 3 hours). Combine apple butter and orange juice. Thirty minutes before meat is done, spread apple butter mixture over meat and return to oven.

Quick And Easy Vanilla Desserts

Company coming? If you have as little as three or four hours advance notice you can create a dessert as delicious as Vanilla Biscuit Tortoni or Vanilla No-Bake Cheesecake.

Either one is easily prepared, from ingredients available in every food store. The Tortoni doesn't need anything resembling cooking or heating. The gelatin and custard mixture for the no-bake cheesecake needs only five minutes stirring over low heat; the rest of the mixture takes minutes. The Tortoni needs several hours freezing time and, covered with freezer wrap, can then be kept for days until served. The cheesecake needs only chilling and, at that temperature, should be enjoyed within 24 hours.

VANILLA BISCUIT TORTONI

- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream whipped
- 1/2 cup crushed almond cookies or macaroons, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds
- 1/4 cup diced drained maraschino cherries
- 2 tablespoons sweet sherry (optional)
- 2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract

In a large bowl of electric mixer beat eggs and sugar until light and lemon colored. Fold in whipped cream, 1/4 cup of the cookies, almonds, cherries, sherry and vanilla extract. Pour into individual 4-ounce fluted paper dessert cups. Sprinkle with remaining cookie crumbs. Freeze until firm. (Perfect for company. If kept for any length of time cover with freezer wrap.) Yield: 12 to 14 portions

VANILLA NO-BAKE CHEESECAKE

- 1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1/3 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1 1/4 cups sugar, divided
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 6 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 4 cups creamed cottage cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Thoroughly combine cracker crumbs, walnuts, 1/4 cup of the sugar, butter and 2 teaspoons of the vanilla extract. Press into bottom of a 9-inch spring form pan. In top part of double boiler combine gelatin with 1/2 cup of the sugar, salt, egg yolks and milk. Cook and stir over simmering water for 20 minutes or until mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Stir in remaining 4 teaspoons vanilla extract, lemon juice and peel. In bowl of an electric mixer beat cottage cheese until smooth. Stir into cooled custard mixture. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

Now that apples are in plentiful supply, many families will be making the annual trip to the apple orchards. Wisconsin and the Lake Zurich area are favorite regions of apple fanciers and it's not unusual to see the fruit toiled home in bushel baskets.

Fortunately, one of the wonders of freezing is that apple time never needs to end. The fresh-picked flavor and the juiciness of summer are at home in mid-winter meals.

All firm fleshed apples can be frozen but the basic rule is to freeze only the best. And that means ripe, full-flavored fruits. Handle the apples gently to avoid crushing and use imagination in featuring them in meals.

To freeze apple slices, wash firm-fleshed apples suitable for making pies or sauce. Remove bruises and decayed spots, peel, quarter and core. Cut each quarter into three slices.

To prevent discoloration while fixing the apples, slice them into a salt water solution, 1/2 cup salt to 1 gallon water. When all the fruit is sliced, drain, rinse in cold water and drain again.

To freeze apple slices in sugar syrup, use 3 cups sugar to 1 quart water and 1/2 teaspoon ascorbic acid to syrup just before combining it with fruit. (Do not cook syrup.)

If you freeze apples for pies, omit syrup and add the amount of sugar to the slices that you would use in making pies. They will not darken if treated with sodium bisulfite.

Submerge apple slices no less than five minutes in a solution made by dissolving 1 teaspoon sodium bisulfite (USP grade) in 1 gallon water at a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees. Make the solution in a glass, stainless steel or enameled container. You will have enough solution for 1/2 bushel of apples.

DO NOT USE SODIUM sulfide or sodium sulfate — only bisulfite. Most drug stores carry sodium bisulfite and for less than 5 cents you can buy enough to treat seven bushels of apples.

After the 5-minute tip, remove the apples or they will toughen and have a sulphur taste when cooked.

Drain them and pack with sugar. Sprinkle 1 pound sugar evenly over 5 to 7 pounds apples, or 1 cup sugar over 10 to 12 cups apple slices. Let stand a few minutes until sugar dissolves in fruit juices. Stir carefully to coat slices with the sugar solution. Pack and freeze.

Let frozen fruits thaw in their original, sealed containers at room temperature. Quality and nutritive values are retained by fairly rapid thawing. If packages are watertight, you can submerge them in cool water. Serve fruit cold, preferably while it contains a few glistening crystals. Or cook like fresh fruits.

Canned Mushrooms Go Family Style

Mushroom, Chicken And Macaroni Salad
While mushrooms have been privileged eating for many centuries, it was the tin can (invented almost two centuries ago) which has made it possible to buy them everywhere all year long. This is especially true during the hot months when fresh mushrooms are somewhat less available than in the cooler months.

Mushrooms have always highlighted "Sunday best" dishes, but in the last two decades homemakers have prepared more and more family-type dishes with canned mushrooms. Most frequently mushrooms are being used in meat dishes such as casseroles and creamed dishes, gravies, sauces and poultry dishes. Stir a few mushrooms into hamburgers and meat loaves, to give them both flavor and a bit of texture.

Mushrooms are famous in vegetable dishes such as green beans, peas, zucchini or tomatoes, while mushrooms "solo," creamed or otherwise sauced, are the most delectable of vegetable courses. If canned mushrooms are to be sautéed, blot them dry with paper towels just to keep them from spattering when they are added to the hot fat.

MUSHROOM, CHICKEN AND MACARONI SALAD
1 can (6 to 8 oz.) sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 cups diced cooked chicken
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
Drain mushrooms; set mushrooms aside. In a large bowl combine mayonnaise, pickle relish, parsley and black pepper. Add reserved mushrooms, chicken, macaroni and olives; stir gently. Chill. Serve on bed of lettuce, if desired. For a party double or triple the recipe. Yield: 4 portions.

MUSHROOM-TURKEY SANDWICH
1 can (6 to 8 oz.) sliced mushrooms
12 slices white bread
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened

1/2 pound thinly sliced cooked turkey, ham or chicken
1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
12 slices Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon paprika
Drain mushrooms; set mushrooms aside. Spread one side of each slice of bread with butter. Top each slice with meat. Sprinkle with thyme and black pepper. Cover with a layer of mushrooms and a slice of cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Place on cookie sheets, bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 10 minutes or until cheese melts. Sprinkle with paprika. Place on cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 10 minutes or until cheese is melted and sandwich is hot. Yield: 6 portions.

Household Hints

If you've noticed the blue gas flame of your range has been a little yellow lately, then you've probably also noticed that cooking is taking longer than usual.

The thing to do, says the American Gas Association, is to clean the burner. If that doesn't work, call your serviceman. The flame should burn with an intense blue glow that's all blue.

Meat tenderizer mixed with water and rubbed into the site of an insect bite will make the pain go away within seconds, reports the Health Insurance Institute. You mix 1/4 teaspoon or so of tenderizer with a tablespoon or two of water.

Always lift stemware by the stem instead of the cup to lessen chances of breakage.

First aid for expensive crystal goblets chipped at the edges: a good glazier may be able to grind the chipped area, smoothing it out.

New System Rates Product Impact On Environment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't be surprised if on a future supermarket expedition your ecology-concerned wife sends you over to the meat department to compare Impact Ratings.

Midwest Research Institute, a Missouri-based think tank has come up with a new system, called Total Environmental Impact, that measures the environmental effects of consumer products from birth on the production line to abandonment on the refuse heap. In its first application to a specific product, the system showed that molded pulp meat trays have nearly twice as much harmful effect on the environment as foam plastic trays.

To your wife, picking a lower impact rated product will mean a cleaner environment, while to some businessmen, the Impact system will mean a more perceptive shopper.

Consumer Tips

A sirloin tip roast, sometimes called loin tip, round tip or knuckle, is boneless with little waste. Although not as tender as sirloin steak, the U.S. Prime, Choice and Good grades have a fine flavor and are tender enough to be over-roasted. Lower grades should be pot-roasted. When buying, allow at least one-third pound per person.

For a unique sandwich topping, add a hint of curry powder to leftover baked beans. Heat to blend; then mash. Spread on toasted bread and top with sliced ripe olives, crisp bacon bits and tomato slices.

Arrange foods on your grocery list into groups, keeping in mind the layout of the store where you are shopping. This saves time and steps in the store. Put perishables like dairy products, frozen foods and fresh meat at the end of the list to maintain their quality as much as possible.

Chow Mein Noodles Are Tasty Stand-In

Chow mein noodles are a good stand-in any time of year for rice or toast. These crunchy change-abouts are especially good to replace toast or rice under creamed entrees.

Creamed chicken on toast, for example, retains its mellow flavor but is enhanced by the mellow swap as are creamed beef and creamed turkey.

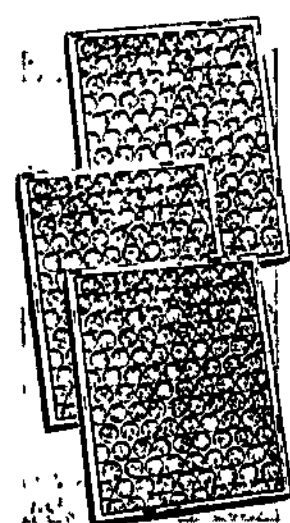

Other substitutions are chow mein noodles instead of rice in tuna, ala king, sweet-sour pork, pepper steak or gumbo; noodles sprinkled over soup instead of crackers; vegetable stew or creamed vegetables over noodles.

Buttermilk Flavors Frosty Chocolate Drops

The buttermilk of yesterday — the liquid remaining in the churn after the butter had been removed — bears little resemblance to the buttermilk of today.

Today's buttermilk is "cultured." It's cultured because a specially prepared culture of bacteria, developed under careful laboratory conditions, is used to produce the desirable acidity, body, flavor and aroma so characteristic of buttermilk.

Because of buttermilk's unique flavor and slight acidity, baked goods made with it have a special lightness and tenderness. You'll find frosty chocolate drops a good example of what we mean.

FROSTY CHOCOLATE DROPS

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 envelopes (1 ounce each) liquid no-melt chocolate
- 1/2 cup buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped pecans
Cream butter and sugar together until fluffy. Blend in egg and chocolate. Stir in buttermilk and vanilla.

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add to buttermilk mixture; blend well. Stir in nuts. Chill dough 1 hour.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly buttered cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes or until no imprint remains when pressed lightly with finger. Cool before frosting.

Yield: About 5 dozen cookies.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

- 1/3 cup butter, softened
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 3 tablespoons light cream
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 envelopes (1 ounce each) liquid no-melt chocolate

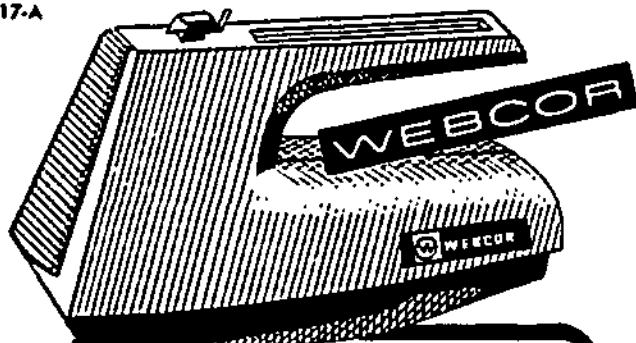

For frosting, blend sugar and butter together. Stir in cream, vanilla and chocolate until smooth. Top each frosted cookie with a pecan half, if desired.

Serve Saucy Meatballs

As long as ground beef is available, menus can always be interesting, varied and economical.

Most homemakers have numerous recipes featuring ground beef but that doesn't mean that a new one isn't welcome. This recipe mixes the ground beef with a few seasonings and turns it into meatballs that are served with a tangy, mustard-flavored sauce.

Brown the meatballs first, remove from the pan and then make the sauce. Return the meatballs to the sauce, cover and finish cooking. Serve the sauce and meatballs over rice or noodles and accompany with broccoli.

BUTTERMILK SAUCED MEATBALLS

1 pound ground beef
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 cup butter
 2 tablespoons flour
 2 teaspoons sugar
 2 cups buttermilk
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Combine ground beef, milk, bread crumbs, onion, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Shape into 16 balls.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in large frypan. Brown meatballs well on all sides. Remove meatballs from pan. Add remaining 2 tablespoons butter to frypan. Blend in flour, sugar and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add buttermilk and mustard; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Return meatballs to sauce. Cover and simmer 30 minutes to cook meatballs. Serve over cooked rice or noodles, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Elegant Dessert Roll

Anyone who has ever crumbled part of a cake just getting it out of the cake pan — and that includes almost every cake baker at one time or another — might well be frightened off at the prospect of a cake roll. But a cake roll actually may be less fragile, once you know the secret: Right from the oven, turn the cake onto a towel and roll it up in the towel. As it cools, the cake takes a roll shape, so when you unroll it and add a filling, you can easily roll it up again. Try it with this glamorous ice cream cake roll that features a chocolate mint flavor in the ice cream and frosting.

MINT JOLLIE
ICE CREAM CAKE ROLL
½ cup sifted flour

1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Confectioners' sugar
2 pints vanilla ice cream, softened
½ cup finely chopped Heath Mint
Jollies (10 Jollies)
Mint Jolie Frosting

Combine flour, baking powder and salt; sift. Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks; add ½ cup sugar gradually and beat until stiff and glossy. Beat egg yolks, ¼ cup sugar and vanilla until thick and lemon-colored; carefully fold into egg whites. Fold in dry ingredients, half at a time. Spread batter evenly into greased and greased-waxed-paper-lined shallow jelly-roll pan (15x10x1-inch). Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until done and lightly browned, 12 to 15 minutes. Turn cake onto a towel dusted with confectioners' sugar, at once. Trim off edges of cake and roll up; cool. Unroll; spread with ice cream and sprinkle with chopped candy. Reroll. Spread Mint Jolie Frosting over outside of cake roll. Freeze until firm. Yield: 8-10 slices. Note: For stronger mint flavor, use additional Mint Jollies.

MINT JOLLIE FROSTING
18 Heath Mint Jollies
6 tablespoons undiluted evaporated milk

Combine Jollies and evaporated milk in small saucepan. Heat over very low heat until candy is melted, stirring constantly. Chill, stirring occasionally. Spread on filled cake roll, above. Mint Jolie Frosting is also delicious drizzled on angel food cake or over vanilla ice cream.

Freeze To Save Time

Let your freezer save your time. Home economists for Sears Roebuck estimate that of the 1100 meals served by the homemaker each year, 380 of them take planning and preparing. Of these, at least 200 lend themselves to freezable main dishes.

Allowing two hours for preparation time and 30 minutes to prepare an extra quantity of the same dish to freeze and serve later, the economists say a woman can save 150 hours a year with the freezer.

Tastier Coffee

No matter how it is brewed, coffee tastes its best only when the coffee-maker is scrupulously clean, says the Soap and Detergent Association. Take it apart, remove the grounds and wash the pot in hot soap or detergent suds. Just rinsing, even with hot water, will not remove the oily coffee residue which eventually becomes rancid and gives subsequent brews a bitter taste.

Shaker Inspired Kitchen Festival

by JEANNE LESEN

HANCOCK, Mass. UPI — The last Shakers left their communal village in this Berkshire County town a dozen years ago but their spirit is thriving at the public museum that bought and restored the property.

During the annual kitchen festival, volunteers of all ages cheerfully work long hours to prepare and serve food at daily tastings. Some also act as guides in the 12 buildings out of 19 that have been restored to look as they did when the Shaker movement was at its height in the 19th century.

The Shakers were religious dissenters. The Hancock village was the third of 18 they established in the Northeastern and Midwestern United States, beginning in 1774.

Their communities became famous for, among other things, pure, delicious food served abundantly.

As word spread of the Kitchen Sisters' skill, city folk were invited to share the Shakers' weekend dinners. The Hancock museum commemorates those "world's peoples' dinners" nightly during the weeklong kitchen festival with catered meals prepared from Shaker recipes.

The festival also features daytime tastings of food prepared by volunteers who live in the area. For five hours daily, visitors this year sampled free everything from fondues to soups, breads, breakfast and brunch specialties, home-made baked goods, vegetarian dishes, desserts and beverages. Most of the foods were Shaker-invented or inspired.

The introduction of contemporary favorites such as fondue reflects the Shakers' own innovative ideas that applied to food as well as labor-saving devices.

But this visitor to the kitchen festival came away with impressions not so much of the Shakers' inventiveness and good taste as with the dedication they have inspired in their neighbors and Americans in general. The group of 30 men and women who raised funds to make the village a permanent memorial depend almost entirely on volunteer help.

Among the volunteers this year were Mrs. Mary L. Hitchcock, a great-grandmother from Windsor, Mass., who was on her feet nearly five hours daily to help serve soup in the Sisters' Dairy.

The Venerable sisters-in-law, Marcella and Janet, of Dalton and Pittsfield, Mass., not only worked daily in the kitchen arranging food for tastings, but also provided their usual supply of home baked items on consignment for the Good Room.

Stephen Patterson, nicknamed "The Shaker baker," regularly bakes several varieties of bread in the kitchen of his Pittsfield home to sell in the Good Room throughout the June 1-October 15 season. The village extends the season to Nov. 1, weather permitting. This year, Patterson also found time to bake 10 large tomato soup cakes needed for tastings on dessert day.

One of the hardest workers is Patsy Fuller, a tall, gray-haired woman who is permanent supervisor of the kitchen. During the day I spent at the village she seemed to be everywhere at once-checking on activities in the preparation and Great Communal Kitchen, stopping in the Good Room to answer questions about the food for sale and the people who made it and even taking time to explain Shaker-designed kitchen equipment and utensils on display.

Heading this dedicated group is Amy Bess Miller, whose husband, Lawrence, is editor of two New England newspapers and co-owner of two others. In an interview, she said financial support to restore and maintain the village has come from all over the country. The annual kitchen festival is sponsored by manufacturers of food and related products, such as Borden, Inc., B&W Corp. canning jar manufacturers and the Campbell Soup Co.

Mrs. Miller said each sponsor makes products that in some way are meaningful to Shaker terms. Gail Borden, for instance, used a vacuum preserving pan he'd borrowed from the New Lebanon, N.Y. Shaker Community to develop the first method for making sweetened condensed milk.

Pudding Firmity, a pudding, was served on dessert day at the Shaker Kitchen Festival. This recipe is from "The Best of Shaker Cooking" by Amy Bess Miller and Persis Fuller Macmillan, 1970.

Add 3 tablespoons of whole wheat granules to 2 cups of boiling water in top of a double boiler. Stir and cook until thickened. Add by degrees 2 cups of rich milk and 1/2 cup of raisins. Cook 1/2 hour. Beat 4 egg yolks until light, add them and sugar to other ingredients and cook 2 minutes over hot but not boiling water. Flavor with 1 tablespoon of rose water, or to taste. Cool in glass serving dish and serve icy cold with heavy cream. Serves 4-6. Bottled rose water is sold in fancy food departments and stores.

Consumer Tips

WHEN YOU BUY a prepared meat product, regardless of brand, it must meet prescribed standards for the percentage of meat in the product. For example, meat spreads must be at least 50 per cent meat, ham and cheese spread, at least 25 per cent ham (cooked basis). VERY FRESH EGGS are very hard to peel when they've been hard-cooked. To make the task easier, homemakers should plan ahead to allow the eggs to sit out at room temperature overnight before cooking. Then they'll be more willing to part with their shells. PRESSURIZED CANS of whipped cream or non-dairy whipped toppings may be kept in the refrigerator for several weeks.

Meetings Planned Soon On Salt Creek Project

Before any action is taken on the state's program for the Salt Creek Watershed, meetings will be held with state and local officials, said Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee.

Hamilton said yesterday he is hoping to set up a meeting on Monday among himself, Howard Busch, head of the Illinois department of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service; Jack Walsh, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; John Gullou, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; and other officials.

On Tuesday, Gov. Ogilvie announced that the state was expanding the $28.5 million watershed program to $30 million and would begin work immediately, without waiting for federal funds.

THE UPPER SALT CREEK Watershed agreement is now in Washington awaiting approval of federal funding. The federal government is being asked to contribute $12 million to the project.

Ogilvie said that the state would not wait for the federal government but would go ahead with the plan, hoping to get federal funding later.

In an announcement issued Wednesday, Gullou said a 589-acre lake would be created in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve. This man-made lake would hold 4,210 acre-feet of water, "Enough to have prevented much of the flooding which has occurred in the last three weeks," said Gullou. He could not be reached for further comment.

Gullou's statement contained no information on the fate of the Elk Grove Mobile Home Park, located adjacent to the forest preserve on Ill. Rte. 72. A lake of the size Gullou described would put the trailer park under water.

Other retention basins would also be created downstream as part of the expanded program. The agreement now in Washington calls for only upper creek projects to be constructed.

HAMILTON SAID the meeting will be called to learn details of any work the state plans to do. He said the steering committee and other sponsoring agencies would oppose any action that would "slow down" the original agreement.

Hamilton said that if the state's action follows the original program, it would help make up for lost time. Hamilton had previously said that delays in getting state approval prevented getting the program included in the present federal fiscal budget.

Hamilton said the state action could enable engineer drawings for the project, which are not complete, to be finished. He said that these drawings are normally done by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service but he saw no reason why the state could not have them done under the control of the conservation service.

Plan First Developed In Late 1960s

The Upper Salt Creek Watershed Agreement is a proposal to control flooding on a 33,280-acre area of the creek flood basin in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

The plan was first developed in the late 1960s. An Upper Salt Creek Watershed Steering was formed to coordinate the planning for the program. A series of dams and flood controls would be built across the creek, forming a series of retention basins.

An additional benefit from the plan would be a recreation site formed around a 1,300 acre-retention basin in the Busse Woods.

The estimated cost of the plan is $28.5 million, paid for by local, state and federal funds.

THE AGREEMENT was drawn up and sent to Springfield early this year for state approval. Tom Hamilton, chairman of the steering committee, charged that delays in getting state approval prevented the agreement from being included in the current fiscal budget for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The conservation service is the agency through which federal funds will be distributed.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie did not sign the agreement, giving the state's support to the plan, until Aug. 13.

After Ogilvie signed, the agreement was signed by 12 local government agencies. The last signature was obtained Sept. 14.

The agreement is now in Washington, awaiting federal funding. Hamilton said he expects approval of the plan and inclusion in the 1974 fiscal year budget by the conservation service, "to be a formality." He said the only problem is to make sure that congress actually appropriates the funds for the conservation service budget.

Frost School For Diamond Point?

The Diamond Point subdivision, on Golf Road in Mount Prospect, may be returned to the Robert Frost School, Mount Prospect attendance area.

The special committee on attendance boundaries for Elk Grove Township School Dist. 59 recommended Tuesday that Diamond Point be returned to the Frost School.

Until August, Rte. 83 had been the eastern boundary for Frost. The boundary was moved west to Linneman Road by school board action to relieve overcrowding at Frost. Residents of Diamond Point, Pickwick Commons and Huntington Commons housing areas were shifted from Frost to High Ridge Knolls and Brentwood schools, Des Plaines.

Richard Ward, chairman of the committee, said the recommendation to return Diamond Point to the Frost attendance area was a unanimous decision after a lengthy discussion.

WARD SAID there were two reasons for returning Diamond Point to the Frost area:

- A drop in the Frost enrollment.
- A lower number of children coming from Diamond Point than had been anticipated.

Frost's enrollment dropped by 50 students this September as compared to last year.

Originally, the committee had anticipated 52 students from Diamond Point. Residents and the developer of the area argued at public hearings that the estimate was too high. They said only 10 to 15 students would be coming from the area.

WARD SAID a compromise figure of 38-46 students for the area was agreed upon by the committee.

Including Diamond Point in the Frost area will result in a slight overcrowding situation at the school, said Ward. This overcrowding would be comparable to the situation in other schools in the area, John Jay, Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls.

The committee also recommended a review of student population at Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls schools be made in 1975 or 1976. If boundary changes are required, the committee said two 12-story apartments, scheduled to be built in Huntington Commons in 1975, be used to balance attendance between Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls.

FRED SCHUSTER, 495 Lakeview Circle, Elk Grove Village, spoke to the committee as a representative of the Elk Grove Estates residents in the western section of Cook School.

The committee has recommended that the western portion of the Cook attendance area be transferred to Salt Creek School to relieve overcrowding at Cook.

Schuster said the residents opposed the transfer, but he did not offer a practical alternative.

THE COMMITTEE asked Schuster to develop a practical alternative to the change and present it to the committee at its next meeting.

The committee has scheduled its next meeting for 7:30 p.m., Friday, at the district administration building, 2123 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The committee is scheduled to make its recommendations to the school board on Oct. 2.

Charge Pair Looted Home Hardware Store

Eugene Sanner, 41, and Glen Hickman, 29, both of Chicago were arrested yesterday and charged with burglary and possession of burglary tools in connection with a break-in at Home Hardware Store in Elk Grove Village last weekend.

Some $1,000 worth of tools and $177 in cash was stolen Saturday night or early Sunday from the hardware store at 554 E. Devon Ave.

The pair was arrested after Detectives John Landers and Bill Cox, with the co-operation of Chicago Police, searched the men's Chicago home and found burglary tools and evidence linking them with the Home Hardware burglary.

A hearing on the charges has been set for Oct. 25 for both men.

Elk Grove Village Police Lt. Ray Marinac said police were still investigating the possibility that more persons were involved in the burglary.

Residents Seek Fire Aid From Roselle

Residents of Itasca Meadows are rejecting an offer by Elk Grove Village to provide fire protection for the subdivision southwest of Alexian Brothers Medical Center. They are instead contracting with the Roselle Fire Protection District for fire and ambulance service at some $65 less than it would cost to obtain the services from the village.

Edward Moder, president of Itasca Meadows Homeowners Association, said the $84 per home for fire service from the village was "ridiculously high." He said the Roselle Fire Protection District has promised to provide the same services for $2.03 per $1,000 assessed valuation, or about $20 per home.

He said contracts for the Roselle services are being distributed among the some 40 families in the subdivision and more than half had already turned in their checks. Almost all the households, which are in unincorporated Elk Grove Township, are expected to pay for the Roselle Volunteer Fire Department services, Moder said.

When asked when he expected the Roselle protection to start, Moder said, "Roselle has never stopped protecting us for all these years, and we have their protection now."

At one time the area around Itasca Meadows subdivision was protected by the Roselle Fire Protection District, but in 1964 the area was severed from Roselle and came under the protection of Elk Grove Village.

MODER SAID the homeowners were a corporate organization, and therefore could contract with Roselle for fire protection even though they were no longer in its district. He added that Elk Grove Village officials and trustees had been told of the homeowners' decision and had voiced no objections.

The Roselle fire department is located in DuPage County about seven miles from the subdivision, but one homeowner said he had no doubt that they could meet the needs of the area.

"We have been served well before by the Roselle fire department, and I see no trouble in going to them now," he said.

Earlier this summer the Elk Grove Village Board of Trustees announced that beginning Nov. 1 the village would provide fire and ambulance service to homes in Itasca Meadows, Martini and Forest View subdivisions only if the residents paid $84 for it. This past year Forest View homeowners were billed for the protection, but this was the first time that Itasca Meadows and Martini residents had been charged.

Elk Grove Village Fire Chief Allen Hulett has said the fee was based on what the village spends for fire protection in a year for a single-family home.

Residents Discuss Boundary Changes

More than 20 residents from three areas of High School Dist. 214 affected by proposed boundary changes to accommodate Buffalo Grove High School expressed their opinions about the proposals at a hearing Tuesday.

Residents of the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove told the school board they want their children to attend the new school, due to open in September, 1973. However, residents of the Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights and the Elementary Dist. 21 portion of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights said they want to stay in Hersey High School.

After the two-hour hearing, during which they also considered possible plans to allow open enrollment in the district, members of the board asked Supt. Edward Gilbert to formulate recommendations for the boundaries.

Board Pres. Ray Erickson said, "I think we are agreed that we won't make a final decision until there has been a chance for further discussion."

THE BOARD had been presented last month with four basic proposals for boundaries to Buffalo Grove High School and two other proposals to cut down enrollment at Hersey High School.

The four basic alternatives are:
1 All students living in the Cooper and Rand junior high school attendance areas north of Palatine Road would attend Buffalo Grove High School.

2 Same as the first alternative except that students in Dun-Lo Highlands, Buffalo Highlands and the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove would also attend Buffalo Grove High School.

3 Same as alternative one except that students in the Ivy Hill subdivision of Arlington Heights would be allowed to remain at Hersey High School.

4. A combination of proposals two and three, with Ivy Hill students remaining at Hersey and Cambridge, Buffalo Highlands and Dun-Lo Highlands students attending Buffalo Grove.

IN ORDER to cut enrollment at Hersey High School, the board could also adopt either or both of the following alternatives along with any of the four above:

—students south of Kensington Road in Mount Prospect would be shifted from Hersey to Prospect High School.

—students in the Elementary Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road would be shifted from Hersey to Wheeling High School. That area was shifted from Wheeling to Hersey a year ago.

In none of the plans would students about to enter their senior year be forced to change schools.

A number of residents of the Cambridge area of Buffalo Grove explained they want their children to attend Buffalo Grove High School because "We are part of Buffalo Grove."

In addition, petitions from the Cambridge area containing 452 names and asking the board to send Cambridge to Buffalo Grove High were presented to the board.

In a letter, the village manager of Buffalo Grove, Dan Larsen, expressed sentiments. He said that either of the two plans including Cambridge in the Buffalo Grove attendance area "will be in accordance with a resolution adopted by the village board that we would like all students in the village attending the same high school."

RESIDENTS from Ivy Hill said they wanted their children to continue at Hersey. Resident Harry Fall said, "I left five girls at home who are all sophomores and they told me 'Don't come home unless we can go to Hersey.'"

Joyce Gauper, a resident of the Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road, also said residents in her area wanted to stay at Hersey. "Why did you change us a year ago if you are now talking about changing us back?" she said.

Supt. Edward Gilbert explained that one of the biggest problems facing the board is overcrowding at Hersey High School. For example, he said, enrollment figures show that if residents of Cambridge and Ivy Hill receive their preference of plan 4, Hersey will remain well over its capacity enrollment of 2,750 students.

Board members also asked members of the audience for their reaction to some kind of open enrollment policy, which would allow students to choose their own buildings.

Several persons said they liked the idea and that they would be willing to provide transportation so their children could attend the school of their choice.

Mount Prospect Against Mobile Home Park

Mount Prospect will formally object to a proposed rezoning that would allow developers to change the Oasis Drive-In Theater in unincorporated Elk Grove Township to a mobile home park.

The village board Tuesday night directed Village Atty. John Zimmermann to prepare a formal objection to file with the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals. At a hearing on Sept. 8, the zoning board gave Zimmermann 21 days to file the objection.

Oscar Brotman, owner of the site, wants to expand the Oasis Mobile Home Park, on Elmhurst Road near Higgins Road, onto the neighboring drive-in theater property. He estimated the expansion would provide space for an additional 232 trailers.

MOUNT PROSPECT is objecting because village officials believe that expanding the mobile home park would create problems for the Mount Prospect Fire Department, which is under contract to service the area.

Zimmermann said the fire department already has to bring in its own water to a fire in the park and feels fire hydrants are needed. Brotman's plans call for fire stations with extinguishers installed every 200 feet, but no fire hydrants.

"I can't see why the plan would do anything but tax our fire department which serves the area," said Mount Prospect Mayor Robert Teichert.

"We would just be setting up an insurmountable problem for ourselves if we don't object," said Trustee Donald Furst. The board plans to formally approve the objection at a special board meeting Tuesday.

Impound Auto Possibly Used In Double Slaying

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zachach said yesterday he and Doney are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagans were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

Wheeling, Buffalo Grove Meet Jointly

Villages Eye Subdistrict For Storm Water Control

by LYNN ASINOF

The village boards of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove decided at a joint meeting Tuesday night to explore the possibility of creating a special subdistrict of the soil conservation district to control storm water in Buffalo Creek.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson proposed creating the subdistrict, which would include the entire Buffalo Creek watershed from Lake Zurich to Wheeling.

According to Larson, the Soil Conservation District Law allows for the creation of special subdistricts to deal with specific conservation problems. He said that while the special districts have been used downstate to combat soil erosion, "it has never been used in an urban area for flood control."

THE PROPOSED subdistrict would span the Buffalo Creek watershed in both Lake and Cook counties, and would have the power to condemn land and collect taxes. Larson said the subdistrict would also be able to borrow money from a federal agency and then issue a bond to repay the loan.

"It would be at least nine months before we can see a district," Larson said. "And it would be almost a year before we can get any funding and really get it off the ground."

Larson said the special subdistrict would have to be created by referendum. He said that first the organizers of the subdistrict would have to have the majority of property owners in the watershed area sign a petition requesting formation of the subdistrict.

A hearing on the new district would then be held and a report compiled from testimony at the hearing. Finally, the trustees of both the Lake and Cook county soil conservation districts would meet on the matter and hopefully vote in its favor.

According to Larson, the trustees of the two county districts would also be the trustees of the subdistrict. Many of the board members at the meeting objected to this. They claimed that the county districts are not able to do anything about flooding now and therefore would not be able to do anything with the new district.

"They have a knack for carrying their projects to the next generation," said George Passolt, Wheeling village manager.

LARSON SAID, however, that the special subdistrict would rely on the individual communities for direction rather than on the county district trustees.

"The main force would be the energies we individual communities give them," he said. Larson said the individual communities could hire their own engineers, run their own studies and then give them to the district trustees for implementation.

Several Wheeling trustees questioned whether the subdistrict would really alleviate flooding. They said much of the

Villages Plan Cooperation

Although the joint meeting between the village boards of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove Tuesday night was dominated by discussion of flooding problems, it also led to mutual cooperation in other areas.

The Wheeling Village Board agreed to let Buffalo Grove hook into its water supply to prevent water shortages because a major water main will be broken during the widening of Dundee Road.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson explained that the water main to the Cambridge subdivision would have to be broken several times for a few hours each when work on Dundee Road gets under way.

He asked that Wheeling allow the hookup to provide water for fire protection and domestic use while the main is disconnected.

"THE ONLY TIME we'd use it was if our system was destroyed," Buffalo Grove Village Pres. Gary Armstrong said.

The hookup would also allow Wheeling to use Buffalo Grove's water in case of an emergency. Details of the arrangement will be worked out by the two village managers.

The two boards also discussed the possibility of sharing Wheeling's animal warden. Wheeling Village Mgr. George Passolt said Buffalo Grove had at one time expressed an interest in sharing a warden.

THE IDEA WAS quickly abandoned when it was learned that the Wheeling animal warden already works a full 40-hour week serving the Wheeling community. It was felt there was no time available for him to serve Buffalo Grove as well.

The Wheeling trustees did, however, offer advice to Buffalo Grove on how to set up a stricter animal ordinance and an enforcement agency. The trustees suggested the Buffalo Grove board review the animal ordinances in nearby communities like Morton Grove and Evanston.

Members of the Buffalo Grove board said they would schedule discussion of the matter for a workshop session.

flooding is caused by water backing up from the Des Plaines River.

Wheeling Trustee Ron Bruhn said experts have told him that nothing can be done until the Des Plaines, Illinois and Mississippi rivers are dredged to allow water to flow properly.

"That has you in the Gulf of Mexico," Buffalo Grove Village Pres. Gary Armstrong said.

LARSON SAID that because of this problem, the subdistrict would have to deal with ways of holding back water until it can be released into the rivers. He said that instead of building "mosquito ponds every five acres or so," the subdistrict should try to build a regional retention basin of 200 acres or more.

Wheeling Village Pres. Ted Scanlon said Wheeling tried to organize the watershed communities several years ago, but that no one was interested because flooding was not a major problem then.

"Now you have a problem," he said.

"It's become multiplied many, many times what it was in 1968."

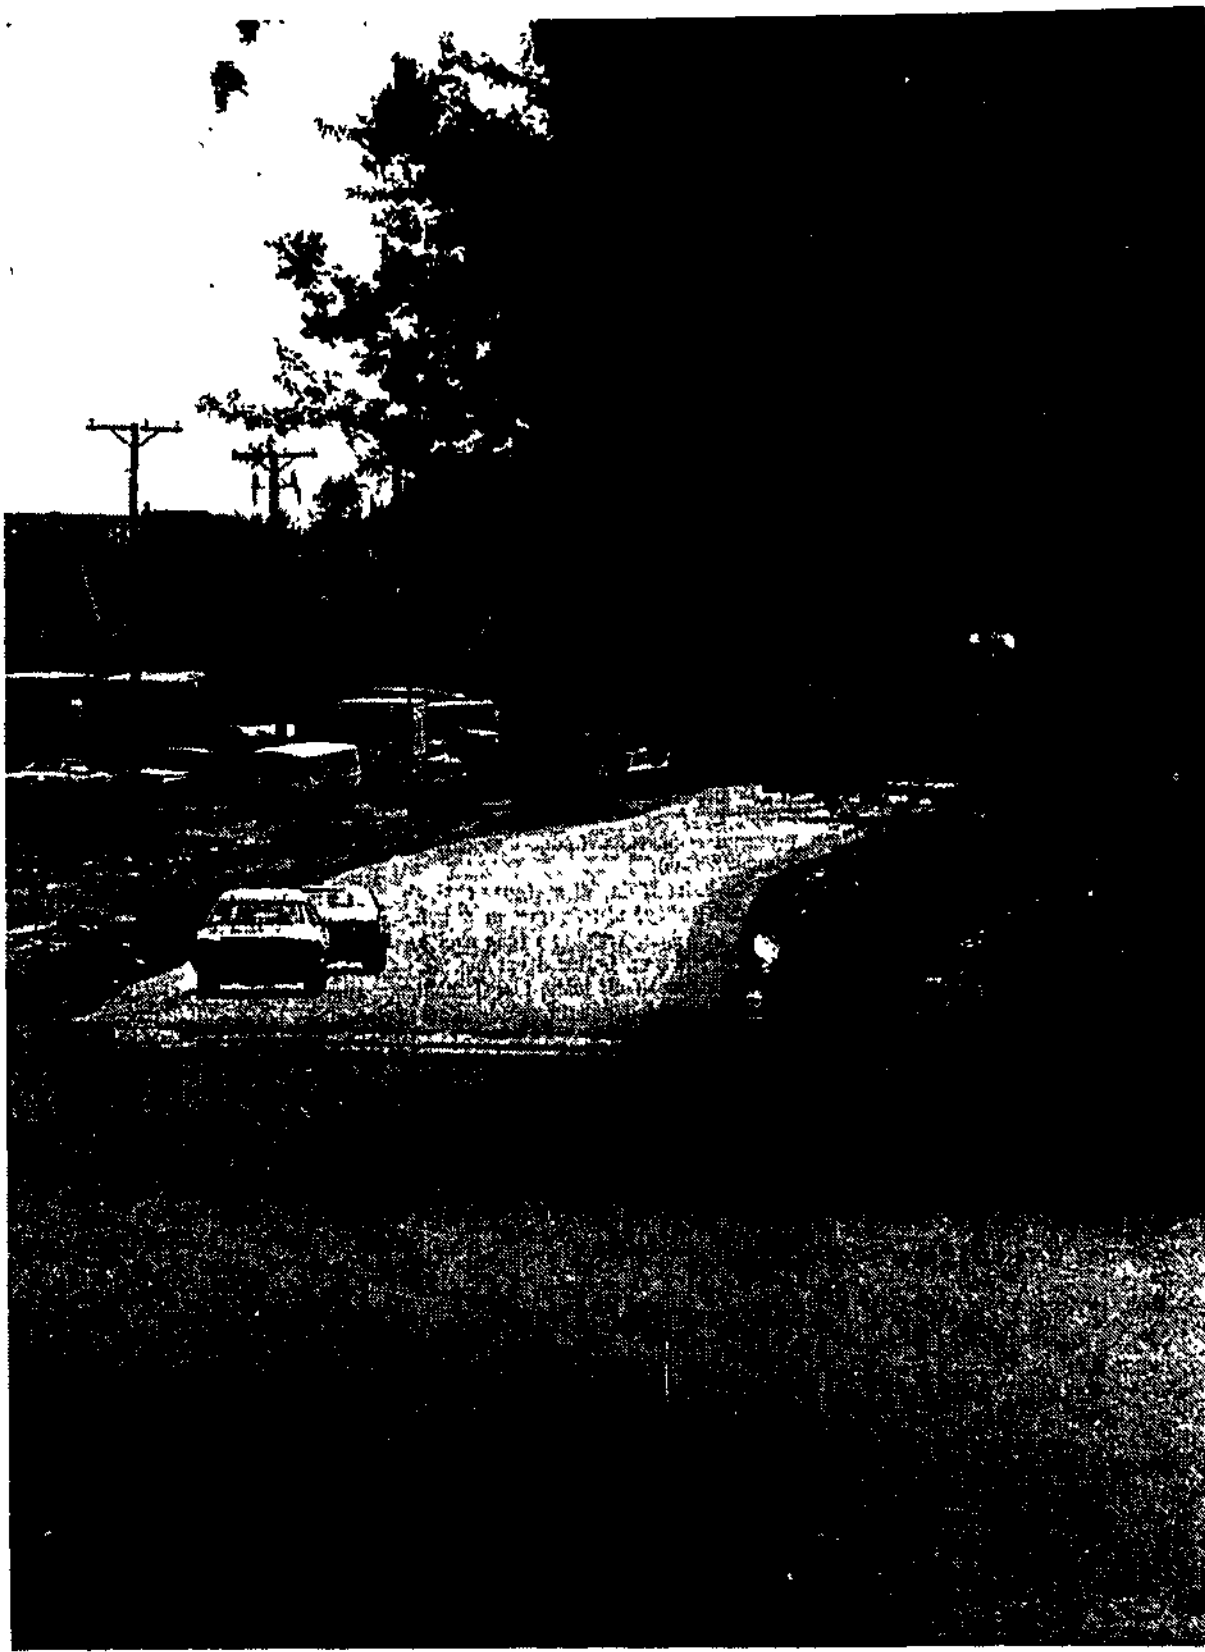

While others at the meeting agreed, Armstrong said the communities would now be ready for cooperative flooding action.

"The time is right because of the publicity," he said. "We must get citizen support behind it, and the time is now when the problem is there."

Armstrong said he would contact other villages to arrange a preliminary meeting within the next two weeks. The board members decided to invite the mayor, village manager and one trustee from each village to attend the meeting.

Scanlon appointed William Rodgers, an interested citizen, as his personal appointee to help organize the meeting and to report back to the Wheeling village board on its progress.

Trustees Michael Valenza of Wheeling and Randall Rathjen of Buffalo Grove were not present at the meeting.

A DREAM COME TRUE — Arlington Heights Road from Dundee Road to Lake-Cook Road is again open to traffic, and it's smooth! Although final shoulder work and stripe painting has not been completed, barricades have been removed. The project was paid for through a joint effort by Buffalo Grove, Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township and Cook County. Only a 900-foot strip remains unpaved just north of Dundee Road, and it will be done when the new intersection is built. Buffalo Grove is considering paving the strip temporarily.

The Market

Investors, worried about a possible tax hike and rising interest rates, stayed on the sidelines as the stock market staggered to a mixed close. Trading was slow on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones average lost 2.93 to 940.25. The average price of a common share decreased by two cents. Declines topped advances, 769 to 591. Turnover totaled 11,980,000 shares. Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange.

'Citizens' Acts Are A Disgrace

by JILL BETTNER

The vigilante tradition in America includes a long line of organized extralegal groups who, for one reason or another, decided to take the law into their own hands.

By their irresponsible actions at the village board meeting Monday night, the Concerned Citizens of Buffalo Grove qualify for membership in this somewhat ignoble fraternity.

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong has created a confusing situation to say the least, for Buffalo Grove residents by taking a job with the James Otis Development Co. of Northbrook.

The Herald's editorial position on Armstrong's decision is clear: He has put himself in an untenable situation, that of trying to represent a village and a builder at the same time. But that is not the issue here.

The issue is the disgraceful tactics the Concerned Citizens have adopted in attempting to achieve their goal.

CURRENTLY, THERE is no legal way to remove Armstrong from office.

As in most cases where no law exists to deal with a situation, a handful of self-appointed leaders of the Concerned Citizens group is determining the course of action that should be taken to effect the change they want to bring about.

Their first idea of trying to persuade Armstrong to resign under the pressure of public opinion was a good one. A major plank in the Buffalo Grove Alliance platform on which Armstrong ran was that village government should be responsive to the people. It's logical that the feelings of residents would be important to him in this matter.

Petitioning is an orderly, accepted method for measuring public opinion, but numerous reports are circulating — almost as fast as the petitions that some of the Concerned Citizens canvassing local neighborhoods have had the manners of pesky door-to-door salesmen.

Jill Bettner

These people should realize that by using such hard-sell techniques to enlist support of their cause, they are merely hurting themselves. Armstrong has heard about the tactics and, consequently, has said he doesn't have much faith in the validity of the petitions.

ATTEMPTING to intimidate village officials at a public meeting, insulting the village engineer and lawyer and bullying those who don't agree with their opinion, won't get the Concerned Citizens anywhere either.

As the board meeting spasmodically progressed Monday night, hampered by frequent interruptions from a relatively few Concerned Citizens, the audience of more than 60 persons gradually dwindled.

Did some of the more responsible members of the Concerned Citizens for Buffalo Grove leave because they were embarrassed by the actions of their leaders?

The group claims a broad base of support in the village, but so far, the same few have done all the talking.

If the persons who attempted to take over the meeting Monday night are unrepresentative of the organization, those who kept quiet should speak up now and tell their vociferous "leaders" to sit down. Nobody's listening any more.

Would Cost $100,000 For 1.2 Years

Expansion Of Landfill Recommended

According to the Arlington Heights Village Administration, a $100,000 parcel of land should be purchased to increase the life of the village landfill on Nichols Road.

The proposed purchase includes 9 acres immediately to the west of the current landfill. According to administration, the added acreage would increase the landfill life by 1.2 years.

The proposal, along with several other long-range recommendations for the further development of the village landfill, were made in an eight-page report of the availability of land on both the east and west side of the landfill. The board of trustees requested the report several months ago.

"JUST BECAUSE the administration recommended purchasing more landfill area does not mean that the administrative recommendation to construct an incinerator is invalid," said Darryl Kenning, assistant village manager. "We would still need a place to landfill the incinerator residue."

In January, the administration recommended a $4.5 million incinerator be built to solve the village's solid waste disposal problem. Tonight, the Environmental Control Commission is expected to recommend that a landfill be used to dispose of the village's solid waste, as opposed to an incinerator.

Other recommendations in the recent administration study include:

—Petitioning the Illinois Department of Transportation for authorization to relocate Buffalo Creek. If the petition were granted, the administration figures an additional 31 acres of land could be used for landfill purposes. Buffalo Creek now flows north and south and is west of the current landfill.

—Develop a comprehensive master plan for the landfill based on using both the current area and the current area plus land to the west of the area.

"Unless all parties agree on the end result of this property there will be continual debate as to the life of the landfill and to development of the area," the report says.

—Obtain a complete soil profile on the proposed 9-acre purchase site.

THOUGH THE land to the east of the current landfill was also studied, the administration says the land is too high-priced and too close to homes in Buffalo Grove. The land would also be separated from the current landfill by the proposed extension of Kennicott Road.

"The site is not currently available... we have been advised that land developers have been trying to obtain this property, offering as much as $25,000 per acre for it... based on this figure, the total site would cost over $3 million," the report said about the land to the east of the current landfill.

Residents Discuss Boundary Changes

tending Buffalo Grove.

IN ORDER to cut enrollment at Hersey High School, the board could also adopt either or both of the following alternatives along with any of the four above:

—students south of Kensington Road in Mount Prospect would be shifted from Hersey to Prospect High School.

—students in the Elementary Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road would be shifted from Hersey to Wheeling High School. That area was shifted from Wheeling to Hersey a year ago.

In none of the plans would students about to enter their senior year be forced to change schools.

A number of residents of the Cambridge area of Buffalo Grove explained they want their children to attend Buffalo Grove High School because "We are part of Buffalo Grove."

In addition, petitions from the Cambridge area containing 452 names and asking the board to send Cambridge to Buffalo Grove High were presented to the board.

In a letter, the village manager of Buffalo Grove, Dan Larsen, expressed sim-sentiments. He said that either of the two plans including Cambridge in the Buffalo Grove attendance area "will be in accordance with a resolution adopted by the village board that we would like all students in the village attending the same high school."

RESIDENTS from Ivy Hill said they wanted their children to continue at Hersey. Resident Harry Fall said, "I left five girls at home who are all sophomores and they told me 'Don't come home unless we can go to Hersey.'"

Motorcyclist In Critical Condition

Dennis Drinkwater, 29, of 126 E. Washington St., Palatine, was listed in critical condition and in intensive care at the University of Illinois Hospital Wednesday evening. Drinkwater was injured when his motorcycle struck a car in Wheeling Saturday.

He was taken by the Wheeling fire department to Holy Family Hospital and was transferred to the U. of I. medical center Tuesday.

The accident occurred on Dundee Road near Schoenbeck Road at approximately 7:30 p.m. last Saturday. Police said Drinkwater reportedly was driving without his auto headlights on and crossed into the path of an oncoming car.

Witnesses said Drinkwater's motorcycle burst into flames on impact. He was found 24 feet from the crash.

Joyce Gauper, a resident of the Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road, also said residents in her area wanted to stay at Hersey. "Why did you change us a year ago if you are now talking about changing us back?" she said.

Supt. Edward Gilbert explained that one of the biggest problems facing the board is overcrowding at Hersey High School. For example, he said, enrollment figures show that if residents of Cambridge and Ivy Hill receive their preference of plan 4, Hersey will remain well over its capacity enrollment of 2,750 students.

Board members also asked members of the audience for their reaction to some kind of open enrollment policy, which would allow students to choose their own buildings.

Stevenson Board OKs Levies

Looking for a $10 million increase in assessed valuation for next year, the Adlai Stevenson High School Board of Education approved levies this week which it hopes will reduce next spring's tax rate.

While exact increases will not be known until next April, the board anticipates a jump of between $8 million and $12 million. Even the minimum increase will hold the rate at the present level of $2.09 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation, Supt. Harold Banser said. Anything above that will reduce the total rate, he added.

The board authorized a levy of $1,250,000 in the education fund, up $145,000 from last year. The building operating fund was set at $275,000, up only $25,000; and transportation was approved for $70,000, an increase of $7,000 over 1971. Other levies included $44,000 for junior college, $25,000 for the Special Education District of Lake County (SEDOL) and $20,000 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

The levy for junior college was down from last year's $50,000 because of a sizable balance in this year's fund.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board accepted the resignation of William J. Tobin of Deerfield, who is moving to Wisconsin. A resident of an unincorporated area, Tobin's replacement will be named at the October meeting, and will fill out his unexpired term until the April, 1973 elections. He also was secretary of the board. John Balmes of Lincolnshire was elected to take over that post.

Banser outlined plans for establishing a steering committee to implement Stevenson's School Improvement Program, which he has brought to the attention of the board at previous meetings. The program is part of a broad, new educational plan being developed by State Supt. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis.

Banser asked that several committees be appointed that will include board members, administration, faculty and a broad segment of citizens from the community to examine six general areas: philosophy of education, school governance, administration, support services, physical facilities and the instructional program.

He urged that each group hold public hearings, develop comprehensive reports and make recommendations to the board. This must be accomplished before April 16, 1973 when a complete report must be made to Bakalis' office, Banser explained.

HE ASKED THAT Dist. 125 residents particularly interested in presenting new ideas for Stevenson's educational program attend an open meeting at the high school beginning at 8 p.m., Monday, Oct. 9.

Board members gave their unanimous approval to a plan presented by the Student Council to develop a park in the area east of the school building and south of the main parking lot. Council President Marie Moody and Carol Bower outlined plans for planting trees and flowers, installing benches and building a patio in the area from funds left for the purpose by the last two graduating classes. Other funds were being donated to a special park project fund, bringing the initial total to about $1,500.

The board authorized a proposal to prepare plans for a sex education program, but have asked to see the classroom material before final approval. Several freshman studies teachers under the direction of Prin. Edwin Griffith have started to work on the project and expect to enlist the aid of freshman parents and other community citizens in developing the material. The board agreed that parental involvement and understanding will be necessary to build a successful program.

Developer Al Zale Seeks Light Poles Made Of Wood

To be wood or not to be wood — that is the problem facing developer Al Zale in his request to use decorative wooden light poles in his Lakeside Villas townhouses on Hintz Road.

Zale has requested the village to adjust its ordinances to allow the laminated wood poles with decorative light fixtures. Presently, cast concrete poles are the only type acceptable by the village. Ordinances state the exact mounting equipment and height for the poles or standards.

Zale attended a committee meeting Monday night, before the village board meeting, to discuss the type of pole he would like to use. Representatives from Weyerhaeuser Co. of McPherson Lighting gave a slide and talk demonstration on the construction and appearance of the lighting systems.

Zale said the Weyerhaeuser firm also guarantees the standards for 20 years against natural damage. The company representative said the wood should last as long as 80 years in this climate without rotting or decaying.

The wood is pressure-treated with chemicals to prevent deterioration, and mounted on a concrete base.

Village board members were concerned that wooden poles might be subject to more vandalism than concrete poles are. Fears were that the wood could be carved or cut, causing the village to absorb a higher maintenance cost.

The board may rule on the request at next Monday's board meeting.

Cooper Students Elect Officers

James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School in Buffalo Grove has become the latest political hot spot in that village. Students have been actively campaigning all week in the school for student council office positions.

There will be a rally this afternoon with the candidates making speeches and expressing their views on school issues.

The Cooper PTA has extended an invitation to all parents to attend the 2 p.m. rally. A coffee hour will immediately follow the speeches.

Cooper Junior High School is just east of Arlington Heights Road at 1050 W. Plum Grove Rd., Buffalo Grove.

BGA To Meet With Armstrong Tonight

The Buffalo Grove Alliance will meet with Buffalo Grove village Pres. Gary Armstrong at 8:30 tonight to discuss the controversy over Armstrong's position in the village.

The meeting will be at James Fenimore Cooper Junior High. The open session will be devoted primarily to questions from village residents.

New Depot May Be Biggest On Line

Chicago and North Western Ry. officials are predicting the new depot to be built at Arlington Park Race Track this winter could become one of the biggest stops on the commuter line.

The railroad has been trying for years to build a depot at the race track, but had always been thwarted by former track owner Marjoe Everett, said Tom Smith, CN&W spokesman yesterday.

The new depot was finally approved in a three-way agreement between Arlington Heights, the race track and the railroad, ratified last winter.

Village officials say they hope the station will be open by Jan. 1. Railroad officials say, however, they think it may be spring before the depot is completed.

IN ADDITION to riders from Arlington Heights, the race track depot is expected to draw train passengers from eastern Palatine, Rolling Meadows and suburbs as far away as Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Buffalo Grove.

"You gotta believe there's a need (for the new station) when our Arlington Heights station continues to be our number one stop, servicing about 4,100 regular passengers daily," said Rollin Coakley, CN&W manager of commuter services.

PARKING LIMITATIONS and traffic congestion are two of the big problems in downtown Arlington Heights that both Coakley and Darryl Kenning, assistant village manager say they hope the new depot will alleviate.

"Parking and access are the biggest ingredients to a successful station," Coakley says, adding that there will be plenty of both at the race track.

"We're just running out of room for parking downtown," Kenning said. "And anyone who's tried to drive through downtown at rush hour knows what the congestion is like."

Plans call for two driveways in and out of the depot area. One driveway will lead to Wilke Road on the east, with the second access off of Rohlwing Road on the west.

There will be parking for at least 800 cars and possibly more if the demand warrants it.

COAKLEY SAID the railroad has talked of surveying rides at both the Arlington Heights and Palatine depots in an effort to determine just how many of these customers might be expected to use the new facility.

"We haven't made a definite decision on this because we're not sure we have to spend the money for it," he said.

Promotion will also play a big part in the new depot's attractiveness, particularly to new riders.

"We know how many apartments and houses are going up within a three-mile radius of the depot and it is tremendous," Smith said. "But it's awfully hard to know how many of the people living there are going to ride the train."

"People at the south end of town (Arlington Heights) may well find it easier and faster to take the Tollway to Rte. 53 and get off at the track rather than come up Arlington Heights Road to the downtown depot," Kenning said.

The Northwest Tollway and Rte. 53 also figure in official success predictions for the depot.

SCHEDULES AND fares for the new station still have to be worked out, railroad officials say. The cost of using the race track depot will probably split the difference between the Palatine and Arlington Heights stops.

As for scheduling, Smith says the new depot will definitely be on a full-service timetable with both rush hour and off hour stops.

THE ARLINGTON Park depot will be the first new station to be built in the railroad's suburban service area in years, Coakley said.

"The Palatine station was a joint venture (between the railroad and the village) and it has been growing in riders up to around 2,100 passengers a day. And we think Arlington Park is going to be a big station too," he said.

Impound Auto Possibly Used In Double Slaying

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan's were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

Wheeling, Buffalo Grove Meet Jointly

Villages Eye Subdistrict For Storm Water Control

by LYNN ASINOF

The village boards of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove decided at a joint meeting Tuesday night to explore the possibility of creating a special subdistrict of the soil conservation district to control storm water in Buffalo Creek.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson proposed creating the subdistrict, which would include the entire Buffalo Creek watershed from Lake Zurich to Wheeling.

According to Larson, the Soil Conservation District Law allows for the creation of special subdistricts to deal with specific conservation problems. He said that while the special districts have been used downstate to combat soil erosion, "it has never been used in an urban area for flood control."

THE PROPOSED subdistrict would span the Buffalo Creek watershed in both Lake and Cook counties, and would have the power to condemn land and collect taxes. Larson said the subdistrict would also be able to borrow money from a federal agency and then issue a bond to repay the loan.

"It would be at least nine months before we can see a district," Larson said. "And it would be almost a year before we can get any funding and really get it off the ground."

Larson said the special subdistrict would have to be created by referendum. He said that first the organizers of the subdistrict would have to have the majority of property owners in the watershed area sign a petition requesting formation of the subdistrict.

A hearing on the new district would then be held and a report compiled from testimony at the hearing. Finally, the trustees of both the Lake and Cook county soil conservation districts would meet on the matter and hopefully vote in its favor.

According to Larson, the trustees of the two county districts would also be the trustees of the subdistrict. Many of the board members at the meeting objected to this. They claimed that the county districts are not able to do anything about flooding now and therefore would not be able to do anything with the new district.

"They have a knack for carrying their projects to the next generation," said George Passolt, Wheeling village manager.

LARSON SAID, however, that the special subdistrict would rely on the individual communities for direction rather than on the county district trustees.

"The main force would be the energies we individual communities give them," he said. Larson said the individual communities could hire their own engineers, run their own studies and then give them to the district trustees for implementation.

Several Wheeling trustees questioned whether the subdistrict would really alleviate flooding. They said much of the

Villages Plan Cooperation

Although the joint meeting between the village boards of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove Tuesday night was dominated by discussion of flooding problems, it also led to mutual cooperation in other areas.

The Wheeling Village Board agreed to let Buffalo Grove hook into its water supply to prevent water shortages because a major water main will be broken during the widening of Dundee Road.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson explained that the water main to the Cambridge subdivision would have to be broken several times for a few hours each when work on Dundee Road gets under way.

He asked that Wheeling allow the hookup to provide water for fire protection and domestic use while the main is disconnected.

"THE ONLY TIME we'd use it was if our system was destroyed," Buffalo Grove Village Pres. Gary Armstrong said.

The hookup would also allow Wheeling to use Buffalo Grove's water in case of an emergency. Details of the arrangement will be worked out by the two village managers.

The two boards also discussed the possibility of sharing Wheeling's animal warden. Wheeling Village Mgr. George Passolt said Buffalo Grove had at one time expressed an interest in sharing a warden.

THE IDEA WAS quickly abandoned when it was learned that the Wheeling animal warden already works a full 40-hour week serving the Wheeling community. It was felt there was no time available for him to serve Buffalo Grove as well.

The Wheeling trustees did, however, offer advice to Buffalo Grove on how to set up a stricter animal ordinance and an enforcement agency. The trustees suggested the Buffalo Grove board review the animal ordinances in nearby communities like Morton Grove and Evanston.

Members of the Buffalo Grove board said they would schedule discussion of the matter for a workshop session.

A DREAM COME TRUE — Arlington Heights Road from Dundee Road to Lake-Cook Road is again open to traffic, and it's smooth! Although final shoulder work and strips painting has not been completed, barricades have been removed. The project was paid for through a joint effort by Buffalo Grove, Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township and Cook County. Only a 900-foot strip remains unpaved just north of Dundee Road, and it will be done when the new intersection is built. Buffalo Grove is considering paving the strip temporarily.

Residents Discuss School Boundary Changes

More than 20 residents from three areas of High School Dist. 214 affected by proposed boundary changes to accommodate Buffalo Grove High School expressed their opinions about the proposals at a hearing Tuesday.

Residents of the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove told the school board they want their children to attend the new school, due to open in September, 1973. However, residents of the Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights and the Elementary Dist. 21 portion of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights said they want to stay in Hersey High School.

After the two-hour hearing, during which they also considered possible plans to allow open enrollment in the district, members of the board asked Supt. Edward Gilbert to formulate recommendations for the boundaries.

Board Pres. Ray Erickson said, "I think we are agreed that we won't make a final decision until there has been a chance for further discussion."

THE BOARD had been presented last month with four basic proposals for boundaries to Buffalo Grove High School and two other proposals to cut down enrollment at Hersey High School.

The four basic alternatives are:

1. All students living in the Cooper and Rand junior high school attendance areas north of Palatine Road would attend Buffalo Grove High School.
2. Same as the first alternative except that students in Dun-Lo Highlands, Buffalo Highlands and the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove would also attend Buffalo Grove High School.

3. Same as alternative one except that students in the Ivy Hill subdivision of Arlington Heights would be allowed to remain at Hersey High School.

4. A combination of proposals two and three, with Ivy Hill students remaining at Hersey and Cambridge, Buffalo Highlands and Dun-Lo Highlands students at Buffalo Grove High School.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amin said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly connected with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be resentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his racetrack stock conspiracy trial.

The War

President Nguyen Van Thieu congratulated his frontline troops at Quang Tri City and narrowly missed getting caught in an artillery barrage and a fire-fight between North Vietnamese and government soldiers. Sporadic rocket and mortar fire fell on Quang Tri City through the day as Thieu visited the battered provincial capital.

Proposed Library Site Hit; Hunt May Begin Anew

The Palatine Public Library Board of Directors may find itself back where it started four years ago — looking for a site for a new building.

No formal vote was taken, but two members of the Palatine Plan Commission indicated at a meeting Tuesday night that they oppose the latest proposal of the library board to construct a library on Northwest Highway.

Commission chairman Thomas A. Moody Jr. said he favors development of the proposed bank and office-shop complex between Benton Street and Plum Grove Road, but said he does not believe the library should be included on the seven-acre site.

"My own feeling is the library should be part of a civic center toward the downtown area," Moody said.

Plan commissioner Bryan P. Coughlin Jr. concurred.

The Northwest Highway site is several blocks north of the Palatine downtown area, which includes the present library building at 149 N. Brockway St.

THE LIBRARY has outgrown the Brockway Street location.

Moody's suggestion that the library be included in a civic center relates to the $10,000 study of downtown Palatine that was conducted by a land-planning consulting firm last spring.

The ensuing report suggested that a municipal center be built in the central business district to house various village offices and facilities.

No action has been taken as yet on the report.

The library board had asked the village board several weeks ago for the go-ahead to build on a site at 245 Smith St., but the trustees turned down the request, contending that the property was too expensive.

Though the asking price of the Northwest Highway property has not been made public, it is assumed to be less than the $140,000 the library board would have paid for the Smith Street site.

Residents of North Benton Street and East Comfort Lane who attended the plan commission meeting said they would welcome the library on Northwest Highway.

THEY HAD reservations, however, about traffic and storm water concerns relating to the overall seven-acre project.

An engineer for the developers testified before the plan commission that the development would not add to the flooding problems in the area.

Donald E. Gustafson, executive vice president of a Wilmette consulting firm, said the parking lot of the bank and office-shop complex could serve as a retention basin for storm water.

In addition, he indicated, other steps could be taken to insure that the site does not cause the flooding of Comfort Lane homes.

Winn C. Davidson, attorney for the developers, said, "We will certainly take care of our water," and also "will help their (homeowners') water problem."

But he said he did not want the developers to bear the brunt of criticism from area residents for problems not related to the seven-acre site.

Moody assured the 25 homeowners who attended the hearing that any plans would have to be approved by both the village engineer and a Metropolitan Sanitary District engineer.

Residents also asked that a service drive behind the complex, connecting Benton and Plum Grove, be blocked at night to deter drag racing, and that lights not shine into their homes.

The plan commission is expected to discuss the petition for rezoning further at its next meeting, Oct. 3, then make a recommendation to the village board for final action.

PALATINE KIWANIS can't seem to wait even for the peanuts to arrive before accepting donations. Jack Shields, coordinator of this year's Peanut Day sale, willingly accepts the donation of Bob Boles, as Willis Downey, waits for some loose change to drop into his tin can. The Kiwanis will be out in full force Saturday for their annual fund-raising event. They'll be assisted by the Arlington High School Key Club. Last year, $3,700 was raised.

High School Teacher-Board Negotiations Continue

How Much For Pay Raises?

Negotiators for the High School Dist. 211 board and teachers began talking about salaries and fringe benefits by taking a look at the amount of money available for raises in the district budget.

The proposal for salary increases made by the two sides differed in total cost by about $400,000. The board has said it is willing to raise the base pay from its 1971-72 level by $150. That increase would result in raises for all teachers because the pay scale is determined by the base pay to beginners.

School Board Pres. Robert Creek said the raise offered by the board would cost the district about $115,000 more than the 1971-72 contract.

THE DIST. 211 Education Association, on the other hand, has asked for the $150 raise in base pay plus additional raises for more experienced teachers and for those with additional education. Creek said the association proposal would cost the district more than $500,000 over the 1971-72 contract.

Creek told the negotiators for the teachers that the district cannot afford the increase they propose, adding that the board will not use all of its working cash fund, which it could loan to the fund for teachers' salaries, in order to meet the teachers' proposal.

"We feel very strongly that school districts, like families and businesses, should have a reserve fund against some dreadful contingency," Creek said. "That is what the working cash fund is for."

Creek then suggested that association officials consider whether they want the money the board can afford to spend for salary increases given mainly to teachers fairly new to the district or to those with more years of experience.

"Given what we have, we want to find a way together of how we can best distribute it," he said. "The question is where we should spend our money — for the few on the high side of the salary scale or for the many on the low side."

MEMBERS OF the association bargaining team then asked that further discussion of the salary proposals be postponed until the next negotiations meeting.

The district's 471 teachers are now being paid on the basis of the 1971-72 salary schedule. That schedule provides for a base pay of $8,300 and a top pay of $17,638 after 18 years' experience and a master's degree plus 30 extra hours of college credit.

At press time, the two sides were discussing additional fringe benefits, including the number of sick leave and personal leave days teachers will be allowed. They reached agreement that maternity leave will be based on the recommendation of the pregnant teacher's doctor rather than on any requirement in board policy.

Possible Double Slaying Link

Police Impound Blue Car

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney

Find Solution To Arlington Road Flood

Flooding across Arlington Road in northeast Palatine Township may be easily solved . . . but only if the flooding subsides.

"The solution is simple. There are two tiles filled with roots that have to be rod-ded out," Wilbur Mitchell said. Mitchell, director of the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District, said he had been near a solution when the rains came in late August.

At that time, workers had just cleared mud from a drainage line between Arlington Road east to Elm Road. As they were installing a catch basin there, they found tree roots hanging out of a tie line, Mitchell said.

Heavy rains the next day caused a delay in clearing the line west of Arlington Road, where the heaviest flooding is occurring.

LARGE TREES in the field separating the modest homes along Arlington Road have apparently worked their roots into the system, causing the back up.

"It's like trying to drain a bathtub through a cork," Mitchell contends. And the cork can't be skewered until the water goes down.

Meanwhile, residents haven't been able to use the road in front of their homes for nearly four weeks. Constantly-rising waters from the frequent rains have cracked foundation walls, ruined trees and gardens and provided an excellent breeding ground for mosquitoes. Now it's risen over a septic tank and may cause health problems.

Mitchell estimated that the water had been sprayed at least ten times during the summer to slow the mosquito problem. The county may be getting into the act, too, as residents become more frantic trying to get help.

THIS WEEK, the Cook County Department of Highways started checking drainage tiles on their property along Elm Road. Lines there will reportedly be rotated to clear possible obstructions that could be slowing drainage from the low land on Arlington Road. But if the big willow tree west of the narrow road is the culprit, as Mitchell believes, the flooding problem can't be solved until the waters recede. And nature has been uncooperative for almost a month.

Explanations about the clogged tiles and troublesome trees aren't worth much to the residents along the lane between Bradwell Avenue and Baldwin Road. They say they've got all they can do to keep their heads (and households) above water.

are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan's were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

Sept. 29 — Charlie Chaplin in "Gold Rush."

Oct. 6 — Election Year: "Challenge to a President," "A Party in Transition," "The Process in Crisis" and "How the Votes are Packaged."

Oct. 13 — Horror shows: "Hunchback of Notre Dame," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "Tall-Tale Heart."

Oct. 20 — "Dracula" and "Frankenstein."

Motorecyclist In Critical Condition

Dennis Drinkwater, 29, of 126 E. Washington St., Palatine, was listed in critical condition and in intensive care at the University of Illinois Hospital Wednesday evening. Drinkwater was injured when his motorcycle struck a car in Wheeling Saturday.

He was taken by the Wheeling fire department to Holy Family Hospital and was transferred to the U. of I. medical center Tuesday.

The accident occurred on Dundee Road near Schoenbeck Road at approximately 7:30 p.m. last Saturday. Police said Drinkwater reportedly was driving without his auto headlights on and crossed into the path of an oncoming car.

Witnesses said Drinkwater's motorcycle burst into flames on impact. He was found 24 feet from the crash.

Meetings Planned Soon On Salt Creek Project

Before any action is taken on the state's program for the Salt Creek Watershed, meetings will be held with state and local officials, said Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee.

Hamilton said yesterday he is hoping to set up a meeting on Monday among himself; Howard Busch, head of the Illinois department of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service; Jack Walsh, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; John Guillou, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; and other officials.

On Tuesday, Gov. Ogilvie announced that the state was expanding the $26.5 million watershed program to $30 million and would begin work immediately, without waiting for federal funds.

THE UPPER SALT CREEK Watershed agreement is now in Washington awaiting approval of federal funding. The federal government is being asked to contribute $12 million to the project.

Ogilvie said that the state would not wait for the federal government but would go ahead with the plan, hoping to get federal funding later.

In an announcement issued Wednesday, Guillou said a 580-acre lake would be created in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve. This man-made lake would hold 420 acre-feet of water. "Enough to have prevented much of the flooding which has occurred in the last three weeks," said Guillou. He could not be reached for further comment.

Guillou's statement contained no information on the fate of the Elk Grove Mobile Home Park, located adjacent to the forest preserve on Ill. Rte. 72. A lake of the size Guillou described would put the trailer park under water.

Other retention basins would also be created downstream as part of the expanded program. The agreement now in Washington calls for only upper creek projects to be constructed.

HAMILTON SAID the meeting will be called to learn details of any work the committee and other sponsoring agencies would oppose any action that would "slow down" the original agreement.

Hamilton said that if the state's action follows the original program, it would help make up for lost time. Hamilton had previously said that delays in getting state approval prevented getting the program included in the present federal fiscal budget.

Hamilton said the state action could enable engineer drawings for the project, which are not complete, to be finished. He said that these drawings are normally done by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service but he saw no reason why the state could not have them done under the control of the conservation service.

Hamilton said any action in Busse Wood which would hinder the project could be prevented by the Cook County Forest Preserve District, which has ownership and control of the woods in the

Plan First Developed In Late 1960s

The Upper Salt Creek Watershed Agreement is a proposal to control flooding on a 33,280-acre area of the creek flood basin in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

The plan was first developed in the late 1960s. An Upper Salt Creek Watershed Steering was formed to coordinate the planning for the program. A series of dams and flood controls would be built across the creek, forming a series of retention basins.

An additional benefit from the plan would be a recreation site formed around a 1,300 acre-retention basin in the Busse Woods.

The estimated cost of the plan is $28.5 million, paid for by local, state and federal funds.

THE AGREEMENT was drawn up and sent to Springfield early this year for state approval. Tom Hamilton, chairman of the steering committee, charged that delays in getting state approval prevented the agreement from being included in the current fiscal budget for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The conservation service is the agency through which federal funds will be distributed.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie did not sign the agreement, giving the state's support to the plan, until Aug. 13.

After Ogilvie signed, the agreement was signed by 12 local government agencies. The last signature was obtained Sept. 14.

The agreement is now in Washington, awaiting federal funding. Hamilton said he expects approval of the plan and inclusion in the 1974 fiscal year budget by the conservation service, "to be a formality." He said the only problem is to make sure that congress actually appropriates the funds for the conservation service budget.

Ned Brown preserve. Guillou reportedly said that the state does not actually have the $30 million available for the project.

According to Fred Bird, the governor's press secretary, it was hoped that the governor's action to start work immediately would encourage the federal government to quickly supply needed funds.

In his announcement, Ogilvie said the flooding problem in the Northwest and West suburbs, "can not be tolerated" and said the state "would move ahead, with or without federal funds."

AT LEAST SOMEBODY seems to be enjoying part heavy rains. Along with flooded streets and basements, the rains have created ponds, like this one, where a rowboat or even a rubber raft can make of the results of this summer's record-breaking rains for an interesting way to spend an afternoon.

Car Wash OK, 'But Not Next Door'

Palatine residents, it seems, wouldn't mind having another car wash in town. As long as it's not next door.

The two dozen residents who sat through a public hearing on a proposed car wash while awaiting discussion of another matter before the plan commission were generally enthusiastic about the prospect of a second car wash in Palatine.

But even more residents, who live near the site of the proposed facility, submitted a petition to the plan commission objecting to the car wash.

The 31 residents of "Fairgrounds Park," most of whom live in the 200 block of North Linden and Ashland avenues, did not attend the hearing.

BUT THEY complained in written testimony about the proposed car wash on Northwest Highway, south of Robertson Street. The residents maintained, among other objections, that:

—Traffic congestion, already bad on Northwest Highway, would get worse.

—High water use by a car wash would put a strain on "an already unsatisfactory water situation."

—Property values of their homes would go down.

Plan commissioners raised similar questions of petitioner Arthur B. Dreissiger of Deerfield at the public hearing.

Their concerns were based mainly on traffic generated by operating a car wash on an already busy street, and storm and wash water runoff from the property, which is between the Clark Service Station and the parking lot for the A&P Grocery Store.

Dreissiger, who operates MacCleen's car wash franchises in five Chicago suburbs, said space would be provided on the property for 38 cars. Cars would be pulled onto Northwest Highway from the facility at the rate of one per minute.

In addition, he said, an attendant would be posted at the entrance during peak hours to wave away cars that would block traffic on the highway.

DREISSIGER SAID MacCleen's franchises in other communities have not experienced problems with flooding or water runoff. Water used by the car wash could be filtered and recycled with no difficulty, if necessary, he said.

The car wash would be of the type in which the driver remains in the car while it is washed and waxed. The charge for the 90-second wash would be $1 a car, Dreissiger said, and slightly extra for a driver who chooses to vacuum the interior of the vehicle.

A six-foot picket fence in the rear of the property would screen headlights from the homes east of the site, he said. The car wash would be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

The plan commission is to discuss the petition for a special use to operate the car wash in a B-2, general service district zone, at its Oct. 3 meeting.

The plan commission will then make a recommendation to the village board for final action.

The only car wash currently operating in the village is the Palatine Auto Wash, 101 W. Northwest Hwy.

Montessori School May Stay Open

The Dawn Gate Montessori School in Palatine may continue operation, according to a recent court ruling.

A Cook County Circuit Court judge has ruled that Dawn Gate does indeed constitute a school, and not a nursery school as the Village of Palatine had maintained.

Judge Paul O'Malley recently dismissed the village's suit which sought to have the Dawn Gate facility at 728 S. Wilke Rd. declared in violation of village zoning ordinances.

The building in which Dawn Gate operates is in an R-1, single family residential district, classification.

The village zoning code allows schools, but not nursery facilities, to hold classes in R-1 zones.

Judge O'Malley did not rule on Dawn Gate's failure to be licensed by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, because that factor was not directly involved in the suit.

The Montessori school has not had a license since 1971. Village officials reportedly were concerned that state standards are not met in the building, but have no jurisdiction over those standards, only over local ordinances.

Animal Clinic Proposed For Area Near College

Another animal clinic has been proposed for the Palatine area. This one would be near Harper College, and would serve residents of Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates.

The petitioning veterinarian, Dr. David Aul of Arlington Heights, outlined plans for the clinic at a public hearing before the Palatine Plan Commission Tuesday night.

Dr. Aul said the facility, on Algonquin Road northwest of Roselle Road, would be similar in design to the one-story Care Animal Hospital he operates near Arlington Heights.

THE PALATINE clinic would provide only outpatient treatment, with no boarding facilities, and would not produce noises or odors, Dr. Aul testified. The clinic would be open six days a week for a total of 43 hours.

Jack R. Davis of Palatine, attorney for the petitioner, said the clinic would "provide an answer to a community of healthy domestic animals" who need shots and routine examinations. Some emergency treatment and surgery would be available.

If the petition to rezone the property from R-1, single-family residential district, to B-2, general service district, with special use for the animal clinic is approved, the clinic would be the sixth such facility in the Palatine area.

Until recently, only two veterinary clinics were in the area, the Palatine Animal Hospital in the village and the Hilltop Animal Hospital north of the village in unincorporated Palatine Township.

This summer, the Rand Road Animal Hospital opened north of Palatine. Two other facilities are under construction just south of the village, the Arlington Park Veterinary Hospital in Rolling Meadows and the Plum Grove Animal Clinic in unincorporated Palatine Township.

DR. AUL SAID the increase in the number of dog licenses issued in Palatine from 1,200 in 1970 to more than 1,500 in 1972 reflects the need for additional veterinary clinics in the area.

No one at the hearing objected to the plans.

The plan commission is to study the plans at its next meeting, Oct. 3, and make a recommendation to the village board, which will take final action.

Jaycees To Sell Chicken Dinners

Tickets are still available for chicken dinners being prepared by Palatine Jaycees for next weekend.

The $1.75 ticket includes half a baked chicken, roll, cole slaw, and baked potato. Deliveries of the dinners will be made between noon and 6:30 p.m. Oct. 1.

Deadline for purchasing tickets is Wednesday. Proceeds will go toward meeting the Jaycees' $5,000 pledge to the Countryside YMCA.

Because this is the first chicken dinner being prepared by the Jaycees, the organization is attempting to limit the number of dinners to 2,000.

Tickets are available from any member of the Jaycees or by writing to Post Office Box 344 in Palatine.

Jaycees will be canvassing in the Winston Park subdivision this weekend to sell tickets.

Land And Living Expo On At Arlington Park

Leisure-Time Products Sell Well Here

The Chicago area is the best market in the nation for selling land developments and leisure-time products, says a promoter of Land and Living Expo-72, now showing at Arlington Park Exposition Hall. And more than 50 exhibitors at the show have spent a considerable sum of money to get their share of the market.

Promoters are hesitant to say exactly how much exhibitors are spending to sell their goods at Expo, but the minimum price for space at the show is $2,500. That doesn't take into account time spent in setting up exhibits, cost of sending personnel to the show or money spent on the exhibit itself. It's apparent exhibitors' costs are well in excess of the $2,500 figure.

Land development, the major focus of the show and source of roughly half of the exhibits, is big business. Elliott Heidelberg, a Chicago attorney and one of the show's promoters, says land development is the nation's sixth largest industry in terms of dollar volume.

Some statistics compiled by the organizers of Expo-72 show why:

—New housing starts within the next four years are predicted at more than 11 million units. Of these, almost two million will be for second homes.

—SALES OF MOBILE and modular homes are predicted at more than 1.2 million units, half of them by people over 50 years of age. These customers will be looking for land on which to locate.

—America now has an annual $40 billion recreational market. More than half of this market is made up of people over 45 years of age, people who are interested in leisure living and have the money to do something about it.

Individual developers are naturally interested in getting their share of this market, but Expo was set up with an eye toward yet another angle of the land development industry.

The industry has been under fire for alleged questionable sales practices almost ever since its inception. And the fire has intensified in recent months. Chicago will be the site of federal hearings next month dealing with the industry, a $7 billion per year business in the United States.

"As in every other industry, a few bad apples in land sales and development have created an unfavorable image with the public. As a result, the entire land industry has come under fire," said Donald M. Leibaker, a Chicago attorney and president of Land and Living Expo, Inc. Leibaker is also former director of the land sales division of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, a position that gave him the initial idea of a land developers' show.

PROMOTERS ARE looking for some 150,000 affluent visitors to Expo during its one-week run, which ends Sunday. So far, crowds haven't lived up to expectations, possibly because of the inclement weather, said one exhibitor Tuesday.

And if the show is a success, Heidelberg says he hopes to take it on the road. He mentioned Detroit as a possible site and New York City as a good market, "but you have problems when you go into a foreign area."

Regardless of any road plans, Heidelberg said he hopes the show will be an annual event in the Chicago area.

Persons Arrested In MEG Raids In Court This Week

Ten persons arrested in three separate summer drug raids by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group appeared in court this week in the Niles Branch of the 3rd District Court.

A pickup over the search warrant used in a July 21 raid at 612 Dempster St., in unincorporated Mount Prospect, has led to the dropping of charges against three men. A MEG officer said an appeal was likely in the cases of James T. Ruit, 21, William A. Winkelnke, 23, and James E. Dal Cerro, 19. All were charged with possession of marijuana and controlled substances.

The MEG officer said the raid took place on the second floor of a building at the Dempster address but the room number was 1W, rather than the 2W specified on the search warrant. The charges were dropped but under the stipulation that prosecution may be reopened at a later date.

ALL FOUR persons arrested in a June 13 raid at 505 W. Camp McDonald Rd., Prospect Heights, in which 35 pounds of marijuana were confiscated were found guilty and placed on five years probation.

They were Jerry Timm, 24, of that address, William E. Orce, 24, and Claire L. Orce, 20, of 19 N. Dryden St., Arlington Heights, and Paul S. Gilman, 21, of 1216 Stratford, Arlington Heights. In addition to being found guilty of possession of marijuana and being placed on probation, Timm was fined $1,000 and Gilman was fined $500.

The third raid took place June 14 at the Old Ivy apartments where 18 pounds of marijuana were seized. Arrested were William Lambert II, 23, of 2032 Algonquin Rd. (where the raid took place), for delivery of marijuana and conspiracy to deliver; and Daniel Austin, 21, of 510 Thorndale Ave., Elk Grove Village. Also charged was Joe G. Milton, 23, of Denton, Tex., for possession and conspiracy to deliver marijuana.

All three had their cases continued to Oct. 31 while pre-sentence investigations are conducted.

Football Association Play Starts Sunday

The Rolling Meadows Boys' Football Association teams will play their first home game this Sunday against Palatine North at Rolling Meadows High School.

The Pintos, the lightweight team, will play at 12:45 p.m. and the Colts, the heavyweight team, will play at 2:30 p.m. There is no admission and refreshments will be available.

Sunday's game will be the third in an eight game schedule for the Rolling Meadows' teams. The Pintos are 1-1 and the Colts are 0-2 for the season.

No Immediate Danger

Another Heavy Rain Could Cause Salt Creek Overflow

There appears to be no immediate danger of Salt Creek cresting, but another heavy rain could turn that possibility into a genuine threat, according to the Rolling Meadows Public Works Department.

Dick Martin, a spokesman for the department, said yesterday there is definite concern that another rain could cause the creek to overflow.

"The creek is not rising at the present time, but it is high," Martin said. "It has gone down some since the rain Sunday night, but it wouldn't take much more for it to crest. One or two inches in a hurry would do it," he added.

Concern that the creek may crest came in the wake of expectations that the Fox River would peak late yesterday afternoon, threatening residents in that area with evacuation. The nearby Des Plaines River was also said to be "dangerously high."

MARTIN SAID he doubted if construction of a temporary levee along the Salt Creek banks would help avoid the flooding threat. "It would take about two weeks to pile enough sandbags along the length of the creek to do any good," he said.

Should the creek crest, however, it would not cause any serious health problems, City Sanitarian Donald Schindler said yesterday. "It would cause a nuisance and property damage," Schindler said, "but as far as serious health threats, we are past the stage of having to worry about any kind of serious disease outbreaks," he added.

Schindler said the main health concern should the creek crest would be with the amount of contaminants in the water supplies affected by storm sewer back-ups.

Construction of a retention basin for the area is the prime necessity for avoiding flooding, according to Martin. "We need somewhere for the water to go," he said, referring to the plan announced by Gov. Ogilvie Tuesday to begin construction by Nov. 1 of a retention basin in Busse Woods.

ONE WAY TO MAKE it rain is to wash your car — at least that's how it seems to be this summer. This youth gives his car a scrubbing after a recent rainstorm.

Golf Course 'At Least 3 Years' Away

It appears that Rolling Meadows won't be getting a golf course of its own for quite some time, according to Ald. Thomas Scanlan, chairman of the committee appointed to study the proposal.

Scanlan said his committee met Monday, but is still "no closer to a decision" on the matter. "It's still in the speculative stages," Scanlan said. He added the committee, which includes Ald. John T. Rock and Thomas Waldron, is still reviewing possible sites for a golf course as well as the revenues such a project would require.

Even if a site were chosen, however, Scanlan said it would be "at least three years" before a course could be opened.

"Should we find a suitable location and should we get approval to build a course, it would probably take two years to build from the time of approval," Scanlan said.

THE PLAN TO build a golf course was originally presented last year when the city proposed asking the Cook County Forest Preserve District to annex land at the Ned Brown Forest Preserve south of the city for a golf course.

Waldron had initiated the proposal after the district announced plans to build a $1 million course near Roselle and Central roads in Palatine Township.

In February, the city reportedly had begun negotiating the purchase of 80 acres of land west of the city for the course. Scanlan's committee was appointed at that time to look into the feasibility of buying the land.

Scanlan indicated yesterday, however, that the committee as yet has made no decisions on a possible site.

Salt Creek Project Meetings Planned

Before any action is taken on the state's program for the Salt Creek Watershed, meetings will be held with state and local officials, said Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee.

Hamilton said yesterday he is hoping to set up a meeting on Monday among himself, Howard Busch, head of the Illinois department of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service; Jack Walsh, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; John Guillou, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; and other officials.

On Tuesday, Gov. Ogilvie announced that the state was expanding the $20.5 million watershed program to $30 million and would begin work immediately, without waiting for federal funds.

THE UPPER SALT CREEK Watershed agreement is now in Washington awaiting approval of federal funding. The federal government is being asked to contribute $12 million to the project.

Ogilvie said that the state would not wait for the federal government but would go ahead with the plan, hoping to get federal funding later.

In an announcement issued Wednesday, Guillou said a 569-acre lake would be created in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve. This man-made lake would hold 4,210 acre-feet of water. "Enough to have prevented much of the flooding which has occurred in the last three weeks,"

Program Developed In Late 1960s

The Upper Salt Creek Watershed Agreement is a proposal to control flooding on a 33,288-acre area of the creek flood basin in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

The plan was first developed in the late 1960s. An Upper Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee was formed to coordinate the planning for the program. A series of dams and flood controls would be built across the creek, forming a series of retention basins.

An additional benefit from the plan would be a recreation site formed around a 1,300 acre-retention basin in the Busse Woods.

The estimated cost of the plan is $20.5 million, paid for by local, state and federal funds.

THE AGREEMENT was drawn up and sent to Springfield early this year for state approval. Tom Hamilton, chairman of the steering committee, charged that delays in getting state approval prevented the agreement from being included in the current fiscal budget for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The conservation service is the agency through which federal funds will be distributed.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie did not sign the agreement, giving the state's support to the plan, until Aug. 13.

After Ogilvie signed, the agreement was signed by 12 local government agencies. The last signature was obtained Sept. 14.

The agreement is now in Washington, awaiting federal funding. Hamilton said he expects approval of the plan and inclusion in the 1974 fiscal year budget by the conservation service, "to be a formality." He said the only problem is to make sure that congress actually appropriates the funds for the conservation service budget.

said Guillou. He could not be reached for further comment.

Guillou's statement contained no information on the fate of the Elk Grove Mobile Home Park, located adjacent to the forest preserve on Ill. Rte. 72. A lake of the size Guillou described would put the trailer park under water.

Other retention basins would also be created downstream as part of the expanded program. The agreement now in Washington calls for only upper creek projects to be constructed.

HAMILTON SAID the meeting will be called to learn details of any work the committee and other sponsoring agencies would oppose any action that would "slow down" the original agreement.

Hamilton said that if the state's action follows the original program, it would help make up for lost time. Hamilton had previously said that delays in getting state approval prevented getting the program included in the present federal fiscal budget.

Hamilton said the state action could enable engineer drawings for the project, which are not complete, to be finished. He said that these drawings are normally done by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service but he saw no reason why the state could not have them done under the control of the conservation service.

Hamilton said any action in Busse Wood which would hinder the project could be prevented by the Cook County Forest Preserve District, which has ownership and control of the woods in the Ned Brown preserve.

Guillou reportedly said that the state does not actually have the $30 million available for the project.

According to Fred Bird, the governor's press secretary, it was hoped that the governor's action to start work immediately would encourage the federal government to quickly supply needed funds.

In his announcement, Ogilvie said the flooding problem in the Northwest and West suburbs, "can not be tolerated" and said the state "would move ahead, with or without federal funds."

Friday's Band Show Written By 2 Pupils

The Rolling Meadows High School Mustang marching band will open its season Friday night with a show written by two band students, Paul Germano and Terry Palmberg.

The band has grown from 60 members last year to 125 members with the addition of a senior class.

Band members also are conducting a candy sale to raise funds for band activities.

The Mustangs play Schaumburg at Rolling Meadows High School Friday night.

Possible Double Slaying Link

Police Impound Blue Car

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Planagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney

are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Planagans were killed while Mrs. Planagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amla said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly connected with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be resentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his racetrack stock conspiracy trial.

The War

President Nguyen Van Thieu congratulated his frontline troops at Quang Tri City and narrowly missed getting caught in an artillery barrage and a fire-fight between North Vietnamese and government soldiers. Sporadic rocket and mortar fire fell on Quang Tri City through the day as Thieu visited the battered provincial capital.

'Mr. Average' On McGovern Vote Trail

A Rolling Meadows resident was on the Public Broadcasting System "I am the People" yesterday to provide his views of a week of traveling with Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern and his staff.

Richard J. Johnson, a life-long Democrat who has indicated he may vote Republican for the first time this year, said he was still undecided about McGovern although his opinion of the candidate improved during the week of travel.

Of the trip Johnson said, "The candidate has to be an extraordinary human being to endure the rigors of this." He also expressed some biases about the news media, though he gained appreciation for their efforts.

"THE THING that really impresses me about the press is the beehive of activity — running to telephones, the typewriters always going, the great footage of film that is never used — that is the kind of thing the average Joe doesn't understand."

The program was part of National Public Affairs Center for Television's year-long project studying the 1972 campaign on a personalized level. Johnson and his family were selected from a dozen families in an ideal middle-class Chicago suburb. They participated in NPACT's earlier report on "The Middle Income Family" produced last February.

Robert MacNeil, NPACT staff correspondent, who spent considerable time making the programs with Johnson, reported that in falling to win over Johnson under the best possible circumstances during the week of travel, McGovern could have serious problems attracting other Democrats who have questions about his campaign.

Mothers' Club Slates 'Dance Under Stars'

A "Dance Under the Stars" is being sponsored by the Sacred Heart of Mary Mothers' Club on Saturday from 8 p.m. 1:30 a.m. at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, 2800 Central Rd., Rolling Meadows.

The Golden Notes will play music in the style of the 40s and 50s. The dancing will be in the school courtyard, if weather permits, and the school cafeteria.

A cocktail hour with drinks at half price will be held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. A cash bar will be open all evening.

Tickets available at the door, are $6 per couple.

Montessori School May Stay Open

The Dawn Gate Montessori School in Palatine may continue operation, according to a recent court ruling.

A Cook County Circuit Court judge has ruled that Dawn Gate does indeed constitute a school, and not a nursery school as the Village of Palatine had maintained.

Judge Paul O'Malley recently dismissed the village's suit which sought to have the Dawn Gate facility at 728 S. Wilko Rd. declared in violation of village zoning ordinances.

The building in which Dawn Gate operates is in an R-1, single family residential district, classification.

The village zoning code allows schools, but not nursery facilities, to hold classes in R-1 zones.

Judge O'Malley did not rule on Dawn Gate's failure to be licensed by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, because that factor was not directly involved in the suit.

The Montessori school has not had a license since 1971. Village officials reportedly were concerned that state standards are not met in the building, but have no jurisdiction over those standards, only over local ordinances.

Fall Park Programs To Begin Next Week

The fall program for the Rolling Meadows Park District starts next week.

Due to the late mailing of the fall brochures the first week will be an orientation and organization week. The eight-week sessions of the program will not officially get under way until the week of Oct. 2.

The seven-week preschool programs will start Sept. 23.

Registration fees for wrestling have been reduced from $2 to 25 cents. The eight-week wrestling program will be held on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the sports complex.

THE SUN FINALLY came out yesterday and two youths were ready to take advantage of it with an impromptu basketball game in a school yard.

Special Program Openings Exist

Openings are still available in several special programs being offered in the fall recreation program of the Salt Creek Rural Park District.

The pre-school play center program for three and four-year-olds has openings available for afternoon classes. Monthly registration fee is $12. The program is conducted under the supervision of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Preschool classes are also available in modern dance, and tumbling.

The district is also offering fall programs in swimming, bicycling, football, golf, and roller skating. A free basketball clinic will also be offered for three weeks starting Sept. 30. The clinic will be free to residents of the district. A $3 fee will be charged to nonresidents.

For registration information, call 259-6890.

Residents Discuss Boundary Changes

More than 20 residents from three areas of High School Dist. 214 affected by proposed boundary changes to accommodate Buffalo Grove High School expressed their opinions about the proposals at a hearing Tuesday.

Residents of the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove told the school board they want their children to attend the new school, due to open in September, 1973. However, residents of the Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights and the Elementary Dist. 21 portion of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights said they want to stay in Hersey High School.

After the two-hour hearing, during which they also considered possible plans to allow open enrollment in the district, members of the board asked Supt. Edward Gilbert to formulate recommendations for the boundaries.

Board Pres. Ray Erickson said, "I think we are agreed that we won't make a final decision until there has been a chance for further discussion."

THE BOARD had been presented last month with four basic proposals for boundaries to Buffalo Grove High School and two other proposals to cut down enrollment at Hersey High School.

The four basic alternatives are:

1. All students living in the Cooper and Rand junior high school attendance areas north of Palatine Road would attend Buffalo Grove High School.
2. Same as the first alternative except that students in Dun-Lo Highlands, Buffalo Highlands and the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove would also attend Buffalo Grove High School.

3. Same as alternative one except that students in the Ivy Hill subdivision of Arlington Heights would be allowed to remain at Hersey High School.

4. A combination of proposals two and three, with Ivy Hill students remaining at Hersey and Cambridge, Buffalo Highlands and Dun-Lo Highlands students attending Buffalo Grove.

IN ORDER to cut enrollment at Hersey High School, the board could also adopt either or both of the following alternatives along with any of the four above:

—students south of Kensington Road in Mount Prospect would be shifted from Hersey to Prospect High School.

—students in the Elementary Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road would be shifted from Hersey to Wheeling High School. That area was shifted from Wheeling to Hersey a year ago.

In none of the plans would students about to enter their senior year be forced to change schools.

A number of residents of the Cambridge area of Buffalo Grove explained they want their children to attend Buffalo Grove High School because "We are part of Buffalo Grove."

In addition, petitions from the Cambridge area containing 452 names and asking the board to send Cambridge to Buffalo Grove High were presented to the board.

In a letter, the village manager of Buffalo Grove, Dan Larsen, expressed sentiments. He said that either of the two plans including Cambridge in the Buffalo Grove attendance area "will be in accordance with a resolution adopted by the village board that we would like all students in the village attending the same high school."

RESIDENTS from Ivy Hill said they wanted their children to continue at Hersey. Resident Harry Fall said, "I left five girls at home who are all sophomores and they told me 'Don't come home unless we can go to Hersey.'"

Joyce Gauper, a resident of the Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road, also said residents in her area wanted to stay at Hersey. "Why did you change us a year ago if you are now talking about changing us back?" she said.

Supt. Edward Gilbert explained that one of the biggest problems facing the board is overcrowding at Hersey High School. For example, he said, enrollment figures show that if residents of Cambridge and Ivy Hill receive their preference of plan 4, Hersey will remain well over its capacity enrollment of 2,750 students.

Board members also asked members of the audience for their reaction to some kind of open enrollment policy, which would allow students to choose their own buildings.

St. Theresa Church Picnic Is Sunday

St. Theresa Catholic Church parishioners are planning their annual picnic Sunday at the Deer Grove Forest Preserve from 1 p.m. to dusk.

The gathering will be in picnic areas one and three, with the entrance on Quentin Road opposite Camp Reinberg. Families are requested to bring their own food, but beer, pop and ice cream may be purchased at the picnic.

Games and prizes will involve both youths and adults, and a rock music group will perform at the event. More information about the picnic is available from Hank or Joyce Wisniewski at 359-6795.

Accident Victim, 26, In Fair Condition

Twyla Bighunder, 26, who was injured in an automobile accident last week in which the driver was killed, was moved yesterday from the intensive care unit of Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Miss Bighunder was reported in fair condition with internal injuries.

She had been in the intensive care unit of the hospital since the accident last Tuesday, just west of Inverness.

The driver of the car, William J. Walsh of Chicago, was killed. Miss Bighunder reportedly was a hitchhiker who had been picked up by Walsh shortly before the accident.

Land And Living Expo On At Arlington Park

Leisure-Time Products Sell Well Here

The Chicago area is the best market in the nation for selling land developments and leisure-time products, says a promoter of Land and Living Expo-72, now showing at Arlington Park Exposition Hall. And more than 50 exhibitors at the show have spent a considerable sum of money to get their share of the market.

Promoters are hesitant to say exactly how much exhibitors are spending to sell their goods at Expo, but the minimum price for space at the show is $2,500. That doesn't take into account time spent in setting up exhibits, cost of sending personnel to the show or money spent on the exhibit itself. It's apparent exhibitors' costs are well in excess of the $2,500 figure.

Land development, the major focus of the show and source of roughly half of the exhibits, is big business. Elliott Heidelberger, a Chicago attorney and one of the show's promoters, says land development is the nation's sixth largest industry in terms of dollar volume.

Some statistics compiled by the organizers of Expo-72 show why:

—New housing starts within the next four years are predicted at more than 11 million units. Of these, almost two million will be for second homes.

—SALES OF MOBILE and modular homes are predicted at more than 1.2 million units, half of them by people over 50 years of age. These customers will be looking for land on which to locate.

—America now has an annual $40 billion recreational market. More than half of this market is made up of people over 45 years of age, people who are interested in leisure living and have the money to do something about it.

Individual developers are naturally interested in getting their share of this market, but Expo was set up with an eye toward yet another angle of the land development industry.

The industry has been under fire for alleged questionable sales practices almost ever since its inception. And the fire has intensified in recent months. Chicago will be the site of federal hearings next month dealing with the industry, a $7 billion per year business in the United States.

"As in every other industry, a few bad apples in land sales and development have created an unfavorable image with the public. As a result, the entire land industry has come under fire," said Donald M. Leisker, a Chicago attorney and president of Land and Living Expo, Inc. Leisker is also former director of the land sales division of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, a position that gave him the initial idea of a land developers' show.

PROMOTERS ARE looking for some 150,000 affluent visitors to Expo during its one-week run, which ends Sunday. So far, crowds haven't lived up to expectations, possibly because of the inclement weather, said one exhibitor Tuesday.

And if the show is a success, Heidelberger says he hopes to take it on the road. He mentioned Detroit as a possible site and New York City as a good market, "but you have problems when you go into a foreign area."

Regardless of any road plans, Heidelberger said he hopes the show will be an annual event in the Chicago area.

Persons Arrested In MEG Raids In Court This Week

Ten persons arrested in three separate summer drug raids by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group appeared in court this week in the Niles Branch of the 3rd District Court.

A mixup over the search warrant used in a July 21 raid at 612 Dempster St., in unincorporated Mount Prospect, has led to the dropping of charges against three men. A MEG officer said an appeal was likely in the cases of James T. Rutt, 21, William A. Winkelhake, 23, and James E. Dal Cerro, 19. All were charged with possession of marijuana and controlled substances.

The MEG officer said the raid took place on the second floor of a building at the Dempster address but the room number was 1W, rather than the 2W specified on the search warrant. The charges were dropped but under the stipulation that prosecution may be reopened at a later date.

ALL FOUR persons arrested in a June 13 raid at 505 W. Camp McDonald Rd., Prospect Heights, in which 35 pounds of marijuana were confiscated were found guilty and placed on five years probation.

They were Jerry Timm, 24, of that address, William E. Orce, 24, and Claire L. Orce, 20, of 19 N. Dryden St., Arlington Heights, and Paul S. Gilman, 21, of 1216 Stratford, Arlington Heights. In addition to being found guilty of possession of marijuana and being placed on probation, Timm was fined $1,000 and Gilman was fined $500.

The third raid took place June 14 at the Old Ivy apartments where 18 pounds of marijuana were seized. Arrested were William Lambert II, 23, of 2032 Algonquin Rd. (where the raid took place), for delivery of marijuana and conspiracy to deliver; and Daniel Austin, 21, of 510 Thorndale Ave., Elk Grove Village. Also charged was Joe. G. Milton, 23, of Denton, Tex., for possession and conspiracy to deliver marijuana.

All three had their cases continued to Oct. 31 while pre-sentence investigations are conducted.

Village Board To Weigh Mayor's Plan

Flood Survey, Moratorium On Building Are Proposed

A survey of village flooding and a three-month moratorium on building in Mount Prospect have been proposed by Mayor Robert Teichert as part of a "crash" flood control program.

The village board will discuss and probably vote on Teichert's proposal at a special board meeting next Tuesday night. Teichert said that in view of the four major rainstorms in the last six weeks, flooding is Mount Prospect's "number one problem."

Teichert's short-range plan is to implement water-holding possibilities within the village. His proposal, by phase, includes:

—An immediate survey similar to the one conducted after flooding in 1967. The survey would cost $2,000 and could be accomplished within 30 days.

—Meetings with officials of Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, the State of Illinois, and the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) concerning cooperative flood control programs. Teichert pointed out that meetings with neighboring municipalities are already under way.

—An allocation of $20,000 for a consulting engineer to check into possible water-holding areas such as retention and detention basins in the village.

—Institution of a building moratorium for three months if the board approves Teichert's program.

TEICHERT SAID the money for the survey and engineer would come from the current $35,000 budget allocation for retention basins. He listed possible sites for basins as north of Central Road and west of the Illinois Range properties; in the Mount Shire subdivision near the village's water storage tank; on the Rob Roy Golf Course or Driving Range; on Simonsen's Nursery property; Sunrise Park; the Mount Prospect Country Club or at River and Foundry roads.

The mayor agreed that a total moratorium on building in the village would probably not be upheld in court. However, he said "a moratorium for a reasonable period of time" would probably be sustained in court. He said the moratorium would give the village a chance to revise the current flood plain ordinance, based on the results of the study.

The plan is short-range, according to Teichert. He said measures to get the water out of Mount Prospect, including widening Weller Creek, adding MSD interceptor sewers and building a deep tunnel complex proposed by MSD, are long-range and would take eight to 10 years.

"WE REALLY HAVE no choice between the concepts of moving the water out of our area or holding it, since the plans for moving the water are long-range and even then may be inadequate," Teichert said.

Teichert's proposal came Tuesday night after about 20 residents from the Lois Court-Lawrence Lane area of Mount Prospect asked the village board for a solution to flooding in the area.

Mount Prospect officials are checking into the possibility of leveling part of the property south of Lawrence Lane, owned by St. Cecilia's Catholic Church. Residents asked that the land be lowered to the level of the road so that flood waters accumulate on the lot instead of running down into their homes.

Impound Auto Possibly Used In Double Slaying

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zachach said yesterday he and Doney are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

3 Charged With Sale Of Cocaine

Two Mount Prospect men and a Des Plaines man were arrested late Tuesday for sale of cocaine in a raid at 9 S. Wille St., Mount Prospect.

Richard Walden, 22, and Randall Flood, 26, of the Wille Street address, and James Trafford, 22, of 634 Debra Dr., Des Plaines, were arrested by Mount Prospect police and members of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group, an undercover police narcotics investigative body.

A NEG agent was able to infiltrate the residence on Wille Street, police said, and the arrests were made about 11 p.m.

In addition to the charge of sale of cocaine, Flood was booked for possession of marijuana and possession of hypodermic needles and syringes. An additional charge against Trafford was for possession of marijuana.

All three suspects appeared in the Niles branch of the 3rd District Court with bonds set at $10,000 and $15,000. A Tuesday court date has been set.

Liquor At Farmer Cooper's

Liquor will finally be served at the building that once housed Farmer Cooper's Restaurant in Mount Prospect. But this time it's a different owner and a different restaurant.

Reversing four years of previous decisions, the Mount Prospect Village Board voted unanimously Tuesday night to grant a Class "A" liquor license to James J. Christy, who is planning a family-type restaurant for the site. The license allows him to serve liquor on the premises, at 303 E. Kensington Rd.

Since 1968, the board had refused a request for a license to sell beer by the owner of the Farmer Cooper Restaurant. Cooper contended the license would save him from bankruptcy. After many months of hearings, some of them bitter, Cooper sold the restaurant because of the "no liquor" provision.

"I think I voted wrong originally when I voted no to the liquor license at Farmer Cooper's," admitted Trustee Daniel Ahern, normally an opponent of new liquor licenses. He voted in favor of Christy's license.

"THAT BUILDING has been vacant for more than three years now and a deliriment to the community," said Mayor Robert Teichert. "It has not been salable as anything but a restaurant, and a restaurant will not survive unless a liquor license goes with it."

Christy, of Bon Ton Poultry Products, Inc., bought the building in December, 1969 and has promised to renovate it. He will be given the liquor license after the building is inspected and ready for operation.

Christy said the restaurant, which will serve sandwiches as well as full-course meals, said it will probably be open from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. "It'll be a family-type restaurant aiming at the father, mother and one or more children," said Tom Hanlon, attorney for Christy.

THE MOUNT PROSPECT Board of Appeals has granted Christy a variation to use the second floor of the building. Originally he requested a Class "C" liquor license which would also allow him to sell packaged liquors for take-out, but later changed his request.

In other action, the board also approved the granting of three new cab licenses to the Prospect Cab Company, 13 S. Wille St.

Completion Of Junior High Slated

The new addition to the River Trails Junior High School, 1000 Wolf Rd., is scheduled to be completed Nov. 25, according to Wayne Fritch, architect.

Fritch made the statement during a tour Tuesday of the new addition and remodeled part of the present building. Accompanying him were members of the River Trails Dist. 26 School Board.

Fritch told board members the remodeled part of the present building should be complete this week. Both the remodeling and the new construction are behind. The remodeling was to have been completed Sept. 5 and the new addition by Oct. 25.

"The most crucial problem is the kitchen area," Supt. Thomas Warden told the board. "We've been cleaning there since Labor Day. Last week there was a breakdown in the sewer and the kitchen. Though we've been trying to get the kitchen cleaned up, we still haven't been able to get it finished. Hopefully, it will open on Monday," he said.

ONE OF THE problems in getting the kitchen functioning has been that there is no road access to the kitchen that is passable. With the sewer breakdown, the road was rendered virtually impassable, Fritch explained. According to Board Pres. Lloyd Demel, the district plans to put in some gravel to remedy the situation as soon as possible.

Demel also said the board may consider putting some acoustical material on the walls of the cafeteria to deaden the noise.

The sewing and home economics room is also scheduled to be finished this week. The chorus, band and social studies pod are still about a month from completion. The pod is an open room that is expected to accommodate about six classrooms of children. Warden said the room will be divided into several areas of activity with furniture, including some floor cushions, arranged throughout the room.

The board members who attended the tour Tuesday seemed happy with the progress being made on the school. "It looked pretty good to me this afternoon," Board Member Ted Wahlenberg said. "I'm very happy with the progress."

"The architect has been pushing strongly since a week before school," Warden said. "But you can't push everybody. The pod was supposed to be ready for school opening but the electrical contractor was late and now the heating has to be put in. Steel deliveries were also eight weeks behind and the refrigeration men went on strike, all of which held things up," he said.

$3,000 In Jewelry Reported Stolen

More than $3,000 worth of jewelry was stolen Tuesday from two apartments at 1510 Dempster St., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect police said they were investigating the theft of two diamond rings and a diamond wrist watch from the apartment of Mrs. J. Abernathy and a diamond ring from Tom Kruger's apartment. Both victims were at work when the thefts occurred. Police said there were no signs of forced entry.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amin said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly connected with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be resentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his racetrack stock conspiracy trial.

Residents Discuss School Boundary Changes

PTA Notes

More than 20 residents from three areas of High School Dist. 214 affected by proposed boundary changes to accommodate Buffalo Grove High School expressed their opinions about the proposals at a hearing Tuesday.

Residents of the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove told the school board they want their children to attend the new school, due to open in September, 1973. However, residents of the Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights and the Elementary Dist. 21 portion of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights said they want to stay in Hersey High School.

After the two-hour hearing, during which they also considered possible plans to allow open enrollment in the district, members of the board asked Supt. Edward Gilbert to formulate recommendations for the boundaries.

Board Pres. Ray Erickson said, "I think we are agreed that we won't make a final decision until there has been a chance for further discussion."

THE BOARD had been presented last month with four basic proposals for boundaries to Buffalo Grove High School and two other proposals to cut down enrollment at Hersey High School.

The four basic alternatives are:
1. All students living in the Cooper and Rand junior high school attendance areas north of Palatine Road would attend Buffalo Grove High School.

2. Same as the first alternative except that students in Dun-Lo Highlands, Buffalo Highlands and the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove would also attend Buffalo Grove High School.

3. Same as alternative one except that students in the Ivy Hill subdivision of Arlington Heights would be allowed to remain at Hersey High School.

4. A combination of proposals two and three, with Ivy Hill students remaining at Hersey and Cambridge, Buffalo Highlands and Dun-Lo Highlands students attending Buffalo Grove.

IN ORDER to cut enrollment at Hersey High School, the board could also adopt either or both of the following alternatives along with any of the four above:

—students south of Kensington Road in Mount Prospect would be shifted from Hersey to Prospect High School.

—students in the Elementary Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road would be shifted from Hersey to Wheeling High School. That area was shifted from Wheeling to Hersey a year ago.

In none of the plans would students about to enter their senior year be forced to change schools.

A number of residents of the Cambridge area of Buffalo Grove explained they want their children to attend Buffalo Grove High School because "We are part of Buffalo Grove."

In addition, petitions from the Cambridge area containing 452 names and asking the board to send Cambridge to Buffalo Grove High were presented to the board.

In a letter, the village manager of Buffalo Grove, Dan Larsen, expressed sentiments. He said that either of the two plans including Cambridge in the Buffalo Grove attendance area "will be in accordance with a resolution adopted by the village board that we would like all students in the village attending the same high school."

RESIDENTS from Ivy Hill said they wanted their children to continue at Hersey. Resident Harry Fall said, "I left five girls at home who are all sophomores and they told me 'Don't come home unless we can go to Hersey.'"

Joyce Gauper, a resident of the Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road, also said residents in her area wanted to stay at Hersey. "Why did you change us a year ago if you are now talking about changing us back?" she said.

Supt. Edward Gilbert explained that one of the biggest problems facing the board is overcrowding at Hersey High School. For example, he said, enrollment figures show that if residents of Cambridge and Ivy Hill receive their preference of plan 4, Hersey will remain well over its capacity enrollment of 2,750 students.

Board members also asked members of the audience for their reaction to some kind of open enrollment policy, which would allow students to choose their own buildings.

Persons Arrested In MEG Raids In Court This Week

Ten persons arrested in three separate summer drug raids by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group appeared in court this week in the Niles Branch of the 3rd District Court.

A pickup over the search warrant used in a July 21 raid at 612 Dempster St., in unincorporated Mount Prospect, has led to the dropping of charges against three men. A MEG officer said an appeal was likely in the cases of James T. Rutt, 21, William A. Winkelhake, 23, and James E. Dal Cerro, 19. All were charged with possession of marijuana and controlled substances.

The MEG officer said the raid took place on the second floor of a building at the Dempster address but the room number was 1W, rather than the 2W specified on the search warrant. The charges were dropped but under the stipulation that prosecution may be reopened at a later date.

ALL FOUR persons arrested in a June 13 raid at 505 W. Camp McDonald Rd., Prospect Heights, in which 35 pounds of marijuana were confiscated were found guilty and placed on five years probation.

They were Jerry Timm, 24, of that address, William E. Orce, 24, and Claire L. Orce, 20, of 19 N. Dryden St., Arlington Heights, and Paul S. Gilman, 21, of 1218 Stratford, Arlington Heights. In addition to being found guilty of possession of marijuana and being placed on probation, Timm was fined $1,000 and Gilman was fined $500.

The third raid took place June 14 at the Old Ivy apartments where 18 pounds of marijuana were seized. Arrested were William Lambert II, 23, of 2032 Algonquin Rd. (where the raid took place), for delivery of marijuana and conspiracy to deliver; and Daniel Austin, 21, of 510 Thorndale Ave., Elk Grove Village. Also charged was Joe G. Milton, 23, of Denton, Tex., for possession and conspiracy to deliver marijuana.

All three had their cases continued to Oct. 31 while pre-sentence investigations are conducted.

Rev. Albert To Begin First Baptist Duties

The Rev. Harold I. Albert will begin ministry at the First Baptist Church of Arlington Heights, 1211 W. Campbell, Sunday. He will replace Rev. Albert Lucchi who accepted a position in Utica.

Rev. Albert has been in the ministry for nearly 15 years and has started churches in Rochester, Minn., Fulton and Chicago Ridge. Presently he is chairman of the Regular Baptist Youth for the Chicago area and serves on various state youth committees of the regular Baptist Churches.

A graduate of Los Angeles Bible College and the Baptist Bible Seminary of Johnson City, N.Y., Rev. Johnson is married and has two children.

Busse Students Pick Vikings As Mascot

From now on, the students of Busse School, 101 N. Owen St. in Mount Prospect, will be known as the Busse Vikings. The students selected the mascot name last week in a vote taken in each of the classrooms. The students also chose green and gold as the school colors. They now plan to order sweat shirts with the school name printed on them.

Frost School For Diamond Point?

The Diamond Point subdivision, on Golf Road in Mount Prospect, may be returned to the Robert Frost School, Mount Prospect attendance area.

The special committee on attendance boundaries for Elk Grove Township School Dist. 59 recommended Tuesday that Diamond Point be returned to the Frost School.

Until August, Rte. 83 had been the eastern boundary for Frost. The boundary was moved west to Linneman Road by school board action to relieve overcrowding at Frost. Residents of Diamond Point, Pickwick Commons and Huntington Commons housing areas were shifted from Frost to High Ridge Knolls and Brentwood schools, Des Plaines.

Richard Ward, chairman of the committee, said the recommendation to return Diamond Point to the Frost attendance area was a unanimous decision after a lengthy discussion.

WARD SAID there were two reasons for returning Diamond Point to the Frost area:

—A drop in the Frost enrollment.

—A lower number of children coming from Diamond Point than had been anticipated.

Frost's enrollment dropped by 50 students this September as compared to last year.

Originally, the committee had anticipated 52 students from Diamond Point. Residents and the developer of the area argued at public hearings that the estimate was too high. They said only 10 to 15 students would be coming from the area.

WARD SAID a compromise figure of 38-46 students for the area was agreed upon by the committee.

Including Diamond Point in the Frost area will result in a slight overcrowding situation at the school, said Ward. This overcrowding would be comparable to the situation in other schools in the area, John Jay, Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls.

The committee also recommended a review of student population at Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls schools be made in 1975 or 1976. If boundary changes are required, the committee said two 12-story apartments, scheduled to be built in Huntington Commons in 1975, be used to balance attendance between Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls. FRED SCHUSTER, 495 Lakeview Circle, Elk Grove Village, spoke to the committee as a representative of the Elk Grove Estates residents in the western section of Cook School.

The committee has recommended that the western portion of the Cook attendance area be transferred to Salt Creek School to relieve overcrowding at Cook. Schuster said the residents opposed the transfer, but he did not offer a practical alternative.

THE COMMITTEE asked Schuster to develop a practical alternative to the change and present it to the committee at its next meeting.

The committee has scheduled its next meeting for 7:30 p.m., Friday, at the district administration building, 2123 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The committee is scheduled to make its recommendations to the school board on Oct. 2.

River Trails Schools Approve Teacher Pact

The River Trails Dist. 28 School Board ratified a new teachers contract calling for a $300 across-the-board increase in salaries at its meeting Tuesday night.

The increase means that a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree will receive $8100 a year to start, $300 more than last year. Beginning teachers with a master's degree will receive $9,050.

The contract also provides for raises in extra-duty pay, changes in fact-finding procedures, generalized rights and responsibilities and association leave.

The new salary increase in the contract will cost the school district approximately $45,000. The present school budget allows for only $37,000 for teachers' raises, Asst. Supt. James Retzlaff said. According to Retzlaff, the district will have to issue tax anticipation warrants to cover the increase.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday, the board approved a motion to continue the Dist. 28 free lunch policy. School officials have sent letters home to parents explaining how they may determine eligibility for the program.

Families with certain family size and annual gross income are urged to apply for free lunches for their children. Free lunches may also be applied for if there are any unusual circumstances of hardship which would affect the family's ability to pay for lunches.

On the scale of eligibility, the low base for the program is a family with one child with an annual gross income of $2,420. The high point on the scale is for a family of 12 children with a gross annual income of $9,510. Applications for the free lunch programs may be obtained at the district office, 1800 E. Kensington Rd.

School Board Levies $2 Million

A total of almost $2 million was levied by the River Trails Dist. 28 School Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

The board has estimated that based on the 1972 anticipated assessment, the tax rate this year will amount to approximately $2.60 per $100 of assessed valuation. This is compared to last year's rate of $2.39.

The district levied the maximum in the education, operations and building, transportation and working cash funds. The estimated rate for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund (IMRF) was increased by about one cent. The 1972-73 budget allows $41,000 for this fund. However, according to Supt. Thomas Warden, salaries and/or an increase in the district's contribution to the IMRF could bring the expense for this fund to $45,000.

THE ESTIMATED rate in the transportation fund was also increased, from 9 cents to about 12 cents. The transportation fund operated at a deficit of about $18,500 during 1971-72. "With a continuing program of replacing buses and other increased costs, the 12 cents (maximum) rate would seem appropriate," Warden explained.

Estimated rates for the rest of the funds remained about the same. However, for the first time, the district decided to provide for liability insurance under a separate levy. The levy for this fund includes liability for the schools as well as bus, auto and civil rights insurance. It does not include major medical coverage, Warden said.

Appointive Or Elected?

Vote To Change Clerk's Position May Be In Offing

A village-wide referendum may be in the offing if the village board acts on a study group recommendation to make the position of village clerk an appointive rather than elected office.

The Form of Government Committee (FOG) recommended the position be made appointive in a report to the village board.

If the village board wants to act on the recommendation it would have to schedule the referendum before Dec. 23 when Village Clerk Kenneth Bonder says he will start accepting nominating petitions for the April village election.

Bonder said he would like 90 days notice on setting up a referendum in order to arrange polling places, print ballots and recruit election judges.

THE VILLAGE BOARD is expected to discuss the FOG recommendation at a committee of the whole meeting next Monday night.

Bonder, who was appointed village clerk after Betty Revard, the elected village clerk resigned last summer, said the last village election in 1971 cost $15,000.

FOG Chairman J. Burton Thompson said Village Atty. Jack Siegel told the study group a referendum would be needed to change the clerk's post from elective to appointive despite Arlington Heights home rule powers.

"Home rule lets us change the form of the office but everything we had available said a referendum would be necessary if we wanted to do it," Thompson said yesterday.

The FOG report lists eight reasons why the committee felt the clerk should be appointed. Principally, the report noted that the clerk's duties are almost entirely administrative and do not involve policy making.

Bonder said he has had some discussion with Arlington Heights Park District officials about coordinating a village clerk referendum with the park district's $2.4 million referendum vote for an indoor ice skating facility and park improvements. So far, however, nothing definite has been arranged, he said.

Park district officials say they expect to put the tax increase question to a vote sometime near the end of November.

VILLAGE PRES. John Woods said he would favor a referendum on the clerk question if it is considered necessary.

"I think the office has functioned quite well with a full-time professional," Woods said.

He added that he hoped consideration of whether or not the number of trustees ought to be increased and whether trustees should be elected by district or at large would not be considered with the village clerk question.

"I think these questions need considerably more time for debate," he said. "And I would like to see them voted on only after there has been ample time for discussion."

ECC Casts Its Study Vote For Sanitary Landfill

Sanitary landfill is the method of solid waste disposal that is environmentally and economically feasible for Arlington Heights at this time, concluded the Environmental Control Commission (ECC) after a year of study.

The commission's report, complete with nearly 150 pages of supportive data, will be handed to the village board. The board already has the report of the village administration, which recommends that a $4.5 million incinerator be built to dispose of solid waste in the village.

In its resolutions, the ECC concluded:

—Solutions to the problem of solid waste disposal are developing rapidly as are the legislative requirements for pollution control.

—Incineration may present an air pollution problem, and with one exception current incinerators have not been able to meet emission requirements.

—Recycling of municipal wastes are attractive, but are not currently practical.

—Composting, pyrolysis (burning without air at high temperatures) and other processes of solid waste disposal are not yet viable.

—The life of our current landfill can be extended substantially through a variety of methods.

IN A RECENT engineering study of the village landfill on Nichols Road, Harza Engineering Co. said that if the landfill is filled according to the current scheme, it will only last for 1.5 years. If the landfill design was modified, or an additional method of reducing the solid waste were used, such as baling or incinerating, the landfill could last more than 50 years, the report said.

"The village should redesign the contours of the village landfill site to accommodate an additional 10 years of solid waste disposal capacity minimum, according to an alternative of the Harza report," the ECC resolution states.

According to the present landfill site plan, the area would become a recreation site when completely filled. Changing the contours of the land would modify, not rule out, the recreational uses of the land, the engineering study said.

THE ECC STUDY also states that the village should "refrain from building and/or operating an incinerator at this time," and takes serious exceptions to the recommendation of the village administration to purchase an incinerator.

In a four-page analysis of the village proposal, the ECC report said the village report "deals only superficially with other means of solid waste disposal." Cost figures for an incinerator presented by the administration were also said to be very low, according to the ECC study.

The ECC report also recommends that the village "attempt to acquire additional land adjacent to the current landfill for future operation . . . employ, if economically feasible, additional methods of compacting solid waste on the site . . . take a more active role in recycling efforts."

Retention Basin Groundbreak Set

Groundbreaking ceremonies are set for 2 p.m. today at the future site of the $1.2 million Kirchhoff-Wilke retention basin in Arlington Heights.

The 14-acre basin is being jointly funded by the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) and the Village of Arlington Heights and both MSD and village officials are expected to attend the ground-breaking.

The basin is designed to relieve storm water flooding in southwest Arlington Heights, eastern Rolling Meadows and approximately 350 acres of neighboring unincorporated land.

Arlington Heights will contribute $427,000 to the basin project cost. The MSD will contribute $736,000.

In addition to the basin, the project calls for construction of a reservoir outfall sewer which will carry the water to Weller Creek.

Work is expected to take five months.

Residents Discuss Boundaries

More than 20 residents from three areas of High School Dist. 214 affected by proposed boundary changes to accommodate Buffalo Grove High School expressed their opinions about the proposals at a hearing Tuesday.

Residents of the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove told the school board they want their children to attend the new school, due to open in September, 1973. However, residents of the Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights and the Elementary Dist. 21 portion of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights said they want to stay in Hersey High School.

After the two-hour hearing, during which they also considered possible plans to allow open enrollment in the district, (Continued on page 4)

A DREAM COME TRUE — Arlington Heights Road from Dundee Road to Lake-Cook Road is again open to traffic, and it's smooth! Although final shoulder work and stripe painting has not been completed, barricades have been removed. The project was paid for through a joint effort by Buffalo Grove, Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township and Cook County. Only a 900-foot strip remains unpaved just north of Dundee Road, and it will be done when the new intersection is built. Buffalo Grove is considering paving the strip temporarily.

Possible Double Slaying Link

Police Impound Blue Car

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney

are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan's were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amin said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly connected with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be sentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his race-track stock conspiracy trial.

Meetings Planned Soon On Salt Creek Project

Before any action is taken on the state's program for the Salt Creek Watershed, meetings will be held with state and local officials, said Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee.

Hamilton said yesterday he is hoping to set up a meeting on Monday among himself; Howard Busch, head of the Illinois department of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service; Jack Walsh, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; John Guillou, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; and other officials.

On Tuesday, Gov. Ogilvie announced that the state was expanding the $26.5 million watershed program to $30 million and would begin work immediately, without waiting for federal funds.

THE UPPER SALT CREEK Watershed agreement is now in Washington awaiting approval of federal funding. The federal government is being asked to contribute $12 million to the project.

Ogilvie said that the state would not wait for the federal government but would go ahead with the plan, hoping to get federal funding later.

In an announcement issued Wednesday, Guillou said a 589-acre lake would be created in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve. This man-made lake would hold 4,210 acre-feet of water. "Enough to have prevented much of the flooding which has occurred in the last three weeks," said Guillou. He could not be reached for further comment.

Guillou's statement contained no information on the fate of the Elk Grove Mobile Home Park, located adjacent to the forest preserve on Ill. Rte. 72. A lake of the size Guillou described would put the trailer park under water.

Other retention basins would also be created downstream as part of the expanded program. The agreement now in Washington calls for only upper creek projects to be constructed.

HAMILTON SAID the meeting will be called to learn details of any work the committee and other sponsoring agencies would oppose any action that would "slow down" the original agreement.

Hamilton said that if the state's action follows the original program, it would help make up for lost time. Hamilton had previously said that delays in getting state approval prevented getting the program included in the present federal fiscal budget.

Hamilton said the state action could enable engineer drawings for the project, which are not complete, to be finished. He said that these drawings are normally done by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service but he saw no reason why the state could not have them done under the control of the conservation service.

Hamilton said any action in Busse Wood which would hinder the project could be prevented by the Cook County Forest Preserve District, which has ownership and control of the woods in the

Plan First Developed In Late 1960s

The Upper Salt Creek Watershed Agreement is a proposal to control flooding on a 33,280-acre area of the creek flood basin in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

The plan was first developed in the late 1960s. An Upper Salt Creek Watershed Steering Committee was formed to coordinate the planning for the program. A series of dams and flood controls would be built across the creek, forming a series of retention basins.

An additional benefit from the plan would be a recreation site formed around a 1,300-acre retention basin in the Busse Woods.

The estimated cost of the plan is $26.5 million, paid for by local, state and federal funds.

THE AGREEMENT was drawn up and sent to Springfield early this year for state approval. Tom Hamilton, chairman of the steering committee, charged that delays in getting state approval prevented the agreement from being included in the current fiscal budget for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The conservation service is the agency through which federal funds will be distributed.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie did not sign the agreement, giving the state's support to the plan, until Aug. 13.

After Ogilvie signed, the agreement was signed by 12 local government agencies. The last signature was obtained Sept. 14.

The agreement is now in Washington, awaiting federal funding. Hamilton said he expects approval of the plan and inclusion in the 1974 fiscal year budget by the conservation service, "to be a formality." He said the only problem is to make sure that congress actually appropriates the funds for the conservation service budget.

Ned Brown preserve.

Guillou reportedly said that the state does not actually have the $30 million available for the project.

According to Fred Bird, the governor's press secretary, it was hoped that the governor's action to start work immediately would encourage the federal government to quickly supply needed funds.

In his announcement, Ogilvie said the flooding problem in the Northwest and West suburbs, "can not be tolerated" and said the state "would move ahead, with or without federal funds."

AT LEAST SOMEBODY seems to be enjoying part heavy rains. Along with flooded streets and basements, the rains have created ponds, like this one, where a rowboat or even a rubber raft can make of the results of this summer's record-breaking rains, the rains have created ponds, like this one, for an interesting way to spend an afternoon.

Library Collection Is 'Excellent'

Consultant studies recently released about the book and audio visual collections at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library confirmed what library officials already know — they have an excellent collection, but there's always room for improvement.

The two studies, completed in two months at a cost of about $900, were done to confirm the library's spending policy.

During the past four years, the library has spent $650,000 for books alone, and library officials wanted some supportive evidence that the money was being spent wisely, according to Harold Ard, executive librarian.

In the book department, about 200 new books are being purchased in accordance with recommendations made by Guenter A. Jansen, director of the Suffolk Cooperative Library System in New York who studied the collection.

"FOREIGN LANGUAGE dictionaries, business dictionaries and how-to-do-it books have been added to the reference department as a result of the study," said Jay Larson, head of adult services.

According to Larson, the reference shelves are tightening up a little, but there is no crisis for space.

Jansen was especially impressed with the reference section of the library. "The reference collection was unbelievably good. Almost all the publications were current, useful and legitimate reference items," he said. He also said, "Your collection of law books is excellent."

JANSEN SUGGESTED, however, that some of the outdated library material be discarded.

"We've had a major house cleaning," said Ard, who admitted that much outdated library material had collected in the basement because it was "a little too good to throw away."

"As a result of Jansen's study we have also updated our telephone directory collection and our travel section," Ard said.

Though there is room for additions to the present book collection, Jansen said the library philosophy of "something for everyone" is being carried out.

"YOU ARE TO be congratulated on the development of a truly fine library, which shows evidence of careful spending. For a community of your size, you have an excellent collection, thoughtfully built and well maintained," he said.

The survey of the audio-visual collection of the library was completed by Eleanor J. Dombrowski and Jane A. Reilly, co-directors of a federally-funded library study project.

According to the report, the microfilm, record and 8 mm film collections at the library are excellent. The report also suggests that additional film strips and framed art prints for children be purchased.

"In the film strip category, we'd just have to be careful not to duplicate school film strips," said Ard. "I agree in theory that we should have framed art prints for children, but right now I don't think we have the room."

THE REPORT also suggests the purchase of more cassette players and other hardware including projectors and headphones.

"Both surveys give us direction for further development," said Ard.

Plan 'United' Litter Drive

About 20 employees of United Air Lines — including stewardesses, will be in Arlington Heights to help clean up the parks Saturday.

The group, which calls itself United Against Litter, started a campaign last spring to keep the area around O'Hare Airport as clean as possible. Since the campaign began, some Des Plaines and Mount Prospect litter has been swept up by the crew.

"We're going to have to go back to Des Plaines because we only cleaned half of the cleanup near the railroad tracks — after we cut down some weeds you wouldn't believe all the litter we found," said Ana Brenmark, co-chairman of the group.

"We saw films about pollution and what it is doing to our environment and wanted to do something," said Miss Brenmark. "Employees from all depart-

Dodgers Capture Softball Trophy

The Dodgers beat out the Pit 'N Pub softball team last week to walk off with the Arlington Heights Park District mens' 16-inch softball trophy for 1972.

According to Team Capt. John Ewert, the season's 20-win 1-loss record along with the championship were accomplished because of "a team effort and a consistent defense."

The Dodgers, which have no sponsor and played about $20 a man to play in the league, will play in the annual Tournament of Champions this weekend in Rolling Meadows. The team has played in the park district for three seasons.

Other teams in the championship games last week — all of which placed first or second in their division, included Pit 'N Pub, Lancers, Illinois Bell, Rosati's, Vail Lounge, Villa Lounge, Signode, Bella Inn, Crispy Critters and Huslers.

Residents Discuss Boundary Changes

members of the board asked Supt. Edward Gilbert to formulate recommendations for the boundaries.

Board Pres. Ray Erickson said, "I think we are agreed that we won't make a final decision until there has been a chance for further discussion."

THE BOARD had been presented last month with four basic proposals for boundaries to Buffalo Grove High School and two other proposals to cut down enrollment at Hersey High School.

The four basic alternatives are:

1. All students living in the Cooper and Rand Junior High school attendance areas north of Palatine Road would attend Buffalo Grove High School.

2. Same as the first alternative except that students in Dun-La Highlands, Buffalo Highlands and the Cambridge subdivision in Buffalo Grove would also attend Buffalo Grove High School.

3. Same as alternative one except that students in the Ivy Hill subdivision of Arlington Heights would be allowed to remain at Hersey High School.

4. A combination of proposals two and three, with Ivy Hill students remaining at Hersey and Cambridge, Buffalo Highlands and Dun-La Highlands students attending Buffalo Grove.

IN ORDER to cut enrollment at Hersey High School, the board could also adopt either or both of the following alternatives along with any of the four above:

—students south of Kensington Road in Mount Prospect would be shifted from Hersey to Prospect High School.

—students in the Elementary Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road would be shifted from Hersey to Wheeling High School. That area was shifted from Wheeling to Hersey a year ago.

In none of the plans would students about to enter their senior year be forced to change schools.

A number of residents of the Cambridge area of Buffalo Grove explained they want their children to attend Buffalo Grove High School because "We are part of Buffalo Grove."

In addition, petitions from the Cambridge area containing 432 names and asking the board to send Cambridge to Buffalo Grove High were presented to the board.

In a letter, the village manager of Buffalo Grove, Dan Larsen, expressed sentiments. He said that either of the two plans including Cambridge in the Buffalo Grove attendance area "will be in accordance with a resolution adopted by the village board that we would like all students in the village attending the same high school."

RESIDENTS from Ivy Hill said they wanted their children to continue at Hersey.

Resident Harry Fall said, "I left five girls at home who are all sophomores and they told me 'Don't come home unless we can go to Hersey.'"

Joyce Gauper, a resident of the Dist. 21 area south of Palatine Road, also said residents in her area wanted to stay at Hersey. "Why did you change us a year ago if you are now talking about changing us back?" she said.

Supt. Edward Gilbert explained that one of the biggest problems facing the board is overcrowding at Hersey High School. For example, he said, enrollment figures show that if residents of Cambridge and Ivy Hill receive their preference of plan 4, Hersey will remain well over its capacity enrollment of 2,750 students.

Board members also asked members of the audience for their reaction to some kind of open enrollment policy, which would allow students to choose their own buildings.

Thousands Are Spent Here At Leisure-Time Display

The Chicago area is the best market in the nation for selling land developments and leisure-time products, says a promoter of Land and Living Expo-72, now showing at Arlington Park Exposition Hall. And more than 50 exhibitors at the show have spent a considerable sum of money to get their share of the market.

Promoters are hesitant to say exactly how much exhibitors are spending to sell their goods at Expo, but the minimum price for space at the show is $2,500. That doesn't take into account time spent in setting up exhibits, cost of sending personnel to the show or money spent on the exhibit itself. It's apparent exhibitors' costs are well in excess of the $2,500 figure.

Land development, the major focus of the show and source of roughly half of the exhibits, is big business. Elliott Heidelberg, a Chicago attorney and one of the show's promoters, says land development is the nation's sixth largest industry in terms of dollar volume.

Some statistics compiled by the organizers of Expo-72 show why:

—New housing starts within the next four years are predicted at more than 11 million units. Of these, almost two million will be for second homes.

—SALES OF MOBILE and modular homes are predicted at more than 1.2 million units, half of them by people over 50 years of age. These customers will be looking for land on which to locate.

—America now has an annual $40 billion recreational market. More than half of this market is made up of people over 45 years of age, people who are interested in leisure living and have the money to do something about it.

Individual developers are naturally interested in getting their share of this market, but Expo was set up with an eye toward yet another angle of the land development industry.

The industry has been under fire for alleged questionable sales practices almost ever since its inception. And the fire has intensified in recent months. Chicago will be the site of federal hearings next month dealing with the industry, a $7 billion per year business in the United States.

"As in every other industry, a few bad apples in land sales and development have created an unfavorable image with the public. As a result, the entire land industry has come under fire," said Donald M. Leisner, a Chicago attorney and president of Land and Living Expo, Inc. Leisner is also former director of the land sales division of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, a position that gave him the initial idea of a land developers' show.

PROMOTERS ARE looking for some 150,000 affluent visitors to Expo during its one-week run, which ends Sunday. So far, crowds haven't lived up to expectations, possibly because of the inclement weather, said one exhibitor Tuesday.

And if the show is a success, Heidelberg says he hopes to take it on the road. He mentioned Detroit as a possible site and New York City as a good market, "but you have problems when you go into a foreign area."

What To Do About Flooding, O'Hare Noise?

'Ab 'n' Sam Show' Makes Its 7th Curtain A Laughter

Republican Samuel Young combined a vigorous defense of President Nixon with an attack on the "McGovern-Mikva brand of government" during a debate last night in Des Plaines.

Mr. McGovern is playing the game of "promise the voters everything" in order to get their votes. It's that simple," said Young, a Glenview attorney who opposes U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., in the North Suburban 10th District Congressional race.

"The Nixon-Young brand of government is to keep your taxes down to within the limits of what this country can afford," he said.

Young at one point sharply criticized members of the audience for laughing after one of his statements.

"One thing I would like to say, if there is any more laughter, I would like the moderators to see that those people are expelled from the room," he said.

THE LAUGHTER CAME on the heels of Young's statement that 10th District voters have "a choice between one viewpoint, which is the viewpoint of my opponent and Sen. McGovern, and the viewpoint of President Nixon and Sam Young."

After Young called for expulsion of the audience members, he said:

"There will just be no more of that. This is not the 2nd Congressional District (Mikva's former Chicago district), this is the 10th Congressional District on the North Side of this community and there will be courtesy shown to the speakers or we won't continue these debates."

The debate, seventh in a scheduled series of 14 that has been dubbed "The Sam 'n' Ab Show," drew an audience of 125 persons last night to Trinity Lutheran Church, 675 Algonquin Rd.

MIKVA, a two-term Congressman who moved to Evanston last year to run for the vacant seat in the new district, opened his remarks by saying, "You're free to laugh all you want."

He called for the United States to get out of Vietnam immediately, saying that military action has failed for the last 10 years to obtain the release of even one U.S. prisoner of war.

"Most times, governments do not exchange prisoners in the middle of a war. I am saying very simply that if we want to get our boys back, and I sincerely do, we ought to get out... we have no other feasible or viable alternative open to us," Mikva said in response to a question from the audience.

Young said Mikva is advocating a "unilateral withdrawal," and charged Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern is saying to North Vietnam, "If you'll just wait until I'm elected, I'll give you anything you want."

"If you will back President Nixon and give him the unity he should have, we would have gotten this war over a year or more ago," said Young.

BOTH CANDIDATES opposed legislation giving the federal government access to personal bank account records without search warrants, but Young said he does support no-knock search warrants for drug cases.

Mikva said such legislation violates the Bill of Rights, and that he has voted against it.

"I think the government is going too far when it can come bursting through your door without even knocking," he said.

"I'm as concerned about drug abuse as anyone in this country... but we don't solve the problem of drug abuse by throwing out the Bill of Rights," Mikva said.

BOTH MEN OPPOSED government aid to nonpublic schools. Mikva said he has "toyed with the idea" of government vouchers to pay education costs at private schools in areas where parents can show public schools do not meet their children's needs.

Young said he favors a tax deduction for parents who send their children to nonpublic schools.

Both men lamented the problems of flooding and noise from O'Hare Airport. Young said an 11 p.m. curfew might be enacted "at least on some types of O'Hare flights," and said he favors projects such as the deep-tunnel proposal to ease flooding.

Mikva called for creation of an authority to give some voice to airport-area communities. He said the concept of flood insurance should be extended so that individual homeowners don't have to bear the burden of an areawide problem.

$580 Stolen From Van's Arts, Crafts

Thieves stole $580 in cash from a Des Plaines store Tuesday night using the same method to break in as thieves used Sept. 8 when $1,650 was stolen from the same store.

Police said burglars entered Van's Arts and Crafts, 1293 Oakwood Ave. by climbing onto the roof and breaking a skylight window.

According to reports, after the burglars jumped from the roof through the broken skylight window they stole $100 from three cash registers in the store and $400 from the office area.

Impound Auto Possibly Used In Double Slaying

Des Plaines police have impounded a car similar to the one being sought in the double slayings last week of a Chicago woman and her 18-month-old daughter, whose bodies were found Sept. 11 in Mount Prospect.

According to Sgt. Ralph Doney of the Mount Prospect Police Department, a light blue 1965 Chevrolet was found about 11 a.m. yesterday on Warrington Road, south of Golf Road, in Des Plaines.

The description of the car closely matched that given by a bus driver who allegedly saw the victims, Mrs. Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her daughter Renee, enter Sept. 9, the last time the pair were seen alive. The bus driver has identified the car as a blue 1965 model car.

DONEY SAID ownership of the car has been traced to a school teacher who used to live in Niles but has now moved to Des Plaines. He said a Niles Police Department check on the man seemed to indicate he is "okay." Doney said it probably was a "blind lead" but they were nevertheless checking it.

Mount Prospect Police Det. Kenneth E. Zschach said yesterday he and Doney are still awaiting a report from the Carol Stream police on another murder last week, that of 14-year-old Sally Kandel. Possibility that the three murders are connected has not yet been ruled out by police.

Reportedly the Carol Stream girl was bludgeoned to death with the handle from a Jewel food store shopping cart. The Flanagan's were killed while Mrs. Flanagan was responding to an ad for a babysitter placed in a Chicago Jewel food store.

Expect Much Debate Over Remap

Des Plaines proposed ward remap is expected to generate "a lot of discussion" at tonight's city council committee-of-the-whole meeting, aldermen moved from their present wards have predicted.

"There's still a lot to talk about," Ald. Robert Sherwood (2nd) said after preliminary study of the map yesterday. Sherwood was moved, in the map proposed by City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach, from the 2nd to the 1st Ward where he could face incumbent Ald. Thomas Koplos (1st) for reelection.

"There are a lot of questions to be answered," Sherwood said.

AT LEAST THREE suggestions to placate aldermen seeking home constituencies have surfaced since release of the map at Monday's council meeting:

—Hire an outside, independent firm or expert to complete the remap. Mrs. Rohrbach has tried twice to divide the city into eight equally-sized wards. An independent agency might offer a different, more acceptable proposal at the cost of taxpayers' money;

—Name a council or citizens committee to draw an alternative proposal;

—Gerrymander proposed boundary lines between the 2nd and 1st Wards and the 2nd and 3rd Wards to place two incumbents in each and avoid controversy.

By moving the 2nd-1st Ward boundary north a few blocks, Sherwood, of 1416 Henry Ave., would again fall in his 2nd Ward. The additional population could be offset by moving the 2nd-3rd Ward boundary east a few blocks. The change could move Ald. Charles Bolek (3rd), of 1388 Dennis Pl., back to his ward which would be left with only one experienced alderman (Ald. Spencer Chase) if Mrs. Rohrbach's plan is approved.

THE POSSIBLE gerrymander would not solve the controversy over the move of Ald. Robert Hinde (4th) into the 7th Ward where he would face Ald. Daniel Bonaguidi (7th) for 1973 reelection.

Both Hinde and Sherwood indicated willingness to abide by the council's eventual remap decision. But, both aldermen said they are seeking alternatives to Mrs. Rohrbach's proposal.

"I'd be happy to stay in the 4th Ward," Hinde said. "I don't have the population statistics yet, but I'll certainly study it before Thursday night."

Hinde, at 381 Oxford Rd., is near the south border of the proposed 7th Ward. The remap splits the Cumberland Terrace area in both the 7th and 4th wards.

"I'D BE HAPPY TO see the east part of Cumberland Terrace in the 4th Ward. The question is what populous part of the city could be added to the 7th Ward."

Under Mrs. Rohrbach's proposal the population variance of the city's 57,239 residents is between 7,121 and 7,184 in each ward.

Sherwood told the Herald Wednesday the proposal should consider city population trends.

"The entire R-5 area population (a high-density, multiple-family section near downtown) is increasing," Sherwood said. "We don't want to have to remap every year."

Mrs. Rohrbach based the proposal on recently available 1970 Census Bureau block-by-block totals. Despite her claim that some census figures were inaccurate, the clerk completed the remap to meet deadlines for April 1973.

Maine East Play Practice Starts

Strains of "In the Good Old Summer Time" mixed with "My Wild Irish Rose" will carry audiences attending "Only an Orphan Girl" back to the good old days of the "Gay '90s."

According to Director David Jeffers, the fall play at Maine East High School is an old-fashioned melodrama, subtitled "A Soul-Stirring Drama of Human Trials and Tribulations."

In rehearsal for the Oct. 27 and 28 productions are Corey Carbonara of Niles as Arthur Rutherford, Gary Latkow of Park Ridge as Dick Perkins, Arnold Schaffer of Morton Grove as Swen Perkins, and Sue Klobasa of Niles in the role of Nellie, the orphan girl.

The remaining four in the cast are Jan

Broustis of Park Ridge as Ethel Rutherford, Faith Holland of Morton Grove as Mrs. Perkins, Jan Heitlen of Des Plaines as the Widow Appleby, and Bonnie Brown of Park Ridge as Lucy.

The music department under the direction of Gerald Hug is providing the music and barbershop singers to go, along with the vaudeville atmosphere of the drama by Henning Nelms.

Assisting with the production are Pat Jager of Niles, costume design; Mark Martin of Des Plaines, Mara Feldman of Des Plaines, and Ellen Lampert of Niles, lighting design; and Marilyn Ferdinand of Morton Grove, Cissy Habura of Niles, Roxanne Philippsen of Niles, and Lee Allison of Niles, production crew heads.

This Morning In Brief

The World

An international murder-by-mail terror campaign against Israeli diplomats spread across Europe to North America and Israel itself. But authorities alerted by the killing of an Israeli diplomat in London intercepted the explosives.

Uganda President Idi Amin said he was ordering new air strikes against neighboring Tanzania to stop a 10,000-man invasion force before it crossed the Uganda border.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called for a parliamentary vote of confidence he knows he cannot win. But under German law it was the only way he can get new general elections he hopes he will win.

The Nation

A federal judge dismissed a damage suit against five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters in the so-called Watergate bugging case. However, he told Democrats they could proceed with their court action against Maurice Stans and three other persons formerly connected with President Nixon's reelection committee.

As the FBI investigated whether grain firms reaped any windfall profits, the Senate Agriculture Committee overwhelmingly rejected a bill to compensate farmers who sold their wheat before a big Russian purchase drove the price up.

Urging the Justice Department to take legal action, the Environmental Protection Agency said its evidence showed some Ford Motor Co. supervisors were aware that illegal maintenance was performed during engine tests to meet government pollution standards.

Sen. George McGovern debated amnesty and a prisoner of war release with Ohio factory workers and offered a program in New Jersey to assure the aged, the blind, and disabled of at least $150 monthly income.

The State

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight women and sentenced to death in 1967, must be resentenced in Peoria County Circuit Court to a penalty other than death.

A three-judge federal panel rejected former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner's request for a special hearing to determine whether a federal prosecutor bribed a key witness to testify against Kerner in his racetrack stock conspiracy trial.

OK $6.1 Million Oakton Budget

Oakton Community College trustees approved a budget of $6.1 million for the 1972-73 academic year, up 18.87 per cent from last year, after a public hearing Tuesday night.

The college had tentatively planned a budget of $6.34 million in expenditures, based on an estimated enrollment of 2,300 full-time students. The figure was reduced to $6.1 million when 2,068 students actually enrolled. The equivalent of 1,717 full-time students were enrolled at Oakton last year.

Revenue had been estimated at $6 million but was reduced to $5.8 million due to a decrease in state money and tuition resulting from the change in expected enrollment.

EDUCATION SPENDING is increased by 33 per cent, from $3.7 million to $4.9 million, said David Hilquist, manager of business affairs. The increase is the result of annual increases in enrollment, said Hilquist.

He said that as the enrollment increases, more faculty members are added, new programs are introduced, and more equipment and supplies are needed. Education spending was budgeted at $1.9 million when classes began in 1970.

Most of the increases in education spending next year are due to the creation of seven new programs and the expansion of existing programs this fall.

Taxes for educational spending are estimated at $2.5 million, up $25,053 from last year, due to a rise in the assessed value of property in the college district made up of Niles and Maine townships, said Hilquist. He said the tax rate was decreased from 17 cents last year to 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation for education spending this year.

Hilquist said that as enrollment increases the tax rate will continue to go down. Students pay $10 per semester hour for tuition and the state pays $16.50 per student and an additional $2 per vocational student through the Illinois Junior College Board, he said. As the enrollment increases, student and state funds also increase and the tax rate will decrease as a result, he said.

BUILDING expenditures will remain steady at $1.03 million, an increase of $34,278. Included in the budget is a total of $388,800 to cover preliminary costs of obtaining a permanent campus site.

About $25,000 has been budgeted for legal fees for a possible condemnation suit. A total of $250,000 has been set aside as a down payment on site property, as compared to $100,000 budgeted last year.

The difference between total budget expenditures of $6.1 million and revenue of $5.8 million is the result of about $312,000 held in reserve by the state as site investigation and acquisition money, said Hilquist.

A total of $82,000 is budgeted for real estate brokerage fees, appraisals, plot surveys, traffic surveys and an educational consultant, $53,500 more than last year. About $20,000 is being held in reserve from last year for referendum expenditures.

The college board budgeted $63,585 in architect fees for last year but actually spent only $6,806. A total of $29,800 is budgeted for architect fees next year.

Group Will Study Oakton Sites

A 14-member citizen's committee will review possible sites for the permanent campus of Oakton Community College and present its first report to the college board of trustees on Dec. 21. The announcement was made by Paul Gilson, chairman of the college site committee, during the college board meeting Tuesday night.

The municipal boards of Morton Grove, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Skokie, Glenview, Lincolnwood and Niles will be asked to send one representative each and a representative from unincorporated East Maine Elementary School Dist. 63 will also attend.

Maine Township High School Dist. 207 and Niles Township High School Dist. 219 will also send one representative each and the Oakton Community College Board of Trustees will send four of its board members. Willard Brown, a member of the Illinois Junior College Board, and two members on the state board staff will also attend the site meetings as advisors.

The college agreed to form the citizen's committee following a public meeting Sept. 12 attended by more than 900 people opposed to the Beckwith site in Morton Grove as Oakton's choice for a permanent campus site.

THE ILLINOIS Junior College Board reacted favorably to adding citizens to the college site selection committee when Gilson presented the plan to the state board Sept. 15. LeRoy Wauck, chairman of the college board of trustees said Merlin Karlock, vice chairman of the state board was "shocked at the opposition" Oakton has received in acquiring a site.

Wauck reaffirmed Tuesday night that "all sites are possible" including Beckwith, but the establishment of a new site committee makes site selection "a whole new ball game."

Gilson said the state board took a second look at the criteria they require for choosing a site. Gilson said regulations on such things as minimum size, centrality, and traffic patterns are "not designed for an area like ours" because of its "urban characteristics." Wauck added a central location in the district is as important in Oakton's tiny district as in larger districts downstate because the density of population and traffic congestion in the area often affect travel time.

Gilson said the state board, which is appointed by the governor, "is extremely sensitive of any controversy on site" and welcomed citizen participation in site selection.

THE CITIZEN'S committee, which will serve as a subcommittee to the college board's building and facilities committee, will hold all its meetings in public session, said Gilson.

Gilson said he hopes the committee will be able to hold its first meeting this month. He asked members to present a preliminary report to the college board on Dec. 21, hopefully with a specific site in mind and a final draft will be presented Jan. 8.

Women have certainly had their share of attention lately in this area. I don't know if you've noticed but a number of seminars, sessions and programs have been designed just for women in the last year — and they are receiving enthusiastic success.

Harper College, Palatine, started the ball rolling locally over a year ago with an "Expanding Horizons" series. The day-long meetings gave women the chance to sit down, set some goals for themselves (educational and otherwise) and find out how to go about pursuing those goals.

The attendance at each of the workshops was high. The interest was definitely there.

Last month an evening of "exploring and expanding" was sponsored by Forest Hospital Postgraduate Center. It was used to launch a series of "awareness groups" which are going on now.

THIS SINGLE EVENING centered around the roles women have been taught since childhood. The theme was more or less "Where are you at? How did you get there? What do you want? How can you get it?"

Again the response was much more than personnel at Forest ever hoped for. More than 230 women of all ages and all backgrounds came to the session. A number of them are now meeting at Forest once a week to think and talk about what their role is in life.

Maine-Oakton-Niles Adult and Continuing Education Program (MONACEP) joined in with their "Awareness Day" earlier this month. They offered career and educational counseling, awareness groups and another opportunity for women to talk about where they are going.

ABOUT 160 WOMEN attended the MONACEP day. The directors of the program found many of these women wanted assurance that they were normal in wanting to make changes in their life.

As a result of the program MONACEP may offer a 10-week series for women in January. The series will be geared to help women see themselves — to raise their consciousness.

It should come as no surprise that so much attention is being paid to females. "THE MOVEMENT" has made us an issue.

The surprise — for me anyway — is that such large numbers of women are responding right here in my own town. In talking to the people who have been running the woman-oriented programs I've heard many comments like, "They are anxious . . ." "They want to change but don't know how to go about it . . ." "They're looking for something . . ."

I THINK IT'S GREAT and only one thing disturbs me. I'm more of a humanist than a feminist and truly believe that for every garbage role women have been brought up with, men have an equivalent.

Where are the "awareness days" and "consciousness raising sessions" for men? What happens to the man who is feeling trapped in his bring-home-the-bacon-always-be-strong-and-tough role? Doesn't the single father face as many problems as the single mother? Aren't there a large number of men who would like to go to school, change careers or pursue an interest family responsibilities have kept them from doing?

Forest Hospital's Postgraduate Center is considering the possibility of holding a "role" session for men. They have the staff people who are interested in running the program and it probably will happen if the interest is there.

Women are taking giant steps forward. I wonder if men — given the chance — will do the same.

Take Steps To Join Blood Donor Program

The Des Plaines City Council began preliminary steps Tuesday to join the North Suburban Association for Health Resources blood donor program.

The project, administered through 13 area hospitals, would provide blood for city residents, if Des Plaines can muster about 2,300 pints a year for the blood bank.

The council's health and welfare committee reviewed the proposal Tuesday and set Oct. 5 as a tentative date for meetings with local service clubs, church organizations, newspapers and large industrial firms.

"We plan to seek tentative concurrence from the aldermen at Thursday's committee-of-the-whole meeting," chairman Robert Sherwood (2nd) said. The committee will recommend approval. Letters inviting representatives to an organizational meeting will be mailed "as soon as the date is firm."

THE PROPOSAL was first explained in June when a spokesman for the blood center outlined objectives for mayors and city managers attending a Northwest Municipal Conference meeting. Goals are to eliminate use of paid donor blood and maintain necessary blood supplies exclusively through local donations.

Located at 1748 Waukegan Rd., Glenview, the center will supply more than 20,000 pints of blood a year to the hospitals, including Holy Family and Forest hospitals in Des Plaines and Lutheran General in Park Ridge.

To participate in the program, Des Plaines must supply pints of blood from four per cent of its population, about 2,300. "Every resident is covered at any hospital in the United States," Sherwood said.

Support of the proposal by committee members was "very enthusiastic," he said.

"It's a good program," Ald. Robert Michaels (8th) said. "I was surprised to learn that a person could donate blood up to 5 times a year."

"With the proper sales pitch . . . community awareness," the program in Des Plaines can be successful, Michaels said.

Flood Insurance Gets Quick Response

Des Plaines' application for federally subsidized homeowners flood insurance received quick response approval from the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs yesterday.

Mayor Herbert Behrel told the Herald that the application to participate in the $42 million program was received in Springfield, approved and mailed to the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

"Springfield said we should receive federal approval within three weeks," Behrel said. The application was approved by the city council Monday.

The program, administered through the National Flood Insurers Association, will allow Des Plaines residents to purchase insurance against flood and mudslide damage at low-cost rates.

Dale Fahnestock Appointed To Grade School Board

The Des Plaines Elementary School Dist. 62 Board of Education appointed Dale R. Fahnestock, 165 Stratford Rd.,

Des Plaines, to the school board Monday night. He replaces Mrs. Nancy Lee Sherden who resigned Aug. 23.

Fahnestock was on the Dist. 62 board for 10 years from 1956 to 1966 and served two years as board president. He resigned his position as chairman of the candidate inquiry committee of the Des Plaines School Board Caucus when the appointment was made. He will take office during the next board of education meeting Oct. 2.

Mrs. Sherden resigned when her husband was transferred to the research and development division of IBM in Rochester, Minn. Her term will expire next April.

Fahnestock is employed at the Ward Paper Co., Chicago, is married and has three daughters. He has been a member of the Des Plaines Lions Club, the Des Plaines Elks Club, and has been on the Board of Trustees of the First Congregational Church, Des Plaines.

Fahnestock said he accepted the position because he is acquainted with the workings of the school board and could take an active part in board proceedings.

PTA Notes

Cumberland School PTA Pres., Roy Meade, 336 Amherst Dr., has announced that the school's annual "buzz" sessions will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 27.

Parents are invited to attend the sessions to meet teachers, see the children's classrooms and become acquainted with the year's objectives and curriculum. These annual sessions are conducted informally by the teachers in their respective classrooms. Sessions for parents of children in kindergarten through grade 3 and special education classes will begin at 8 p.m. At 8:40 p.m., sessions will begin for parents of children in grades 4 through 6.

Robert R. Paulson, Cumberland School principal, said the buzz sessions are an "opportunity for the parents to become acquainted with the teacher and with her expectations. I really think the more important aspect of this is getting to know your child's teacher."

Refreshments provided by the room mothers will be served in the multi-purpose room following the buzz sessions.

THE ACCEPTED INFLUENCE IN THE NORTHWEST SUBURBS

Frost School For Diamond Point?

The Diamond Point subdivision, on Golf Road in Mount Prospect, may be returned to the Robert Frost School, Mount Prospect attendance area.

The special committee on attendance boundaries for Elk Grove Township School Dist. 98 recommended Tuesday that Diamond Point be returned to the Frost School.

Until August, Rte. 83 had been the eastern boundary for Frost. The boundary was moved west to Linneman Road by school board action to relieve overcrowding at Frost. Residents of Diamond Point, Pickwick Commons and Huntington Commons housing areas were shifted from Frost to High Ridge Knolls and Brentwood schools, Des Plaines.

Richard Ward, chairman of the committee, said the recommendation to return Diamond Point to the Frost attendance area was a unanimous decision after a lengthy discussion.

WARD SAID there were two reasons for returning Diamond Point to the Frost area:

- A drop in the Frost enrollment.
- A lower number of children coming from Diamond Point than had been anticipated.

Frost's enrollment dropped by 50 students this September as compared to last year.

Originally, the committee had anticipated 52 students from Diamond Point. Residents and the developer of the area argued at public hearings that the estimate was too high. They said only 10 to 15 students would be coming from the area.

WARD SAID a compromise figure of 38-46 students for the area was agreed upon by the committee.

Including Diamond Point in the Frost area will result in a slight overcrowding situation at the school, said Ward. This overcrowding would be comparable to the situation in other schools in the area, John Jay, Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls.

The committee also recommended a review of student population at Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls schools be made in 1975 or 1976. If boundary changes are required, the committee said two 12-story apartments, scheduled to be built in Huntington Commons in 1975, be used to balance attendance between Brentwood and High Ridge Knolls.

FRED SCHUSTER, 495 Lakeview Circle, Elk Grove Village, spoke to the committee as a representative of the Elk Grove Estates residents in the western section of Cook School.

The committee has recommended that the western portion of the Cook attendance area be transferred to Salt Creek School to relieve overcrowding at Cook.

Schuster said the residents opposed the transfer, but he did not offer a practical alternative.

THE COMMITTEE asked Schuster to develop a practical alternative to the change and present it to the committee at its next meeting.

The committee has scheduled its next meeting for 7:30 p.m., Friday, at the district administration building, 2123 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The committee is scheduled to make its recommendations to the school board on Oct. 2.

Scouting News

Des Plaines Devonshire Scout Troop 263 has a new Scoutmaster, Bob Bowman, who served as camping chairman for two years, takes the reins from Jack Lucas. Jack served the troop for three years as Scoutmaster.

Wayne Schuur takes over the post of Committee Chairman. Eugene Wright, who served well as committee chairman and Jack Lucas will continue to serve the Troop in camping activities.

Camp Napowan was the scene for the troop's two week campout. The adult leaders, Wayne Schuur, Jack Lucas, Gene Wright and Tom Behrens, did an excellent job in helping the boys.

Bradley Leverenz, Kevin Lucas, and Greg Losinski, advanced to rank of first class scouts. Vincent Carbonaro, Mark Buckley, Ted Petrik, and Steve Schuur advanced to second class Scouts.

Nature and Camping merit badges were earned by: David Brettman, Kevin Lucas, Terry Wright, Brian Leverenz, Ted Petrik and Bill Whelan. Nature Badges by: Greg Losinski and Tom Stiff. Camping Badge by: Ken Stiff. Basketry was earned by: Kevin Lucas, Ted Petrik, Arif Qureshi and Steve Schuur. Jeff Lunde, Bruce Zanca, John Whelan and Lee Zilligen completed work towards future badges.

Jim Michaels, Steve Schuur, Bill Whelan, Ken and Tom Stiff, Arif Qureshi, Bob Petrik, Brian Leverenz, Gary Bowman, Mark Buckley, Terry Wright, Kevin Lucas and David Brettman passed the mile swim. A full schedule of Troop activities are being planned for the year.

da. Marv Hanson showed slides and movies from summer camp. Final plans were made for a campout to Pell Lake, Wis., Sept. 16 and 17.

Any boys looking for fun and adventure are welcome to come to any Troop 63 meeting. Troop 63 meets at South School Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

AT THE COMMITTEE meeting of St. Stephens Pack 60 last Friday, many plans for future Cub Scout activities were discussed.

A Webelos overnight campout for this coming weekend, Sept. 22 and 24 at Zion State Park is planned. The cost per person is $1.25. Any boy or parent interested in more information should contact Jim Ragulski, Cub Scout leader.

On Sept. 27, Wednesday night between 7:30 and 8:30, any boy interested in joining Pack 60 should come to the school with his parents. Any boy eight years or older may join.

Special plans are being made for a pancake and sausage breakfast on Nov. 12, after all masses at the school hall. More information on this event will be announced next month.

The next Pack meeting will be held at the school on Oct. 13 at 7:30 p.m. This will be a Halloween Party and everyone will be in costume. Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded.

The next committee meeting will be Oct. 20 at 8:30 at the school.

AFS German Student Attends Maine West

Elizabeth (Betty) Dolch of Dusseldorf, Germany is Maine West High School's American Field Service foreign exchange student for the 1972-73 school year.

The 17-year-old German girl is living with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hillstrom, 578 Bedford, Des Plaines for the year. The Hillstroms have two daughters, Linda, a sophomore at Maine West, and Nancy who is in fifth grade.

Betty has two older brothers and two older sisters. Her school in Germany has 700 students.

When asked about her goals for this year, Betty said, "First I want to learn English!" She also hopes to learn the differences in the customs between the two countries and to take home with her a wider outlook on life.

Betty will be introduced to the school and to the community during halftime of the first home football game tomorrow at 8 p.m. against Waukegan High School.

Maine East Newspaper Gets 1st Class Rating

A first class rating was awarded to Maine East High School's Pioneer, the student newspaper, by the National Scholastic Press Association (NSPA) at the University of Minnesota in the 84th All-American Critical Service.

Pioneer issues for second semester were judged on coverage and content, writing and editing, editorial leadership, physical appearance, and photography.

NSPA last year evaluated about 3,500 high school publications, with ratings of first class (excellent), second class (very good), and third class (good) given on the basis of the total numerical score of each of the classifications judged on.

Editors for this year are editor-in-chief, Joan Johnson of Morton Grove; news editors, Mary Anne Koczor and Karen Licher, both of Park Ridge; editorial editors, Norman Bernstein and Arnold Fishman, both of Morton Grove; feature editors, Barbara Kostak of Morton Grove and Linda Stenstrom of Park Ridge; and sports editors, Tim Brosnan of Morton Grove and Mary Ann Wisniewski of Niles.

There's a new place in town to test-drive a Saab 99E.

The new Saab 99E is the kind of car you have to drive to believe.

It has front-wheel drive for better traction, handling and stability than traditional cars.

It has a standard 4-cylinder, 1.85 liter, fuel-injected overhead cam engine for economy and performance.

And it has impact-absorbing bumpers unique in the automotive industry. These bumpers prevent minor bumps from becoming major repair bills, and reduce your collision insurance rates 15% at Allstate.

The Saab 99E is now easier to test-drive than ever, too. Because there's a new dealer in the area. Us. This makes it easier for you to buy a Saab 99E. And it assures you of quick, dependable service once you own it.

Saab is also expanding its dealer network in other parts of the country, so a Saab owner can get sales and service just about anywhere he goes.

So before you buy any car, test-drive a SAAB 99E. Come to the new place in town today. Before you buy theirs, drive ours.

Remedies For Illnesses That Plague The Olympics

THE HERALD

Thursday, September 21, 1972

Section 2 — 1

by IRA BERKOW
"The doctor put him in the dark of ether . . .
They listened at his heart.
Little — less — nothing! — and that ended it.
No more to build on there. And they, since they were not the one dead, turned to their affairs."

From "Out, Out—"
by Robert Frost
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The 21st Olympic Games in Montreal in 1976 will be put on by those who did not die in Munich. That is, those who did not literally die by murderers' bullets and those whose spirit for sports did not die in the tragedies and travesties that buried the Munich Olympics.

They will be put on by people with mentalities as diverse as Olga Connolly and the heads of the International Handball Federation (IHF).

The IHF had threatened to hold Norway financially responsible for lost gate receipts if its handball team withdrew from the Munich Games as a show of sympathy for the 11 Israeli Olympic team victims of Arab terrorists.

Olga Connolly, five-time Olympic discus thrower, is a staunch peace advocate. But she also wanted the Olympic Games to continue, for different reasons than those of the IHF.

She recalled that last year she saw both her mother and father die. "It left a scar on my heart," she said. "But the day after the funeral I went back to work. I had my four children to feed, the house to clean, the laundry to do. Life had to go on. What happened here (Munich) will leave a scar on my heart, too." But she continued to compete ("even enjoying it for those few minutes").

Sport for Olga, like sport for most other Olympic athletes, is a way of life. Without it, they die spiritually. Mark Spitz, for example, swims the equivalent width of the Atlantic Ocean from New York to London to prepare for the 1972 Olympics. There is not much time left for other things, such as politics. He has one love, all-consuming.

Yet the question concerning the Olympics is: Are they sport? Crowds had to still be gathered in Munich to defray the $700 million spent to put on the "Games." So, the IHF to the rescue.

The Olympics have grown like a dinosaur and are in danger of dying of their own enormity. Nations and outlaws now use it as a power base. The attendant worldwide press and television coverage make the Olympics a greater political mount than the United Nations.

The Olympics are in trouble. Montreal is in trouble. Lord Killanin, new president of the IOC says he plans to bring the Olympics into the twentieth century, whatever he means by that.

He must know that the notion of nations must be expunged. The Olympics were originally supposed to be individual against individual. That concept is moribund, if in fact it ever did live. Even Avery Brundage, the ill-directed idealist and former head of the IOC, admitted the problem that most national governments pay their "amateur" athletes and build the playing fields, and thereby expect close-mouthed loyalty in return.

And the Olympics feed on nationalism, too. Here are some proposals for starving out that patriotic fervor and, perhaps, saving the Games from themselves.

- In the opening and closing ceremonies, the athletes should march in by events (shot putters here, equestrians there, and behind newly designed flags of the sports.

- Athletes should wear "Olympic" uniforms with numbers on the backs.

- A favorite song of a winner should be played (from the Beatles to Beethoven), instead of the national anthems. No flags raised.

- Athletes should live in dormitories arranged by sport.

- All "professionals" or "amateurs" (the difference is now one of semantics) should be allowed to compete.

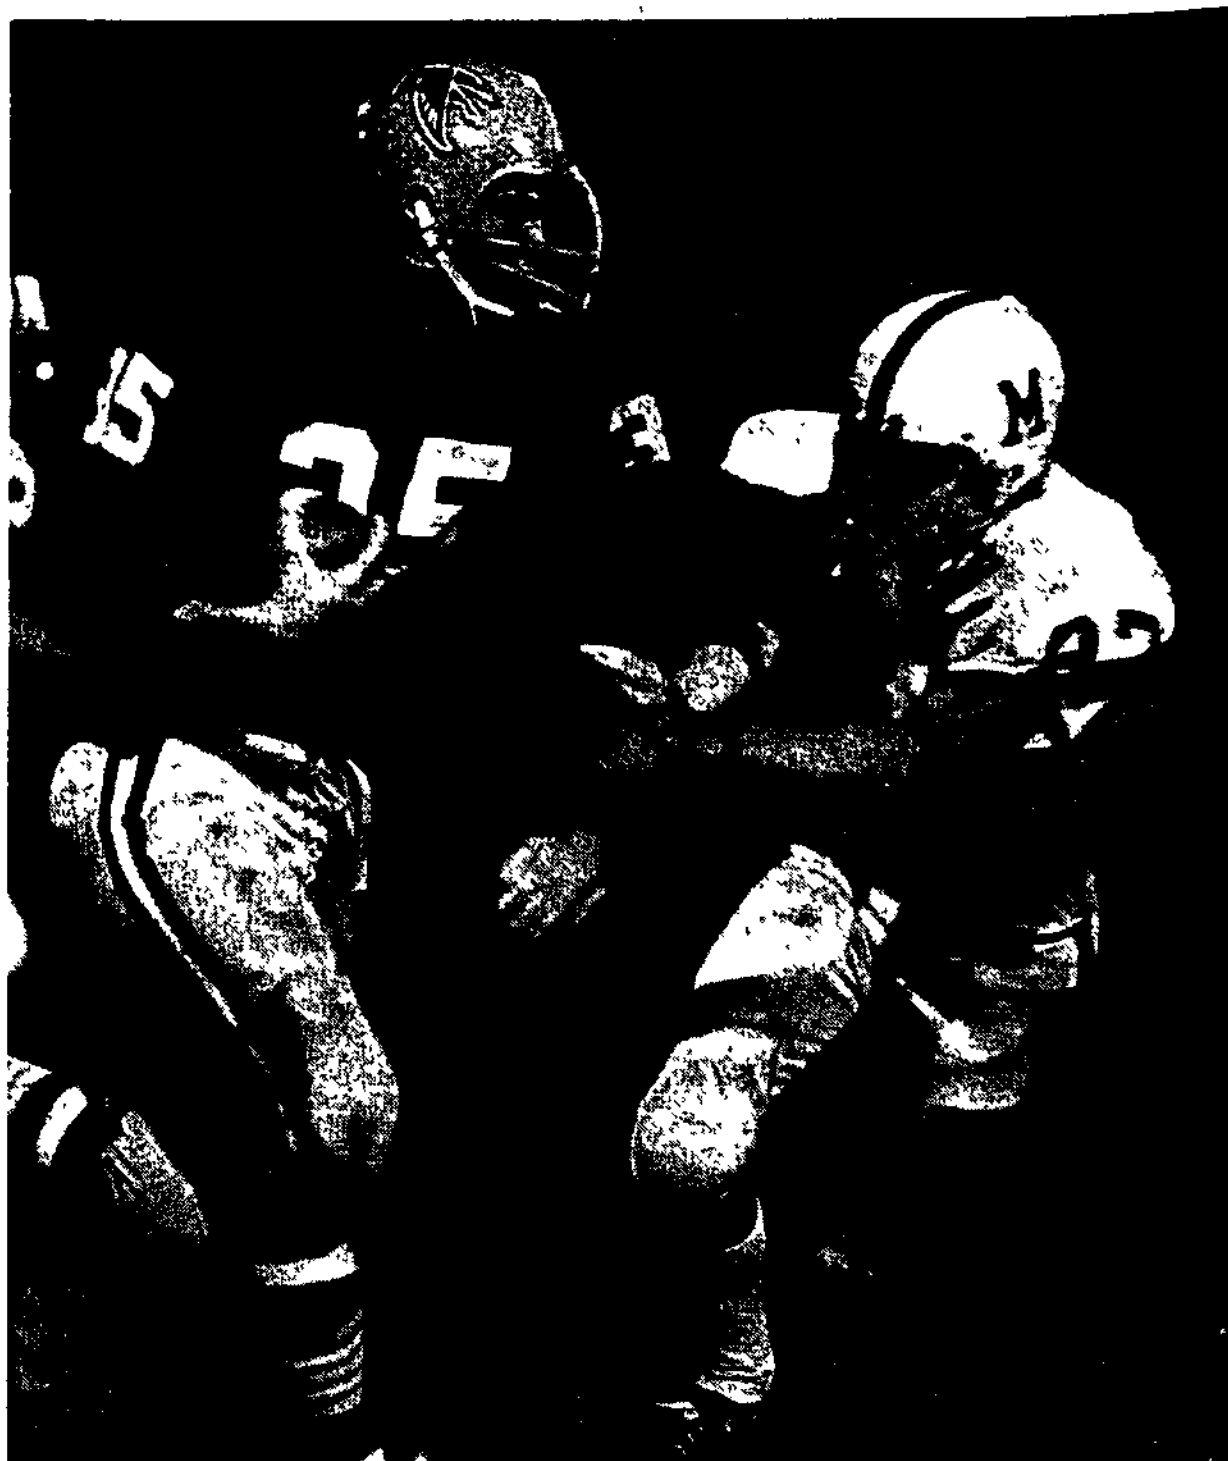

- Any drug an athlete wants to take is allowable, as long as he can keep both feet on the ground (Let them be responsible for their own health.)

- Judges and referees must be tested for competence and not, as now, for cronyism. Some kind of pre-Olympic trials must be organized for them, too.

- World press must be implored not to print those "unofficial" team standings of medals won. It can be done. After all, the press has enough self-control now that it does not print the names of rape victims.

And then hopefully the stench of politics will be overcome by the stink of sweat.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

STIFF-ARMING Maine East defender Scott Magnuson is Forest View's impressive junior tailback John Kronfort in season opener at Falcons' field Friday night. Kronfort gained 100 yards in 25 carries as the hosts' workhorse, but Maine East wiped out a 20-6 fourth-quarter deficit and salvaged a 20-20 tie in the closing moments.

Dinner Planned For Al Carstens

Des Plaines, baseball and Al Carstens. A triangular love story.

A tale of a man who did his job so well, he was inducted into the Illinois High School Baseball Hall of Fame.

Of the only man to ever coach state champion teams at two different schools or win nine straight state tournament games.

Al Carstens — the gray-haired Mr. Baseball of Des Plaines for nearly two decades.

In early November, Des Plaines will say thank you to this man who won state titles in 1958, 1959 and 1963. He's only the second Illinois prep coach to win three titles.

On Nov. 3, a testimonial dinner will be held in Carstens' behalf at the Casa Royale, 783 Lee St., Des Plaines. The evening will include a 6:30 p.m. cocktail hour followed by dinner, a three and one-half hour open bar, live entertainment and dancing. Cost is $12.50 per person.

Carstens appeared on the Maine high school baseball scene nearly 16 years ago. During that span his teams have won over 250 games.

He won state titles for Maine High School in 1958 and 1959 and repeated four years later for Maine West.

Al Carstens

Carstens won West Suburban titles in 1958 and 1959. His teams captured either Mid-Suburban or Central Suburban crowns every year from 1961 through 1968.

With those credentials, Carstens was inducted into the Illinois Baseball Hall of Fame on May 31.

Tickets for the testimonial dinner may be purchased at Allen's Store for Men, 1428 Lee St., Des Plaines. Further information may be obtained by calling 299-6374 after 2 p.m. weekdays.

Alert Defense Keys Notre Dame In Grid Victories

The Notre Dame Dons used alert defense and a brother combination to score two football victories over Luther North on Monday afternoon.

The Dons junior varsity was a 12-0 winner. It capitalized for six points when Carl Sheel blocked a punt that was retrieved by Mark Mandolini for a Notre Dame touchdown.

Mark's brother Greg tallied the other junior varsity score on a 14-yard run.

Notre Dame's frosh team scored a 12-6 win. Quarterback Nick Malz ran eight yards and Mike Consago 12 yards for touchdowns.

The junior varsity and freshmen each have 1-0 records.

Hat Trick Leads West To Triumph

Gary Helmski scored a hat trick Tuesday afternoon as the Maine West soccer team put together its first winning effort of the young season.

The Warriors, behind Helmski's three goals, blanked St. Ignace, 3-0. They're now 1-2 on the year, having dropped the season opener to Quigley South before losing to Oak Park, 4-0, last Saturday.

"Helmski only played the final two weeks last season so this is really his first year playing soccer," said West coach Dave Winter.

About Tuesday's win, Winter said, "We just plain outthrust them last night. We had a couple other people that should have scored but we just didn't capitalize."

West will host Evanston for varsity and sophomore games at 11 p.m. Saturday.

Game Postponed

Tuesday's Maine North varsity soccer game at Oak Park was postponed due to unplayable grounds. The game will probably be rescheduled, according to Dave Kennedy, North athletic director.

Harmon 12, Foe 0

Every time Big Ten representative Michigan took the gridiron during the playing days of immortal Tom Harmon in 1939-40, it could rest assured of probably scoring at least 12 points in each game.

Harmon singlehandedly accounted for 61 points in five league clashes in 1939 for an average of over 12 a contest. In '40, the awesome halfback put 40 points on the board over a four-game Big Ten schedule or an even 10 points per outing!

Rain Hits Jamboree; Dons Battle Sullivan

Unbeaten Notre Dame, ranked as high as fifth in some Chicagoand area prep football polls, will go into this weekend's Sullivan game without benefit of game experience from Tuesday night's Wheaton Jamboree.

Notre Dame didn't play. Neither did anyone else. Bad weather forced cancellation of the four-school football tournament.

Dons head coach Frank Willett said, "I'd love to have been able to play because we need the experience. But even if they reschedule it, we won't go now. Our Suburban Catholic League season begins next week and we can't afford to take any chances."

Notre Dame will host Sullivan at the Chicago Public League at 8 p.m. Friday. Last weekend, the Dons fumbled their way to a 12-0 victory over Schurz. Sullivan was beaten by Niles West, 2-6.

"They're a real fine ballclub and have one of the best backs I've seen in years in a kid named Brady, No. 37," Willett said of his upcoming opponent. "They're a bunch of real scrappers."

"You know, they took second place in the city last year losing to Morgan Park for the Public League title."

Last weekend's 12-0 Notre Dame victory over Schurz was fashioned when defensive end Tim Rasmussen recovered a fumble in the end zone and Jim Coursey tossed a 15-yard touchdown pass to Joe Saccomanno.

But while the Dons amassed over 300 yards total offense, they blew three scoring attempts inside the Schurz 20-yard line and lost five of six fumbles.

After one game, Mark French leads Notre Dame rushers with 20 carries and 114 yards for a 5.7 average.

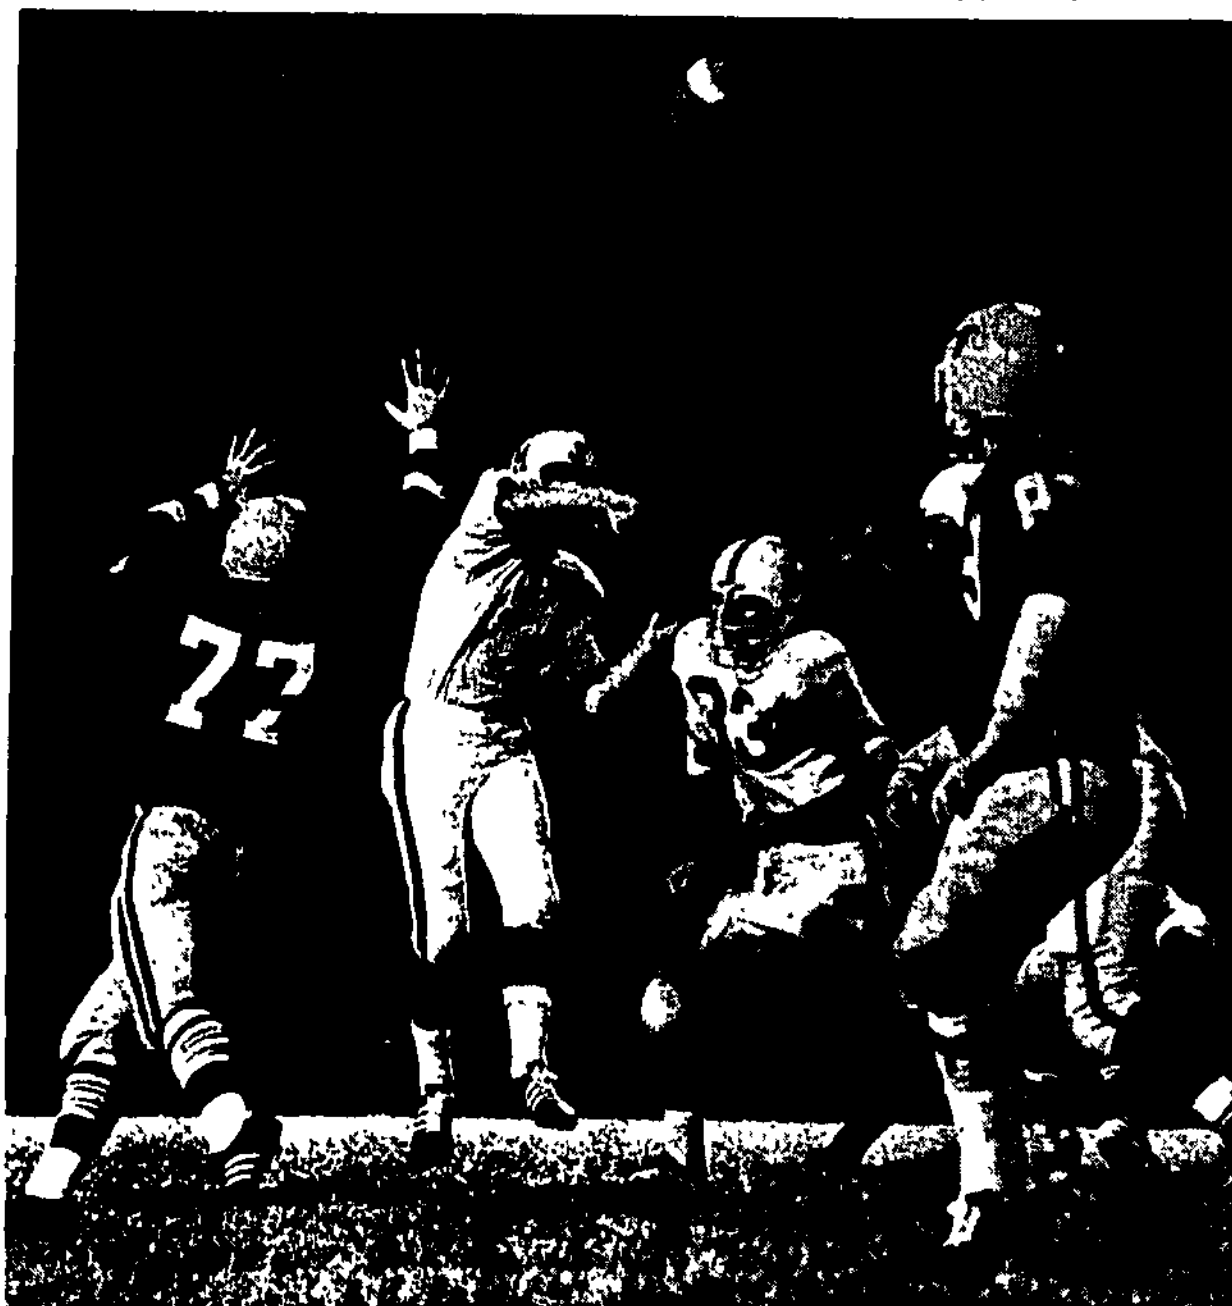

Mike Geimer has totalled 30 yards rushing, Tony Devoney 22 and John Obie 20.

Rasmussen leads the Dons defensively with nine tackles, three assists and the touchdown fumble recovery.

OLGA CONNOLLY, who carried the American flag in the opening ceremony at the Munich Games, approved of continuing the games after Arab terrorists killed 11 Israeli team members because "life had to go on."

(33). Maloney completed six passes, one of them an 83-yard stunner with 1:09 left as the Demons came from two touchdowns behind for a 20-20 standoff.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At a recent Price Commission hearing, consumer advocate Ralph Nader accused the auto industry of exaggerating the cost of safety equipment the government requires on 1973 cars. I'll leave it to the commission to evaluate that criticism. In fairness to the industry, however, it should be pointed out that some automakers have gone beyond federal safety standards on their new models.

For example, one company is offering prospective buyers "lighted vanity mirrors" and "outside thermometers." Its advertisements don't identify these items as safety equipment. But I have a friend who is a safety expert and he assured me that both will provide motorists with an extra degree of protection.

"SINCE MOST CARS now have heaters that keep the interiors warm, motorists tend to become oblivious to the outside temperature," he explained. "This can be dangerous."

"Suppose that while you are driving along a cold wave comes up and drops the temperature to subzero levels. But you, being all snug and comfy inside, are unaware of the change in the weather."

"So when you reach your destination, you hop out of the car without a topcoat and catch your death of cold."

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like some advice on varicose veins. I am in my early 50s and enjoy sports such as tennis and swimming. But while others wear shorts and bathing suits, I have to wear support hose and slacks because of unsightly dark purple veins. I have tried all kinds of cover-ups, but to no avail. Are there any operations besides skin grafts for my ankles and bends of my knees? My ankles and knees are all purple with small veins. I also have large knobby ones in one leg. Please give some advice. Is this type of operation dangerous? I'm tired of bandaging up in hot weather.

Dear Reader — Varicose veins are a problem. The large veins can cause accumulation of blood in the legs and ankles causing swelling, skin discoloration and even ulceration of the skin. The very small tiny veins that some women have in the surface of the skin cause no medical problem, and are only a cosmetic consideration.

Before anything is done, a complete physical examination has to be accomplished to determine the state of all of the veins in the legs. There are some superficial veins that some people can see and then there are large deep veins within the large muscles of the leg and thigh that are equally important.

If the large veins in the legs are normal, the little tiny superficial network of veins that some women have can be eradicated by a little electrical needle, much in the same way small dilated veins in the nose can be corrected. This procedure is of little value however, if the large veins in the skin and deeper in the legs are involved. In this case, it is sometimes possible to strip out the varicose veins depending on the finding of the medical examination. Skin grafts are completely useless in these conditions unless the underlying problem of the varicose veins is corrected first and good circulation is established. Then a graft isn't needed.

Maine East Mothers Club Seeks Members

All Maine East High School mothers are urged to join the Maine East Mothers' Club and support the scholarship fund. President of the Mothers' Club, Mrs. Raymond Mathisen, said letters are being mailed to all mothers, inviting their participation in the group.

Mothers' Club maintains the scholarship fund and holds an award day in the spring to honor Maine East's top students. Since 1955 more than $58,000 has been raised to assist 146 qualified students in furthering their education. This has been accomplished by collecting $2 membership dues and sponsoring an annual antique show and bake sale as well as a bridge group.

The ninth annual antique show and bake sale, the club's main fund raising event, is scheduled for Nov. 3 to 5, with Maine East students again being invited to participate in the annual poster contest.

The first meeting of Mothers' Club is scheduled Sunday, Oct. 1, at 1 p.m. in the school's faculty lounge. The program includes a presentation entitled "The Counselors at Maine East and What They Do," given by counselors Jane Simmons, Marjorie Stanz, and Lou Willis. After the presentation, there will be a question and answer period. All interested Maine East mothers are invited to attend.

For mothers who are bridge players, the women's afternoon group will meet the second Friday of each month, October through May, beginning at 12:30 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. Hambeck, 823-5867. Three-fourths of the dues collected by the bridge group benefit the scholarship fund.

wrote you about epilepsy. I am also an epileptic and have been examined and found the cause to be irregular brain waves. I have medication for it. Is it possible that being overly excited, overly tired, or worried can bring on an attack or seizure?

Dear Reader — Epilepsy is not actually caused by irregular brain waves. The irregular brain wave is a manifestation of the epilepsy itself. The actual seizure may be thought of as being caused by an electrical short circuit in the brain. When the electrical disorder occurs it causes the irregular brain wave and stimulates the body to respond to cause the convulsion. The medicine acts to decrease the excess electrical activity in the brain and thereby prevents convulsions.

In most instances when sufficient medicine is given, the overactive electrical areas in the brain can be calmed down enough to prevent them from precipitating a convulsion, even in the face of most normal events of ordinary living that you mentioned.

Local Juniors Attend IFWC Board Meeting

Mrs. Roy Sove of the Junior Woman's Club of Des Plaines recently attended the summer board meeting of the Junior Organization, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, in Peoria. Mrs. Sove is the IFWC Northern Regional Junior Director.

A tour of the School for Retarded Children and Residential Care Facilities for the Retarded was taken during the two day meeting. National Association for Retarded Children is a General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) Junior Project.

A report on the GFWC convention held in Denver, Colo., during June was given by State Junior Director Mrs. Don Schumacher and Mrs. Merritt King.

ILLINOIS JUNIORS received the following awards: Care Award — first place, presented by Care; International affairs department — first in care division; citation from GFWC for outstanding achievement in establishment of the Alice Walters Center in Columbia; runner-up for greatest increase in Junior Clubs; citation for outstanding achievement in Junorette program; citation for justice and rehabilitation-public affairs department; first place in the communications division of the education department; and first place in religion and ethics division of the home life department.

Illinois Juniors will continue to support the Brain Research Foundation and scholarships for teachers of exceptional children as their state projects. GFWC Junior projects will be the National Kidney Foundation and the National Association for Retarded Children. Project Concern-Bist, New Mexico, has been designated by Mrs. Schumacher as the special project for the Illinois Junior Organization from 1972-74.

Dates for the Junior State Board meetings were announced as Nov. 1-2 in Belleville and Feb. 20-21 in Chicago.

IFWC Regional Conference will be Sept. 26-27 for the Northern Region. The Mississippi Valley Conference will be Nov. 13-14 in Columbus, Ohio.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Our new house sits on a lot with two rather steep slopes, one at the side and the other in back. My husband talks about planting this whole slope area with grass, but I keep saying it will be a nightmare keeping it cut. You often discuss these things and probably have some knowledge of ground cover plants that would be attractive and easier to take care of than grass. Do you? —Mrs. Tim H.

It sounds as if neither of you has had prior experience with slopes. Nightmare No. 1 is just getting grass seed to take root. Much of it washes away with each rain. We went through it once and later our son was determined to have grass on a slope and he also learned the hard way. Even if it took root, you are absolutely right about the mowing — sheer hard labor. The two of you ought to look through some of the nursery booklets. You'll find many attractive ground covers like ground ivy and English ivy, Ivy of the valley, ice plant, moss, periwinkle, bugleweed, crown vetch, galax and cymus. My guess is you'll find a happy compromise with one of these.

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to warm up a leftover rare roast so that it will still come out rare? —Marie Michaels

Yes, there is. Wrap your rare roast in lettuce leaves and put it in a covered roaster in a 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Dear Dorothy: The bane of my existence is the nylon tape wrapped around certain packages. Sometimes the contents are not worth the struggle. A neighbor just told me she solved the problem by using a beer can opener. Just thought others might like to know about this. —Ernestino V.

Many others. The last time one of those packages came I was almost in tears by the time it was torn apart.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Club Treasurer Workshop Oct. 7

The American Society of Women Accountants is sponsoring a workshop designed to aid treasurers of service clubs, volunteer and non-profit organizations and other interested parties.

The workshop will be conducted at the Loop Activity Center, YWCA, 37 S. Wabash, Chicago, and will be held Saturday, Oct. 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Topics for discussion include budgets, record keeping, financial statements and tax returns. A question and answer period will follow.

A registration fee of $2.50 will be charged and treasurers of area clubs may make a reservation by contacting Elizabeth M. Gorny, chairman, 725-8493.

The Potting Shed

Is fall your most despised time of year too?

All of those "yucky" dried-up leaves are falling — that's nature's litter program.

Years back fall had some redeeming value. We kids used to be able to frolic in the leaf piles, raking huge mountains out to the curb, setting them afire, toasting marshmallows and telling ghost stories in the flames. But alas — too many people, too much smoke. The pollution necessitates no-burning ordinances.

There isn't too much excitement in dumping leaves in plastic bags or grinding them and feeding them to the compost pile.

NOW, SOME MAY say that fall leaves are beautiful, that the bronze, red, and golden yellow foliage is a treat to the eyes and an artistic compliment. Yes, a dozen or two colorful leaves are pretty, but not 24 garbage cans full!

Meanwhile, as the season wears on, the petunias get leggy, the zinnias get mildew and all of the other annuals that captured oohs and aahs in their prime are now just ugly has-beens.

Have you ever given thought to the idea that fall is also the harsh reality of crop failure as well as harvest?

Think of all the people whose tomatoes got chewed by hornworms, gophers, run over by lawnmowers or scuttled by the dog next door.

After all, everybody doesn't have 80-pound pumpkins, the kind that rates a newspaper photo or a garden show ribbon. Some people's vines dry up, the blossoms don't get pollinated, they are cultivated by neglect or heaven knows what.

TO THESE, FALL means getting shown up as a crop failure. The most depressing thing about it is that the poor fool has to wait a whole year to take another stab at growing.

Maybe you're thinking: "She's just sour grapes, that garden writer. Probably doesn't even have a lettuce patch."

Not so. It's just that to me fall is the beginning of the end, or to paraphrase Don Marquis — one thing about fall is that two hours later there's frost and 10 minutes after that it's winter!

Get Your Garden Ready For Winter

"Winterizing the Garden," is the topic of a field day/demonstration to be presented by the Chicago Horticultural Society at the Botanic Garden, Edens Expressway between Dundee and Lake Cook Roads, Saturday, Sept. 30. Programs will be presented at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., and 1 p.m.

This field day will be directed by Glenn Park, chief horticulturist at the Botanic Garden. He will demonstrate moving plants and handling tender plants. As the summer growing season ends, it is time to prepare the garden for the winter, and to transplant tender specimens which need special care to survive the winter.

There is no charge for these programs, however reservations are suggested. They may be made by phoning Mrs. Fran Whittin, Chicago Horticultural Society at 332-2868.

The Consumer

by Monica Welch

Often the worst hassle when you move is getting telephone service in your new residence. Complicating matters is that the service representative you talk to on the phone sometimes is not aware of — or willing to tell you — all the various alternatives you have in re-establishing telephone service.

For example, don't let them insist that new equipment must be installed even when the telephone in the new residence is fine and is located where you want it. Although this will not save you any money, it just seems ridiculous to replace a white, kitchen wall phone with another white, kitchen wall phone in the same spot.

Moreover, this unnecessary maneuver may delay your phone service if you work and can't schedule a serviceman's visit during the week. If no new equipment is installed, the phone can be connected in the main office, although the telephone company likes to send someone out to check the connection.

On the subject of servicemen's visits, according to Harry Cass of Illinois Bell's suburban office, you can request that the man come within a restricted time span — like, soon after 8 a.m., or right after lunch, or after 4, etc. If you work 9 to 5, five days a week, as most of us do, this still doesn't help much. But in that case, you can arrange for him to come on Saturday, or to have a neighbor admit him.

A new procedure of the telephone company allows the customer, in some cases, to snip the wire of the phone in his old residence and take it with him for a $5 credit.

Regardless of the equipment, you will get a new number, unless you have moved within the area of the same telephone office, in which case you can keep your old number.

Whatever the problem, don't just gnash your teeth in frustration. Call the district manager at the telephone company, and most likely he will be willing and able to help you.

THE CONSUMER Federation of Illinois has charged the Illinois legislature with dragging its feet on consumer issues. CFI's executive director, Lynn Mills, said recently the legislature's performance last year was "all show and no action," and she pointed to several consumer bills that were introduced but sidetracked from passage.

These included proposals to establish an office of consumer affairs — which a number of other states already have — and to allow municipalities to inspect meat and poultry, to require open dating on milk, to set up an Illinois consumer council and to permit the posting of drug prices.

CFI will hold a legislative reception Sunday from 3:30 to 6:30 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, with state and legislative candidates as special guests and Dan Walker, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, as speaker. Anyone wishing to attend may purchase a ticket (proceeds will help support CFI by calling 427-8828.)

A CLINIC IN "Car Maintenance and Safety for Women Drivers" will be held next Thursday, 10 to 1, at the South Park Field House, White and Howard Streets, Des Plaines. Sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, the program, which is open to the public, will present tips for women on how to protect themselves when driving alone and how to prevent mechanical trouble.

Pediatric Visiting Extended

With the permission of their doctor, parents of pediatric patients at Holy Family hospital can come and go to visit or stay with their child as they wish. If the young patient has surgery, the parent can come to the hospital as early as 7 a.m.

"Hospitals are a whole new world to many of our young patients and they need reassurance," said Sr. M. Amata, executive vice president of the hospital. "By allowing parents to visit as much as they wish, our pediatric patients are made more comfortable in unfamiliar surroundings," she explained.

If it is inconvenient for the mother or father to visit, any adult relative or close friend may also come to the hospital.

To allay fears of surgery, parents may also accompany their child on a pediatric orientation tour on the Saturday before the child's admission.

Holy Family hospital personnel meet the young patient-to-be in a non-stressful situation. They answer questions and acquaint the child with the areas of the hospital he will be visiting. For more information on the tour interested persons are asked to contact the public relations department of the hospital, 297-1800.

Next On The Agenda

SOROPTIMISTS

Richard W. Franke, director of Project Pre-Dict, Maine Township's new pilot program for screening pre-school children for learning disability problems, will be Soroptimist Club of Des Plaines first guest speaker of the season.

Members of the International classified service club for executive and professional women will meet for their business meeting and dinner on Tuesday, at Seven Eagles Restaurant in Des Plaines, at 5:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Lorraine Tomasek, president.

Project Pre-Dict services all elementary, junior and senior high schools in the township, which includes Districts 62, 63, 64 and 207.

Soroptimists who are bringing guests or cannot attend the dinner are asked to phone reservations or cancellations to Mrs. Eleanor Hayd, 827-1191, by Monday noon. A report on the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas convention held in Chicago in July will be given by local members who attended the five-day gathering at The Palmer House.

NOW North

At its first meeting of the 1972-73 season, North Suburban Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW North) elected Carol Wrabi, 884 Sussex Court, Buffalo Grove, secretary.

She will take part at a meeting next week of other officers and directors in the appointment of coordinators for the various NOW North activities for the coming year.

"We have had significant membership growth in the last few months alone," the new secretary said. "I think the Woman Movement is having its effect everywhere. People are beginning to recognize that women's rights are human rights," she concluded.
